

Miscellaneous.

The correspondence between President Buchanan and Secretary Thompson, on the occasion of the resignation of the latter, is as follows:

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8, 1861. Sir: It is with extreme regret I have just learned that additional troops have been ordered to Charleston. This subject has been frequently discussed in Cabinet Councils; and on Monday night, Dec. 31, ult., the orders for reinforcements to Fort Sumpter were countermanded. I distinctly understood from you that no order of the kind would be made without being previously considered and decided in Cabinet. It is true that on Wednesday, Jan. 2, this subject was again discussed in Cabinet, but certainly no conclusion was reached, and the War Department was not justified in ordering reinforcements without something more than was then said. I learn, however, this morning, for the first time, that the steamer Star of the West sailed from New York last Saturday night with 250 men, under Lieut. Bartlett, bound for Fort Sumpter. Under these circumstances I feel myself bound to resign my commission, as one of your constitutional advisers, into your hands. With high respect, your obedient servant, J. THOMPSON.

His Excellency James Buchanan, President of the United States.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 9, 1861.

Sir: I have, with respect, accepted your resignation, on yesterday, of the office of Secretary of the Interior. On Monday evening, 31st December, 1860, I suspended the orders which had been issued by the War and Navy Departments, to send the Brooklyn with reinforcements to Fort Sumpter. I stated to you my reason for this suspension, which you know, from its nature, would be speedily removed. In consequence of your request, however, I promised that these orders should not be renewed "without being previously considered and decided in Cabinet." This promise was faithfully observed on my part. In order to carry it into effect, I called a special Cabinet meeting on Wednesday, 23 January, 1861, in which the question of sending reinforcements to Fort Sumpter was amply discussed both by yourself and others. The decided majority of opinion was against you. At this moment the answer of the South Carolina "Commissioners" to my communication to them of 21st December was received and read. It produced much indignation among the members of the Cabinet. After a further conversation I employed the following language: "It is now all over, and reinforcements must be sent." Judge Black said that he had no objection to this, but that after this letter the Cabinet would be unanimous, and I heard no dissenting voice. Indeed, the spirit and tone of the letter left no doubt on my mind that Fort Sumpter would be immediately attacked, and hence the necessity of sending reinforcements there without delay.

While you admit "that on Wednesday, Jan. 2, this subject was again discussed in Cabinet," you say, "but certainly no conclusion was reached, and the War Department was not justified in sending reinforcements without something more than was then said." You are certainly mistaken in alleging that "no conclusion was reached." In this your recollection was entirely different from that of your four colleagues in the Cabinet. Indeed, my language was so unmistakable that the Secretaries of War and the Navy proceeded to act upon it without any further interference with myself than what you heard, or might have heard me say. You had been so emphatic in opposing these reinforcements that I thought you would resign in consequence of my decision. I deeply regret that you have been disappointed in point of fact, though I firmly believe honestly mistaken. Still it is certain that you have not the least been mistaken. Yours, very respectfully, JAMES BUCHANAN. Hon. JACOB THOMPSON.

STARTLING RUMOR.—We extract the following communication from the columns of the New York Tribune of yesterday: "I have reliable secret and confidential information that there is a practical expedition in contemplation among some reckless and desperate men to mingle in this way, and to a vile portion of this city to forcibly seize the California steamers with their immense treasure in case of bloodshed at Charleston. A schooner has been already chartered at New Orleans to take these pirates clandestinely to the isthmus, where they will wait till the treasure is aboard the steamer, and then seize the vessel under the Palmetto flag and under the authority of the South Carolina government. It is reported to seize two vessels or steamers in this way, and to tow them into the Charleston harbor, where the plunder will be distributed among the revolutionary mob. This is no humbug—it is true; and were I at liberty, and if it would not perit the life of my informant, would frankly and fearlessly have become possessed of this information. It would be a sad thing for the merchants of San Francisco!"

DEATH OF AN OLD LADY.—In Boston, on Thursday afternoon, Miss MARY P. TOWNSEND, a daughter of Dr. Townsend, died at her residence in Hawkins street, where she was born, and had lived for sixty-five years. She was reported to be worth $100,000, yet she was never known to mingle in society or to receive any of her relatives at her house since the death of her sister, who also preferred a single life to a married one. The only attendant which was permitted in the house was a woman. Since the death of the doctor the carriage house had remained closed, with the carriage and harness just as he left them, and no one was allowed to enter it. When Miss Townsend was first taken ill she was advised to consult a physician, but she refused, and continued elaborate to the last. Neither would she allow a single person in her room while sick and dying, excepting her female servant. Like her sister she is supposed to have left all her wealth for charitable purposes.

