SWALLOWING A CENT.—Dr. Gibbs, one of the editors of Holt's Journal of Health, who is himself an educated physician and surgeon, while on a train the other day was consulted by one of the employes on the cars in relation to his little boy, who had that morning swallowed a cent.

"What have you done for him?" asked the doctor. "We gave him a dose of castor oil," was the reply. "Good practice so far; as soon as your reach home give him the white of three raw eggs daily, let his diet be bread and milk and nothing sour." The directions were followed faithfully, the whites of the eggs repeated every day and the dose of oil at night, and on the fourth day the cent was discharged. It was one of the new copper coins and considerably corroded by the action of the gastric juices. Since fatal results often follow the swallowing of a copper coin the judicious treatment advised in this instance should be remembered by all who have the care of children. The essential point to be borne in mind are simply these: Alkalis, or the white of eggs, a bland diet from acids, and castor oil.

An Extraordinary Feat—One Hundred Miles in Twelve Hours on a Velocipede.

From the Highland (O.) News.

The most extraordinary feat of traveling, without the aid of steam or horse power, ever performed in this country (at least, of which we have any record) was accomplished last Thursday, between this place and London, Madison county, by Mr. James M. Mason, a young Irish gentleman, who is at present making his home at the residence of Mr. James D. Herron, a few miles northwest of town. Mr. Mason returned a few weeks ago from a visit to Europe, and brought with him an improved bicycle, or two-wheeled velocipede, of London manufacture, and it was upon this machine that he performed the extraordinary feat above referred to.

Leaving this place at precisely 6 o'clock Thursday morning, he rode to London and returned to a point about seven miles north of Hillsboro, a distance of ninety-nine miles, in exactly eleven hours and forty minutes—being at the rate of a fraction less than eight and a half miles an hour—including a stoppage of thirty minutes in London, and one of twenty minutes at Washington on his return. Besides these stoppages he lost nearly half an hour between Washington and London on the trip by getting on the wrong road and being obliged to turn back, and fully an hour more by having to travel on a freshly graded road between Washington and London, which greatly impeded his progress and increased the labor of propelling the bicycle. Deducting these losses, and fifteen minutes allowed him for unavoidable detention from other causes, amounting to two hours and thirty-five minutes lost time, and Mr. Mason's actual running time for the ninety-nine miles was only nine hours and five minutes, or nearly eleven miles an hour.

We venture to say that the fastest horse could not have performed the same distance in the same time without causing his death or injuring him beyond recovery.

We omitted to mention that in addition to the other causes of detention on the trip Mr. Mason was thrown from his bicycle between Washington and London, spraining one of his legs so that he is still lame. He remounted, however, and rode on as if nothing had happened.

Mr. Mason is not a professional, but merely an amateur, and performed the feat more for amusement than anything else. The distance from here to London is fifty-three miles, making the round trip 106 miles, and this he undertook to run in twelve hours on a wager of $100. He failed to accomplish the undertaking owing to the time lost, as stated, but is confident that he would have accomplished it easily if he had not been unexpectedly detained.

The following is a schedule of the time made on his first trial:

Important Capture of Counterfeiters.

When the first announcement was made of the arrest of the Stadfeld family, Nelson Driggs and Ben Boyd, counterfeiters, in Illinois, by Chief Washburn and the operative of the secret service of the treasury, it was stated that the plates, engraved by Boyd and printed from by Charles Stadfeld, were captured. This was incorrect and arose from an error in a cipher telegram. The plates, however, have been finally secured after a search of ten days by Chief Washburn, who dug them up yesterday in a piece of woods five miles from Centralia, Illinois. They consist of the original steel plate for five dollar notes of the Traders' National Bank of Chicago, which is, without doubt, the most dangerous ever put in circulation, and of the transfer plates from which the bogus Paxton, Canton, Aurora, and Peru five dollar notes were printed. In addition, Chief Washburn secured the two fifty-cent plates, on one a "Dexter" head, and on the other a "Stanton" head, from which the best counterfeit notes of that denomination now in circulation were printed. He also unearthed $300 more of the counterfeit money. The result of this last raid by the chief and his men is the arrest of the best engraver of counterfeit plates in the country, one of the best plate printers, and the largest circular, or wholesale dealer, of counterfeit money; also the seizure $175,000 of bogus currency and five dollar national bank notes, and seventeen counterfeit plates.

