1-3" Thurlow Weed has written to the New York Tribune some curious statements about Queen Victoria's efforts to preserve peace between Great Britain and America during the Rebellion. When Mason and Slidell were taken off the steamer Trent the British ministers were determined to fight, and were only held back by the Queen and Prince Albert. Had there been an actual rupture the Southern States would doubtless have secured their independence and perpetuated the curse of slavery.

Der Senator Sergent made a neat little computation in his recent speech at San Francisco. About the 20th of June last Mr. Justus F Temple, the astute gentleman who believe he is at the head of one of the State depart ments, had an interview with a reporter of the Reading Eagle, and then made the following intelligent answer to the question : "How about the Sinking Fund?"

"On the first of September next, under the law, I will become a member of the Sinking Fund Committee, and soon thereafter I will be able to tell the people of this State how and where their money is invested. If anything is wrong they shall know it, and if all is right they will also hear of it.'

A few mornings ago the mother of the young lady was shocked to find the clerical fraud in bed with her daughter in her room. The pastor endeavored to explain matters by stating that he had been reading Bessie Turner's version of how Tilton carried her to his room while asleep, the night previous, and that in his sleep he must have strayed from his own premises. The explanation was unsatisfactory, however, and he was given 24 hours to leave the neighborhood. The affair has created quite a sensation in Cheltenham.
