It is the sheepest nonsense to talk of making either Kansas or Nebraska a slave State. Both are destined and bound to be free under that clause of the law establishing territorial governments for both of them, which allows the people of the territory to determine for themselves whether they will establish or rule out that institution.

There is a scandal just now prevalent in England, that the same miserable tragedy is about to be acted in France which was played in Napoleon the Great's time, and which dishonored and broke the heart of the Empress Josephine.

run up by the Duke of Wellington, "Man and arm boats," and 20 minutes have barely elapsed when 150 boats, fully armed and equipped with every requisite for attack, are pulling away towards an island, with Admiral Chads at their head, blazing forth in steam stacks upon forts and batteries that have been rapidly raised by the engineers attached to the fleet.

All this manoeuvring takes place within sight of the Russians, and the telegraph on the heights is continually observed making signals to Helsingfors.

There has been an uninterrupted accession of fine weather here since the return of the fleet from the Cronstadt demonstration, and in the calm of the evening, it is a splendid sight to observe Baro Sound dotted with every denomination of boat, from the lone pinnace to the tiny dingy, rowing on the glassy water from ship to ship, or landing on some of the entangled islands to collect wood, water, &c.

Helsingfors and Cronstadt are impregnable, and cannot be approached unless with the sacrifice of six or eight line of battle ships. The people of England should be emphatically impressed with this fact, and the question then arises, in the conquest of either of these places worth the slaughter of 6000 men?

A powerful army landing and encircling Helsingfors is considered the only feasible plan of operation, and when Bomersund has fallen, as it will do in a few days, our hopes are directed to Sweden for assistance by land.

News has reached from Nebraska and Kansas, to the effect that the emigration to these territories is so rapid as to justify the opinion that in less than two years they will both knock at the door of the Union for admission.

which are sure to come in a free State, viz: Minnesota, Washington, Oregon, New Mexico, and Utah, making five; which, added to the sixteen free States, will increase their number to twenty-one. Adding Kansas and Nebraska, we shall have twenty-three free States to fifteen slave States. As to Texas, she may be divided into four States; but there are no negroes in Western Texas, where wheat, rye, corn and grapes are raised, principally by German emigrants. If Texas is divided, the western portion will come in as a free State. Under these circumstances, abolitionists and free soilers may save their tears for a more fitting occasion. They are about to be pleased beyond their expectations, and provokingly disappointed in their lugubrious forebodings as regards the propensities of slave holders in Kansas and Nebraska.

DAVID B. MONTGOMERY. This gentleman is evidently "a sick man," using the term in the sense it was applied by the Emperor Nicholas to the Sultan of Turkey.

His old complaint, which is of a chronic character, it was supposed, could be cured as heretofore, by the application of panacea, in the shape of promises and rewards.

Mr. Montgomery, we understand, attempts to explain his vote to tax the coal of Northumberland county, by saying that he did not know or understand its ruinous effects.

Why should Northumberland county, deeply interested as she is, in having a member capable of representing her great interests, confide those interests, to a man who acknowledges his unfitness, in order to avoid the just censure that an indignant community could not refrain from heaping upon him?
