THURSDAY, AUGUST 10, 1876.

Republican National Nominations.

FOR PRESIDENT,
RUTHERFORD B. HAYES, of Ohio.
FOR VICE-PRESIDENT,
WILLIAM A. WHEELER, of New York.

The Hayes and Wheeler club, at their meeting on Friday evening last, was fairly started in the good work. Some forty odd persons joined the club, and many more are coming to help swell the popular vote in favor of the good honest who were named the standard bearers of the great Republican party. During the meeting the Beethoven band made their appearance in front of the hall and rendered several of their excellent pieces in fine style.

Tilden and Hendricks have been heard from. Their letters appeared on Saturday last and are longer than the moral law. They have said nothing new and they said it in such a way that the wonder is that they hesitated so long about saying it. Thirty-seven days were occupied in conferences made necessary by the differences of opinion that existed between the candidates. The fight was a hardly contested one and the victory for a time doubtful, but the letters show that if anything Hendricks and inflation came out ahead and that Samuel J. Tilden, the immaculate hard money saint was compelled to join his party in its feast of crow. Both the writers make a pretense of holding out the idea that the most perfect harmony prevailed throughout their several conferences, but if the assertions of newspaper correspondents are true they are the heaviest specimens of harmonious "hair pins" the world has yet seen. If they believed at first what their letters representing as believing now they have insulted their party by not promptly announcing their acceptance within twenty-four hours after the receipt of notice of their nominations. Instead of that they have held their party in suspense for thirty-seven days, have invoked Congress to repeal the resumption clause of the act of 1875 to make the way smooth to them, and did divers other crooked things to the great disgust of the country including all the sensible members of the party. Our distinguished neighbor over the way will of course think it all right, but he will find precious few to really agree with him. What a contrast between the conduct of Tilden and Hendricks and that of Hayes and Wheeler.

We cannot, if we wish to accomplish any great amount of good politically here in Monroe this fall, have the general organization of the party throughout the county perfected too soon, and work should be commenced having that end in view at once. But our brethren residing in the county should bear in mind that the duty lies more with them than with us of making preparation for the formation of clubs and working the people up to that pitch of enthusiasm which will secure the interest of all in the campaign. We last week gave a square, and, as nobody will dispute, a fair definition of modern Democracy. We set forth what even Democrats will admit, that to be a Democrat, as understood hereabouts, means neither more nor less than to permit a few self-constituted leaders who are ignorant of the distinctive principles which divide the two parties as are the persons who suffer themselves to be led by them. We also set forth what were the real objects of modern Democracy and how they hoped to effect them. This we did so very affectually that a doubt need no longer linger on the mind of any one, and we conceive that it but needs that this matter be properly and unceasingly worked up to draw hundreds of the men who are at least Republicans from the ranks of this body of cheats, who have thus far worked upon the fears and loves of their deluded followers for their own unworthy personal aggrandizement. The best means of accomplishing this end is without a doubt club meetings where sentiments can be exchanged, and where speeches, documents and free conversation will be on hand to aid in bringing the truth squarely forward. In this work the country must take the initiative, under the assurance that in every thing needful they will have the hearty co-operation of the town club, already organized and at work. Will our country friends think this matter over, and prepare for work at once.

Every man, in this land of the free should make politics an every day study, and of course every man should be a politician. In other countries having those who exercise political power through the so-called "Divine right," politics may in the private citizen be looked upon by the rulers as a superfluity. Here however, the people are the rulers and the office holders the servants, though for want of intelligence properly to exercise their prerogative, the party leaders have reduced the fact to a mere myth, and in consequence the servants have in reality become the masters and control things pretty much to suit themselves. This is an evil which must be eradicated if we desire to maintain the idea of a sovereign people intact, and to this end every man, no matter what his position in life, has it incumbent upon him to not only study the ordinary political lessons of the day, but even to extend his researches into the higher realms of statesmanship. Heeding this proposition we shall all be better able to watch the tricks of the political charlatans, and make our government what it was really designed to be a government of the people, for the people and by the people.

The Cornet band of this place will participate in the grand picnic to be held at Pleasant Valley on the 17th inst.

READ Gen. Tuttle's speech on the first page of to-day's JEFF. in which he defines his reasons for leaving the Democratic party.

For general promenading and special swinging on the gates, the evenings could not have been more pleasant than for a week past.

A MONUMENT costing $6,000 has been raised over the grave of the late Jacob Singmaster, of this place, at Fairview Cemetery, Allentown, Pa.

THE price of admission to the Berks County Agricultural Fair, this fall, is to be fifteen cents for single adult tickets, and ten cents each for children's tickets. No family tickets will be issued.

WORK was commenced on the Water works on Friday last. The critics pretend to say, after examining the work done that the commencement of the work looks like a bad beginning of what may prove a bad job.

AFTER the meeting of the Hayes and Wheeler club, on Friday evening, the Beethoven band serenaded Capt. Bennett and Simon Fried, Esq., at their residences. The music of the band was duly appreciated and the members kindly treated.

