

The Sunbury American.

PUBLISHED EVERY SATURDAY
BY H. B. MASSER,
Market Square, Sunbury, Penna.
TERMS OF SUBSCRIPTION:
TWO DOLLARS per annum in advance. No paper sent until full amount received.

TO CIRCULATE:
Five Copies to one address. $2.50
Ten Copies to one address. 5.00
Twenty Copies to one address. 10.00

TERMS OF ADVERTISING:
One Square of 10 lines 2 weeks. $3.00
Three Squares of 10 lines 2 weeks. 6.00
Six Squares of 10 lines 2 weeks. 12.00
One Square of 10 lines 1 month. 5.00
Three Squares of 10 lines 1 month. 10.00
Six Squares of 10 lines 1 month. 18.00

JOB PRINTING:
Whereas we have established a well equipped JOB OFFICE, which will execute in the most perfect manner, every variety of printing, including, Letter Heads, Circulars, Brochures, Bibles, Tracts, &c., &c., in the most beautiful and durable manner, at the lowest prices.

E. B. MASSER,
ATTORNEY AT LAW,
SUNBURY, PA.
Business attended to in the Counties of Northumberland, Union, Lycoming, Montour and Columbia.

NEW STORE.
ELIAS EMERICH,
RESPECTFULLY informs the citizens of Lower Augusta township and the public generally, that he has purchased the Store lately kept by Isaac Marr, in Lower Augusta township near Emmerich's Tavern, and has just opened a splendid stock of Fall and Winter Goods.

His stock consists of Cloths, Cassimeres, Casinetts, all kinds of Hens, Coats and Vests. Also, Alas, Calicoes, Ginghams, Lawns, Mouselins, Delaines, and all kinds of Ladies Dress Goods. GILBERT'S Hardware, Queensware of various styles and patterns.

PATENT WHEEL GREASE.
This Grease is recommended to the notice of all Farmers, as being the best for all kinds of machinery. It does not gum upon the axle, is much more durable, and is not affected by the weather, remaining the same in summer as in winter, and put up in tin cans, of 75 and 150 cents each. A. W. FISHER, March 14, 1857.

MUSIC!
MR. O. KIMBALL, late of Elmira, having become a resident of Sunbury, respectfully informs the citizens and others, that he intends to form a singing class, both secular and sacred, and will accept instruction to all who may desire to place themselves under his charge.

New Philadelphia Dry Goods!!
—SHARPLESS BROTHERS.—
Late Townsend Sharpless & Son, removed to their new store, N. W. corner of Chestnut and 8th Streets, and have opened their new and splendid stock of Fall and Winter DRY GOODS, which they offer at very low prices. Their stock includes Shawls, Black and Fancy Silks, Merinos and other Dress Goods, Men's and Boy's Wear, Blankets, Housekeeping Goods, and Goods for the "Farming West."

SUNBURY STEAM FLOURING MILL.
The subscribers respectfully announce to the public, that their new Steam Flouring Mill in this place, has been completed, and will go into operation on Monday the 31st day of August.

GILBERT BULSON,
SUCCESSOR TO
J. D. CAMPBELL & CO. AND C. IVES.
DEALER IN PRODUCE, FRUIT AND VEGETABLES, No. 4 North Wharves, 4th door Market street, Philadelphia.

The $10 and $15 Single and Double Threaded Empire Family Sewing Machines.

GILBERT BULSON,
SUCCESSOR TO
J. D. CAMPBELL & CO. AND C. IVES.
DEALER IN PRODUCE, FRUIT AND VEGETABLES, No. 4 North Wharves, 4th door Market street, Philadelphia.

The $10 and $15 Single and Double Threaded Empire Family Sewing Machines.

GILBERT BULSON,
SUCCESSOR TO
J. D. CAMPBELL & CO. AND C. IVES.
DEALER IN PRODUCE, FRUIT AND VEGETABLES, No. 4 North Wharves, 4th door Market street, Philadelphia.

The $10 and $15 Single and Double Threaded Empire Family Sewing Machines.

