CONGRESSIONAL PROCEEDINGS.

WASHINGTON, April 27. SENATE.—The morning hour having expired, the special order, the Conference Committee Report, then came up. Mr. Crittenden took the floor. He said that the offer made by the Committee of Conference on the substitute presented is merely equivalent to a bribe of the public lands, to accept the Lecompton Constitution. He went on to say that the Conference substitute is a poor, and imperfect bill adopted by the House.

After defining his position for adhering to his amended bill adopted by the House, in preference to the Conference substitute now offered, he invited the Senate impartially, to do justice, without recrimination, and without sectional preferences. Referring to the geographical position of kentucky, he pointed out her interests as peculiarly in favor of the maintenance of the Union, and of the preservation of cordiality among all sections. He concluded with an earnest appeal to all parties and sections to respect the magnificent proportions and des-tiny of this Union, which already is recog-nized as among the great powers. But she will soon be recognized as the greatest, if we avoid sectional strife and petty causes of di-

The speech of Mr. Crittenden was listened to with attention by a crowded house. Mr. Henter, of Virginia, made an able argument, replying seriatim to Mr. Crittenden's points. To throw back the people of Kansas into a territorial condition would produce a trace of three or four years, which truce might be improved into a permanent peace, and this distracting question pass out of the Federal politics, thereby giving time to attend to the great objects, moral and political, which address themselves to our atten-

Mr. Collamer, of Vermont, took the floor and made an old-fashioned Kausas speech. Mr. Hale discussed the merits of the Conference substitute, saying that, by no possibility, could Kansas come into the Union under that substitute, except as a slave State, and the substitute offers a premium of Mr. Hale then went into severe comments on the President, saying that there exists no real equality-that President Buchanan gave away, by a single dash of his pen, an island, (Vancouver.) occupying the same important position to the Pacific that Cuba (which he wants to buy for two hundred millions,) does to the Atlantic. Our right to Vancouver was undeniable, but it is situated in a latitude where it could not be made a slave State, whereas Cuba can.

Mr. Wade, of Ohio, strongly consured the action of the committee as hamiliating to the South, and utterly repugnant to the North. ile spoke for more than an hour, using forcirms in condemnation of the Executive.

which he characterized as corrupt. Mr. Green, of Mo, replied in defence of the Executive, and said that Mr. Wade, in describing it as "corrupt," noted as the slan-derer of the Executive. He siso said that the assertion of Mr. Crittenden, that the Administration having abandoned their position by submitting Lecompton to the people, is not true.

Mr. Crittenden took exception to the emphasis with which Mr. Green used the words "not true."

Some verbal sparring enaued, in which Mr. Green likened Mr. Crittenden to a "Ken-tucky climber," a phrase which Mr. Critten-den professed himself unable to comprehend. After a few words, in which Mr. Crittenden had pulpably the best of it, Mr. Green resumed his speech, disclaiming the charge that the lands donated by the Kansus bill were in the nature of a bribe

Mr. Seward moved to adjourn. Cries of "Let's go on." Mr. Hunter, (Va.) said that he had no objection, if the debate would finish to-morrow. arrow, he would close; if not, not. But he did not admit the right of the majority to impose contracts on the debate. Mr. Iverson called for a vote on the motion to adjourn. Negatived-yous 22, nays 23. Mr. Seward then moved that the subject he postponed as a special order till to-morrow

After a protracted discussion, the Senate agreed to the motion. Adjourned.

WASHINGTON, April 29. Mr. Marshall (Ky.) then got the floor. He rose for the first time since the subject of Kansas had been introduced, to open his mouth in relation to it. The report was the original fruit of the Kansas Nebraska bill -That had the face of Janus, and this bours the impress of its origin. What a spectacle is presented to the American people, when heir representatives are engaged on measures the authors of which do not, and cannot agree on its meaning, whether or not it submits the Lecompton Constitution to the people! One of the managers, the gentleman from Georgia (Mr. Stephens) yesterday declared the principle of non-submission; while another, the gentleman from Indiana (Mr. English) maintained that the Constitution is to be submit-

Mr. English wanted to know on what authority Mr. Marshall made that statement .--He called on him to name the time and place. Mr. Marshall replied that it was an infer ence drawn from his (Mr. English's) remarks and asked him whether he unsdertood the report of the committee in the same way that Mr. Stephens did, namely—that the Constitution was not to be submitted. [Excessive

Mr. English replied, the bill was drawn up in good English, [laughter,] and he supposed that that the gentleman was competent to judge the meaning of the words of the bill. Mr. Maishall responded that if that was all the answer Mr. English had to give, he was willing it should go out to the country with the declaration that the authors of the report were divided as to its meaning. When Mr. Cox was speaking, this morning, he was reided of the old hymn-

"Why should we mount departed friends, Or shoke at death's alarms ? Tis but the voice of party sounds To bear him to ite arms."

[Excessive laughter.] Mr. Lawrence immediately responded-"While the lamp holds out to burn,

The vilest sinner may return." [Laughter] Mr. Marsball .- That may be the gentleman epitaph.

