DIOSCOPPA BATATAS. (Igname of China.) New observations relative to it.

We live at a time when it is not necessary to struggle forever against popular prejudice as to a new and useful thing in agriculture.—
If some resistance is experienced in our country population, yet enlightened men are now numerous enough everywhere to encourage a

The great amelioration in our State by the use of the most perfect types of a race, bor-rowed from our neighbors and elsewhere, are incontestible proofs in advance. Culture, drainage, &c., are so many happy reforms in our domestic affairs, and in our comforts and

We do not flatter ourselves with making popular at the first onset, the Igname of China; but we do hope that its introduction to general use will not be opposed, as the potawas for nearly two hundred years! Its malady might assail this new Battas, but perhaps not; so that we may henceforth not fear a not; so that we may henceforth not fear a

Five years ago the first Dioscorca Batatas was brought to us. It has attracted atten-tion now almost everywhere, and the calls for them to plant are numerous from all quar-

My mode of cultivating them.

Towards the middle of April, when I believed that we should have no more frost, I planted some of them in pieces and whole, in good light garden beds, at the Museum of Natural History. I set them about twenty inches apart every way: this was wrong-they should have been set much nearer together. The future alone will teach us what effect our climate may have upon it. All that I can now say is, that my plants have this year (1854) grown well, their long shoots being very vigorous and covered with thick foliage. They produced many flowers (all of which were male) about the beginning of August. At the end of August, the growth of stalks and leaves ceased, and they assumed that yellowish hue which indicated, after the middle of September, the approaching maturity of the tubercles.

I set apart some square feet of the plants for other experiments, while two of my lots were covered, one with strong poles about ten feet long, the other with poles about seven or eight feet long. The branches and stalks of the igname twine around these poles as beans do, and soon run beyond the length of their

In the third lot I let them have their own way, and the vines did not root at their joints, and twisting together, grew nearly as long as those on their poles.

The tubers which I planted whole, gave remarkably vigorous plants, each of which gave a new tuber—of these, two were quite pearly large. When pulled, one weighed nearly three pounds. (1 kilo. 360.) the other 1 kilo 160. The third was injured by the insect Hanneton. The original batatas which I planted were still on, very much wrinkled.— The beds of cut tubers did not produce well, weighing on an average not over a quarter of

Of the whole, the result was from twentyeight plants, each giving one tuber—on an average the tubers weighed about five ounces (345 qrs. 18.) We found on the whole from fifty-seven plants, seventeen kilogram-mes, or nearly forty-three pounds weight of

The result of these experiments shows, that a hectare can produce 6000, kilogramme of igname, or that an acre may yield some-thing like two hundred bushels. We think, from what we have seen of the growth, that ten inches apart every way will be room enough for the root—for this plant seems to live upon the air by its vines and leaves .-The product of tubers was nearly double, our late usual crops of potatoes. These ignames are from ten to twenty inches long; the upper third of the roots very slender, about size of our little finger. I think that this part should be reserved for planting. The digging of them is a difficulty. In China they always plant them in sandy soil.

I do not hesitate to prefer the Chinese igname to the common potato for quality; I believe the igname to be more nutritious.—
The flesh of it is as white as snow; it has no THE NORTH BRITISH REVIEW (Free apparent fibre in it. By boiling it becomes so tender that under the lightest pressure it becomes a paste, like that made of the finest wheat flour. Cooked by steam, or reasting in hot ashes, it has the appearance and taste of the best of our common potatoes. Two pieces of the root as large as a common Dutch potato were boiled together, with a potato of same size and the ignames were done in ten minutes, while the Dutch potato done in ten minutes, while the Dutch potato was twenty minutes in cooking. This is a valuable property, saving both time and fuel—and that is one reason why the potato was so mush valued originally. And this igname keeps well from one year to another. The igname has been successfully cultivated in Algiers.

Many of the dioscorcas have the property of multiplying by these bulbs, which become detached from the plants when at maturity.

[From the Farm Journal.] THE MOON THEORY EXPLODED.

In August 1852, to test the theory of Ly. dia Jane Pierson, that briars, bushes, &c., were more certainly destroyed by being cut in the old of the moon in August where its place is in Leo, than at other times, I made the trial on a field too stony to be plowed, on which were some bunches of briars, the bun-ches that were on one-half the field were cut in the afternoon of the 14th of August, being the old of the moon, the change taking place next day and being the first day of the sign being in Leo—the other half were cut on the 23d, about the first quarter. The result was, that the cutting was a first quarter.

At the same time I provided many blocks of wood about three inches square and an inch thick, placing one each morning on a tough grass sod where the grass made little growth that season, for the purpose of showing the moon's power or want of power to depress the blocks when the moon points down according to the almanac makers, or to raise them when the moon points up. I had purposed to continue putting down a block each morning for several months, but it was only continued till the 20th of September when I left home and was away for a considerable time and on my return found that those that I had put down, had been displaced, and I did not again commence. I would recommend this last experiment to the attention of the curious and scientific enquirer, not that I expect that the moon would be implicated in the derapyement, but that the carves that have produced effects which she has been charged with may be discovered.

The fair sex, perhaps the most handsone in this World, up to a certain period when, distressing to may, many loose their teeth and good looks, while yet in the beyday of life, such sad evils may be effectually remedied by continually keeping the blood pure, and the Liver and Stormach in a healthy action, when life will flow smoothly, and resemble plants in a congenial clime, where an eternsi spring appears to reign. As it regards the preservation of the human frame, and the duration of life, much may be effected, and I say fearleasly, that health and life can be prolonged for many years beyond their ordinary limits, if Holloway's Prills are taken to purify the blood according to the rules laid down for health contained in the directions which accompany each box.

