JAR. B. CLAY AND GEO. D. PRENTICE:

The public will recollect the controversy between Mr. James B. Clay and the editor of the Louisville Journal. Mr. Clay made a speech in Lexington against Know-Nothingism, early last month, and on the 13th a bitbetween Mr. James B. Clay and the editor of the Louisville Journal. Mr. Clay made a speech in Lexington against Know-Nothingsism, early last month, and on the 13th a bitter personal retack was made upon him in the Journal, relative to his "vandal spoliation," as the Journal termed it, of the manision at Ashland, the home of his late father. On the 18th, Mr. Clay replied through the columns of the Journal, stating that he had purchased the mansion with his own money, at the request of his father, made previous to his death and that he was re-building it.

views of the moral obligation of the oath he, as a lawyer, is required to take.

The object of this note is solely to inquire

Ply:
"I am not aware, sir, that it particularly rules of concerns you to know what general rules of action I prescribe for myself as an editor. I have no objection, however, to inform you that if I do any man such an unprovoked and mortal wrong in my columns as to entitle him, in my opinion, to take or seek my life, I will hold myself responsible to him in the field, and that, if any gentleman does me such a

"I presume, sir, that all which it concerns you to know from me is whether I would accept a challenge from you on account of my clothing store, No. 111, Chesnut st. corner comments in the Louisville Daily Journal of Franklin Place, Philadelphia. the 18th inst., upon your communication published in the same paper on the same day.— Without putting you to the trouble of addressing the question to me in due form, I say to you plainly that I would not. I do not wish to kill you, and I am very clear in the opinion that my article affords you neither just cause nor a rational pretext for killing me. I made no attack or imputation upon your private character, which, for aught I know, is unob-jectionable. I merely gave utterance to the thoughts and feelings naturally and necessarily excited in my mind, and, as I believe, in the public, mind, by your demolishing the sa selling the lumber. "However, all this is very little to my present purpose. I have only to repeat that I would not accept a challenge from you on account of my article of Wednesday. And, as I see no necessity for my adopting the etiquette of duellists in telling you so, I shall end this by mail. I scarcely need add that, if I have erred in any statements of fact in regard to your conduct, I shall, on having he errors pointed out to me, take pleasure in correcting them." Mr. Clay, in reply, has published a card "To the Public," whose liberty, he thinks, has been assailed in his person. Speaking of the editor of the Journal, he says:

through the columns of his paper, to hold up his and her son as an object for the scorn and indignation of his countrymen."

He then expresses his astonishment at such an attack from the Journal, the editor of which he had never in his life given the least cause of offence. Mr. Clay next proceeds to speak of Ashland, as follows:

"I bought Ashland, as I have heretofore said, at the slesire of both my father and mother; I determined to do with it as I thought best for the interest and -comfort of my family. It accorded better with my judgment to rebuild my father's house upon the same design, using in its construction every particle of the old material—stone brick or wood-that would answer, than to leave standing an old mausion, through which the water coursed, and whose walls were cracked to such an extent as to render it positively unsafe as a harbor for rats and a resort fo thieves and runaway negroes. It is true that I did advertise in the Observer and Reporter newspaper, as the editor of the Journal states in his letter of the 21st inst., that I wished to sell certain portions of the old material, but I specified in that advertisement, doors, sash, &c., which were utterly useless to me. I was not so fortunate as to find a purchaser for a single article that I desired to sell, and the consequence is that a large quantity of old rubbish encumbers my place, which I shall have to get rid of by making a bon-fire. It was not the offer to sell such old rubbish that was referred to in the first article in the Journal ottacking me. It was a different thing with which I was charged. It was that, knowing them to be hallowed by association with my father's name, I either was or had been selling for my own private profit, the beams, rafters, posts, &c., of his old dwelling house, to be made into sticks, snuff-boxes, &c. &c. In my answer, which was published in his paper, I gave such information respecting my private affairs as I thought would have satisfied any candid and reasonable man that he had done me injustice. It is true that I used language which was harsh, but I did not conceive it to be too much so towards the author of such an attack upon me." [Mr. Clay had declared his intention of giving the proceeds from the sale of the walking-sticks, snuff-boxes, &c., to some charitable institu-

The editor of the Journal, is making the attack, Mr. Clay contends, has clearly shown that he cared little for his father's name, his fame, or his family; and Mr. C. here adds:

public capacity or as a private man."

