

The Jeffersonian.

THURSDAY, MAY 13, 1875.

Important Announcement.

We are now, and have been for some days busy making out bills against all who owe us for subscription, advertising and job work, and intend to make calls on all for our due in shape of the "ready go-down."

The Meeting on Friday night.

The meeting held at the Court House, on Friday night, had under consideration a subject worthy the most serious consideration of our citizens.

Who that remembers, and reflects over our status of twenty years ago, can fail to appreciate the great stride we have made in prosperity and wealth during that period?

What were we twenty years ago? A mere hamlet of a few houses, hemmed in by creeks on three sides, and by a line on the north parallel with McMichael's creek and barely more than 600 yards from it at the widest point.

With this experience of the past before us what may we not expect from the breaking of the power of monopoly by the successful introduction of competition? Monroe is today, worth, by four fold, more in material wealth than it was twenty years ago or before the railroad.

And what is demanded of us, as our share in securing this great boon, so sure to be fulfilled? Merely that we help to build the road to our means certain prosperity—merely that of our means we contribute the comparatively insignificant sum of $25,000 for this purpose.

On Friday night. Can it be that the other four fifths will not be forth coming? Our space precludes the continuance of a discussion of this important subject this week.

How about our gas companies? Have all efforts in that direction died a natural death?

Goods cheaper than ever at N. Ruster's. He has them marked way down to bottom prices.

The locals of the Scranton Times wonders how the Queen of May would look in Waterproof and Gum Shoes. The idea sets others to wondering in the same direction.

IMPORTANT.—In order to quit the Boot and Shoe Business, Simon Fried offers his entire stock of Boots and Shoes, at first cost and below cost. Come one and all, now is your chance for Bargains.

Plaster.

A new lot on hand at Stokes' Mills. Price $8 per ton or 30 cents per bushel. Grain wanted in exchange.

The Soldiers meeting at the Court House on last Friday evening, after organizing and appointing the several Committees, adjourned to meet at J. H. McCarty & Sons Ware rooms, Saturday evening, May 15th, at 8 o'clock. A full attendance is desired.

MAY, thus far has been but little improvement upon blustery stormy and Marchy April. Ice half an inch thick on the 1st and a necessity for overcoats on the 2d and a snow storm on the 4th, are not sure fore-runners that the month of violets and roses generally has arrived.

WELL, how about our suggestion of living flowers for the Soldier's graves? If we are going to do that job up neatly, and gratefully it is high time we went to work.

HAVE you seen the new stock of Ladies' Silk ties, Hosiery, Dress Goods, &c. that they have just received at the New York Store. They have just bought a large job lot of box paper which they are closing out at startling low prices.

Don't fail to call when you are in want of any thing in their line, as they are always ready to show goods. Our collector who visited different portions of our county last week in search of the "filthy lucre," which printers need as well as other folks, we are pleased to say, met with a moderate share of success—paying expenses and a little over. He found our farmers busy as nailers, putting in their spring crops, and the roads in excellent condition, notwithstanding the snow storm on the 4th.

New goods will arrive at N. Ruster's this week and next. Don't fail to call and see them.

IMPORTANT.—To all whom it may concern. Take notice that a meeting of the citizens of Stroudsburg will be held at the Court House on Friday evening, May 14th, 1875, for the purpose of making arrangements for the proper celebration of the coming 4th of July.

SCRANTON'S select council is investigating the idea of Cisterns in the portions of the city where hydrants have not yet been established. May Stroudsburg never experience the necessity for the inquiry which Scranton has. And yet the day may come when we will wish we had built them, and the loss of thousands in destroyed property will be the sum of the folly of our supineness and neglect. We have admonitions within the last two weeks which should be heeded.

BROWN'S Wall Paper Trimmer saves time and money. 1,500 Rolls received this week, making 6,500 rolls for the Spring trade. I am selling Wall Paper this Spring cheaper than ever. What is the use of white-washing your walls every Fall and Spring when you can buy Wall Paper so cheap and have it trimmed free of charge? Don't forget the place.

D. R. BROWN, May 6-24.] Brown & Keller's old stand.

On Friday night last the steamer Schiller, which sailed from New York to Hamburg, Germany, on the 28th of April, was wrecked on the Scilly Islands, near the entrance of the British Channel. There were 390 persons on board, of whom it is believed more than 300 perished. The passengers comprised persons from nearly all the principal cities throughout the United States, and two of them were residents of Scranton. The disaster occurred during a dense fog that was prevailing in that region.

Those wishing to secure a good bargain will do well to call at N. Ruster's, as he is bound not to be undersold.

