

The Jeffersonian.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 25, 1875.

SLUSH, slush, the beautiful slush, in great profusion the past few days.

THE population of Massachusetts, as finally corrected at the State Census Bureau is 1,681,902.

THE fire laddies will take their steamer to East Stroudsburg, Thanksgiving day, should the weather prove favorable.

A BILL appropriating $16,000 to the Centennial has been passed by both houses of the Arkansas Legislature.

COTTON men in Mobile say that if the present cotton crop can be gathered it will be the heaviest and best since the war began.

WE regret to announce the serious illness of our esteemed townsman, Hon. Stoddell Stokes. It is to be hoped he may recover soon.

THOMAS A. BELL and wife, of this borough, returned home last week from Europe, where they had been during the past three months.

A RESIDENT of Pike county, Pa., has organized a colony of the natives of Alsace and Lorraine, which he expects to locate in that county early in the spring.

A square divide. A lately deceased New Jerseyman bequeathed his body to the Emperor of Germany, his soul to President Grant his dog to the Governor of New Jersey, and his clothes to his wife.

MR. CHARLES B. SHAPER, Esq., of Hamilton township, presented us with a turnip which weighs six pounds. It is perfect in every respect and one of the finest turnips we ever saw.

THE post-office at Henryville, in this county, has been abolished. The effects of the office were taken charge of by the postmaster of Paradise Valley, Mr. James Kintz, on Saturday last.

A UNION Thanksgiving service will be held in the Presbyterian church this morning at 10 o'clock. Rev. Dr. Carrow, pastor of the M. E. Church will preach the sermon. All are cordially invited to attend.

THREE men were arrested at Oronon, Ohio, on Thursday last, charged with counterfeiting. These are a portion of a gang who have been operating in Southern Ohio for some time. Their business consisted in manufacturing nickels.

THE very atmosphere of St. Louis seems charged with an epidemic of reform. A Texas cow the other day, became infected with the prevailing mania, and cleaned out a saloon a la crusaders, in the twinkling of an eye. Send that cow up this way.

Carl Schurz has not, as has been erroneously reported in the Western papers, taken up his residence permanently in New York. He has only established his family there during the winter, that he may have more convenient headquarters during his lecturing tour.

WE are requested to announce, that C. Lewis Waters, the well known boot and shoemaker of this borough, has resumed business at the old stand, on Main St., this borough, adjoining Ruster's clothing store, where he will be pleased to wait on all desiring anything in his line of business.

By referring to our advertising columns, it will be seen that S. T. Walton has advertised his hat and cap store. Syd. was always noted for selling things cheap, and we have no doubt that all who may purchase either a hat or cap of him, will verify us in our statement. Call and see him when you come to town.

JOHN A. QUACKO, colored, and a man of considerable notoriety in this place, showed us a corn basket, a few days since, of his own manufacture, which for skill in the make-up and good material, cannot be excelled. Should any one desire anything in John's line, they can be accommodated. Give him a call.

DANIEL H. WYCKOFF, who has suffered several years from a cancer in the eye and head, is now confined to his bed and all hopes of his surviving any length of time is despaired of. Mr. W. has borne up under the ravages of the terrible disease, with wonderful Christian fortitude for several years, and he now quietly and patiently awaits his fast approaching end.

JOHN W. FORKER, alias "Sticken," after squandering two or three fortunes, is now making a desperate effort to secure another one, this time by creating a neat outer market on the lot adjoining the Washington Hotel, where he intends to do a wholesale and retail business. You can say what you will, but "Sticken" is an enterprising and energetic fellow despite his mishaps and misfortunes. He deserves success and such we wish him.

A PAIR of sentimental chaps from East Stroudsburg, hemmed, hawed and coughed in front of the residence of the "apple of my eye" until square eleven o'clock last Saturday night, and still she would not condescend to smile upon them. How long they tarried after that hour we know not, but they must have taken a "snooze" on the gate and froze fast, for when they left the gate stuck to them and was carried some distance away where it was found next morning by the owner. "Better you stop that, gentlemen?" Ahem.

Don't spend your time and strength and money in ear fare and shoe leather, in "shopping" around for habiliments in which to clothe yourself, if you are in search for garments of the right size, shape, color, texture, beauty of cut, excellence of quality, durability of wear, or cheapness in price to suit your taste, purpose and purse. Wanamaker & Brown, the Philadelphia clothiers, will be glad to serve you according to the fair terms of their new announcement in our advertising columns, which see.

