

The Jeffersonian.

THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 16, 1876.

Not a feather of Amundus' rooster can be seen this week. How we don't crow.

Let the eagle scream, Hayes and Wheeler is elected and the rooster cleaned out. Amundus Orevus has made application to old "Usufruct" for a passage on the bring stream.

The roboracy of Jackson Corners, election night, or sawed down a republican pole raised by Mr. Conard Miller and other republican friends eight years ago. But then it is characteristic of the cowardly skanks who shout the "rebel yell."

And what has become of the rooster that crowed so loudly in your last issue. Amundus Orevus? We fear your "rebel yell" was a cry he could not conscientiously make and caused him to bid you an indefinite adieu. He crows best who crows last.

BOTH SIDES SURE OF SUCCESS.

The Republicans and Democrats never has an election in our Republic been so close as the last. Since Wednesday morning after election both political parties have been either alternately or together claiming the President elect. We trust the question will soon be decided. The result seems to linger on Florida which has invariably been a Republican state since the War. There is great fear the Democratic canvassers will falsify the returns. Twenty-nine of the 30 counties in the state are in the hands of Democratic canvassers, and when Mr. Hewitt found it was necessary to carry Florida to elect Mr. Tilden, he telegraphed on the 8th inst., to Mr. Drew the Democratic candidate for Governor and other prominent Democrats, begging them to secure the vote of that state for Tilden. Down to this time the Democrats of Florida admitted their defeat, but after they received this telegraph they at once declared that they had carried the state, resolving to defeat the Republicans at all hazards, and to this end they sent out men to all the voting districts under Democratic control with instructions to make the vote as large as possible. On the same evening the Governor sent out a special train with a number of Republicans on board to watch the Democrats and see that no frauds were perpetrated. The Democrats heard of this and 4 miles from Tallahassee, this train was wrecked—one of the rails having been torn up. This gave the Democratic emissaries from 12 to 24 hours the start. Since these transactions twenty-five counties have been heard from and give a Republican majority of 4,360. The fourteen counties yet to be heard from in 1876 gave a Democratic majority of 2,880, and in 1874 2,952. This year the Republicans got out their full vote in these counties and it is confidently believed that the Democratic majorities were greatly reduced. It is not possible to increase it by any honest means. Consequently if all the votes really cast shall be honestly counted the Republican majority will be from 1,290 to 2,000.

The board of state canvassers is composed of the Secretary of State, Controller, and Attorney General, one of whom is a Democrat, and all regarded as honorable and reliable men. If the vote shall be honestly returned by the county canvassers there is no doubt that the state canvassers will honestly count it. But will the Democratic county canvassers not falsify the returns. This is the question. The county canvassers are required by the Florida law to make their returns on the 14th inst., and then the state canvassers will have from that time 30 days in which to make their count, though they can and will probably make it sooner. We will probably have the result officially announced within two weeks.

South Carolina and Louisiana the two other states which the Democracy count on to ensure the election of Tilden in case Florida fails them, have both been Republican States since the War by large majorities, and hence the Democracy has no right to count on them to elect Tilden. The result in the last two states will soon be determined.

So we think we may rely on Florida as well as Louisiana and South Carolina to go for Hayes and thus secure his election, if fraud shall be crushed in its hellish efforts at making the ballot box a mockery and a delusion.

On Friday last the great International Exhibition at Philadelphia, was formally closed. The removal of goods were at once commenced, but the grounds themselves will be continued open for some time after. The Exhibition has been a greater success than the most sanguine expected. There were many who predicted that the enterprise would be a disastrous failure, and their dismal prophecies were heard long after the gates had been open. But it is proved to be a great success and a credit to the nation under whose auspices it was inaugurated.

The Philadelphia Bulletin on noting the success of the great exhibition says: Those unhappy people who did not subscribe for Centennial stock, and who have been miserable over the fear of a financial failure, may be comforted. The exhibition is the greatest success, financially as well as in all other ways. All debts are paid. The current daily expenses are paid. And a big balance is piling up in bank, to pay the stockholders probably not less than fifty to sixty per cent of their subscriptions. And all in spite of a frightfully hot summer. Philadelphia must be pardoned if she indulges in a little self-congratulation over results like these which come from the good, honest management of the Centennial authorities and from the patriotic enthusiasm of her people.

Russia is preparing for war.

THANKSGIVING—two weeks from to-day.

The season for shooting rabbits will close on the 10th of December.

The supply of tramps is still equal to the demand.