ELECTION FRAUDS.

It is a remarkable fact that no party cries out more lustily against election frauds than the Democratic party, and yet that whatever election frauds are detected are almost invariably traced to that party. The Democratic scribes point to Philadelphia as a hotbed of election frauds, and yet it is notorious that the only election frauds ever judicially detected and exposed in that city were committed by the Democrats and for the purpose of counting in Democratic candidates.

We have, now, a fresh instance of this in Montgomery county. The returns as filed in the Prothonotary's office elected the Democratic candidate for Recorder by one majority; but a scrutiny of the ballot boxes showed that, in a Democratic township, a Democrat had voted two tickets in one, and that both had been counted in defiance of law, which requires that both should be rejected. This was sufficient to turn the scale in favor of the Republican candidate; but upon counting the votes in another ballot box it was found that the votes for the Republican candidate was returned at five less than he actually received, while the vote for the Democratic candidate was returned at four more.

In both these cases the fraud was deliberate, and was practiced on purpose to cheat the Republican candidate out of his election. It faltered through exposure of it; but the fraudulent intention was too plain for doubt.

Luzerne county furnishes another illustration. The majority for Pershing as originally returned, was put down at 1,496, but the frauds detected by the court, in canvassing the returns, cut down the majority to 1,110, showing a fraudulent Democratic vote of 294. The object of this fraud was not to elect Pershing, but to help a Democratic candidate for a county office through. It was accomplished, not by the return judges, but by altering the returns after they reached the Prothonotary's office. The Prothonotary, it need hardly be said, is a Democrat, and it is likewise unnecessary to add that, when a warrant was sued out for his arrest he was not to be found. The Seranton Republican thus details the facts:

"It has been proven that election returns, officially filed in the Prothonotary's office, had been altered, changed, false and forged papers substituted for the genuine ones, and frauds promiscuously perpetrated in the interest of defeated Democratic candidates. Dr. Samuel W. Trimmer is the custodian of the Prothonotary's office, and he is the man who must be held responsible for these stupendous outrages. He is an officer of the court, sworn to do his duty; how has he discharged one of the most sacred and important of these duties? When the election returns were filed in his office, they became a part of the records of the Court of Common Pleas of Luzerne county. After they had assumed this sacred character, some of the returns were falsified, others were abstracted and forged ones substituted, while still others were tampered with in various ways, all for the purpose of counting in candidates whom the people had repudiated at the ballot-box. This infamous crime has been in a measure defeated by the action of the court, in throwing out of the count such of the fraudulent votes as have been conclusively proven. It has been proven that in the south district of Blakeley township one hundred votes, cast for each of the candidates on the labor ticket, were in the returns taken from those candidates and added to the candidates on the Democratic ticket. In the third district of the Twelfth ward of Seranton, just one hundred votes more than were polled were returned for the Democratic candidates. The returns from Old Forge were raised thirty votes; those of Spring Rock ten; those from Fell ten; those from Union ten. This much has been proven and the court has changed the count accordingly. As the count has been corrected and officially promulgated by the court Mr. Kaiser, the Republican candidate for Recorder, is elected by eleven majority; Mr. McNeish's majority has been about doubled, and the majority for the Democratic State ticket has been somewhat decreased, as has also that of the few Democrats of the county ticket who are elected."

The purpose of these frauds has, it is true, been baffled; but the fact remains that they were perpetrated, and that they were committed by Democrats to help Democrats into office. This is a part of the "reform" to which the Democracy would fain introduce us; and from all such "reform" may the good Lord deliver us.

He who expects a friend without faults will never find one.