THE colored democrat residing on the "hill" had a wood chopping and hauling frolic last Saturday. Well, there was nothing strange in that, but when the "frolicers" came in for supper in the evening, the doors were locked and the turkeys, chickens, &c., provided for the occasion, disposed of by the white "associates" of the aforesaid colored democrat, who had neither chopped or hauled a single stick. There was some tall swearing there by those who earned their supper, but did not get it, after which they retired to their respective homes.

MR. JOSEPH BERTRICK, a citizen of East Stroudsburg, was in this place on business, on the 13th inst., and on his return home about 10 o'clock in the evening, it being very dark at the time, just after crossing the Iron Bridge, at the lower end of town, a man sprang upon him and in the tussle, they both fell to the ground. Mr. H. then made use of a pocket-knife which he had in his hand at the time, stabbing his assailant several times in various part of his body, which caused the rascal to loosen his hold and bellow for help most vociferously, when Mr. H. made his escape, and succeeded in reaching home. No clue to the villain.

ON Monday 15th inst., a lady who gave her name as Frances Standard, was brought to this place, on a charge of stealing some clothing from the residence of James Steen, in Jackson township. The officer in charge delivered her over to the authorities of this place for commitment, but where to confine her, was a question not easily solved. The new jail not being completed, she could not be placed there. The dilemma was overcome after considerable consultation. It was decided that she should be locked up in the old Grand Jury room, and there she was placed, and every thing seemed to work smoothly, until Friday morning, when Mrs. Daniel Tuttle, called to furnish the prisoner her breakfast. On approaching the door Mrs. T. discovered considerable smoke, and on raising the wicket in the door, discovered at once the room to be on fire, and gave the alarm, which soon brought to her assistance several persons who were near the Court House at the time. On forcing open the door and the application of several buckets of water the fire was put out. But what had become of the prisoner? some were fearful she had perished in the flames, as the bedding in the room was nearly all consumed and a large hole, nearly seven feet square, was burned in the floor and several of the joists nearly burned off, but what had become of the prisoner was not made manifest until the discovery was made that she had made her escape through the window and left for parts unknown to the authorities. It appears the prisoner before making her escape, had taken the doors off the stove—a "Morning Glory"—tipped it over on the floor and piled the bedding on top of the stove, and then left, supposing probably, that if the authorities discovered her escape too soon for her safety, they would have something to attend to besides pursuing her; and thus enable her to get out of reach of the strong embrace of our county officials. But our new and formidable jail will soon be completed when birds of this feather will find it difficult to give our amiable officials the sack in this un lady-like manner. We hope, therefore, that they will console themselves with the hope of a letter this coming.

The Odd Fellows.

THE R. W. Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania met at the hall, North Sixth street, Philadelphia, on the 18th inst., at 9 o'clock, Dr. John Levergood, M. W. Grand Master presiding. There was a large attendance of representatives from every portion of the State. One hundred and twenty new members were admitted. The Grand Master and the representatives to the Grand Lodge of the United States presented elaborate reports. From the latter it appears that there are 438,701 members in the United States, 4987 Lodges, and that the total amount expended for relief during the past year was $1,537,993.41. The Committee on Centennial Celebrations presented a report, and the following resolutions, which were unanimously adopted:— WHEREAS, The R. W. Grand Lodge of the United States has accepted the invitations to hold its next annual session in the city of Philadelphia, and designated Wednesday, September 20, 1876, as the time for a grand public demonstration upon the part of the entire brotherhood, in honor of the Centennial Anniversary of the Independence of the United States of America, therefore be it Resolved, That the Grand Lodge will cordially unite with the R. Resolved, That each subordinate lodge in Pennsylvania intending to participate in the celebration be requested to select and send a delegate to represent the lodge in the General Joint Committee of Arrangements. Resolved, That the Committee of thirteen, appointed at the annual session in conjunction with the elective grand officers and the delegates from subordinate lodges, shall constitute the General Joint Committee of Arrangements; to co-operate with the committees appointed by the Grand Lodge of the United States and by the Grand Encampment of Pennsylvania and the delegates from the subordinate encampments of Pennsylvania, in making the proper arrangements for a public procession of the order in regalia, and such other observances of the important event as may be deemed proper. Resolved, That the above be issued, in its circular form, to the lodges throughout the jurisdiction and that lodges be invited to send the names and addresses of the delegates to the R. W. Grand Secretary at an early day. The lodge adjourned at six P. M.

