ARRIVAL OF THE BALTIC.

Eastern Affairs unchanged—Anticipated colli-nion between Turkish and Russian troops. The Eastern question is unchanged.

LATER FROM EUROPE.

The Vienna Conference was in session, at_ tempting to smooth the difficulties, and it was reported that a new modification, conciliatory both to Russia and Turkey, would be made; but fears were entertained that, in the meantime, the hostile armies on the Danube might come in collision.

The cholera is spreading in the various English seaports. INTERESTING FROM THE JAPAN EX-

PEDITION. The overland mail brings intelligence of an interesting character from the United States Expedition to Japan. The vessels comprising the squadron-Susquehanna, Plymouth, Saratoga, &c., sailed on July 3d from Shanghae, for Japan, followed by two Russian frigates. The Susquehanna and Saratoga had touched at several islands, and distributed live stock; also at the island of Bouran, where the Commodore found Europeau settlers, and purchased ten acres of land, on a fine harbor, for a coal depot,

The Paris Pays says that the French Government entertains confident hopes that the Torkish difficulty will yet be settled without an appeal to arms.

The Patric adds, that the Emperor of Russia will not under any circumstances com. mence hostilities, but the definite decision of Turkey cannot be known in England until the first or second week in October. ITALY.

A letter from Rome, dated Aug. 31, in the Augsburg Gazette, says :- "It is officially confirmed that the Governor of Ternt has been made the victim of popular fury. The increasing dearness of bread had produced great uneasiness in the town. Four persons seized upon the Governor and threw him from the window into the streets, where the people maltreated him by stuffing his mouth with straw. He died in consequence of the ill-treatment which he received. Eight carbineers who bastened to his assistance were obliged to fly from the crowd. A company and a half of infantry have been sent from Rome to Terni to re-establish tranquility. MEETING OF THE EMPERORS.

The King of Prussia has concluded not to go to the meeting of the Emperors at Olmutz, for the purpose of consultation on the Eastern question. FROM SPAIN.

Letters from Madrid say that another Ministerial crisis is coming in Spain. In private political circles the propriety of deposing the Queen was freely discussed. TURKEY.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 7 .- The Egyptian troops have been shipped off to Varna and

Correspondence from Constantinople, dated Sept. 5th, states that the Ministry, after a conference held at the house of the Grand at the hazard of war. The popular excitement had increased.

The exasperation of the country against Russia shows itself in every way, without there appearing any means of appeasing it, except by war. The Ministers themselves are convinced of it; and although well aware of the weakness of Turkey, which would not allow her to carry on successfully a struggle with Russia for any length of time, have now decided on incurring the chances of it, hoping that Europe, which has encouraged them in their resistance, will not abandon them in the struggle.

Guns have been stationed at various points on fort Jestow.

OCEAN STEAMSHIPS.

At the last hour of the late session of Congress a clause was put in the general Appropriation Bill, requiring the Postmaster General to ascertain and report whether the mails now carried under contracts, with the various lines of ocean mail steamers, can be conveyed at a lower rate; and also to report upon the expediency of termination existing contracts, upon the terms of the said conpraised value. The Postmaster General has performed. in compliance with this order, advertised for proposals for the ocean mail service, and we learn that he has received some prosposithan those now paid. The contractors, generally, will be quite willing to sell their ships at a fair valuation. With the same money they can now probably build better and fas-

Mr. Whitworth, who was one of the British Commissioners to our crystal Palace, stated, when he was here, that steamships would soon be built in England that would cross the Atlantic in six days, and that it would be done now, but for the reason that it would prejudice the interest of existing lines. But, if our Government shall take the ships of our ocean mail contractors off their hands at cost, we will probably take the lead of John Bull in improved steam navigation. In fact, it is stated that an experimental ship is about to be built here by Mr. Norris, which is infended and expected to cross the Atlantic seven days .- N. Y. Jour. Com.

When the News reads Mr. Everett's late scathing rejoinder to Lord John's despatch, it will be still more amuzed motality, one would scarcely suppose that the English Govenrment is at this time engaged in one of the grandest schemes of tergute government ever conceived.

On Sunday, the 4th inst., the wife and one of the children, about six years old, were buried together, without a single relative to witness their interment-the stricken husband and father being compelled to remain at home with the survivors. These were, an infant prematurely launched into the world as the mother was leaving it, and five others, three of whom were lying dangerously ill. Two of these could not be saved. On Monday evening they died, just twenty minntes apart, and on Tuesday were deposited the side of their mother. On Thursday he eldest of the survivors, an interesting little girl of 10 fears old, in accordance with her wish, followed her mother heavenward. The infant having since died, only two little ones are now left, unconscious of the orphanage which they will come to feel so deeply hereafter.

DELAY ON THE STATE ROAD -The passen. ger train which left Philadelphia at ten o'clock on Sunday night, and should have been here at four o'clock yesterday morning, did not arrive till noon. The delay was on the State road, and caused by the bursting of one of the flues of the engine, when in the neighborhood of Paoli. The old engine was left behind, and a messenger dispatched to Parksburg for another. By running down grades and pushing the cars on the levels, he passengers made out to gain about eight miles before the other engine came up .-They were then conveyed as far as Parksto the continent, spending most of their burg, where the second engine gave out, and t was necessary to attach a third one. Truly, this is traveling with great speed on the State Road, and we think it would be advisable for the Canal Commissioners to look into the matter, and see that the engines are kept in better repair, or the whole of the Western travel will be driven from the mad.