GILBERT BULSON,
SUCCESSOR TO
J. D. CAMPBELL & CO. AND C. IVES.
DEALER IN PRODUCE, FRUIT AND VEGETABLES, No. 4 North Wharves, 4th door Market street, Philadelphia.

The $10 and $15 Single and Double Threaded Empire Family Sewing Machines.

GILBERT BULSON,
SUCCESSOR TO
J. D. CAMPBELL & CO. AND C. IVES.
DEALER IN PRODUCE, FRUIT AND VEGETABLES, No. 4 North Wharves, 4th door Market street, Philadelphia.

Select Poetry.

I NEVER HAVE BEEN FALSE TO THEE
BY GEORGE F. SORNER.
I never have been false to thee
The heart I gave thee still is thine;
That thou hast been untrue to me,
As to an enemy may well be mine.
I've loved as woman ever loves,
With constant love in good or ill;
Thou'st proven, as man too often proves,
A rover—but I love thee still!

SELECT CALE.
A SCENE IN A JURY ROOM.
A Thrilling Story.

It was a fine day, and the sun shined brightly. The jury had just returned from their deliberations, and were seated in the jury room. The foreman was speaking to the jurors.

The juror who had been absent during the trial, was now present. He was looking at the foreman with a serious expression.

The juror continued to speak, his voice was firm and confident. The foreman listened attentively.

The juror then turned to the other jurors. They all nodded their heads in agreement.

The juror spoke again, his words were clear and distinct. The foreman looked at him with interest.

The juror finished his speech, and the jury room was silent for a moment. The foreman then addressed the jury.

And this paper was found to be a part of a letter belonging to the prisoner. A letter which he had received from a friend of his (and a friend of mine) only a week before. That friend had to come forward, and swear that that piece of charged paper was a part of a letter he had written to the prisoner!

The case looked dark. Many witnesses were willing to testify to the prisoner's good qualities; but no one could swear that he was not dissipated and degraded. That house had been to him indeed, a region infernal.

Finally he was allowed to speak for himself. He said that he had threatened to burn that house down, and that he had been ready to do so. And furthermore, he was around the house on the night of the fire. He was not ten rods off the house when the flames burst forth, and he was one of the first to give the alarm.

He had uttered one cry of fire when he noticed where the flames must have originated, and the thought came to him if he were found there, he might be suspected of having set the fire, so he ran away. He also said that three nights before the conflagration, he had been robbed in that house. His pockets had been robbed of everything in them, and his pocket book, containing forty dollars in money, and some valuable papers had been taken. He had gone there on the night of the fire to try and persuade them to give him back his money and papers—or at least to get what he could.

The juror then spoke again, his words were clear and distinct. The foreman looked at him with interest.

The juror spoke again, his words were clear and distinct. The foreman looked at him with interest.

The juror spoke again, his words were clear and distinct. The foreman looked at him with interest.

The juror spoke again, his words were clear and distinct. The foreman looked at him with interest.

The Paris correspondent of the New York Express, in his last letter, writes as follows: RACHEL'S ELDEST SON.

Rachel's eldest son, a boy about 14, whose father is Chas. Walewski, is being educated at Geneva and knowing nothing of his mother's death. A friend of mine was requested to see the Minister of Foreign Affairs on this subject, and inquire from him if he did not wish to see such a bright

Many papers are literally full of Rachel only, and geographical notices from their columns. All prove superabundantly the existence of the frightfully atrocious disposition with which the illustrious tragedian has often been taxed, and the mean and intensely Jewish propensities for which the whole of the Felix family were so remarkable.

Accordingly, in the morning of the day fixed, she drove with a friend to Chateaufort, and ordered a very handsome dessert. When this was done, she got up to her feet, and in a colossal pair of slippers, went direct from the Avellins, saying, "There is what you should have in the middle." The price was asked her not to think of such a thing; but still she lingered for the pie apple, and at last said to the "Grand Duke" under her left arm and plunged his knife into the heart of the golden fruit. A shriek so terrific that it terrified every one present, burst from Rachel's lips, and she turned pale (even for her); but the fruit was raised, and Ponsard asked, "In order to give the person that he had killed, to be sure, but I have it for a few hours?" Chateaufort smiled and at last consented, as it was for Mademoiselle Rachel.