SECOND DAY.

THE Grand Lodge, Independent Order of Odd Fellows of Penn'a, continued in session throughout Wednesday, and adjourned finally at five o'clock. Charters were granted to thirteen new lodges that had been instituted during the session under dispensations issued by the Grand Officers. Also to a new lodge at Wells, Bradford county, to be known as Wells Lodge, No. 921.

THE following nominations for Grand Officers were made, the candidates to be voted for in the subordinate lodges at the second meeting night in April next:—M. W. G. M., George F. S., Robert M. Lamberton, Harrisburg; Samuel F. Gwerner, Bucks county.

J. Henry Beitel was elected a trustee to the Odd Fellows' Hall Association.

EAST STROUDSBURG ITEMS.

MR. Thomas Stemples has just erected a neat pale fence in front of his house on Courtland street.

MR. Theo. Drake has been building an addition to his house on Crystal street, in the way of a two story brick kitchen.

THE managers of the East Stroudsburg glass company are pushing the work of building vigorously forward. See full account elsewhere.

MR. James Banker, has just laid in a large stock of toys and confectionary, such as are calculated to make the children's eyes sparkle and dad's pocket-book flat. Spend a half hour with your children there and prove these facts for yourself.

MR. John Fenner has been putting a hand rail around the corner of Crystal street. This was a much needed improvement and has averted much danger. Several parties have already fallen off the wall and it is only a wonder they did not break their necks.

MR. George Bird's team took fright while standing in front of W. S. Barger's on Friday night last, at a band of music on their way to serenade a young lady near the Depot. The team was stopped near Mr. Henry's livery stable, without doing any damage.

MR. C. A. Wester, employed at Mr. A. I. Labar's slate factory, in East Stroudsburg, tried on Tuesday afternoon last, to stop a machine used for ovaling the edge of the slate frame by sticking his fingers into it. The consequence was that Dr. Mutchler had the job of dressing three of his fingers and Mr. W. has a holiday.

THE front of the Lackawanna House, opposite the Depot, has assumed quite a genteel appearance, and the improvements are still going on. The large new sign is quite an addition to the appearance of the house, the cornice and window blinds, in fact the entire front is being dressed in a new coat of paint by Professor Drake, the painter.

MR. W. Peirson of the well known firm of Peirson & Thompson, has just returned from New York, where he has been spending a week past in making some exchanges of property here for Orange, Jersey City, and Brooklyn property. They have several good paying houses there to exchange for farms in this locality on a cash basis only.

LAURELS FOR EAST STROUDSBURG HUNTERS.—Mr. Samuel P. Smith and Jeremiah Haney, have been spending a week among the deers. They brought home with them a fine large buck, rolling in fat; they displayed their generosity by giving the most of it away to their numerous friends, among whom we were fortunate enough to be numbered. We have never tasted a finer steak than one off of the round. They contemplate going again and we wish them success. Smitty generally brings something home with him when he goes. Mr. Joseph Sanderlin knocked a fine buck and fine boy, both down at one shot. The sixteen buck-shot out of the gun knocked the buck head over heels and the back action of the gun knocked Joe heels over head. Try it again Josie! load light next time.

A DELAWARE county man has cured rheumatism by carrying a raw potato in his pocket three weeks, and he says he has recommended the remedy to his friends with similar effects. No one, therefore, should suffer with rheumatism as long as the potato crop is not a total failure.

A woman cured her husband of staying out late at night by going to the door when he came home and whispering through the keyhole, "Is that you Willie? Her husband's name is John, and he stays at home every night now, and sleeps with one eye open and a revolver under his pillow.

DECEMBER 1st the Pennsylvania railroad officials intend to accomplish a feat which has never before performed—running from New York to Pittsburg without a stop. Water for the boilers will be scooped from long iron troughs parallel with the tracks, as is done on the New York Central, and the necessary fuel will probably be carried by several tenders of the locomotive.

Death of Vice-President Wilson.