On Tuesday afternoon Dr. J. H. Shall, Theodore P. Taylor and Edward K. Shafer, of this place, were out trying their skill with the black bass at the Water Gap. Although they are not experts at fishing, they returned home in the evening with a fine lot of the finny tribe.

THOMAS HEFFERMAN, who was up before Squire Rees, of this place, a short time since, on a charge of stealing grain from Mr. Zimmerman, of Smithfield township, settled the matter and was released. A few days since Zimmerman had Hefferman arrested again and committed to jail on the charge of threats made.

If the performances of Mr. Denier on the rope meets with your approbation so will the performance in the hall.

To the Leader and members of Beethoven Cornet Band:

Political Notes.
Belnap, the fallen Secretary of War, was born and bred a Democrat.

There is not a line in Tilden's letter about the Hamburg massacre.

Tilden intimates in his letter that he will play into the hands of the Confederate leaders as he did all through the war.

Robert Redick, Esq., A. C. Powell, both of Hancock county, Ohio, and both influential Democrats, have declared for Hayes and Wheeler.

"Name a single reform in doctrine, law or practice that the Democratic party has inaugurated and carried out since 1840."—Senator Sherman, July, 1876.

Corn in Arkansas is worth twenty-five cents a bushel and the hogs are in clover. This is not "reform," but it is "relief." Hog and hominy politics will do.

Sheriff Conner returns on the execution of $7,000,000 against Tweed, "no goods." He might also return "no Tweed." Tilden has not yet returned "no Sheriff."

The Democratic campaign in Virginia is progressing apace. The other night the United States flag in front of the Lynchburg Postoffice was mutilated so as to effectually destroy it.

The Westliche Post says: "That is a queer country. Democratic Judges imprison little thieves for small offenses and run railroad sharpeners and ballot-box stuffers as Presidential candidates."

The August meteors rarely miss their appointments on the night of the 10th, and they may be looked for as early as the 6th.

Thomas Conyngham, prominent business man of Wilkesbarre, in this State, is reported to have absconded after forging papers to the amount of nearly $200,000.

Cincinnati fishermen have discovered that the potato bug is good bait for trout. It has already been known that the trout is more greedy than discriminating in his diet.

The Detroit Free Press asks this difficult question: "When a Baltimore lawyer will kill himself because it is too hot to live, what are the rest of us fooling around here for?"

A carrier pigeon, set off at Scranton, the other day, reached New York in two hours and twenty minutes. This is said to be the fastest known time made by any pigeon in the country.

The earnings of the Baltimore and Ohio road for the first half of the current year were $1,847,760 17, against $1,589,064 31 for the corresponding period last year, an increase of $258,704 86.

Hon. W. W. Ketchum has been sworn in and entered upon his duties of Judge of the United States Circuit Court for the Western District of Pennsylvania, in place of Judge McCandless, retired.

A drove of cattle, driven a few weeks ago from Captain King's rancho, in Neeces county, Texas, to Kansas, numbered 30,000 horned cattle and needed 700 drivers. The outfit alone cost $5,000, and the cattle were disposed of for $329,000.

Some idea of the extent to which the national lunacy prevails may be obtained from the fact that a single firm in New York has sold 35,000, base ball bats, 180,000 balls, 2,500 pairs of ball shoes, 3,080 pairs of colored hose, 5,000 caps and 500 complete uniforms.

The official reports of the savings banks in New York city for July show a sound financial basis. The total resources are $267,370,659; liability to depositors, $184,123,793; surplus, $83,246,793. Since Jan. the liabilities have decreased $593,919, and the surplus has increased by $2,559,110.

The following seasonable remedy should be kept on hand by every family: Take equal parts of tincture of opium, red pepper, rhubarb, peppermint and camphor. It is a remedy for summer complaint, diarrhoea, cramp in the bowels, and similar maladies, and affords almost instant relief. The dose is from three to ten drops on sugar for a child, according to age, and 10 to 30 drops for an adult, according to the severity of the attack.

They've got a Greek Hercules out in San Francisco. With 400 pounds on his breast, 400 in his back, a bar of 200 pounds on his neck, and a man on each shoulder, he walks and dances to music, wearing shoes weighing seventy-five pounds each.

Henry Deliker, near Pikeville, Pike township, Berks county, while cradling oats, captured a black snake measuring four feet five inches in length. Inside of that snake was another, a spotted snake, two feet ten inches long, and in that snake were twenty young snakes each six inches long. The spotted snake had evidently been swallowed by the black snake a short time before.

The last Pennsylvania rattlesnake story is of a Blooming Grove infant of four, who brought one in to his mother, held by the neck and by the rattles. The snake having been dropped at the command of the mother and dispatched with her broomstick, the youngster cried at the loss of his play-fellow and said he knew where there were more and that he would go after another. He was humored in his wildness and a nest of the reptiles was found, out of which twenty-one were killed by the farm hands with flails. While the threshing lasted there was a deafening rattling going on. The snake the boy had picked out was two feet and a half long and had seven rattles.
