TTER FROM GERMANY-DEATH OF BARON VON ROTHSCHILD.

Ve make the following extracts from an in, and which bears date of the 13th of cember last .- Washington Union. There died in this city, on the 6th inst., he age of eighty-two years five months twenty-four days, Baron Amschel Mayer Rothschild, Privy Counsellor of the Duke Hesse Darnstadt, and chief and senior of celebrated banking firm of M. A. Roth-

There was creely a man in Frankfort to whom the id Rotheshild" (as the people called him) s not known. Every day, when entering leaving his banking house, he was surroundby a crowd of poor. His willingness to buted his benefits, were never disturbed by e importanities of these turbulent assem-

"Daron Rothchild was popular with all uses of the population, because his benevoice extended to all distinctions of political i religious parties. He was a rigid obsere of all the requirements of his faith to such degree, that at the sumptuous feasts to sich he was invited, or which he gave at his n residence, he was never known to touch y meat not prepared according to the Jewmode, and neither sickness nor inclemency the weather was able to restrain him from e performance of his religious duties and remonius. He belonged to the orthodox action of the Jewish community, but his mellis extended to all alike. I have seen list of yearly distributions wade for the acunt of Baron Rothschild, from which it apars that not less than 2600 Christian famis bad profitted by its bounty. The weekly stribution,' for his account amounted to at ast 50,000 florins per year, and probably an pual sum was sent abroad for the relief of e indigent. Besides these gifts, he contristed to all public institutions of charity, as ell as for art, literature and the like,

"Whilst his liberality towards, his fellowtizens afforded them a constant relief, his we personal habits were extremely simple with such great wealth, favored with the lendship and esteem of sovereigns, loaded ith honors and distinctions, Baron Rothsall never forgot the origin of so exulted a osition. Baron Rothschild was no less kind and ffectionate towards his family at large. He cas married more than fifty years, but had to children. His wife died in 1848, and his flections have been devoted to his sisters nd brethren, and to their numerous progeny le was the eldest son of five brothers, and outlived them all, with the exception of one Baron James Rothschild, of Paris.) Two of them (Charles and Solomon) died in the course of last year.

"The will of Baron Rothschild was made n 1849. The charitable bequests are much ess important than the benevolence exerised by him during a long course of years had prepared people to expect. Among the tems of the will are the following : To establish a foundation for the

LEGISLATING FOR BAILROAD SECURITY. Mr. Price has introduced into the State Senate a bill for the security of railroad travelling, which defines duties, fixes liabilities, and renders that certain in statute law which now depends upon legal construction and decisions. The bill requires that the baggage and freight cars shall invariably be placed in front of the passenger cars; steam whistles to sound an alarm at eighty rods from any crossing of the highway at the same level; speed to be reduced on approaching a draw; the running time to be so regulated that no two trains moving in opposite directions shall be on the same track at the same time, without a switch and sidling between them, unless the train that is out of time is preceded by an agent on foot, eighty rods in advance, with a signal; when any train is stopped when another is expected, a signal is to be sent eighty rods in the proper di-rection. In enclosed or fenced parts of the country, cattle guards to be constructed at every commencement and termination of such enclosure. When a rail is taken up for repairs, a signal is to be placed at eighty rods distant each way. It is made a misdemeanor for any crossing a railroad with a horse or vehicle, or driving any animal on it when a locomotive is approaching within forty rods of such intersection- It is also made a misdemeanor, with ninety days' imprisonment, for a railroad conductor to get intoxicated $5000 is the greatest amount which may be recovered of a railroad for any person's death through its negligence. No recovery of damages when the person is injured acting contrary to the printed regulations of the company. The punishment for injury through the negligence of any employee of the road is twelve months' imprisonment. If death ensue, the punishment is the same as man-slaughter. Persons who put obstructions on railroads, whereby death ensues, shall be tried for murder. If injury is caused, the punishment in ten years' imprisonment. The bill appears to be a fair one, sufficiently guarded public protection, and not oppressive to railroad companies. RAVAGES OF WOLVES IN IOWA .-- The Keokuk Daily Post, of the 11th inst., states that, for some time past, the wolves have been exresting letter which we received from a tremely dangerous in Pottawattamie county. espondent residing at Frankfort-on-the- About three weeks ago a man was returning from a prayer meeting, accompanied by his two daughters, one 16 and the other 23 years of age. They were all riding the same horse, when suddenly a pack of timber wolves assailed them, and, being unable to escape by flight, they attempted to defend themselves. But the ferocious brutes attacked the horse, rendering him unmanageable. The oldest daughter was partly thrown and partly dragred to the ground, and instantly devoured, The father and his other daughter managed to escape. Several neighbors were mustered, who repaired to the spot, but found nothing but one of the girl's shoes and a few remants of her clothing. A boy, aged 13, left his father's house to get some water at a spring, about half a mile distant. Not reurning, search was made for him, when the pall was found near the spring, also some marks of blood and a lock or two of hair.

TARRED AND FEATHERED .- The citizens of

Lexington, Ky., became much excited last week in consequence of a letter from that city, which appeared in an Ohio paper, reflecting upon the institution of slavery in their midst. The letter was signed J. B., the nitials, as was ascertained, of a person (J. Brady) who had been for sometime employed as a teacher in one of the city schools. Louisville Courier thus tells what followed :-Feeling that this man, who had been occived and hospitably entertained, was stock comprises a sariety of goods adapted to the guilty of great wrong in thus calumniating the cople and institutions of that section, after Assertment of sizes and qualities to buyers. Merchants will find it to their advanta to his lodgings. He was informed of the mission of the company, and, though fearful of the chill night air, could not besitate acompanying the party. He was conducted to the court-house yard, and there stripped. large quantity of pitch had been prepared r the occasion, with the contents of several ags of teathers. The clothing was speedily emoved from the body of Brady, and the Then the feathers were nicely planted, and Brady's head shaved close to the scalp, save two locks, near the forehead. He was then set loose, and charged to go and sin no more, More severe punishment would have been administered had it not been for the wife of Brady, a beautiful and estimable lady. Brady applied to a physician to remove the tar, but it was found utterly impossible. He left on the morning train for Covington. -