It is announced by telegraph that Hon. Henry Wilson, Vice-President of the United States, died at Washington at eight o'clock Monday morning. The news was unexpected, as well as sorrowful, as Monday morning's papers stated that Mr. Wilson had quite recovered from his illness and was about to return to Massachusetts. He has been carried off now, without much doubt, by a recurring attack of apoplexy or paralysis. For his sudden death we have been in some degree prepared, but the actual event brings with it as much and as sincere regret as that of any other public man. No one has stood higher in the esteem and respect of the American people than Henry Wilson. They have always believed in his entire purity, honesty and devotion to the public interests. He was 63 years of age. Beginning life in a very humble way, as a shoemaker, he first became known in politics in 1840 as a member of the Massachusetts Legislature. He was elected a United States Senator in 1855, and has ever since been conspicuous in national affairs. His place as President of the Senate will be filled by Hon. Thomas W. Ferry, of Michigan, who was elected presiding officer, protem., by that body last March. Mr. Ferry now stands next in the line of succession to the President of the United States.

A FELLOW has been sent to prison in Philadelphia for stealing the Ledger from subscribers' doors.

Appearances indicate that the whisky makers have got into more trouble than the drinkers ever did.

AN eleven-year-old girl in Lyscoming county is four feet three inches high, and weighs 133 pounds.

THE travel of a great city. The New York horse cars last year carried 149,832,851 paying passengers.

REPRESENTATIVE Butler, of Cumberland county, has in preparation a bill for the breaking up of the tramp nuisance.

BESIDES the growing foreign demand for American cotton goods, there is also a very flattering call for American-tanned leather.

A CENSUS, just completed, shows the population of the town of Washington to be 4,963, against 3,571 in 1870. A pretty fair increase for five years.

A MILLION bushels of peanuts were eaten in this country last year. The man who sweeps out the Detroit Opera House can account for all but eleven bushels, which were probably eaten in Allentown.

CHILD abductors are at work again in Philadelphia. It is the best place in the United States to steal a child and escape pursuit. All the detectives chain up their children regularly every morning.—Detroit Free Press.

IN those parts of Louisiana where the rice was cut early the long continued rains flooded, and now from the old stubble a second rice crop has come up and is ready to be cut. This will add largely to the rice estimate.

THERE is a grate many rules to make married life comfortable but the golden one is this: "Go slow and give each other half the road. This rule is as simple and easy as milking a cow on the rite side, and will be found as useful as lie to avoid hot journals and hot axes.—Josh Billings.

THERE are 530 inmates of the Berks County Almshouse. These eat in a week three steers, each weighing 800 or 900 pounds, and twenty barrels of flour baked into bread. On an average 112 loaves, each weighing seven or eight pounds, are baked every day.

A five dollar bill purporting to be issued by the First National Bank of Galena, Ill., has been discovered in the National Bank Redemption Agency. There is no such bank in existence. The note is evidently altered from the plate of the Trader's National Bank of Chicago.

THE following notice has been sent to the postmasters of this county and elsewhere by John Jay Knox, Comptroller of Currency, Washington: "Refuse all five dollar notes of the following banks: The First National Bank of Chicago, Ill., The Traders' National of Chicago, Ill., The First National Bank of Paxton, Ill., The First National Bank of Aurora, Ill. Nearly the entire amount of the genuine five dollar notes of these banks has been withdrawn from circulation, and no additional issues will be made. The Comptroller is desirous of retiring the whole amount from circulation, and all persons receiving such notes are urgently requested to deposit the same with the nearest national bank or to forward them to this office, for redemption."

FOOLS had better cut this out and paste it in their hats. A couple of gypsies persuaded a Kokomo, Ind., farmer that $100,000 in gold was buried on his farm. They knew the exact spot, and produced an accurate diagram of the farmer's real estate. For $5,000 in greenbacks they would raise the dust. The farmer mortgaged his farm, obtained the stipulated number of bank notes, and gave them to the gypsies to verify by actual count. One of them fingered over, pronounced the total correct, and under pretence of rolling them up again, substituted as many pieces of brown paper, which were then tied up in a napkin and handed over to the agriculturalist, with instructions not to meddle with the knots. For $75 in gold the gypsies cleverly substituted a corresponding weight in shot, and the negotiation was completed. All that remained for the farmer to do was to take a shovelful of Indiana earth to Kentucky, and bring back a shovelful of Kentucky earth to be placed in the Indiana hole. Then the gypsies would appear and raise the golden $100,000. The farmer obeyed, and the exchange of shovelfuls was effected, and the time arrived for the reappearance of the gypsies. They did not come; they continued absent, and the Kokomo grainger, untying the mysterious knots in that napkin, found what it in the nature of things he should find. Instead of $100,000 in gold it is a $5,000 mortgage that this Kokomo farmer new wants to raise.
