Thomas Gray was born in Leeds, England, about a half a century, or more, ago-and this is all we know of this early history. The Middletown Colliery had a railway for carrying coal to Leeds, a distance of three miles. The cars moved along at the rate of three and a half miles per hour. It is laughed at -not by Gray-but by the wise public. Gray saw in this little work something that might be augmented into greatness; and he thought upon the subject, and forthwith became a visionary! He talked and wrote upon his project of "A General Iron Railway" until the people declared him insane. He petitioned Parliament; sought interviews with the lords and other great men; and thus became the laughing stock of all England. He received nothing but rebuffs wherever he went All this took place in 1820, or thereabouts.

But he succeeded at last. The railways were laid. The world has been benefitted by the madness of Thomas Gray.

Well, what became of him, the reader will ask. We do not know; but believe he still lives in Exeter, to which place he removed. Up to 1846 he had been neglected. While thousands have been enriched by the consummation of his brilliant scheme, he remained forgotten -forced by poverty to sell glass on commission for a living. Howitt, in the People's Journal, a few years ago, gave a somewhat lengthy sketch of his career; thus bringing him into public notice. We have seen nothing in print in relation to him lately. Elliot wrote a great truth in these words:

"How many men who lived to bless mankind, Have died unthanked."

How many of the railroad projectors, stockholders, &c., have ever heard of the subject of this brief sketch.

INDIAN MUYEINS .- Sift and mix together a pint and a half of yellow Indian meal, and a handful of wheat flour. Melt a quarter of a pound of fresh butter in a quart of milk. Beat four eggs very light, and stir into them alternately (a little at a time of each) the milk when it is quite cold, and the meal adding a small tea-spoonful of salt. The whole must be beaten long and hard. Then butter some mutfin rings; set them on a hot griddle, and pour some of the batter into each Send the muffins to table hot, and split them by pulling them open with your fingers as a knife will make them heavy. Eat them with butter, molasses, or honey.

The word "lady" is of Saxon origin, and is compound of leaf and dian, lady being the result of the two. Leaf-dian, or, as corrupted, lady, literally rendezed, means a feeder of the poor. How many of those who assume the title in these days are worthy of it?

In 1786, Gen. Washington imported two ploughs from England, because he found our own too inferior for good husbandry. POETRY, says some one, is the flower of literature; prose is corn; potatoes the meat; satire is the aquafortis; wit is the spice and pepper; love-letters are the emetics; letters containing remittances are apple dumplings. "I say, Jim," said a ploughboy the other day to his companion, "I know of a new fa-shion mickintosh to keep out the wet." "What's that ?" "Why, if you eat a red herrin' for breakfast, you'll be dry all day,"

"I GREW THE REST."-A boy three years of age was asked who made him. With his little hand levelled a foot above the floor, he artlessly replied, "God made me a little baby so high, and I grew the rest."

the Franklin Railroad, from Pennsylvania to that place. THE object of Sir John Franklin's expedition, was to find a northwest passage through Lancaster Sound and Behring's Straits. Wood is now hardened by a new process, so as to be used for flooring, and to resemble marble.

Sir—you wish me to inform you what I know of Dr. Osgood's India Cholagogue, or anti-bilious medicine. I do believe that if the virtue and efficacy of this medicine were generally known, the Fyver Ann Acce would disappear in Michigan.

If procured a bottle in the spring of 1841, and have good reason to believe that myself and family escaped the ague last season in consequence of its use.

Perhaps in no summer since the settlement of this fine peninsula, has the fever and ague been so prevalent as the last. I have recommended this medicine in numerous instances, and when the disease had become fixed and baffled the skill of physicians; and I have never known it fail. I has universally produced the most happy effects, and I bet lieve it has never been exceeded by any medicine in removing the bilious diseases of the climate.

Probably there never was a remedy that has been so successful in desperate cases of consumption as this; it cleanses and strengthens the system, and appears to heal the ulcerts on the lungs, and patients gradually regain their usual health and strength.

