The splendid New York packet ship Hottinger, Capt. Bursley, has fallen a prey to the fory of the elements, and from the tenor of the last accounts respecting her, a melancholy loss of life attends the disaster.

The Hottinger sailed from Liverpool New York on the 1st January. She had 290 cabin and steerage passengers, together with the captain, and crew of thirty men and boys, and had a very full freight of various descriptions of goods.

The H, had only passed as far as Blackwater Bank, which is off the coast of Wexford, when she struck on one of those dangerous ledges of rock which lie concealed in that quarter. This occurred on the morning of the 11th January. On the occurrence of this mishap, a part of the crew and all the passengers were sent ashore.

Captain Bursley and 18 of his men, remained on board of the H., determined not to leave the ship while there was the remotest chance of saving her. On the following morning, the 13th, the ship floated off Black Water Bank, and bore away before the wind, and struck Arklow Bank, where she afterwards went to peices, and sad to relate, Captain Bursley and twelve of the noble band who determined to be the last on the ship. met a watery grave. [Correspondence of the Phila. Ledger.] FROM WASHINGTON.

Columbia & Sullivan

Washington, Feb. 11, 1850. The arrival of so sensible and experienced a man as Dr. Gwin, Senator elect from California, cannot but be productive of good at the present crisis in the affairs of our country. He is, as you are aware, a Mississippian, has always been a warm Calhoun man; and yet is so thoroughly impressed with the moral and physical impossibility of introducing slavery into any part of California, north or south of 30 deg. 30 min., that his opinions cannot fail to exercise a commanding influence on the deliberations of Congress. Neither he, nor the delegation, (Messrs, Wright and Gilbert.) are over anxious for the admis sion of California during the present session, provided that, by waiting, the excitement on the slavery question can be allayed, and peace established between the Southern and Northern sections of the Union. Now, if the Members and Senators elect of that State are willing to bide their time, why should not the distant prospective good or evil at stake, imitate their example ! able dissolution of the Union, presented by Mr. Hale, of New Hampshire, was to day, linsgrove, caused probably by the burning after much useless discussion on Friday last, rejected by a vote of 53 to 3-the only Senators voting for its admission being Seward. Chase and Hale. Among these three Hale is believed the most honest man,-all three, nowever, have pretty nearly run their race in the Senate. As to Gov. Seward, his polititen. It runs thus-

"If I must so soon be done for,

It is rather a hard case, for a Presidential candidate of these United States, to vote for the admission of petitions praying for the disolution of the Union!

Gen. Cass made a most excellent, philosophical and statesmanlike speech on the subject of this peaceable dissolution of the Union, which is really a most mischievous and gross humbur. He showed that dissolution and war are one and inseparable : that the borders of the two sections into which the Union would be divided would, in less than a year, bristle with hostile bayonets: that every hill would have its works of defence, and that our standing armies would be devouring the substance of our people .-And he also showed that the right of petition. in regard to which so much fuss is made, i jest nothing at all. In a monarchy it is mos important that the subject should be heard but in this country the people themselves are THE QUEEN OF SONG, M'lle Jenny sovereign, and the proper way to present petitions is through the press and the ballot boxes. At present it looks like a the right of petition, and among these are assuredly those which relate to the permanency of our institutions and of the Union.

Mr. Berrien, to-day, commenced his speech on the Slavery question, dissenting in toto from Mr. Clay, and from the administration. I am sorry to say Mr. Clay's Compromise Resolutions will not receive more than five or six votes, if indeed so many. Mr. Calhoun will speak on Thursday or Friday.

In Executive Session, to-day, Gen. James Watson Webb, "as I predicted," was rejected by an overwhelming vote. Out of all the Senators, but seven voted for his confirmation. A large number were absent, avoiding the responsibility of the Courier and Enquirer -General Cass, Col. Benton and Harry Clay, voted against him with more or less feeling. I can imagine how Mr. Clay's eyes sparkled when he saw that head cut off which had

General Taylor. The excuse given for Mr. Webb's early departure was that there was no Minister or Diplomatic Agent at Vienna, and that, in the absence of a diplomatic functionary, the archives of the American Legation had been left with our U. S. Consul, Mr. Schwartz, who it was hinted might not be a proper person to entrust them with. Stuff! We shall have the President's Message in court to California on Wednesday. I think it will be an able document, and the most explicit we have yet had from General Taylor, on the subject of slavery.

In the House, the Revenue Resolutions, allowing Mr. Meredith the same sum for collecting the public revenue as was expended for that purpose in the fiscal year terminating June 30th, were taken out of the Committee of the Whole, charged with the Vinton amendment as a rider, and in that shape voted down with great unanimity So the question stands just as it stood when it left the Senate, and Mr. Meredith has had his who was present, but died in a few minutes. pains for his trouble. The coroner's Mr. Meredith's estimates in detail going jury testified their dislike of the practice of from bureau to beureau, and examining each particular item. The truth is, we are destined to try a new experiment, viz: that of carrying on an administration with both Houses of Congress opposed to it; and I must confessit does not look as though it were likely to succeed. There is no Democratic majority in the House of Representatives, but quite enough of all colors to defeat the ad-

LETTER FROM HARRISBURG. HARRISBURG, Feb. 12, 1850.