The juror spoke again, his words were clear and distinct. The foreman looked at him with interest.

The juror spoke again, his words were clear and distinct. The foreman looked at him with interest.

The juror spoke again, his words were clear and distinct. The foreman looked at him with interest.

The juror spoke again, his words were clear and distinct. The foreman looked at him with interest.

The Paris correspondent of the New York Express, in his last letter, writes as follows: RACHEL'S ELDEST SON.

Rachel's eldest son, a boy about 14, whose father is Chas. Walewski, is being educated at Geneva and knowing nothing of his mother's death. A friend of mine was requested to see the Minister of Foreign Affairs on this subject, and inquire from him if he did not wish to see such a bright

Many papers are literally full of Rachel only, and geographical notices from their columns. All prove superabundantly the existence of the frightfully atrocious disposition with which the illustrious tragedian has often been taxed, and the mean and intensely Jewish propensities for which the whole of the Felix family were so remarkable.

Accordingly, in the morning of the day fixed, she drove with a friend to Chateaufort, and ordered a very handsome dessert. When this was done, she got up to her feet, and in a colossal pair of slippers, went direct from the Avellins, saying, "There is what you should have in the middle." The price was asked her not to think of such a thing; but still she lingered for the pie apple, and at last said to the "Grand Duke" under her left arm and plunged his knife into the heart of the golden fruit. A shriek so terrific that it terrified every one present, burst from Rachel's lips, and she turned pale (even for her); but the fruit was raised, and Ponsard asked, "In order to give the person that he had killed, to be sure, but I have it for a few hours?" Chateaufort smiled and at last consented, as it was for Mademoiselle Rachel.

The juror spoke again, his words were clear and distinct. The foreman looked at him with interest.

The juror spoke again, his words were clear and distinct. The foreman looked at him with interest.

The juror spoke again, his words were clear and distinct. The foreman looked at him with interest.

The juror spoke again, his words were clear and distinct. The foreman looked at him with interest.

Poetry.

FARMER STUBBINS.
BY DEAR CLEVER.
By his broad hearthstone, one summer night,
Sat pious farmer Stubbins;
The flames shot up in wilder flight,
Ere long to such a height,
That all the room was robed in light,
Including Mr. Stubbins;
While whiling a stick at his father's right,
Sat the eldest son of Stubbins.

THE LATE MR. BARR.
The late Mr. Barr, a prominent citizen, died recently. He was a man of high standing and many friends.

THE LATE MR. BARR.
The late Mr. Barr, a prominent citizen, died recently. He was a man of high standing and many friends.

THE LATE MR. BARR.
The late Mr. Barr, a prominent citizen, died recently. He was a man of high standing and many friends.

THE LATE MR. BARR.
The late Mr. Barr, a prominent citizen, died recently. He was a man of high standing and many friends.

THE LATE MR. BARR.
The late Mr. Barr, a prominent citizen, died recently. He was a man of high standing and many friends.

THE LATE MR. BARR.
The late Mr. Barr, a prominent citizen, died recently. He was a man of high standing and many friends.

THE LATE MR. BARR.
The late Mr. Barr, a prominent citizen, died recently. He was a man of high standing and many friends.

SCIENTIFIC FACTS.
A cubic inch of Platinum weighs four-fifths of a pound. Hydrogen Gas is the lightest substance known, being 500,000 times lighter than platinum.

SCIENTIFIC FACTS.
A cubic inch of Platinum weighs four-fifths of a pound. Hydrogen Gas is the lightest substance known, being 500,000 times lighter than platinum.

SCIENTIFIC FACTS.
A cubic inch of Platinum weighs four-fifths of a pound. Hydrogen Gas is the lightest substance known, being 500,000 times lighter than platinum.

