FATTENING ANIMALS.

An Article to be Rend Now !

At this season, says the Maine Farmer, the attention of the farmer is often directed to the fattention of the larmer is often intended for the butcher; and it is important for him to know how he may turn such articles of food to the best acturn such articles of 100d to the best account. Several articles, such as pumpkins and apples will not keep long, and are to be used in their season, if at all. The least nutritious articles, so far as it can be done conveniently, should be fed out first; afterward those that are nutritive. Fattening animals should be kept quiet, and suffered to take no more exercise than is necessary for their health. All exercise, more than this calls for an expenditure of food, which does not avail any thing in the process of fattening. They should be fed regularly, with suitable food, and that properly prepared; and as much should be given them as they are able to convert into flesh and fat, without waste, "In the animal economy, the accumulation of fat and extra flesh, is only a deposit of superfluous nutri-ment, which not being required by the sys tem at one time, is laid by for future emergencies; and it must be obvious that the larger the quantity of food which a fattening can be made to consume daily, with a good appetite, or digest thoroughly, the greater will be the amount of flesh and fat gained in proportion to the whole quantity of food consumed."

Animals will not thrive with any amount of food where they are uneasy and discontented, even if they are so closely confined that they cannot wear off their flesh by exercise; it is, therefore important that they be fed regularly, and that there should be nothing to disturb them, or excite fear or discontent.

Of the root crops, for nutritive properties, potatoes stand first : then carrots, ruta bagas, mangel-wurtzels, which are all nearly as valuable as potatoes; while the English turnip is the least valuable and nutritious. Of grain, wheat stands first; then peas, Indian corn, barley, and last, oats. Much Indian corn is used in fattening animals -especially, swine. Eor these, there is a great gain in having it both ground and cooked. It is said that where swine are ted on mush or hasty-pudding, they are much more quiet, and consequently gain flesh much faster, than where the same ingredients are fed to them uncooked.

The following hints on the subject, from that valuable agricultural journal, the Albany Cultivator, will be found of interest much concentrated, should be fed with care. There is danger, especially when the animal is first put to feed, that more may be eaten at once than the digestive organs can manage. Meal of Indian corn is highly nutritive, and when properly fed causes animals to fatten faster than almost any other food. They will not, however, bear to be exclusively kept on this article for any length of time. Meal made from the heavantages of having the cob ground with the corn, by which the nutriment is diffused through a greater bulk, lays lighter on the stomach, and is more thoroughly digested. The effect of pure corn meal on be sold for Cash. The mixture of the cob with the corn, answers the purpose of bran-the health of the animal is preserved, and the process of digestion goes on uninterruptedly. In fact, the advantages of grinding the cob and corn together for feeding cattle may be said to be well established. For hogs, the benefit of the cob, is not, we think, so evident; those animals appearing to be better adapted to taking their nourishment in minate or chew their cud. Yet food suffi-

We have never seen hogs thrive faster than when never seen hogs thrive faster than when fed on these mixtures, with occasionally a little dairy slop, and we have always found the pork solid and of good quality."

AN INTERESTING CUSTOM .- From that delightful book, by Mrs. Kirkland, "Hollidays abroad or Europe from the West," we glean the following curious practice among the Dutch at Harlem. It appears that the inhabitants on the birth of a child, place a gaily If the new comer be a daughter, the pineushion is white; if a son, there is a stripe of red, introduced under the worked muslin. The exhibition of this token secures to the house certain privileges, such as exemption from legal execution, and whatever would be likely to disturb the mother. If troops pass, the drums are silent for the time, and all classes honor the custom and the symbol.

do most heartily thank you for your advice. I persevere in taking the Sarsaparilla, and have been able to attend to my small labors for the last four months, and I hope by the blessings of God and your Sarsaparilla to continue my health. It helped me beyond the expectations of all who knew my case.

Dr. Townsens: I verily believe that your Sarsaparilla has been the means, through Providence, or saving my life I have for several years had a had cough. It became worse and worse. At last I raised large quantities of blood, had night sweats and was greatly debilitated and reduced, and did not expect to live. I have only used your Sarsaparilla but a short time, and there has a wonderful change been wrought in me. I am now able to walk all over the city.—I raise no blood, and my caugh has left me. You can well imagine that I am thankful for these results. Your obedicat servant. WM. RUSSELL, 65 Catharine st. Lafer here Species. New York, April 23, 1947.

LOST HER SPEECH.

The annexed certificate tells a simple and truthful story of suffering and relief. There are thousands of similar cases in this city and Brooklyn, and yet there are thousand of parents let their children die for fear of being humbugger or to save a few shillings.

Brooklyn, Sept. 13, 1837.