A FINE subject, decidedly, for the Photographers Camera, or the Artists pencil, is our friend "Oofy Gooft" as he draws the "ribbons" taut on old gray, and "ged deps," on his way to Portland after the affluviated material, out of which to coin the almighty dollar. There is grace in motion and Oofy really sits the lord, in the majesty of his mien. And, then too, his position between the plow-handles, as he gracefully turns the poetic sward, under the influence of a hot May sun! Well we will not attempt it. The description is altogether beyond the powers of our pen.

Ex-Chief Justice G. W. Woodward, of Pennsylvania, died at Rome on last Monday.

A NEW BAND is about starting at Bossardsville, in this county. This will make five bands in a county, which two years ago had to go abroad when ever music was needed for political or other public occasions. We learn that the leader is not yet chosen, but we think there is no need of trouble on this score. The experience of Brodheads, Fennersville and our Stroudsburg Cornet band clearly demonstrates that Prof. Moran is just the person to draw music even from sources where the existence of music was never suspected before, though we do not, by any means, wish to be understood as placing our Bossardsville friends in that category. Professor Moran is both a skillful performer and a successful teacher, and is withal a genial gentleman, who makes fast friends of pupils and all others with whom he comes in acquaintance. Don't go farther, boys, and fare worse, in searching for a proper teacher for your band. It is at the beginning that the foundation for a good band is always laid, and Prof. Moran knows just how to make that beginning.

RAILROAD MEETING.

In pursuance of previous public notice, the citizens of the Borough of Stroudsburg and vicinity, assembled in the Court House on the evening of the 7th inst. Hon. S. S. DREHER was called to preside and L. M. BURSON, Esq. was chosen Secretary. The President stated the object of the meeting and called upon the Hon. C. BURNETT, who made some preliminary remarks, when Col. CASE the President of the Lehigh & Eastern R. R. Co. gave an elaborate and exhaustive explanation of the advantages of this road, when completed, over all other coal roads, of the easy grades and favorable character of the country on the line of the proposed road, ensuring its cheapness and rapid construction, also of the various connections it would have.

Books of subscription were presented and $6,000 was immediately subscribed to the stock of the Company.

On motion of Hon. C. Burnett, Stroud Burson, R. R. Dupuy and Linford Marsh were appointed a committee to receive further subscriptions to the stock, whereupon the meeting adjourned after thanks were tendered to Col. Case for his able and satisfactory statement, and also to the Beethoven Cornet Band for their discourse of excellent music.

Business Notes.

Messrs. R. E. Crommett & Co., are busy getting in and arranging their machinery, and will soon commence the manufacture of boots and shoes, on an extensive scale, in J. S. William's Vinegar factory building, corner of George and Monroe streets, this borough. This is just what we like to see—and what we should all make it a point to encourage both by word and deed. Every such business started adds to the producing portion of our population—secures the circulation of money, and adds to our material wealth. The gentlemen connected with this matter have had experience in the business, and we are assured located here only after a close canvass of our advantages. We never could understand why leather manufactured here should, of necessity, be sent hundred of miles away in the raw state, to be returned to us for use in shape of boots and shoes. We hope this matter will prove more than experiment, as we are assured that it will from the fact that our townsman Capt. Combs, who has won hosts of friends since his advent here, has the Superintendence of the establishment.

We observe that our distinguished friend of over the way—Judge Greenwald, has treated his steam press to a new boiler, rendered necessary by the old one becoming somewhat defective. The Judge has a fine appreciation of the necessity of providing for the public safety, and hence felt like running no risks when the expenditure of a hundred or two would avoid them. We congratulate the Judge over the possession of this spirit, though we see in the result which it has led to, an augury that the Democrat will hurl at us even heavier thunder than before.

General Jail Delivery.

The two remaining prisoners, one of whom was lodged in jail some three weeks ago, and the other last week, for breaking into James Blakley's store, concluded Tuesday night to change their bed and board, and just dug a hole through the jail wall and left. The prisoners had been watched up to about 9 o'clock last night, when the watchman, Samuel Brees, was called away for a short time to see a sick horse. This was their opportunity and they used it effectually. We hope that the Grand Jury will see to it that our county buildings—Court House, Jail and County House—are all merged into one. They ought to be all torn down, and one building take the place of them all. If they were all torn away there would be ground plenty to put an imposing, and every way substantial building, which would answer fully for all the county business and at the same time be a source of pleasure and pride to all the citizens of the county.

The first story would accommodate the Commissioners, Prothonotary, Register and Recorder and District Attorney, and these offices would not take more than one half of the lower story: the balance of which could be used for cells and jailor accommodations. The second story could be thrown into a large Court room which would seat from eight hundred to a thousand persons. The third story would be for use of grand and petit juries. All the material in the present Court House, County House and Jail could be used in the new building, which would materially cut down the cost of a new building.

