CATAWBA WINE.

This song of mine Is a song of the Vive, To be song by the glowing embers Of wayside inns, When the raid begins To darken the drear Novembors, It is not a song And the Musendel That bask in our garden alleys. Nor the red Mustang, Whose cluster bang O'er the waves of the Colorado ; And the fiery flood Of whose purple blood Has a dash of Spanish bravado. For richest and best Is the wine of the West, That grows by the beautiful river; Whose sweet perfume Fills all the room With a benison on the river. And as hollow trees Are the hounts of bees Forever going and coming. So this crystal hive Is all alive With a swarming and buzzing and humming. Very good in their way Are the Verzenny, And the Sillery soft and creamy ; But Catawaba wine Has a taste more divine, More dulcet, delicious, and dreamy. There grows no wine By the haunted Rhine, By Danube or Guadalquiver, Nor on island or cape, That bears such a grape, As grows by the beautiful river. Drugged in their joice, For foreign use, When shipped o'er the reeling Atlantic, To rack our brains With the fever pains That have driven the Old World frantic. To the sewers and sinks With all such drinks, And after them tumble the mixer ! For a poison malague Is such Borgia wine, Or at best but a Devil's Elixir. While pure as a spring Is the wine I sing. And to praise it one needs but to name it ; For Catawba wine Has need of no sign, No tavern-bush to proclain it. And this song of the Vine, This greeting of mine. The winds and the birds shall deliver To the queen of the West, In he garlands dressed, On the banks of the beautiful river. [Atlantic Monthly.

A ROYAL ARGUMENT .- Frederick the Great was always very fond of disputation; but as he generally terminated the discussion by collaring his antagonist and kicking his shins, few of his guests were disposed to enter the arena against him. One day when he was even more disposed for an argument than usual, he asked one of his suite why he did not venture to give his opinion on some particular question : "It is impossible, your majesty," was the reply, "to express o

CLEAN DISTINCTION .- An anecdote is related of a young preacher at a church in a city, who had for his text a verse from the parable of the ten virgins, and in the course of his sermon explained :

That in old times it was customary, when the bridegroom and groom were coming, for ten virgins to go out and meet them, and escort them home-fre of these virgins being male and fice female."

A "RELIGIOUS PAPER" ON CHICAGO, ILL .--The Gospel Banner says : Chicago is a poor place for a Yankee. The climate gives him the ague fever; the water brings on diarrhoea; the food, as cooked by the suckers, produces dyspepsia; the whiskey, tinctured with strychnine, makes him crazy; or, if a temperate man, three per cent, a month is sure to bring on the blues. Throughout the entire western country home-sick men are plentier than anything else. No more wise and prosperous men will emigrate thither by our advice.

HURBY UP. Two ladies were having some words together on the roadside, when the daugh-ter of one of them popped her head out of the d or, and cried out:

"Hurry, mother, and call her a thief before k she calls you one."

DANIEL & DEAN-HEAD .- Speaking of lionsthat was an blea of the bard-shell preacher who was discoursing of Baniel in the den of lions:-"There he sot all night, looking at the show for nothing. It did'nt cost him a cent."

As honest lady when told of her husband's death, exclaimed, "Well, I do declare, our troubles never come alone. It ain't a week since I lost my hen, and now Mr. Hoojer has gone, too, -poor man."
