THE DYING WIFE.

Lay the babe upon my bosom, let me feel her sweet, warm breath.

I am passing through the waters, but a blessed light appears.

Lay the babe upon my bosom, 'tis not long she can be there.

If a cherub calls thee father, far more beautiful than this.

Lead her sometimes where I'm sleeping, I will answer if she calls.

It is said that every mortal walks between two angels here.

I will be her right hand angel, sealing up the good for Heaven.

CRUELTY TO RELATIVES.

I had an aunt coming to visit me for the first time since my marriage.

"My dear," said I to my wife, on the day before my aunt's arrival.

"I then went to John T., who loved a joke about as well as any person I know.

"Kiss me, my dear," howled my aunt; and the hall windows shook as with fever and ague.

"Rather dusty," was the response, in war-whoop, and so the conversation continued.

"How loud your wife speaks—don't it hurt her?" I told her all deaf persons spoke loudly.

"Yes," said I, "all deaf persons do. You're getting along with her finely, she hears every word you say."

"Doesn't talking so loud strain your lungs?" said she, in an unearthly whoop.

"Is an exertion?" shrieked my wife. "Then why do you do it?" was the answering scream.

DEPARTURE OF THE ORIZABA.

Three Hundred Filibusters off to Nicaragua—Three Arrets, had a Host gone on to Reinforce General Walker.

The Orizaba, lately put on the Nicaragua line of steamers in place of the Northern Light, left yesterday at 3 P. M.

The lines had been taken from the stern of the steamer. Orders had been given by Captain Tinkler to halt in the forward gang plank.

"Pitch him overboard," cried another. "Gen. Walker will hang the devil if he ever gets hold of him in Nicaragua, and it will be a pity to waste him on him."

This supplementary observation, accompanied by occasional oaths and cheers for Captain Tinkler particularly, and Gen. Walker and Nicaragua generally, rose from the crowd.

The splendid paintings at Barnum's house at Manhattan, he sold for $2,000,000.

Now, whoever has read Barnum's biography, written by himself, will consider it very curious that he should have sold for $2,000,000.

The enigma of the small boat was thus expounded. Mr. Joachimsson, after getting on board, produced a warrant for the arrest of the following named parties: Wm. H. Jenkins, J. H. Wilson, J. C. Henwick, N. A. Saxe, John L. H. Jones, Frederick Bates, C. Carroll Hicks, Jacob Sterns and James Mullen.

The warrants of arrest were issued upon affidavits made by Jacob H. Jones and N. A. Saxe, who set their names to the affidavits mentioned in the warrants proposed to join General Walker's army.

Two years after the incident just noted took place I was travelling down the Mississippi on an old-fashioned boat.

"Gentlemen, make a motion to draw a weapon, and that motion needs your fate." "All right," said I, "I will do so."

Poetry.

I CAN'T DO WITHOUT A PAPER.

What! do without a paper? No, I've tried it on my sorrow;

Why, there's neighbor old John Stout; He always hears the news.

While neighbor Stout bears all the news, And knows the current price,

Though I have studies, which require Much time and mental labor,

From "Life in the West." A Startling Adventure.

In the summer of 1815 I was traveling on business in the western part of Tennessee.

That portion of the State which lies between the Tennessee and the Mississippi was at that time a wild, dreary forest.

I had been riding for several hours, swimming the rivers that crossed my path, sniffing in the rich perfume of the forest flowers,

"I would have to camp out for the night." I was about to return to the boat, when I was startled by the neighing of a horse ahead of me.

The Humors of the Rail.

Passengers by railroad who travel much, have suffered not a little this winter from derails occasioned by snow storms and new drifts.

Farmer's Department.

Another Mode of Making Excellent Bread.

We are indebted to a lady correspondent of the Tennessee Farmer and Mechanic, for the following receipt for making excellent light bread.

To make eight loaves, the size of baker's bread: Take a pint of baker's yeast, or good home-made yeast, made by boiling a handful of hops in three pints of water, strain hot upon two spoonfuls of flour, two of sugar, a tea-spoonful of salt, and one of ginger, and a tin-cup full of finely mashed and strained Irish potatoes.

The Maple Sugar Season.

The present is the season for the manufacture of maple sugar in all the Northern and Eastern States.

The amount of maple sugar produced in the State of New York, during the time the last census was taken, was 34,265,571 pounds.