A NEW STIMULANT.—Among European novelties, it seems that a new stimulant has appeared, which, if the accounts received of it are true, promises to contest the precedence with opium and tobacco. It is the dried leaf of the erytharthon coccin, a Peruvian plant, which, when chewed in small quantities, gives rise to a gentle nervous excitement, acting at the same time (it is claimed) as an aid to digestion. The dose required to produce this effect is from four to six grains. Its power to increase the heart's action is said to be twice as great as coffee, and four times that of tea. Under its influence a student of Milan testified that he was enabled to study forty hours without cessation, and continued afterwards feeling any convenience from the experiment. In South America it is largely used by the natives, who sometimes assist upon it for days, with no other food. When taken carelessly, in unusual quantities, it causes fever and delirium.

PHILADELPHIA, Thursday, Jan. 10, 1861. The high price of coal obtained at Charleston has induced persons of this city to attempt sending a ship load there, but ship owners refuse to take it, though $5 a ton freight is offered. The Mentor Iron Works have commenced operations again. The company having secured a pretty large contract, the employees went to work again, without being obliged to submit to a reduction of wages. This much suffering has doubtless been averted.

PIANO-FORTE MANUFACTURE.

Mr. Meyer, being one of our "long established" business men, his history need not be particularly dwelt upon. He has been engaged in business since the year 1824, and commencing on a comparatively small scale has risen. His old location was Fourth street near Chesnut; his present, 722 Arch street, and 536 540, (new numbers) North Third street.

The piano of this establishment are characterized by their volume, sweet tone, and elastic, durable action. These merits all good musicians will appreciate. Mr. Meyer, though he has not been as extensively employed as some other discoverers, is nevertheless the inventor of several most valuable and generally adopted improvements in pianos. In the year 1832 he introduced the Iron Plate Frame. This is chiefly adapted to warm or damp latitudes, keeping the instrument at concert pitch, and preventing warping. He is also the inventor of the Reversed Top Piano Forte. By this invention the position of the top can be varied, and suited to the wishes of the singer or performer; the back only is raised—the musician facing the front, and the audience the back. This is the first time that the top of the piano has been raised, and the instrument is so arranged that if it is wished to throw the sound through the room, by raising the top in front, first letting the silver hock fall into the space near the hinge, and then raising the back, the end can be perfectly attained.

Mr. Meyer's last, and, perhaps, best improvement, has been perfected within the last two months. He has invented a new scale; or, in other words, a new division of the strings, and an improved construction of the sounding board. This arrangement gives a fuller, sweeter, and more powerful tone than has heretofore been attained. The new scale has been the first journal to notice this improvement, which we appreciate on the testimony of good musical critics, is destined to ultimately cause a secession, (to use a new popular phrase), from the "old paths" of piano forte manufacture. Mr. Meyer has received numerous tangible as well as flattering testimonials of the excellence of his instruments. Among these we may enumerate eight premiums from the Franklin Institute, and various premiums from various Societies at Boston and elsewhere. In 1857 and 1858, a prize medal of the World's Fair, London, in 1851. The piano sent on to this last exhibition were not "got up" for the occasion, but were only average instruments—such as are daily sold at Mr. Meyer's warehouses. Yet the Royal Survey on Musical Instruments, comprising men like Bishop, Thalberg and Herzog, awarded them the highest testimonials in their power. And the "London Exposition" in the well known "Talis" History and Directory of the Crystal Palace (Highly Esteemed authority) both the piano and organ, in terms alike flattering to the maker and honorable to Philadelphia.—Phila. News.

A BEAUTIFUL POEM.—A friend has sent us for re-publication, the following poetic gem, contained in a copy of the "Times," in which it originally appeared, published in this place in 1814, or during the second war of Independence. Its talented author, the late EDWIN CHAPMAN of this place, is yet remembered by many of our citizens as an accomplished scholar. This beautiful poem, so well adapted to the present times, will be readily recognized by a number of the early friends and associates of the author:

FOR THE TIMES. [A friend has furnished us with the following lines, the production of his leisure moments, for which he will be pleased to accept the acknowledgments of the printer, who will at all times be gratified in having an opportunity of laying his productions before the readers of the Times.]

