BEAUFORT, N. C., April 27, 1862. On Wednesday, the 24th inst., all was completed and ready for the action to commence. On that day Gen. Burnside arrived from Newbern on the steamer Alice Price, having in tow two barges, the Shrapnel and Grenade, fitted up as floating batteries, and and the Shrapnel had in addition a twelvepounder steel rifled Wiard gun. These anchored about three miles below the fort .-That afternoon a flag of truce was sent out with a final demand from Gen, Burnside for the surrender of the fort, which was the next morning refused. Everything was now in condition for the commencement of the action, but it was finally concluded not to open fire until the next morning. At ten minutes before 6 A.