Mr. Cox-Where is the party to which you invited us? Was it the "Black Republican or the American party? Mr. Marshall replied, the American party.

Mr. Cox-The compromise, as now offered is a just one. We compromised as our fa-thers who framed the Constitution did. I made a concession, but when I see the substance I will not ron after the shadow.

Mr. Marshall, resuming said that he was not here to impuge the motives or challenge his position. He had, from the time the report of the committee came is, the matter who have the grace to refund in after years, under consideration. He sustained the re- when experience has taught them the infamy port, as the very best that could be obtained under the circumstances, but die not say that it conformed to his best judgment.

Mr. Marshall believed that this report substantially submitted the Constitution to the vote of the people of Kansas. He objected to the manner of its submission, and believed they would reject the proposition with the condition attached to it, which was degrading to the North. He said, so, help him Ged, if he was a Northern man, he would open the direct attack upon it. Ho would have the roport of the committee laid on the table, and mother committee and conference appointed, another committee a conference appointed.

THE PENNSYLVANIA SENATORS ON FRI-

Correspondence of the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin.) Washington, April 30th.-Gov. Seward made an eloquent speech this afternoon, in the Senate, and which the Telegraph has ere this carried on its, wings. A little incident, however transpired, which does not probably appear in the report.

While Seward was speaking an irruption of Representatives burst into the Senate Chamber and a good deal of talking and hand-shaking took place between them and Senators. Mr. Bigler could not contain the glad news his visitors had brought, and therefore interrupted Seward to tell him that the Conference Compromise had passed the House, Seward was not stunned by the information but went on tal he had said his say.

Uprose then Mr. Cameron and remarked that although it was well known that he, Cameron, had little of either taste or ability for speech-making, he could not but express his astonishment at his colleague's vivacity and readiness to proclaim the Lecompton triumph. A good deal of noise prevailed in the hall at the time, but your correspondent understood Mr. Cameron to say that until Bigler sat in that house, he had always professed to be free State, and it was hard to see what five millions for her to come as a slave State. had produced his conversion, especially as nine-tenths of his constituents were opposed to the course he is now pursuing. Me Pennsylvania would never have given her vote either to Buchanan or to Bigler, had she not thought they were pledged to free Kansas.

Mr. Bigler, with a heightened color in his countenance, took the floor, but the Administration men were palpably unwilling to let im speak ; and so he sat down, without further manifestation than a few inaudible words. Then came the vote and the triumphant majority of nine. The rest is history.

SINGULAR PRESERVATION OF THE BONA-

Partes.
Probably no family in all Europe has encountered as many personal dangers at that of the Bonapartes. The elder Napoleon escaped unharmed from fifty pitched battles and from dangers innumerable on other occasions. His brothers also were often in imminent peril, yet not one ever received a mortal wound. The present Napoleon has escaped several attempted assassinations. The late assault upon him remarkably resembles that upon his uncle by means of the infernal ma-The fellowing account of the event, by Hazlitt, may interest our readers:

"On the evening of October 10, 1800, Bonaparte had agreed to go to the Opera House, then in the Rue Richelien,) but afterwards, being fatigued or unwell, changed his mind, and wished to stay at home. Josephine and some others then with him, urged him to go, and came to a couch where he had fallen asleep, wakened him and told him the hour of performance was near. One (lady probably,) brought him his hat, another his sword. He was in a manner forced into his carriage. where he again full asleep, and was dreaming he said afterward of possing the Taglimento, Mr. Seward said he was debating in good | when all on a sudden he awoke amid noise and faith, and if the subject could be reached to flame ! He had passed this river in great peril. by torchlight, three or four years before | unrivalled both for the sterling exc when his carriage was set affoat by the stream and the flashes of fire, and sudden lighning up of the vehicle now, through the explosion of what appeared to be an ordinary Parisian water-court, no doubt produced the coincidence in his drenm.

"The circumstances were these : Such a cart but bearing a barrel of gunpowder, with the other impliments of destruction as described above, had been placed by two of the conspirators (Carbon and St. Regent) at the corner of the parrow Rue St Nicalse, and near the northern gate of the Tuilleries, in such a manner as to intercept the carriage. St Regent fired the match to time ; but the coachee driving fant, bassed the machine a second or two before it went off, and thus unconsciously saved his master. The explosion was terri ble. It reached the horse of the farthest body-guard, shattered the carriage windows, killed eight, and wounded twenty-eight persons (including St, Regent himself,) and damaged many houses. The report was heard for several miles round Paris. Bonaparts immediately exclamed to Larnes and Besseres who were in the coach, "We are blown up," They would have stopped it, but he chose to drive on, and arrived in safety at the opera, where the noise had been heard, and caused great agitation ; but the First Consul's calm looks reassured the audience, and the piece (Hayden's Creation) went ou."

GOVERNOR WALKERS LETTER.