My dear American,

The mania for making new Counties raging throughout this state to an alarming degree. At each day's session of either house floods of petitions for, and remonstrances against, the multiplication of counties is poured in upon us. Redstone, Conawago, Lackawana, Madison, Montour, Mahoning, Pine, Penn and a host of others are urged with vehemence by their respective friends, who are, no doubt, actuated by the desire of serving their country as public officers, and find too many competitors in their extensive fields. Among the rest, are our friends in upper end of old Northumberland, prging with all their strength, the legislature to mutilate again the emains of our county. The latter have not the slightest chance of success, although their hopes are sanguine. Our worthy Senator is expected to make his maiden speech in favor of this movement. His constituents, no doubt, look with anxiety for something from him, his uninterrupted silence having left hem uncertain whether or not they have a representative in that body. An effort is also peing made to dismember another portion of Northamberland county, and form, with it and parts of Shuylkill and Columbia, an EAGLE

It is time our lawmakers give a quietus hese voracious politicians. We have now more than 60 counties in this Commonwealth Every petition for a new one, springs from either some petty local animosity, or a hope fanatics of either section, who have only a of speculation, motives which are alike discreditable to the petitioners and the dignity of the legislature. And yet these very men new burden the people, but would add to the overiond.

We have a rumor, for the correctness of which I will not youch, that a scene occurred between our Canal Commissioner Painter and Capt. George Lanman. The latter orged the appointment of some friend by the Canal Commissioners, and received a promise from cal epitaph seems already to have been writ- Mr. Painter, that his suit should prosper. Within a few days he was astonished by the intelligence that another person had been appointed. He immediately charged Mr. Painter with being false to his word and made some very severe comments upon his course. Mr. Painter called him to his room, on the following morning, and having bolted the door, announced that if Mr. Lauman had made those charges, he would shoot him. Lauman dispelled all doubt upon the subject by repeating his words, and adding that Mr. Painter not the courage to shoot a cat. He did not shoot him and this tragedy ended without bloodshed.

LION QUEEN KILLED. The folly of playing all manner of strange branks with lions and tigers has just been illustrated at Chatham, where a young women, Ellen Bright, accustomed to enter one of the dens of Wombell's travelling menagerie, and there exhibit, to an audience gaping with astonishment, her tricks with a lion and a tiger confined together, has met with a shocking death. On entering the deu for the purpose of soing through the usual performances with the lion, she struck the tiger with a small whip, when the animal growled; then, after completing a part of the performance, she struck the beast again, when rearing up, it seized her by the throat, and inflicted frightful injuries with its huge fangs. A keeper immediately rushed to her assistance, and by striking the animal a violent blow on the nose with an iron bar, succeeded in releasing her; but life was nearly extinct. She was immediately attended by a military surgeon owing to wounds in the neck and chin, and allowing persons to perform in a den occupied by wild beasts. Thus perished "the Lion Queen," a victim to one of the remnants of barbarism, which society retains for its amusement-perhaps, also, affording a lesson to all invested with "a little brief authority," Queens and Imperial Casars, included, how dangerous it is to use the whip wantonly, and for more show of power. The Proclamation of the President, in relation to Don Carlos de Espana, falls as a blow upon the highest official dignity of the Island, and has caused much disquiet and uneasy conversation in the P. lance.

Three or four days since, Her Majesty's only frigate, the Tobasco, arrived here, with full complement of men and armament, with 500 marine recruits for local service. The ship is after the old style of war marine architecture, with galleried stern and protruding sides, curving from the water line to the first tier of gons. Her entrance was very beautiful; she was met by the barges of all the Spanish war vessels in port, and with the Government boats, escorted to her moorings. while thousands of interested spectators lined the wharves along her path, but no vivas waked the echoes of Cubanos.

ANOTHER STRIKE ON THE CANAL .- Probaed Alive .- On Tuesday last, the laborers employed on the capal near Ferguson's, in Herkimer county, "struck" and abandoned their work, and yesterday they proceeded in a body down the line of canal and drove the laborers from several other sections-amounting in all to about 400 men. Yesterday ofternoon, one of the disaffected laborers threatened that he would burn out Nicholas Vandebogat, of Schenectady, a contractor who has a section about five miles from this city, and accordingly about 7 o'clock last evening, his barn, containing twelve valuable horses, a quantity of outs, tools, harness, &c., was discovered to be in flames. The fire spread so rapidly that despite every exertion ten of the horses were consumed alive. They were valued at $1500. The entire loss of Mr Vandebogat will probably not be less than $3000. In the meantime, this large body of laborers, without any other means of support, remain idle, and the prosecution of the public work, on some tive miles of th canal is entirely suspended. We learn that a large number of them would prefer remaining at work and have only left through fear of the rest. Warrants were in the possesto-day .- Utica Observer, 7th.
