Further Accounts-Houses Swept Away, and Forests Uprooted.

We continue to receive the most painful accounts of the terrible tornade in Western Illinois and Eastern Iowa. When the facts are all gathered up, and a full statement of them made, it will appear that no similar calamity ever has began to equal this one in actual destruction of life and property, and in all the attendant frightful circumstances. Severe as the storm was, and great as was the damage done, on the Illinois side of the Mississippi river, the storm visited with far greater violence the section of Iowa lying between Cedar Rapids and the river. extra sheet received from the press of the Mount Vernon News, Mount Vernon, Linn county, lowa, contains the following thrilling account of the tornado and its disastrous effects in that quarter. This extra sheet is dated Monday, June 4th.

About six o'clock last night a terrific wildly about the streets, it veered on its dressed as travelers. course, and swept by in full sight—sublime but fearful. At a little village or bamlet one and a half miles west, known as St. Mary's, the scene of desolation beggars description. At that point the house and shop of a Mr. Cunningham were entirely destroyed; him-self and family much injured. A few steps farther on, scarcely a vestige remained of the house and two large barns of Mr. James Burge. Two of his children, a grown up son and a small daughter, fatally burt, have since died. Mr. William Waln, brother of E. D. Waln, of this place, and a young man, by the As the blast approached, Stephen Smith, son of Josephus Smith, was seen to ride up, and spring from his horse; was afterward picked up mortally injured. A little east-ward, the house and barn of Mr. Clark Thompson were utterly demolished. His family, by running down in the cellar, escaped; for some reason he did not go with them, and so lost his life. Close by, Mr. Josephus Smith and family were much burt. but not dangerously. His house was torn down; his large barn turned partly around on. We found a hundred men standing around mute and aghast. The sufferers had been borne away, but there were other evi-dences of its fearful mission. Houses gone, utterly ganc, and nothing but blackened and smeared foundations told where they had been; trees, one and two feet in diameter, and even larger, uprooted and burled many rods, robbed of branches and foliage; carcusses of horses, cattle and swine strewed the former barnyard. One man found the blade of a shovel plow so firmly driven into a tree that he could not pull it out.

East of Lisbon, a Mr. Piper injured, two children killed. Mr. Latimer and family injured. Mr. William Andre and wife missing, probably killed; five killed in one family, named Allen.

West of the Cedar, five persons are reported killed. It is also reported that several houses were blown down, and several persons killed North of Cedar Rapids.

THE MANIA FOR DARK ROOMS .- American women have a strange mania for dark rooms, but hear what Florence Nightengale, in her 'Notes of Nursing," says on the subject :-- "A dark koose is almost an unbealthy house, always as ill-aired house, always a dirty house. Want of light stops growth, and promotes scrofula, rickets, etc., among the children. People loose their health in a dark house, and if they get ill, they cannot get well again in it.