There is scarcely a day passes but there are a number of asses of consumption reported as cured by the use of Dr. lownsen's Sarsoparilla. The following was recently recases of consumption reported as cured by the use of Dr. Townsen's Sarsopavilla. The following was recently received:

Dr. Townsen,—Dear Sir; For the last three years I have been afficied with general debility, and nervous consumption of the last stage, and did not expect to ever gain my leasth at all. After going through a course of medicine under the care of some of the nost distinguished regular physicians and members of the Board of Health in New York and elsewhere, and spending the nost of my carmings in attempting to regain my health, and after reading in some paper of your Sarsaparilla I residued to five the After using six bottles I found it done me great good, and called to see you at your office; with your advice I kept on, and do most heartily thank you for your advice. I persevere in taking the Sarsaparilla, and lave been able to attend to my usual labors for the last four months, and I loope by the blessings of God and your Sarsaparilla to continue my health. DYSPEPSIA.

No fluid or medicina has ever been discovered which so nearly resembles the pastric juice or saliva in decomposing feed and strengthening the organs of digestion as this preparation of Sarsaporilla. It positively cures every case of dyspepsia, however severe or chronic.

Bank Department, Allsany, May 10, 1845.

Dr. Townsend—Sir: I have been afficted for several years with dyspepsia in its worst form, attended with sourness of stormach, loss of appetite, extreme heartburn, and a great aversion to all kinds of food, and for weeks, (what I could eat) I have been unable to retain but a small portion on my stormach. I tried the usual remedies, but they had last little or no effect in removing the complaint. I was induced, about two monitor sings, to try your Extract of Sorsaporilla, and I must say with title confidence; but after using nearly two bottles, I found my appetite restored and tha heartism entirely removed; and I would estrussity recommend the use of it to those who have been afflicted as I tha heartburn entirely removed; and I would estructly re-commend the use of it to those who have been affected as it.

Is a sovereign remedy for Dyspepsia, in many of an forma, such as pain in the Stomach, Heartburn, habitual Contiveness. Acid Stomach, Heartburn, and Appetite, Piles, Night Sweats, and even Comanipatou (Dyspeptic Phibsic.) and Asthma, or Phibsic attended with denungement of the Stomach (or Dyspeptic Asthma.) Difficult Breathing, which often results from imperiest digestion (or Dyspeptic Syspanos.) is relieved by these Bitters. In short, their use has been proved in the relief of almost all the symptoms that proceed from a debilitated or stonic condition of the Stomach; also in general debility arising from age or from the effects of Fever, particularly Fever and Ague. Feunles suffering under any uterine derangement arising from weakness, will find the "Oxycoxarus Barrass" an excellent remedy, and not surpassed by any medicine in use.

The history of this medicine is peculiar. It has made its way to public favor solely by the force of its own intrinsismerits. No artificial means have been used to give it no toriety and tarust it upon public attention. It has never before even been advertised, but having first shown its remarkable efficacy in the family of the proprietor, and by him afterwards administered to his afflicted friends and nequalitances with a like result, its reputation gradually extended until it is known in the most efficient and severy asthma or Phibisic. Its only herald and its only edlegy has been the story of its wonderful efficacy, as told from meath to mouth or by letter from friend to friend. In every meath to mouth or by letter from friend to friend. In every meath, and the relief meath and the relief meath made known to the proprietor, they have proved a remedy.

Dear Sir,—I have been a dyspeptic sufferer for about ter years, and have resorted to various melicines for relic without success, until I made use of your "Oxygenate Bitters." I have used about two bottles, and find myselrestored to perfect beath. The forms in which the discase showed itself, in my case, were, great acidity of the stowach, loss of appetite, extreme flattlenes, severe coust pation of the bowels, and violent headache. Feeling des rous that a knowledge of your valuable remedy may reac athers similarly afflicted. I take great pleasure in recover