Now that the melancholy days are at hand, "sociables," and molasses-licks are in order.

WINTER is coming slowly on and it is about time for those who have not yet laid in their supply of coal to do so at once.

A YOUNG man of Northumberland county, named Leshar, recently husked one hundred and twenty bushels of corn in ten hours.

CLOSED.—The grand Centennial exposition finished its mission last Friday the 10th inst., and was formally closed by President Grant.

The remaining Mollie Maguires in Carbon county will be tried at Mauch Chunk on Dec. 4th.

Real Estate Sales.

MR. WM. CRESS, of Stroud township, this county, on Tuesday last, sold his farm of 65 acres and the entire stock to Mr. William McKirgan, of New Jersey, for $8,700.

Mrs. Sarah J. Taylor, of Washington, D. C., lately bought the fine farm of Silas Shupp, situated in Chestnut Hill township, for $7,000.

The South Mountain Railroad Company have, within the past few weeks, placed 400 miles of road under contract between Harrisburg and Boston. John Lee, of Easton, has received the contract for the construction of the road through New Jersey and Eastern Pennsylvania.

MR. JOHN BLOOM, of Pike township, Clearfield county, a gentleman weighing about 250 pounds, arose from his bed a few mornings ago and was in the act of dressing himself, when the bones of his one leg were literally crushed to pieces and the unfortunate man fell to the floor in great agony. Too much avoirdupois for one Bloom, we take it.

The following are the officers elected at the meeting of the Stroudsburg Building and Loan Association, held on Friday evening, Nov. 3d, to serve the ensuing year:

President, John Edinger; Secretary, B. S. Jacoby; Treasurer, A. O. Greenwald; Solicitor, S. Holmes, Jr.; Directors, John H. Conner, John Appenzeller, Reuben Thomas, Wm. H. Garris, G. G. Ramsey, Reuben Miller, Joseph Matlack, J. R. Smith and Richard Storm.

The Philadelphia Press says that after the close of the Centennial Exposition the collections of minerals and metallurgical products now on exhibition are to be placed in one of the saloons of Memorial Hall, and arranged there for future display as objects of interest to the general public and of study for the professional inquirer. The American Institute of Mining Engineers, to whom these contributions have been donated by foreign government commissioners and private citizens, is the only national society of the kind in the United States.

JAMES G. CLARK, composer and balladist, gave one of his peculiarly sweet and pleasing concerts at Williams' Hall, last Wednesday week, to a very select and appreciative audience. Mr. C. looks and acts like a man who knows his part and performs it well without an effort. Mr. C. performs such pieces as absorb his sympathies; his expression and enunciation are most admirable; his voice breathes melody in every note, and renders clearly the sentiment of every emotion of his music. Those who were not in attendance missed a rare musical treat.

The Philadelphia banks having their semi-annual dividend periods in Nov. and May of each year have just announced their respective dividends for the last half year. The total amount of dividends is $739,500. Three of the banks passed. As compared with the last semi-annual dividend period, the capital of the several banks is reduced from $14,340,000 to $14,140,000. This has been caused by the National Bank of the Republic calling in within the past year three thousand shares of its stock.

Personal.

Mr. Daniel Dreher, who has been confined to his house for some weeks with the fever, we are glad to see on the street again.

Mr. Jesse Sharp and daughter, formerly of this place, but now of Michigan, were on a visit to their friends in this place and vicinity, and left town last week to visit other friends in N. J.

Mr. John H. Conner and wife left town on Sunday for Port Jervis, N. Y., to visit his brother Jesse Conner.

Mr. Beeber, brother-in-law of Amundus Orevus Greenwald, editor of the Democrat, left on Saturday last for his home at Fort Wayne, Indiana.

Mr. Jacob Shafer, the drover, residing on Sarah street, who has been seriously ill for some time, is slowly improving.

The Rev. E. L. Martin, of the M. E. Church at Spragueville, this county, filled Dr. Carrow's pulpit last Sunday morning and evening, very acceptably, we learn.

Miss Carrie Knight, a beautiful and accomplished yankee belle, of South Byfield, Mass., is visiting friends here. She is the guest of Miss Addie, daughter of Judge Dreher. Her friends seem to vie with each other in making her visit one of pleasure and happiness.

Mr. Syd Rhodes, of Sand Cut, was in town last Tuesday on business. Syd assures us he is not going up the "river," and his democratic friends need not think that his visit here was for the purpose of making the necessary arrangements. Syd is Hayes and Wheeler every time.

