

Two brothers named Gaff have established a mammoth henry in Colorado, 10 miles from Denver. It covers four acres, which is laid out like a village, with streets and avenues, along which are built long rows of houses of various designs. Regular families of hens are assigned to these houses, and it is found that they quickly domesticate themselves without troubling their neighbors. The population in the village is Brahmas, Cochins, Shanghaies, and Dorkings, and the chief products are eggs and spring chickens. Sundays included, the industrious matrons of the village turn out daily from forty to fifty dozens of eggs, which are sold in Denver for from 40 to 50 cents per dozen. The brothers Gaff express but a single regret, and that is that they did not colonize their colony fifteen years ago when eggs brought $5 a dozen, and a spring chicken was worth a penny-weight of gold dust.

Ingersoll, the pardoned Tammany thief, has confessed, and, in a duly attested affidavit, has made what he says is a clean breast concerning his knowledge of the robberies of the ring. The revelation in brief is, that in the division of the spoils he received thirty-five per cent., Tweed twenty-five per cent., Sweeney ten, and Watson and Woodward five per cent. each; his own share of the swag being the largest because he devoted more time and labor to the advancement of their common villainy than did the others. If he can be held to his statements he ought to prove an invaluable witness in the pending suits against Tweed and others to recover the stolen money. It is a suggestive fact that all these colossal scoundrels were bright and shining lights of the Democracy; whose behest was law, who ruled Governors, Legislatures and Judges, and controlled the course of the entire party in the Empire State. Tweed's counsel have just demanded a supplementary bill of particulars of their client's malfeasance. They have it now.—Pittsburg Commercial

RECOVERY OF AN IMPERIAL RELIC.

A $10,000 Dress of Ex-Empress Eugenie's Found in a Pawn-Shop.

WASHINGTON, June 4.—Capt. Charles N. Brackett, special agent of the Treasury Department, captured in this city to-day a white lace dress, valued at $10,000; a white lace shawl, valued at $5,000, and other pieces valued at $5,000, at Goldstein's pawnshop, where they had been pawned for $385 by Leon de Lannois. The dress and lace formerly belonged to the Empress Eugenie, and were among the richest in the world. They were sold at the time of the sale of her diamonds and jewelry in England, a short time after the removal of the imperial family from France to Chislehurst, and were smuggled into this country by Joseph Hoarbach, in October, 1873. It was taken first to Philadelphia, and thence to this city, having been brought here by Leon de Lannois on the 2d instant. Captain Brackett went to New York to-night, with the lace and his prisoner, De Lannois. Detectives have been on the lookout for these goods since their arrival in this country, but while they have been searching about New York they have dropped into the hands of the government here, through the efforts of Captain Brackett.
