WHEN THIS OLD HAT WAS NEW.

A CAMPAIGN SONG.

It is a true saying that a man is known by the company he keeps, and these lines are written to show the character of the Democratic Presidental candidate for

When this old hat was new, boys, Sam Tilden and Bill Tweed. Were bosom cronics in New York, And mighty well agreed, The tricks one did not think of, sir, The other surely knew; And so they swelled their bank accounts. When this old hat was new, When this old hat was new, boys,

By plans that Sam invented, sir, Known but to very few, They counted Hoffman Governor, When this old hat was new. When this old hat was new, boys, And everything serene, While Sammy ran the railroads,

Oh! how the money went;

And yet were not content.

They scooped the city treasury up,

The Boss ran "the machine, With Hoffman up the Hudson, sir, Oh! how the money flew; Reform was what they did not want, When this old hat was new. when this old hat was new, boys,

Great scandals were affoat;

The Tam'ny ring was broken up,

The Boss was made scape-goat; Ungrateful Sam at last began, Though still one of the crew, To cry "Stop thief?" and keeps it up, Since that old hat was new. When this old hat was new, boys,

If we have learned the facts, Our Sammy made a false return Upon his income tax : And had the law but reached the fraud, And dealt him justice true, Like Tweed he'd worn a striped suit,

When this old hat was new, boys, A funny thing to see Was little Sam a figuring The President to be. He pardoned convicts great and small,

When this old hat was new,

And Tweed to Cuba flew, For Sammy had no use for him, When this old hat was new. Although this hat is old, boys, And bleached by the sun, I'll wear it like an honest man Until the victory's won; I'll swing it in the air, boys,

A dozen bright and new. Headquarters Republican State Committee, Philadelphia, Oct. 14, 1876.

TO THE PEOPLE OF PENNSYLVANIA:

For Hayes and Wheeler true,

And next November I will win

Eleven years after the overthrow of the rebellion we find the men who forced it upon the country again preparing to seize the Government. It is the old Confederate army united upon the old Confederate heresy. They have never abandoned their cherished idea—they still think with Mr. Tilden that ours is a confederacy, and not a nation. They have made him their candidate because he never abandoned his declared conviction that "the Constitution of the United States is only orgnized revolution," and that "any State has the right to snap the tie at its pleasure." This was the heresy that fired the rebel gun from Charleston against Sumter in 1861; and this is the heresy they are remarshalled in 1876 to re-establish. To this end they have crushed out Re publican opinion in every Southern State To this end they have made the white Re publican an outcast and the black Republican a vassal. To this end, coercion of Republicans is their stern discipline. By force, their Confederate heresy is again the cement to make a Solid South. The Confederate army is far more united to-day in the new effort to seize the Government than it was fifteen years ago in the mad effort to destroy it. To-day treason is aided by their sympathizers in the North. They have concentrated the struggle upon a single issue—the revolution of during the war, has made eath to the folthe Government. They sink every other question out of sight, and therein they revolution as dangerous as the rebellion itself. When fifteen States can be more unified by the shotgun and the bludgeon than they were by armed secession itself, and when this combination is enforced by the suppression of free speech, a free ballot, and free schools, its success must end our republican experiment. These men tried to fight their way out of the Union at an incalculable sacrifice of hunman life, and now they are trying within the Union, by new forms of violence and fraud, to reestablish the degmas supposed to be destroyed on the battle-field. All they ask is a sufficient contingent from the free States to complete their programme. It is in this Centennial year, when Pennsylvania is inviting all the nations to her hospitalities, and proffering encouragement and kindness to her Southern sisters, that the Confederates advance upon her borders to make another effort for the heresy which originated and prolonged the rebellion. Pennsylvania demands "peace and unity," but she demands them as the result of cheerful obedience to just law, and not as the sullen submission compelled by the officers of the law. Pennsylvania demands industrial and commercial prosperity; but she knows that these are the fruits of peaceful and orderly society, based upon honesty and right, and cannot grow out of the anarchy and chaos threatened in a Solid South, Pennsylvania will first have justice, then prosperity. Has the country no road to prosperity but that which disgraces the sears of the living soldiers and dishonors the graves of the dead?

Pennsylvanian will have purity in public administration, but she wants none of the musive promises of "reform" made by Tilden and illustrated by Tweed and the disciples of Tammany Hall. Men of Pennsylvania, upon you rests the responsibility-yours is the absorbing obligation. Will you "Hold the Fort ?" By order of the committee. HENRY M. HOYT, Chairman.

A. Wilson Norris, Secretary. Hayes, Tilden, and the American Alliances The latest campaign lie set on foot by the reform party, charging Gov. Hayes with indorsing the principles of an obscure organization styling itself "The American Aliance." has already tumbled to the ground.

The following letter is conclusive on the subject : I wish to correct some mistakes made by persons in commenting upon the letter sent to the American Alliance by Mr. A. E. Lee, Gov. Haye's secretary. 1. Gov. Hayes never was a member of the American Alliance. 2. He never saw the constitution or by-laws of the organization. 3. No committee of this order ever at any time called on him, either at Philadelphia, Columbus, or any other place, for any purpose. We simply informed him by letter that we indorsed his nomination, in answer to which we received the letter from his secretary. That letter was taken from my office, and I was as much surprised as any one can be to see it in print. I am at a loss to see why Democratic papers should find any fault with the proceedings, as we indorsed Mr. Tilden for Governor two pears ago, and he found no fault with it, but on the contrary was very greateful for the assistance, only he requested that it be kept secret, as, if it should become public, he learned he would lose the foreign vote.
