BY JOHN G. C. BRAINARD.

The dead leaves strew the forest walk And witherest are the pale wild flowers;
The frost hangs blackening on the stalk,
The dew drops fall in frozen showers,
Gone are the spring's sweet spronting bow-

Gone summer's rich and mantling vines, And automn with her yellow hours, On hill and plain no longer s'r nes.

I learn'd a clear and wild toned pote, That rose and swell'd from yorder tree—
A gay bird, with too sweet a throat,
There perch'd and raised her song for me The winter comes, and where is sle? Away - where summer wings will rove,
Where the buds are fresh, every tree
Is vocal with the notes of love.

Gone thence, with all the bird, and reck A happier clime, with livelier flight, Kiss, with the sun, the evening's cheek, And leave me lonely with the night. I'll gaze upon the cold north light, And mark where all its glorious shone-See-that it all is fair and bright, Feel-that it all is cold and gone.

A PARISTAN MILLINER has taken out a patent for a leather bonnet, a new and extremely elegant article, says the Court Journal. The leather is exceedingly thin and delicately enamelled, and is drawn over the frame in the same manner as silk or velvet. It has the advantage of being water-proof.

WE learn from the St. Louis Republican, that a Convention, to be composed of delegates from all the States bordering the Mississippi river, has been called for the purpose of forming a company to constructing a tail. road along the valley for the Mississippi, from articles, which they will sell at very low price the Falls of St. Anthony to the Gulf of Mexico. The Convention will assemble at St. Walnuts, Louis on the third Monday of November.

A CERTAIN lawyer had his portrait taken in his favorite attitude-standing with his Port Wine, hands in his pockets. His friends and clients all went to see it, and everybody exclaimed, "Oh how like ! It's the very picture of him.

An old farmer only dissented. "Tain't like ?" exclaimed everybody just show us wherein 'tain't like.'

"Tain't, no 'tain,' responded the tarmer 'don't you see he has got his hands in his own pocket! 'Twould be as like again if he had it in somebody else's,2

A FAT WOMAN IN TROUBLE AT SEA.

A corpulent lady, on her way to California writes back to one of her-acquaintances her experience in traveling. Here is an extract:

"Our cabin has two boxes in it, called berths, though coffins would be nearer the thing, for you think more of your latter end at sea a great deal. One of these is situated over the other, like two shelves, and these together make what they call a stateroom. My berth is the uppermost one, and I have to climb up to it, putting one foot on the lower one, and the other away out on the wash stand, which is a great stretch, and makes it very straining-then I lift one knee on the berth and roll into it sideways. This is very inconvenient for a woman of my size, and very dangerous. Last night I put my foot on Mrs. Brown's face, as she lay asleep close to the edge of the lower one. and nearly put out her eye; and I have torn all the skin off my knees, and then I have a large black spot where I have been hurt, and my head is swelled. To dismount is another feat of horsemanship, only fit for a sailer .-You can't sit up for the floor overhead; and so you have to turn round and roll your legs out first, and then hold on till you touch bottom somewhere, and then let yourself down up-right.

"It is a dreadful work; I don't know which is the hardest, to get in or out of a berth both are the most difficult things in the world. RESPECTI ULLY informs the public that he and I shall be glad when I am done wish it. I am obliged to dress in bed before I leave it. and nobody who hasn't tried to put on their clothes lying down can tell what a task it is, Lacing stays behind your back, and you on your face, nearly smothered with the bedclothes and feeling for the eyelet hale with one hand, and trying to put the tape in with the other, while you are rolling about from side to side, is no laughing matter. Yesterday I fastened on the pillows to my bustle by mistake, in the hurry; and never knew it till the people laughed, and said the sea agreed with me, I had grown so fat; but putting on stockings is the worst, for there ain't room to stoop forward, so you have to bring your foot to you, and stretching out on your back, lift up your leg till you can reach it, and then drag it on. Corpulent people can't always do this so easy I can tell you It always gives me the cramp, and takes away my breath. You will pity me if you could conceive, but you can't - nobody but a BLANK Parchment Paper Deeds and blank

CHERRY PECTORAL: For the Care of COUGHS, COLDS HOARSENESS, BRON-CHITIS, CROUP, ASTH-

MA, WHOOPING-COUGH AND CONSUMPTION. This invaluable remedy for all diseases of the Taroar and Leves, has attained a celebrity from its semarkable cures never equalled by any other medicine before. Other preparations have shown themselves polliatives, and sometimes ef-fected notable cures, but none has ever so fully won the confidence of every community where it is known. After years of trial in every climate, the results have indisputably shown it to possess a mastery over this dangerous class of diseases, which could not fail to attract the attention of I Physicians, Patients, and the public at large.
See the stasements, not of obscure individuals and from far distant places, but of mea who are known and respected throughout the country. The widely celebrated Surgeon, Dr VAL-ENTINE MOTT, of N. Y. City, says:
