Thanksgiving Day—President's Proclamation.

The following proclamation was promulgated on the 29th ult:—

A PROCLAMATION.

We are reminded by the changing seasons that it is time to pause in our daily avocations and offer thanks to Almighty God for the mercies and abundance of the year which is drawing to a close. The blessings of a free government continue to be extended to us, the earth has responded to the labor of the husbandman, the land has been free from pestilence, internal peace is being maintained, and peace with our powers has prevailed.

It is fitting that at stated periods we should cease from our accustomed pursuits, and in the turmoil of our daily lives, and in thankfulness for the blessings of the past, and in the continuation of kindly feelings toward each other. Now, therefore, recognizing these considerations, I, James S. Grant, President of the United States, do recommend to all citizens to assemble in their respective places of worship on THURSDAY, the TWENTY-SIXTH DAY of NOVEMBER, 1874, and express their thanks for the mercy and favor of Almighty God, and laying aside all political opinions and all secular occupations, to observe such day as a day of rest, thanksgiving and praise.

In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed.

Done at the city of Washington this twenty-seventh day of October, in the year one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four, and of the Independence of the United States the ninety-ninth.

U. S. GRANT, President.

HAMILTON FISH, Secretary of State.