To Professor Holloway, 38, Corn 10 Ann andd Nassau
Streets, N. Y.
Sir—It is with the most heartfelt pleasure I have to inform you that I-have been restored to health and strength by taking your Pills. For the last ten years, I suffered from a derangement of the Liver and Stonnach, and was reduced to such an extremity that I gave up my Ship, never expecting to go to Sea any more, as I had tried every Remedy that was recemmended to me, but all to no purpose; and had given myself up to despair, when I was at last recommended to take your Pills. After using them for three months, the result is that I am now in better health than I have been for eleven years past, and indeed as well as ever I was in my life. You are quite at liberty to make this known for the benefit of others.

I remain, Sir, yours respectfully.

The legal profession in Pennsylvania stands in need of a correct system of pleading, adapted to our habits of business, and the practice of the courts. Your forms of declarations being, to a great extent, founded on the acts of assembly will be a saving of labor to the pleader, and conduce to safety and brevity in our pleadings. It should be in the hands of every practising lawyer in our state.

W. McCarr, Esq.,

Dear Sir:—I received more than a year ago a copy of "Reed,s Pleaders' Assistant" improved by Judge Jordan and others. I examined it with some care soon afterwards, and have had occasome care voon afterwards, and have had occasion to use it several times since. I think it decidedly valuable as a manuel for practising attorneys in Pennsylvania, and do not heaitate to recommend it. If it were generally used it would increase the accuracy of the profession in matters which are often very carelessly done.

I am very truly yours, &c.,
J. S. BLACK.

I also received a copy of the Pleaders' Assistant, and have examined it sufficiently to enable me to concur very heartily in the above commendations by the Chief Justice.

TO CURE A COLD, WITH HEADACHE AND SOREMESS of the body, take the CHERRY PECTORAL on going to bed, and wrap up warm, to sweat during the night.

For a Gold and Couse, take it morning, noon and evening, according to directions on the bottle, and the difficulty will soon be removed. None will long suffer from this trouble when they find it can be so readily cured. Persons afflicted with a scated cough, which breaks them of their rest at night, will find, by taking the Cherry Pectoral on going 1 s bed, they may be sure of sound, unbroken sleep, and consequently refreshing rest. Great relief from suffering, and an ultimate cure, is afforded to thousands who are thus afflicted, by this invaluable remedy.

taken in small quantities, it removes all hoarseness in a few hours, and wonderfully increases the power and flexibility of the voice.

ASTHMA is generally much relieved, and often wholly cared by Cherry Pectoral. But there are some cases so obstinate as to yield entirely to no medicine. Cherry Pectoral will cure them, if they can be cured.

BRONCHITIS, or irritation of the throat and upper portion of the langs, may be cured by taking Cherry Pectoral in simil and frequent doses. The uncomfortable oppression is soon relieved.

Rev. Doet, LANSING, of Brooklyn, New York, states of Asthma and Bronchitis as leads me to believe it can varily fail to cure those diseases.

DOCTOR YOURSELF! THE POCKET AESCULAPIUS:

THE EIFTIETH Edition, with One Hundred Engravings, showing Disthe Human System in every shape and form. To which is added a Treatise on the Diseases of Females, being of the high est importance to married people, or those contempleting marriage.—
By Dr Wm. Young

Let no father be ashamed to present a copy of the ÆSCULAPIUS to his child. It may save him from an early grave. Let no young man or woman enter into the secret obligations of mar-ried life without reading the POCKET ÆSCU. LAPIUS. Let no one suffering from hacknise Cough, Pain in the Side, restless nights, nervous feelings, and the whole train of Dyspeptic sensa-tions, and given up by their physician, be another moment without consulting the ÆSCULAPIUS. Have the married, or those about to be married any impediment, read this truly useful book, as it has been the means of saving thousands of unfortunete creatures from the very jaws of death.

Any person sending TWENTY-FIVE CENTS, enclosed in a letter will receive one copy of this book, by mail, or five copies will be sent for one dollar. Address, Da. W. YOUNG. No. 152 SPRUCE Street, PHILADELPHIA.

on the 23d, about the first quarter. The result was, that the cutting was very effective in weakening the briars, for they were not en tirely killed, but on closer examination there was no perceptible difference in the effect from cutting at the different times. I believe August is a proper time to cut up the briars for the purpose of destroying them, and that the moon's place in the ecliptic need not be attended to.

EGOARD SCOTT & CO., New York, continue to re-THE LONDON QUARTERLY (Conservative) THE NORTH BRITISH REVIEW (Free C'h.)

THE WESTMINSTER REVIEW (Liberal.) BLACKWOOD'S EDINBURG MAGAZINE (Tory).

The present critical state of European affairs will render those publications unuserally interesting during the forth-counting year. They will occupy a middle ground between the hastily writen news-items, crude speculations, and flying numors of the daily Journal, and the ponderous Tome of the future historian, written after the living interest and excitement of the great political events of the time shall have passed away. It is to these Periodicals that readers must look for the only really intelligible and reliable history of current events, and as such, in addition to their weil-established literary scientific, and theological character, we arge them upon the consideration of the reading public. (Tory).

character, we arge them upon the consideration of the reading public.

For Arrangements are now permanently made for the receipt of Early Sheets from the British Publishers by which we are enabled to place all our Reprints in the hands of subscribers, about as soon as they can be furnished with the foreign copies. Although this involves a very large outlay on our part, we shall continue to furnish the Perudicula at the same low rates as heretofore, together with the following Premiums to new Subscribers.
