Farmer's Department.

A FARMER'S WIFE PLL BE.

I am a wild and laughing girl, just turned of sweet sixteen. As full of fun and mischief as any you have seen; And when I am a woman grown, no city beaux for me. If e'er I marry in my life, a farmer's wife 1'll

I love a country life, I love the joyous breeze. I love to hear the singing birds among the lofty trees; The lowing herds, the bleating flocks, make music sweet for me.

If e'er I marry m my life, a farmen's wife I'll

I love to feed the chickens, and I love to feed the cow, I love to hear the farmer's boy, whistling at the plow; And fields of corn and waving grain are pleasing sights to me.

If e'er I marry in my life, a farmer's wife I'll

I love to see the orchards, where the golden apples grow, I love to walk in meadows where the bright streamlets flow; And flowery banks and shady nooks have many charms for me, If e'er I marry in my life, a farmer's wife I'l

Let other girls who love it best enjoy the gloomy town,
'Mid dusty walks and dirty streets to ramble up and down;
But flowery fields, and shady woods, and sunny skies for me,
If e'er I marry in my life, a farmer's wife I'll

POINTS OF A GOOD HORSE.

Zadok Pratt, in a lecture on the horse gives his opinion of what constitute goo He should be about fifteen and a halfhands high; the head light and clean made; wide between the nostrils, and the nostrils themselves large, transparent and open : broad in the forehead; eyes prominent, clear and sparkling; ears small, neatly set on; neck rather short, and well set up; large arm or shoulder, well thrown back, and high; with ears arched and high; legs fine, flat, thin, and small-boned; body round and rather light, though sufficiently large to afford substance is needed; full chest; affording for the lungs; back short, with the hind quarters set on rather obliquely. Any one possessing a horse of this make and appearance, and weighing eleven or twelve hundred

Mr. Pratt is now seventy years of age, and has always been an admirer of horses, and is a competent judge. There are in Mr. P.'s lecture many valuable hints. We give pounds, may rest assured that he has a horse

all work, and a bargain well worth getting two or three: Cure of Horses .- No horse can endure labor all the time. A few months in pasture, after being high fed and worked for several years, will renew his energies, as stated periods of rest and recreation will preserve the vital energies of man unimpaired through a long life; and by a wise law of Providence, which is as beneficial to the beast as to the man, a horse will do more labor in the six days than if he were worked the whole seven. In reference to the peculiar excellence of the horses of New York, I might say, that I have driven a pair two hundred and forty miles in three days, or eighty miles per day, without injury. Amongst the many hundreds, and perhaps thousands, of drivers and teamsters in my employ, I had a slow moulded man by the name of Dana Brown, who drove for me some ten years, and always drew the largest loads in the same time, and with less fatigue to his horses, than any other driver I ever knew. His horses would look better on the same feed than those of any other, and they always appeared in good condition, while those in charge of others gave unmistakeable evidence of improper usage. Forty.

Efty, and even sixty hundred weight, has he Where they solicit an examination of their large drawn over the Catskill mountains with one pair of horses, and I am only doing him an rience both of them have had in the business, act of justice to say, that he never wore out and the facilities they possess for procuring a lash, and hardly a snapper in the whole time. Whilst other teamsters had sick horses, his were always in good condition. The whole number of teams I had in one year, hand a fine assortment of pounds to Prattsville, and 3000 pounds to Catskill, a distance of thirty-six miles, making about two and a half millions of pounds in a line assortated of WATCHES, CLOCKS, JEWELRY, Silver, Plated and Brittania Ware, Cutlery, Fancy Goods, &c., &c.

N. B.—Repairing of Wasses and all kinds of ed, are requested to Jenas Gilger, residence of thirty-six miles, making about two and a half millions of pounds in a line assortated of the second section of the second s all. I mention these facts as illustrating the Jewelry attended to with promptness and the great benefit of a good management of horses and of roads.

In feeding a horse, it should be remembered that corn has a tendency to make him slow, as may be witnessed in the slow moving cornfed horse of Ohio. Oats are more suitable to develope all his qualities, and from ten to sixteen quarts per day should be given.

Age of Horses.—With regard to the nat-Age of Horses.—With regard to the natural longevity of a horse, nothing can be said with certainty. They have been known to live thirty or forty, and in some instances even sixty years, but Il usage frequently destroys them before they are nine or ten. I think that under ordinary circumstances fourteen years would be a fair average.

Breaking.—Too much importances are set as the set of the set

Breaking.—Too much importance cannot be placed upon the judicious breaking and management of the noble animal. It should be like that of a child; by no other means can a horse be reduced to a cheerful and ready obedience. A sullen and dogged sub-mission will result, it is true, from crael and brutal treatment, but a prompt and enger response to the wish of a rider can be obtained by patient kindness. I think there are few horses baulky by nature, and that then most are made so by drivers, who are possessed of less brains than the horse himself.

CABBAGE WITH CORN .- Dr. Brooks, of Princeton, Mass., at the last Legislative Agricultural Meeting in Boston, alluded to the practice of planting cabbage among Indian corn. He knew an instance where cabbages were planted in alternate rows with corn, and the cabbage sold for $150 per acre.

commending your Salamander Safes to Merchants and others in want of a secure means of preserving their books, papers, etc., from fire, as the one we purchased from you about seven months aince has preserved our books, papers and cash in as good a condition as they were when put into it, before the great fire of this morning, which destroyed the entire Mark. Messrs. Evans & Warson, No. 29 South destroyed the entire block of buildings corner of Chestnut and Fifth streets. The above safe was n use in our office, on the second floor of our building, from which place it fell into the cellar, and remained there until the fire was out. The Safe was then removed and opened in the presence of at least 1000 persons, who witnessed the good condition of the contents. Will you please have the Safe and Locks repaired, as we

to put it in use again, having perfect confidence in its fire-proof qualities. Yours, Respectfully, LACY & PHILIPS. With notes and additions, together with a short system of conveyancing. By A. Jordan, Pres-ident Judge of the Eighth Judicial district of Pa., and Wm. M. Rockefeller and M. L. Shindel, of the bar of Northumberland county. Since the publication of the book, the following letter has been received from Judge Pearson of Harrisburg : Hannisbuno, June 30, 1853. GENTLEMEN:

After a careful examination of your "American pleaders assistant," I take pleasure in expressing my entire approval of the selection and composition of the precedents thus offered to the public. The legal profession in Peunsylvania stands in need of a correct system of pleading, adapted to our habits of business, and the practice of the courts. Your forms of declarations being, to a great extent, founded on the acts of assembly will be as aving of labor to the pleader, and co duce to safety and brevity in our pleadings.

Dear Sir :—I received more than a year ago
copy of "Reed,a Pleadors' Assistant" improved by Judge Jordan and others. I examined it with ne care soon afterwards, and have had occasion to use it several times since. I think it decidedly valuable as a manuel for practising attorneys in Pennsylvania, and do not hesitate to recommend it. If it were generally used it DR. McCLINTOCK'S FEVER AND AGUE SPE. would increase the accuracy of the profession in matters which are often very carelessly done.
I am very truly yours, &c.,

> I also received a copy of the Plenders' Assistant, and have examined it sufficiently to enable me to concur very heartily in the above commen-dations by the Chief Justice. GEO. W. WOODWARD. July 19, 1854.—