CHEERING NEWS

LOUISIANA REPUBLICAN

Hayes Carries the State Outside the Intimidated Parishes.

THE REPUBLICAN MAJORITY IN SOUTH CAROLINA.

Encouraging Reports for Republicans.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 14.—A dispatch to Senator West to-day, from a conservative Republican in New Orleans, says that returns from all the parishes have been received, and that the Republicans have carried the national, state and legislative tickets beyond all doubt, without throwing out the vote of the intimidated parishes.

Democrats here say that they have a dispatch from Columbia, S. C., saying that the returning board to-day throw out the vote of Edgefield county, which, according to the Democratic estimates, gave a Democratic majority of 3,500, although the county is Republican by nearly that majority. The national committee to-day received a letter giving the vote in all the counties of South Carolina, by which it appears that Hayes has 7,616 majority and Chamberlain 5,229.

General Result.

The following table gives the electoral vote of each state and also shows for whom it will be cast.

THE VOTE OF KANSAS.

HAYES' MAJORITY 40,000—NOT A COUNTY IN THE STATE FOR TILDEN

TOPEKA, Nov. 10.—The official vote of every county in the State was counted to-day, and the majority for Hayes will reach 40,000, and that for Anthony, for Governor, 25,000. There are only three Democrats elected to the State Senate, and twelve to the lower house. Not a county in the State has given Tilden a majority.

The family of David Schitz, who resides in Salisbury, were taken seriously ill the other evening, after having eaten apple butter that had been kept in earthen crocks or pots, from the time it had been made. They were seized with cramps, and for some time it was thought they could not recover. The symptoms were those of lead poisoning, and it is supposed the glazing on the inside of the vessel had been softened by the apple butter, which was poured in while hot, and that a portion had been mixed with it.

On Thursday last three aristocratic young ladies entered a Brooklyn horse car and two of them began a conversation relating to the Presidential election. Soft words soon grew into loud and acrimonious controversy, in the heat of which one of the disputants, drawing off her gold watch and chain, offered to bet them against $150 that Hayes was elected. The money was at once produced by the other, and the third young lady pocketed the property as stakeholder. Then the car was stopped and the three beauties, two with highly flushed faces, tripped gracefully away.

Many of our manufacturers are beginning to reap the benefit of the exhibition of their products at the Centennial Exhibition. The latest case is that of the Lane Manufacturing Company, of Montpelier, Vermont, who have just received an order by cable telegram for a heavy double circular saw mill, with sixty-foot carriage, to go to Zenhausen, Baden, Germany.

A French company of capitalists have agreed to locate extensive works for the manufacture of French plate glass at Huntington. In this locality it is to be found the finest glass sand in the world, while coal can be procured at a low rate.

William Cullen Bryant, aged 83; Peter Cooper, aged 86; John A. Dix, aged 78; George Law, aged 75; Moses Taylor, aged 72; James Lenox, aged 75, and James Brown, aged 75, were among New York veterans who took a conspicuous part in the late election.

A wild duck, which was flying down a stream at Westport, Conn., a few days ago, struck a telegraph wire, which was stretched across a bridge, with such force that its head was severed from its body. A passer-by found the bird, and had it cooked for supper.

A pine tree was cut down last week upon the property of Mr. Horn, in Clearfield county, which measured thirty-six inches at the butt and from which six sixteen-foot saw-logs were cut. The last log measured fifteen inches at the top end.

The possibility of a European war has stimulated the export of leather, which has risen two cents in England, and has advanced in this country. Hides are from fifteen to eighteen per cent. above the lowest point touched this season.

Chicago claims to be the greatest lumber market of the continent, and even of the world, but Albany, New York, puts in the counter claim that she out-rides this trade center in the annual value of lumber sold.

Colorado is a very young Commonwealth, but there are now in the State 24,108 persons of school age.

Obituary.

William J. Hollinshead, druggist, a son of Stroud Hollinshead, deceased, died at his residence in this town last Saturday morning after an illness of several weeks. He had been confined to his house by dropsy for a month or so, but his case was not looked upon by his immediate friends as specially dangerous, until last Friday evening when he was taken suddenly ill while reading a newspaper, and continued in apparent half-conscious agony until he breathed his last, the following morning about 4 o'clock. With him died the last of his parents' children. His mother in apparent good health survives him. He was buried in the Cemetery last Tuesday afternoon.

The services in the Presbyterian church were conducted by Rev. R. M. Wallace in a solemn and impressive manner. In respect to the memory of their deceased companion in business and fellow citizen, all business men closed their places of business during the funeral services.
