Aiken, as chairman of the local Ma-rine Board, has presented a bill of exchange for £50 to Captain Ferguson, of the Liver pool bark Emperor, for having rescued in January last, Capt. Spall and crew, of the American bark Olivia, which was foundering. The bill had been forwarded in a very kind note to Lord Clarendon, by the Hon, George M. Dallas, American Minister in Loudon who, in turn, sent both through the Board of Trade, to Liverpool. Captain Ferguson, who was taken aback by the acknowledgment, was too overpowered to do more than thank Accounts from Melbourne, of January 7th, are, on the whole, satisfactory. The Schom-herg has gone ashore near Callibrand river. Nearly the whole of the passengers together with the European mails, were transferred to the steamer Queen, and landed at Melbourne without loss of life or limb. There were 106 men of the officers and crew. Of these, forty men went on shore, headed by the boatswain These took their chests and other property About eight casks, containing biscuit, bottled porter, brandy and other stores, were sent on shore by the purser, who accompanied them. The men erected a hut on shore. The agents have despatched the steamers Marion and Keera to the scene of the disaster.

It may be confidently expected that the year 1857 will be far advanced before the last man and the last cargo of shells can pass the Pardanelles on their way homeward; nor can we think that any baste is necessary in completing the evacuation. We have accumulated large stores and assembled a great army for the defence of Turkey, and there is no reason why we should incur the expense of new transports and a greater employment of labor, in order to bring back with such speed as may gratify the desire of those whom we saved, to be quickly rid of us. The presence of the Western forces in the East is now only a question of months. The British army is said to be provided with food and necessaries for nearly 12 months.

PROPOSED SPANISH AMERICAN LEAGUE AGAINST THE UNITED STATES .- The Madrid correspondent of the New York Herald has forwarded to the editor of that paper an extract from a work printed, and probably circulated, in that city, by Don Buenaventura Vivo, late Minister Pienipotentiary from the government of Santa Anna to Spain It developes the project of a grand Spanish-American confederation to counteract the filibustering propensities of the United States, and to secure to the crown of Spain the perpetual possession of the Island of

It is stated in the work alluded to that the Minister received especial instructions to confer with the Spanish Secretary of State, upon the measures necessary to confirm bpain in the possession of Cuba, in which the government of Mexico was ready to cooperate. The proposal met with a cordial reception on the part of the Spanish government, and negotiations were opened among various European powers, with a view to secure the necessary alliance. In the midst of the negotiations, however, an order came from the Mexican Republic to suspend operations-and here ends these curious developments, as narroted by the correspondent of the Herald.

Having precured proper implements, they set to work. After going the depth of four feet, one of the party who was using a crowbar was seen suddenly to fall upon his face; upon examination. nole was found about four inches wide, through which the bar had slipped and sunk to the bowels of the mountain. The aperture was immediately enlarged, but it was found that, owing to the brittleness of the rock, it was exceedingly dangerous working around it. The parties have taken up about 3000 feet around the hole, and are busy getting windlasses, ets., to prospect it further. Most of the community are aware that Prevorton is situated on one of the tributaries of Mahanoy creek, 14 miles from the Susquehanna, and just outside the great Mahanoy garded this threat, and with an armed force coal basin. In 1850 it might have answered the description above, as far as "rattlesnakes" were concerned. A log house in the middle of a small clearing was the only mark of civilization visible. The deep and narrow dell was covered by a stately forest full of limpid springs, wild flowers and singing birds. Tall mountains, gloomy with sombre pines, and huge gray rocks, frowned down upon the quiet vale. But those rude mountains are full of that great source of wealth to our state, Anthracite con, and just at the spot where Trevorton now stands they are cleft to their base by Zerbe's Gap; thus opening a way to the mineral resources within. The eagle eye of enterprise pierced the gloom of the forest, and the hand of improvement speedily fol. lowed. Simultaneously with the fall of the giant caks, a town arose. Merchant, artezan and laborer crowded thither. In six months the scene had perfectly changed. A railroad was commenced from the mines to the Susquehanna, and is now completed and in successful operation.