Governor Walker, in his recent letter to Messers. Cox and Lawrence, said that the Conference bill, as interpreted by him, was n precise conformity with his views and course not only in Kausas, but since his return; and in following the path where his duty and his conscience bade him, he must support it. "If he adds, "the odious Le-compton Constitution, born in fraud and heptised in perjury, will be defeated by an overwhelming vote of the people of Kansas, thus demonstrating by a practical result, the truth of my interpretation that this bill does in fact submit the constitution to popular suffrage for ratification or rejection, which is all I have required. With such a bill, and such a decision of that people under, it, no formidable effort will ever be again made to withhold from the people of inchoate States a vote for or against ratification or rejection of their State Constitution, and the oligarchive doctrine of constitutional sovereignty will be abandoned."

EMBFZZI.EMESTS .- Sometime since we met in the Hartford Courant with an enecdote to the effect that a retired merchant in that city had received one hundred and fifty dollars from New York, forwarded shonymously, for the purpose of making restitution for an embezzlement committed long before. The same gentlemen, we are told, who was in business some thirty years, and who has proba-bly had in his employ more than one handred clerks, has, on several occasions, received similar enclosures; at one time as high a sum as three hundred dollars. It is gratifying to reflect that if there are many employees who are mean enough to steal, there are also some

THE GREAT CLOCK AT STRABBURG .-He made allusion to the position of the Republican party on the latter measure, when Mr. Sherman, of Ohio, said that he agreed with every sentiment that Mr. Marshall had nttered. The Republicans voted for it with their eyes open. They distinctly understood that certain gentlemen from the free States pledged their faith and honor that they only wanted a plain, honest and straight-forward the people are gone, except a few whom the sexton or head man with a wand and sword is conducting round the building. The clock has struck in this way; the dial is some 20 feet from the floor, on each side of which is a cherub, or little boy with a mallet, and over the dial is a small bell. The cherub on the left strikes the first quarter, that on the right the second courter. Some fifty feet over the the second quarter. Some fifty feet over the dial, in a large niche, is a huge figure of Time a bell lo his left a scythe in his right hand. marks, he was seized with a fainting fit, and you conducted from he Itali but he soon recovered and returned to his sent.

In front stands a figure of a young man with a mallet, who strikes the third quarter, on the bell in the hand of Titre, and then turns and glides, with a slow step, round behind. Time comes out an old man, with a mallet, and places himself in front of him.

As the hour of twelve comes, the old man on readily to perform his part, as the time comes round again. Soon as the old man has machinery is put in motion some twenty feet higher still. It is thus; there is a high cross th the image of Christ on it. The instant twelve has struck, one of the spostles walks out from behind, comes in front, turns facing the cross, bows, and walks on around to his lace. As he does so, another comes out in front, turns, bows and passes in. So twelve apostles, figures as large as life, walk round bow and pass on. As the last appears, an enermons cock, perched on the pinnacle of the clock, slowly flaps its wings, stretches forth its neck, and crows three times, so loud as to be heard outside the church to some distance, and so naturally as to be mistaken for a real cock. Then all is silent as death.— No wonder this clock is the admiration of Europe. It was made in 1571, and bas performed these mechanical wonders ever since, except about fifty years, when it stood out of

February 27, 1858 .-ANALYSIS OF LYON'S CATAWBA BRANDY BY A. A. HAYES, M. D.,

Assayer to the State of Massachusetts. GENERAL CHARACTER .- A light yellowish brown-golored spirit, having a fragrant edet; when evaporated from clean linen it left no oil or offensive matter. Analyzed for volatile and fix-ed drugs, of which no traces of any kind were found. Its color is proved to be due to a colored resin an extract defived from wood.

In every respect it is a pure spirituous liquor. The fragrance or bouquet which it possesses can be isolated, and it then appears unlike that from Cognac Brandy or Wine, being a fruity essence resulting from a peculiar fermentation of Catawba and Isabella Grapes.

CHENICAL CHARSCTER.--1,000 parts in volme of this spirit contains at 60 deg. P. 461 2. 10 parts of pure ulcohol, besides the freerant cil. 1,0 30 parts of the spirit afford 23 parts of a strong solution of the oil which characterizes this Brandy; the spirit 'eft, after rescoving the oil, is pure and odoriess, and in all its qualities a perfect spirit not subject to charge. One U. S. galion of this Brandy at 60 deg. P. contains, besides the spirit and oil, only $20 grs. of matter composed of extract of fruit, gum, and colored resin from woed. Poston, January 25, 1858, Dr. COXE, State Inspector of Ohio, and Dr. Jas. R. Chilton, Chemist, of New York, both prononnce this to be pare Brandy, and free from all'adulteration.

For Medicinal purposes Lyon's Catawba Bran dy has no rival, and has long been needed to supersede the poisonons compounds sold under the name of Brandy. As a beverage, the pure article is althgether superior, and a sovereign sure reme-He will have an Omnibus running to the dy for Dyspepsia, Flatulency, Low Spirits, Lan-guor, General Debility, &c. &c.

Also, ESHELBY'S STILL AND SPARK-LING CHAMPAGNE,—These wines are made in the rieighborhood of Cincinnati, and are guarantied to be the pure juice of the Orapy, and are smiuratly calculated for invalids' and persons who require a gentle stimulant, and for sacramental purposes.