A building put up on this plan would not cost, but little if any over $30,000. The debt thus incurred could be easily handled by the county in a few years. Let this thing be attended to at once.

The First Congregational Church, the finest in Janesville, Wis., was burned on Saturday morning. Loss, $60,000; insurance, $25,000. The fire resulted from a defective flue.

The Centennial tea party in Easton netted $1,500.

SPELLING BEE.

Another of those entertaining spelling bees came off at the Y. M. C. A. Rooms on Saturday evening last. As in the preceding matches the audience filled both rooms to their utmost capacity. Spellers were scarcer than ever and the spelling more wretchedly poor than in either of the previous trials. Messrs. Dinsmore and Holmes were again appointed leaders, and then ensued the usual half hour's hard labor in trying to convince divers persons in the audience that they could spell in a manner which would make Noah Webster ashamed that he ever had egotism enough to undertake to get up a dictionary. At half past eight o'clock the following twenty had been prevailed upon to make the sport for the evening, or rather the first part of it.

- Mr. C. A. Holmes, Mr. A. A. Dinsmore, "Chas. McIntyre, "C. B. Staples, "Shearman, "Fred. Kohler, "Mrs. Childs, "Henry Sayres, "Miss Mary Garris, "Mrs. Stroud Burson, "Ella Garris, "Joseph Matlack, "Ida Detrick, "Miss Annie Rees, "Belle Decker, "Louisa Kohler, "Eva Edinger, "Clara McIlhoney, "Minnie Drake, "Annie Kohler.

Mr. Matlack was nominated enunciator. Two misses were allowed before the party was permitted to step down. Miss Ida Detrick was the first unfortunate on "confectionary". Mrs. Burson quickly followed with "casimere." Miss Drake extemporized a way to spell "extempore" which would have made old Webster's head swim to think of "Ignitable" and "inditable" were the cause of disappointment to the Misses Kohler. Miss Mary Garris got wandered from the straight and narrow but correct way to spell "metreticulous" at the second vowel. Mrs. Childs had better been reticent, than spelt "reticence" with "cents" for the last syllable. Miss McIlhoney wasn't so fond of Uncle Sam's specie, apparently, but went for good sound "sense." Miss Mary Garris was the first to look up a seat after spelling "solomnize". Ida Detrick could not be separated from her and took an adjoining seat on "separate". The next word was the cause of fearful slaughter among the bold "spellers." It was "sardonaceous." It was curved, crooked, straightened out and cramped and twisted again into every conceivable shape but the right one by Misses Drake, Rees, Annie Kohler, Ella Garris, McIlhoney, Mrs. Childs, Messrs. Shearman, McIntyre, Dinsmore, Holmes and Staples, till finally Fred Kohler got the parts fitted together accurately. This word had proved destructive to what hopes Mrs. Childs and Miss McIlhoney and Kohler had of bearing off the honors. Miss Eva Edinger sought "tranquility" in a chair. "Using" used up Mr. Shearman. Miss Ella Garris made a violent attempt to govern "oligarchy" in that form but failed decidedly. "Myriad" was far too many for Miss Decker. "Magmatize" drew Mr. Sayres half way to a chair, and the next word made Mr. McIntyre feel "melancholly." Mr. Matlack anxious to display his skill looked around for some one to "mesmerize" and found Mr. Sayres and Miss Decker first class subjects. "Metonymy" was a figure of rhetoric which Mrs. Matlack, Mr. Holmes and Mr. Dinsmore had never quite understood, and they received a short course of instruction from Mr. Staples, and then sat down. This ended the first match. Six still standing on the Mr. Dinsmore's side.

