EDITOR :- In the very onset of this communication, a difficulty presents itself, and a fear arises as to whether I will be able to fulfill the promise made in my note of the 18th inst., viz, "to give you something important." Now as men are so differently disposed, and having their like and dislike, one hating an object which another loves, one regarding as ridiculous that which another looks upon as highly important &c., renders it a somewhat difficult matter to please the great variety of tastes of which men are possessed. To do which, I will leave to those better booked than myself, and harry on to such matters as occur to me.

Everything in and around this place smiles and looks glad. The farmer comes in with his countenance illumined with bright hopes. and awaits, with pleasing auticipations, the time when he may be able to fell the ripening | 20 days. harvest. The mechanic labors with greater case and comfort, from the fact that he finds a ready sale for his work. The merchants, all life and bastle, and with an air of satisfaction throws out his goods, as he expects in return the ready John. There is, however, here a certain class, who have a temporary residence, and who have to interest them, their various studies, their preparation for the important work of the ministry.

The "Missionary Institute" located at this place, is one which is now attracting considerable attention throughout the whole Lutheran Church, a brief history, therefore, of it may not be uninteresting to a portion at least, of your reeders. Its object is the preparing of pious men for the ministry, men who are not able to advance the great amount of money necessary to take a regular Collegiate course. Here the theological instruction is gratis, costing the student his board, clothing and books only.

This Institution has been but nine months, or thereabouts in existence, and there are now in attendance one hundred and twenty students, male and female, and still they come. Twenty six are regular theological students. The present session opened on the first Wednesday of April and closes the first Wednesday of July. The faculty is as follows: Rev. B. Kurtz, LL. D., Rev. H. Ziegler, A. M., Professors of Theology. Theo's Weaver A. B., Princi-pal of classical department, Wm. Northin, A. B., Professor of Mathematics ; Geo. P. Wea-vear and H. Dietrich, Teachers of primary ed by further concessions of Southern years old, entered a quarter section of land at the Manaska Land Office on Friday week.—
