THE COMMON SCHOOLS OF THIS STATE .--The Common Schools of this State, Philadelphia not being included, have an attendance of 531,726 pupils, the average cost of whose tuition, including buildings and everything, is 624 cents per month, or $7.50 per The schools, however, are kept open less than six menths in the year. Including Philadelphia, the number of pupils is 586,-743, and the total expenses for all the schools is $2,227,577. The number above given shows that the school system must embrace, as pupils, all the persons in the State who f an age proper for tuition. This is a gratifying fact, considering what opposition there has been to the system, and it proves the value also of our educational institutions, which could make their way so rapidly in the face of strong prejudice. That they have diffused intelligence through the State, and nesisted greatly to promote the moral and physical good of its inhabitants, is attested by the general social refinement which surrounds us, and our comparative freedom from crime and poverty. The intelligence of the common mind is the foundation of our government, and we are pleased to see the See retary of the Commonwealth, who is also the general superintendent, in his late report, making suggestions to the Legislature, which are designed for strengthening and improving the system. There are at this time over thirteen thousand teachers employed in the common schools of this State, many of whom have received their training in institutions devoted exclusively to the education of teachers, and preparing them for the great duties they are to assume—the instruction of the rising generation .- Public Ledger.

LETTER FROM THE EDITOR DATED

Jones' Hotel, Philadelphia, Feb. 2, 1857.

The snow storm of Friday night, unlike the previous one, was heaviest in the West. While the snow, at Harrisburg, was about there is a heavy coating of snow, the uneventhroughfares anything but pleasant, either for wheels or runners. There is but little doing here in the way of business, although week, though not of much importance, have been, nevertheless, not without interest. The Senatorial question has not only disturbed the equanimity of some of the members, but what is worse, has upset their calculations-Expectants of office, and their name is legion, whose plans have been frustrated by the election of Gen. Cameron are naturally indignant, and the amount of indignation ex. pended is generally in accordance with the losses incurred. When Mr. Wagonseller made his speech, in defence of himself and his colleague, for their support of Gen. Cameron, the House was rather taken by surprise. He presented a number of strong points, and it was generally conceded that it was somewhat difficult to reconcile the letter of Mr. Buchanan in 1845, with that of 1857. The truth is, Mr. Buchanan was forced into the position he has taken, by the importunities of indiscreet friends. When first applied to, for a letter expressing his preference for Mr. Forney, he sent his kinsman, Mr. Baker to Harrisburg, to express his sentiments verbally. This, however, was not satisfactory, and Mr. Baker was sent back to get Mr. Buchanan's views and wishes expressed in writing, and the result is his unfortunate epistle to Mr. Mott.

On Friday last, there were some amusing cenes in the legislature. In the House Mr. Gildea, one of the city members, felt himself called upon to reply to the speech of Mr. Wagonseller. The effort, however, was more characteristic of wind than power, though no boubt the gentleman, when he sat down, imsgined that he had annihilated "the traitors." TEN DOLLAR COUNTERFEIT.—A ten dollar counterfeit bill on the Girard Bank of Philadelphia is in circulation, and we know of several that were passed on Saturday. We are indebted to Captain Samuel Sparrow, of the barque Cambridge, now below this port from Pernambuco, for the following account of the treatment of a New Bedford whale ship. On the fourth day, a Brazilian officer, with soldiers came on board, and ordered the Cap-tain to stop heaving on the windlass, (the lings' store and the Lutheran church a gold the modern improvements is, that guests can crew were still engaged kedging the vessel out.) On his refusing to do so, they fixed bayonets and drove the men from the wind-lass. The Captain then told the officer he should abandon the vessel to him unless he was allowed to proceed in his duty, and essayed once more to man the windlass, but was again prevented by the soldiers. He then called all hands aft, and in their presence, abandoned the vessel to the officer, and told no conception of the money transactions in him he should hold his government responsible. The Brazilians having got possession, slacked away the hawser, and let the ship ran again on the rocks (up to this time she had made no water to speak of) where she pounded all night, and in the morning had five feet of water in her hold.

Captain Ricketson, thinking that the offier having had an opportunity to sleep on the matter, might repent of his rashness of the day before, again called all hands, and in their presence offered to take the vessel again (although much damaged, with five feet of water in her hold,) provided the soldiers would leave; but he peremptorily refused and Capt. R. then made his final abandonment, reserving the private property of himself and crew. He went on shore, and thence to Pernambuco, laid his case before the U. S. Consul there, protesting, &c. WASHINGTON G. FUNERAL CEREMONIES.