Another match was arranged. Messrs. Staples and Sayres being leaders. The following were the sides chosen. Mr. C. B. Staples, Mr. Henry Sayres, "C. A. Holmes, "A. A. Dinsmore, "Chas. McIntyre, "Fred. Kohler, "Miss Lizzie Dreher, "Mrs. Jos. Matlack, "Mary Garris, "Stroud Burson, "Belle Decker, "Dr. Patterson, "Ida Detrick, "Miss Annie Rees, "Eva Edinger, "May Schoonover, "Mrs. Thos. Walton, "Ella Garris. "Analogous" was the first word causing trouble and we never saw anything analogous to the attempts of Misses Detrick, Rees, Edinger, Mr. Walton, Mrs. Burson and Patterson to spell this word. Then Misses Schoonover and Detrick and Messrs McIntyre, Staples and Sayres underwent a course of "allopathic" treatment and if we could judge from their countenances almost any other branch of the science medical would have been preferable in their cases. Miss Detrick was the worst patient and had to be tenderly placed in a chair. "Crystallize" wasn't any where as clear as crystal to Mr. Kohler, Miss Decker or Mrs. Matlack. "Seige" sent Miss Rees to a seat. Mrs. Burson was seized with the idea that if "s-i-e-g-e" spelt "s-i-e-z-e" must spell seize but she sat down entirely free from such an idea. Mrs. Patterson didn't sit enough from her "seive" and she sat down. Miss Schoonover intimated her belief that "beliefs" was correct and she was graciously permitted a chair. Ella Garris couldn't make a good "satellite." Mr. Kohler unblushingly pretended "pretention" was correct and was handed a chair. "Oscilate" oscillated from Miss Mary Garris to one who spelt it better. "Canonize" sat Mrs. Matlack and Miss Edinger down. "Camelopard" proved a very dangerous animal, contrary to general opinion and Miss Mary Garris, Messrs McIntyre and Dinsmore were seriously injured, the two former indeed did not recover. "Aggravate" aggravated Miss Decker, and she took a chair. The next word "accruing" was given to Mr. Staples who rattled it off "accruing" and sat down under a volley of astonished "Ohs." Mr. Dinsmore, the last man on the other side and who had been struggling nobly for orthographical renown, evidently didn't see wherein Mr. Staples had failed and for an instant he seemed completely non-plused; only for an instant, however, when he seemed to have made up his mind that that word would require an immense amount of labor, and he settled down into a state of the most profound thought; soon "a-c" came gliding from his lips; then followed a minute and a half of classic statuary and silence, when "c-r-u" came slowly and cautiously forth; for the next three minutes the amount of brain power expended upon that syllable must have been something absolutely awful; finally he raised his head; his eyes beamed confidently and "c-i-n-g" fell sturdily and proudly from his lips. He realized his failure and sunk into a chair, "bearing the love, esteem and pity of all who knew him. Thus ended the second match. Miss Lizzie Dreher and Mr. Holmes still standing on the other side.

A third match was also had between the same sides. The spelling was worse than before. Miss Decker finally bore off the honors, and the "bee" was adjourned.

What We heard and Saw within the Week.

And now our up-town friends have four dear little kittens. What next? Angry words and work.—J-E-M Krow, our accomplished Chesterfield, must have been considerably "muddled" when he mistook a fair lady's arm for a pump handle.—And now there is a "tempest" in the choir, but it is productive of miserable sounds.—The "boss" is recruiting breakmen for her sewing machine with a very fair show of success.—Judging from the amount of yeast the "boss" carries she must intend to raise somebody.—The "Owl Train" has been running regular for some time. No accidents.—The young man who says he has all of our young ladies on a "string" had better be careful or the string might break.—The iron bridge is a favorite place of resort for the "boss."—"Bill" hugging the seamstress. You should not disturb her in her work, "Billy."—"Oofy" on the wing, "Greely" on the road to Paradise to see a magic lantern show and the "Original" the Lord only knows where.

Our Borough Improvements.

The improvements on the Stroudsburg House are going on as rapidly as it is possible to make them go. A large gas chandelier has been placed over the front entrance, and the painters are busy putting on the finishing touches to that portion of the house. In the rear we observe a completed foundation for the brick addition, and the hum produced by the mechanics and laborers, indicate a finished job by the time the season for summer rustication on the part of city denizens begins. When completed the Stroudsburg House will prove the greatest improvement the "burg" has ever experienced, whether looked at from the useful, utile, or beautifying stand point.

At the Indian Queen, a whole army of mechanics are kept busy to secure the early completion of the liberal improvements inaugurated by friend Shaffer. The completion of this will add much to the beauty of the upper end, and will add much to its life also, because of the addition it will bring to the already large and stirring business of that "hostellerie." The fame of the Queen is wide spread for excellence of its accommodations, and these will lesson none because of greater space in which to spread.

Stephen Holmes, jr., Esq., has the foundation of his office completed, and the work of finishing up of the building, is only a question limited for solution to a very short space of time.

Mr. Jacob H. Butts, down town, has commenced the foundation for a neat brick residence, which he has made up his mind to erect. The plans exhibit great liberality in matters of adornment as well as convenience and comfort. The building we understand is to be three story.

J. T. Carmer has completed a slaughter house, with all modern improvements on the bank of the Pocono, a little off of Pocono street, up town. This may be a necessity but we do not know that it can justly be ranked as an improvement to the portion of the town in which it is located. The thought of it, in hot weather, is not very suggestive of the perfume of violets, roses, trailing arbutus, though with proper regard to cleanliness it may be prevented from becoming an unmitigated nuisance, and we think that under Jimmy's management, it will.

Dan. Tuttle, the irrepressible Daniel, under the supervision of the Street Committee, has just completed a substantial flag stone crossing opposite the Methodist Church. This was something long needed, and an improvement that will be appreciated by our church going people.

Other improvements, yet in embryo will be noted as they assume shape.