Mr. Clay concludes by stating that, having can publicly persecuted, he has thought repeat to place all the facts before his fellow-ount men, with the fullest confidence that her all pardon him for thus bringing him-

ATTEMPT TO MURDER PASSENGERS ON THE RAILROAD.—An attempt, fortunately unsuccessful, was recently made between Laporte columns of the Journal, stating that he had purchased the mansion with his own money, at the request of his father, made previous to his death, and that he was re-building it, because of its dilapidated condition, &c. On the same day the editor of the Journal commented upon Mr. Clay's reply in his paper in a long and personally offensive article. In consequence of these attacks, Mr. Clay addressed the following note to Mr. Prentice:

Ashland, July-20, 1855.

Sir:—This note will be handed to you by my friend Major T. Lewinski. A similar one was addressed to you on the 18th, through lately engaged in the practice of law in your city, found the delivery of it inconsistent with his views of the moral obligation of the oath knowing what might have been the loss of life, if the depredations had not been discov-

SABBATH WORK.—The editor of the Harrisburg Herald was shocked recently, because some farmers took advantage of a sunny Sunday to house their hay. Per contra, Rev. Mr. Eddy, of Canaan, it is reported, at the close of his morning service last Sunday, advised such of his congregation as had hay out, to "go to work and get it in, for it looked likely to rain." It reminds one of the old revolutionary officer who told his men to "trust in God and keep the powder dry."

A YER'S PILLS,

A NEW and singularly successful remedy for the cure of all Bilious diseases — Costiveness, Indigestion, Jaundice, Dropsy, Rheumatism, Fevers, Gout, Humors, Nervousness, Irritability, Inflammations, Headache, Pains in the Breast, Side, Back, and Limbs. Female Complaints, &c., &c. Indeed, very few are the diseases in which a Purgative Medicine is not more or less required, and much sickness and suffering might be prevented, if a harmless but effectual Cathartic were more freely used. No person can feel well while a costive habit of body prevails; besides it soon generates serious and often fatal diseases, which might have been avoided by the timely and judicious use of a good purgative. This is alike true of Colds, Feverish symptoms, and Bilious derangements. They all tend to become or produce the deep scated and formidable distempers which load the hearses all over the land. Hence a reliable family physic is of the first importance to the public health, and this Fill has been perfected with consummate skill to meet that demand. An extensive trial of its virtues by Physicians, Professors, and Patients, has shown results surpassing any thing hitherto known of any medicine. Cures have been effected beyond belief, were they not substantiated by persons of such exalted pesition and character as to forbid the suspicion of untruth.

Among the many eminent gentlemen who have testified in favor of these Phis, we may mention:

Their life consists in their mystery. I have no mysteries.

The composition of my preparations is laid open to all men, and all who are competent to judge on the subject freely acknowledge their convictions of their intrinsic merits. The Cherry Pectoral was pronounced by scientific men to be a wonderful medicine before its effects were known. Many eminent Physicians have declared the same thing of my Pills, and even more confidently, and are willing to certify that their anticipations were more than realized by their effects upon trial.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

Being sugar wrapped they are pleasant to take, and being purely vegetable, no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

Notes, &c., by Dr. Chas Greene—This Work will be found worthy the attention of our readers, for they may learn from it what can be expected from this mode of treating Conflumption and other affections of the air-passages. Dr. M. is evidently a man of considerable intelligence and whatever there is of good in inhalations of medicated vapors, he seems to have ability to extract, may, we go intther, add may that we fear that the Profession have not given sufficient attention to this mode of alleviating the sufferings of those laboring under this class of discusses."—New Jersey Medical Reporter, June, 1555.

"Dr. Mannocu's neox on Inhahation is one of the few which have been issued from the English press on this subject. Its re-publication in this country, with the judicious Notes of Dr. Greene, will add to the medical literature of the United States, and, it is hoped, excite some interest in the medical Profession on the subject of linealistics, us a means of treating pilinomry affections. With the addition of modern discoveries in Physiology, this mide of treating these diseases should have a fair trial and some stonesizent made for the long neglect which Inhaigtion has suffered at the bands of medical mea.

Prof. of Surgery in Philadelphia College of Medicins.

DR. GREENE, will treat DISEASES OF THE LUNGS and AIR-PASSAGES, agreeably to the mode so successfully adopted in the practice of Dr. A. B. Maddock, and other eminent physicians of Europe. By this mode of treatment the diseased surface of the Brenchi and Lungs are directly acted upon, the various medicated vapor being carried to the most minute ramifications of the Lungs, producing healthy action; where a complete disorganization has not taken place the heat results always attend this feature of Practice; in fact, with suitable adjuncts, it is the only reliable form of treating diseases of the Respiratory Organs. He intends devoting his sole attention to this particular branch of his profession. Three desirous of consulting him can do so by letter addressed to