The funeral ceremonies of Preston S Brooks attracted a large crowd to Congress. The President, Heads of departments and members of the Judiciary were present; also, Mr. Buchanan. The proceedings were somewhat marred in the House by an indiscreet reference of Mr. Savage to the Sumuer affair, which excited much resentment on the Republican side of the House and was discoun. enanced by others as most inapropriate and offensive. Many left the Chamber, feeling insulted by these remarks, and attempts were made to suppress or qualify them. Referring to that brutal assault he said distinctly, "th world has ever since approved and applauded the wisdom and justice of the deed."

MR. BUCHANAN. Mr. Buchanan overshadows every thing. The Cabinet makers are in a state of great excitement, but they know nothing, for they learn nothing. It seems, however, to be generally understood that General Cass, who was shaking in the wind when Mr. Buchanan left Wheatland, is now definitely laid upon the shelf. But Mr Buchanan keeps his own counsels, and will make his own appointments, and with due delibera-

MINNESOTA .- The Governor of Minnesots. in his Message to the Legislature shows the population of the Territory to be 180,000. The taxable property amounts to between thirty and thirty-five millions of dollars. In view of these facts, and of the large increase of agricultural products, cash capital, &c., the Governor favors a change from a Territorial to a State Government and recommends that the speediest action, consistent with other interests should be taken to accomplish this end.

The battle occurred at Old Town, and during its continuance nearly every building in the place was pillaged by the invaders. At the date of our last advices, General Garcia, with his troops, was advancing upon Tampico, being then within only a few miles of the town. The Government forces, how-

CURIOUS LEGISLATIVE PROCEEDINGS IN NE-BRASKA.—A correspondent of the New York News, writing from Omaha City, on the 16th

The attempt to remove the capital would undoubt edly succeed but for the Govenor's veto which he will interpose. The attempt to locate the capital at a point which is entirely desti-tute of all settlements, meets with a most decided opposition from by far the greater porour inhabitants. The bill to re-locate tion of passed the Council on Saturday last, and the House has been vainly endeavoring for the last five days to re act the bill, the vote in the House standing twenty-five to ten. The minority on the capitol have thus far led the few, and a very successful majority have been defeated by means of Messrs. Hanscom, Seely, Moore and Armstrong, of the Omaha delegation. The House is the scene of the greatest excitement. The lobbies are continually crowded. The majority seem determined to press the bill through at all hazards, and the Speaker with the majority seems determined to crush all opposition to the bill, freely setting aside all and every proposition made by the minority, and the rule of the House being suspended at any and all times by the majority. To-duy the House has set apart for the final passage of the bill.

On motion of Mr. Jordan, the House bill, relative to the Philadelphia and Sunbury Railroad Company, was taken up. Mr. Gazzam offered an amendment, to restrict the Company from borrowing money at a greater rate of interest than six per cent .-The bill authorizes them to borrow at twelve per cent.] Mr. Crabb remarked that the amendment would defeat the whole object of the bill. Mr. Jordan opposed the amendment for the same reason and made a brief argument in support of the bill.

Mr. Gazzam supported this motion, on the ground that he could see no good reason why the privilege of borrowing money at an awful interest should be granted to any corporation 4.814 whilst it was denied to individuals. The people were getting restless under this system of legalizing the borrowing of money by large corporations at large rates of interest, and thus enabling them to monopolize the money market. If this privilege was granted to this corporation, he hoped the Senate would not refuse, when applied for, to grant the same privilege to individuals.

Mr. Souther said they could not allow individuals to go into the market and take money at a greater interest than six per cent without the passage of a general law. He argued, however, that no evil could arise to individuals from granting this privilege to correpresentatives, which will be a gain of two individuals from granting this privilege to cor-members. Allegheny will have five members porations, for the reason that individuals could not be compelled to purchase their lands if they did not see proper. No evil could arise from it, and why not grant the privilege ? As to the repeal of the usury laws that was another question, and when it came up he should vote on it as he thought proper. The privilege asked by this Company was nothing more than was always granted here-

Mr. Gazzam said he did not see any reason why this Company should be specially excluded from the privilege asked, but he did see a reason why all should be excluded. It was a wrong principle.

Mr. Jordan said it was necessary to pass this bill to day, when
Mr. Gazzam withdrew his amendment, and the bill passed finally.