Dr. Townsend: I take pleasure in stating, for the benefit of those whom it may concern, that my daughter, two years and six mouths old, was afflicted with general delitiy and best of speech. She was given up as past recovery by our family physician; but fortunately I was recommended by a friend to try your Sarsuparilla. Hefore having used one bottle she recovered her speech and was combled to walk alone, to the autonishment of all who were acquainted with the circumstances. She is now quite well, and in much better health than she has been for 18 mouths past.

TWO CHILDREN SAVED.

Very few families indeed—in fact we have not heard of one—that used Dr. Townsend's Sarasparith in time, lost any children the past Summer; while those that did not, sickened and died. The cereifente we publish below is conclusive evidence of its value, and is only another instance of its saving the lives of children?

Dr. Townsend—Dear Sir: I had two children cured by your Sarasparilla of the summer complaint and dyscutary; one was only 15 mouth old und the other 3 years. They were very much reduced, and we expected they would die; they were given up by two respectable physicians. When the doctor informed us that we must lose them, we resolved to try your Sarasparilla we had heard so much of, but had little confidence, there being so much stuff advertised that is worthless; but we are thankful that we did, for it undoubtedly saved the lives of both. I write this fant others may be induced to use it. Yours, respectfully.

TO THE LADIES.

TO THE LADIES. GREAT FEMALE MEDICINE. DR. TOWNSEND's SARRAPARULLA is a sovereign and speedy care for incipient consumption, and for the general prostra-tion of the system—no matter whether the result of inhe-rent cause or causes, produced by fregularity, illness or ac-cident.

Nother can be more surprising than its invigorating effects on the lauman frame. Persons all weakness and hashinde, from taking it at once become robust and full of energy under its influence. It immediately counteracts the nervelessness of the female frame, which is the great cause better release.

It will not be expected of us, in cases of so delicate a nature, to exhibit certificates of curer performed, but we can assure the afflicted that hundreds of cuses have been reporassure the afflicted that hundreds of cases have been ted to us.

Dr. Townsern: My wife being greatly distressed by weakness and general debility, and suffering continually by poin and with other difficulties, and having known cases where your medicine has effected great cures; and also hearing it recommended for such cases as I have described, I obtained a bottle of your Estract of Saramparilla and followed the directions you gave me. In a short period it removed her complaints and restored her to houth. Being greatful for the benefits she received, I take pleasure in thus a cknowledging it, and recommending it to the public.

OBSTRUCTIONS IN THE BLOOD, AND OBSTRUCTIONS IN THE ORGANS OF DIGESTION.

Experience has proved that nearly every Disease originates from Impurities of the Blood or derangements of the Digestives Organs; and to secure Health, we must remove those obstructions or restore the Blood to its natural state.

The aversion to taking medicine is more effectually removed by Chickskir's Vederalle Persarive Pluss, being completely enveloped with a conting of pure white Sugar, (which is as distinct from the internal ingredients as a nut shell from the kernel) and have no tasts of medicine.

But are as easily availlowed as bits of candy. Moreover they neither manaeute or gripe in the slightest degree, but operate equally on all the diseased parts of the system, instead of confining themselves to, and racking any particular region. Thus, if the Liver be affected one ingredient will operate on that particular organ, and, by elemasing it of an Excess of Blic rostore it to its animed state. Another will operate on the Board and remove all impurities in its circulation; while a third will effectually expet whatever impurities may have been discharged into the stemach, and hence they strike at the root or disease remove all impure Humors from the body, open the pores externally and internally; separate all foreign and obnoxious particles from the chyle, so that the blood may be thoroughly pure—thus securings free and healthy action to the Heart, Lungs and Liver and thereby they restore health even when all other means have falled.

The entire trath of the above can be ascertained by the trial of a single box; and their virtues are as positive and certain in restoring Health, that the proprietor bluds himself to return the money paid for them in all cases where they do not give universal satisfaction.

oTHE DISPATCH."

December 31st says:—

AN INVALUABLE MEDICINE—We have frequently heard the Celebrated German Butters, manufactured by Dr Hoodland, spoken of in terms of common practice, in certain quarters, to puff all manner of useless train, but in the above Bitters, hundred, are living witnesses of their great moral and physical worth. As a medicine of the Liver Complaint, Jaundice, Nervous Debility and Dyspepsia, it has been found invaluable, effecting cures and thoroughly eradicating diseases, when all other medicines have failed. We feel convinced, that in the use of the German Bitters, the patient does not become debilitated, but constantly gains strengsh and vigor to the frame—a fact worthy of great consideration. The Bitters are pleasant in taste and smell, and can be administered under any circumstances, to the most delicate stomach.—Indeed, they can be used by all persons with the most perfect safety. It would be well for those who are much affected in the nervous system, to commence with one tea spoonful or less, and gradually increase. We speak from experience, and are of course, a proper judge. The press far and wide, have united in recommending the German Bitters, and to the affected we most cordinity advise their use.