SCIENTIFIC FACTS.
A cubic inch of Platinum weighs four-fifths of a pound. Hydrogen Gas is the lightest substance known, being 500,000 times lighter than platinum.

SCIENTIFIC FACTS.
A cubic inch of Platinum weighs four-fifths of a pound. Hydrogen Gas is the lightest substance known, being 500,000 times lighter than platinum.

SCIENTIFIC FACTS.
A cubic inch of Platinum weighs four-fifths of a pound. Hydrogen Gas is the lightest substance known, being 500,000 times lighter than platinum.

SCIENTIFIC FACTS.
A cubic inch of Platinum weighs four-fifths of a pound. Hydrogen Gas is the lightest substance known, being 500,000 times lighter than platinum.

SCIENTIFIC FACTS.
A cubic inch of Platinum weighs four-fifths of a pound. Hydrogen Gas is the lightest substance known, being 500,000 times lighter than platinum.

Miscellaneous.

A Lawyer's Reminiscences of Burr.
To the Editors of the New York Evening Post:
I am a member of the New York bar; and, about twenty years ago, my practice was principally in Chancery. Col. Aaron Burr sought me out—employed me to draw pleadings and to move matters before the then Chancellor; one very object and particularly important one, was to secure in the position of the Chancellor, a man who was known as a man of high standing and many friends.

A Lawyer's Reminiscences of Burr.
To the Editors of the New York Evening Post:
I am a member of the New York bar; and, about twenty years ago, my practice was principally in Chancery. Col. Aaron Burr sought me out—employed me to draw pleadings and to move matters before the then Chancellor; one very object and particularly important one, was to secure in the position of the Chancellor, a man who was known as a man of high standing and many friends.

A Lawyer's Reminiscences of Burr.
To the Editors of the New York Evening Post:
I am a member of the New York bar; and, about twenty years ago, my practice was principally in Chancery. Col. Aaron Burr sought me out—employed me to draw pleadings and to move matters before the then Chancellor; one very object and particularly important one, was to secure in the position of the Chancellor, a man who was known as a man of high standing and many friends.

A Lawyer's Reminiscences of Burr.
To the Editors of the New York Evening Post:
I am a member of the New York bar; and, about twenty years ago, my practice was principally in Chancery. Col. Aaron Burr sought me out—employed me to draw pleadings and to move matters before the then Chancellor; one very object and particularly important one, was to secure in the position of the Chancellor, a man who was known as a man of high standing and many friends.

A Lawyer's Reminiscences of Burr.
To the Editors of the New York Evening Post:
I am a member of the New York bar; and, about twenty years ago, my practice was principally in Chancery. Col. Aaron Burr sought me out—employed me to draw pleadings and to move matters before the then Chancellor; one very object and particularly important one, was to secure in the position of the Chancellor, a man who was known as a man of high standing and many friends.

A Lawyer's Reminiscences of Burr.
To the Editors of the New York Evening Post:
I am a member of the New York bar; and, about twenty years ago, my practice was principally in Chancery. Col. Aaron Burr sought me out—employed me to draw pleadings and to move matters before the then Chancellor; one very object and particularly important one, was to secure in the position of the Chancellor, a man who was known as a man of high standing and many friends.

Recipes.

CAKE RECIPES.
If you deem the following recipes worthy of a place in your valuable paper please insert them for the benefit of those interested in domestic economy.

CAKE RECIPES.
If you deem the following recipes worthy of a place in your valuable paper please insert them for the benefit of those interested in domestic economy.

CAKE RECIPES.
If you deem the following recipes worthy of a place in your valuable paper please insert them for the benefit of those interested in domestic economy.

CAKE RECIPES.
If you deem the following recipes worthy of a place in your valuable paper please insert them for the benefit of those interested in domestic economy.

CAKE RECIPES.
If you deem the following recipes worthy of a place in your valuable paper please insert them for the benefit of those interested in domestic economy.

CAKE RECIPES.
If you deem the following recipes worthy of a place in your valuable paper please insert them for the benefit of those interested in domestic economy.