COLUMBIA. Columbia's shores are wild and wide, Columbia's hills are high; And roundly planted side by side, And roundly meet the eye. But narrow must those shores be made, And low Columbia's hills; And low her ancient forests laid, Ere Freedom leaves her fields; For 'tis the land, where, rude and wild, She plays her gambols when a child. And deep and wide her streams that flow In her fratricidal tide; And thick and green the laurels grow On every river's side. But should a transatlantic host Pulver her waters laid, We'll meet them on the rocky coast, A gatherer laurels there. For O! Columbia's sons are brave, And free as Ocean's wildest wave. The gales that wave her mountain pine, Are fragrant and serene; And never clearer sun did shine, Than lights her valleys green, But patriots must in glory die, That sun must set in gore. Ere footsteps of a foreign foe Infringe Columbia's shore; For O! her warriors leave and free, Their breasts beat high with liberty. For arming boldest cuirassier, We're mines of sterling worth; For sword and buckler, spear and spear, Embowled in the earth. But ere Columbia's sons resign The boon their fathers won Shall glitter in the sun; For bright the blade, and sharp the spear, Which Freedom's host to battle bear.

Let Britain boast the deeds she's done; Display her trophies bright; And count her laurels bravely won, In well contested fight. Columbia can a band array, Will wrest that laurel wreath; With true eye and stouter hand, Will strike the blow of death; For whether on the land or sea, Columbia's fight is victory.

Let France in blood through Europe wade, In civil discord draw the blade, And spill her children's blood. Too dear that skill in arms is bought, Where kindred life blood flows, Columbia's sons are only taught To triumph or to die. And then to comfort soothe and save, The feelings of the conquered brave. Then let Columbia's eagle soar, And bear her banner high; The thunder from her dexter pour, And lightning from her eye. And when she sees, from realms above, The storm of war is spent; Descending, like the welcome dove, The olive branch present; And then will beauty's hand divine The never fading wreath entwine. LOOK HERE!!

Every Man and Woman should Look to their own interests!!

A WORD TO YOU.

WE must all wear some kind of BOOTS AND SHOES—then you should look around and see where the cheapest, best and largest assortment can be found to select from, and whether the person, who selected them is competent to make a good selection. I will say that my stock has been selected by one who has had practical experience in the business for about thirty years. I will also add that I can sell, and will sell, cheaper than you can buy at retail in the city of Philadelphia—because my retail and living is not one half as much as there—and I can buy as cheap as they can.

As to the mode of doing business in the country, it is only necessary to say, it is generally done, as you all know, on a long credit, and I say to you all—if you do business in this way—you must let me say if you buy your Boots and Shoes at a credit store, you are bound to help pay for Shoes bought by those who do not pay. The man who does not pay, must buy his Boots and Shoes at a credit counter, and if you buy at the same counter you must help to pay all the losses made at that counter.

Thus you will see that the Boots and Shoes bought at my counter must be paid for at the time they are bought—

In Cash or Country Produce, so that every man, woman and child shall have their Boots and Shoes at a LOW PRICE, and there is nothing to be paid for losses and interest. It is impossible to give you a list of all my prices, as I have so many different kinds of Boots and Shoes, for men, women and children, of ALL SIZES & KINDS, Coarse and Fine, Heavy and Light, and also OVERSHOES of all kinds; and also—CARPET BAGS, VALISES, AND TRUNKS of all kinds, at different prices. Mens' Gaiters, from $1.25 to $4.00. " Boots, " 2.25 to 6.00. " Shoes, " $7.10 to 2.25. Ladies' Gaiters, from 60 to 2.87. " Slippers, from 60 to 1.25. " Kid French and Mens' Morocco, and gain and calf skin at different prices, from 90 cts. to $1.87. Boys' Shoes, from 95 cts. to $2.87. Mens' Shoes from 68 cts. to $1.50. Boys' Shoes from 75 cts. to $1.50. Children's Shoes from 20 to 47 cts. Ladies and Gentlemen of Sunbury, not forgetting to include with you a large portion of Northumberland, Snyder and Union counties, you all have my sincere thanks for the patronage I have received from you for the few weeks that I have been doing business in Sunbury. (Remember the place, Market Street, next door to the Post Office.) I describe it thus, that your friends may not make a mistake, where those friends are to be found. I will also say that there can be no trade also in the County. I say give yourself no trouble about any of them within fifty miles of this place. As I am determined and intend to back them up by receiving their bills at par at my counter, so be it troubled, the banks are good, and my Boots and Shoes are good, they are all made for the good of man to use, and not to be abused.
