

THE NAVAL OPERATIONS AT NEW ORLEANS.
The more we learn of the operations of our fleet at New Orleans, the greater is our admiration of the skill, indomitable perseverance, enthusiastic zeal, and undaunted bravery, which was displayed by our gallant Navy, for it now appears that the entire work of the capture was performed by the Navy—the army only being able to land and occupy after the gallant fleet had caused the flag to disappear, and the "old flag" to be displayed in the forts and city.
We think that Congress could not go amiss in creating a higher grade than is now provided for in the Navy, and we have no doubt the loyal people of the whole country would with one voice elect a fleet admiral, who should have the skillful conduct displayed by Commodore Foote, Dupont, Farragut and Porter, entitle them to the highest rank which would thus be created.
A correspondent of the New York Herald says:
"At five o'clock the French war steamer Milan came up the river. He congratulated us, to use his own words: 'On our pleasant yet perilous passage up to the great city.' Said the commander, 'It is the greatest achievement of the age and its history.'
In this connection, we would present the following brief sketch of the naval hero of New Orleans, which we copy from the Louisville Journal:
"Flag Officer David Farragut, now in command of our fleet at New Orleans, is a native of that city, and about sixty years of age. In childhood he was adopted by the late Commodore David Porter, receiving his baptismal name, and is thus the brother adoptive of Capt. J. D. Porter, of the Essex, in our flotilla, and Lieut. Porter, in command of the mortar fleet at the mouth of the Mississippi. Though only twenty-two years of age, he was on the Essex at Valparaiso in 1814, in that most gallant naval fight, and was specially commended to the Department for his brave deportment. An anecdote told of him, though trifling, indicates character.—After the surrender, a pig which he claimed was carried off by a midshipman of the British frigate Phebe. Young Farragut appealed to the British Captain for restoration, and received for reply that he could do nothing about it, but that he might go and whip the midshipman. 'Is that all?' said the admiral, acting on the leave given, instantly whipped the aggressor and carried off his pig."
"He has been almost constantly in active service. During the years 1821-22-23-24, he was employed in cruising against pirates in the Caribbean seas, and distinguished himself by most efficient service and gallantry. He was for some time in command of the Brooklyn at the Vera Cruz station, at the time of the admission of Mr. Melton to Mexico. He was twice married, in Norfolk, Virginia, and is the owner of a large property on that rich city. But before the war, and to avoid entanglement, he removed his family from Norfolk to a cottage on the Hudson, whence he was called to active duty in putting down the rebellion. He is a most accomplished officer, versed in every point of his profession, and most energetic in all naval duties. He speaks with fluency five or six modern languages, and sails as he is, is a gentleman of the scholarly taste and acquirements."

Gen. Heintzelman, who did such splendid fighting at Williamsburg, is said to be a native of Manheim, Lancaster county.

THE PEACH BORER.
The directions of your correspondent in regard to the destruction of the "Peach Borer," although quite explicit, would hardly be practicable in a large orchard. In taking the "borer" from our peach trees, we first move the dirt immediately around the body of the tree to the depth of two or three inches, then with a sharp and pointed knife remove all appearances of "borer" from the bark, we then cut out all the dead parts of the bark, following the incision made by the "borer" until you find him when he is summarily disposed of by cutting into two parts.
Thus we proceed over a large orchard.—Now is the time to remove this enemy of the peach tree. The dirt should be replaced at this season, but should be removed again in the fall, that the "borer" in his infantile state may have the full benefit of the frosts of the winter. These operations will destroy a great many of them.—Germanstown, Pa.

When the "borers" are not easily removed, we have effectually destroyed them with boiling water poured around the body of the tree.
"OLD DRAINS" is the significant but somewhat picturesque title bestowed upon Gen. Black by his troops.

HAVE YOU A COUGH!
Then use JAYNE'S EXPECTORANT. Do not allow colds to take their course. Two thirds of the winter consumption are the result of the fatal mistake of "waiting for a cough to get well of itself." Do not fall into this error, but avail yourself at once of a remedy which thirty years' experience has demonstrated is certain to procure a speedy cure.

HAVE YOU ASTHMA OR PHTHISIS.
Then use JAYNE'S EXPECTORANT, which will overcome the spasmic contraction of the wind tubes, and cause them to exert the mucous matter which clogs them up, and by an easy and free expectoration remove all difficulty of breathing.

HAVE YOU BRONCHITIS!
Then use JAYNE'S EXPECTORANT. This widespread disease which generally is described as an inflammation of the fine skin which lines the inside of the wind tubes or air vessels, spreading through every part of the lungs, is often taken for consumption. The Expectorant obtains this inflammation, relieve the attending congestion, and, by its cooling and soothing effect, and by its power to loosen and expel the phlegm, will certainly produce a cure.

HAVE YOU CONSUMPTION?
Then use JAYNE'S EXPECTORANT. It cleanses the lungs from all irritating matters, while at the same time it feeds and invigorates them. Of all the remedies for this fatal disease, there is none so certain, so universal a popularity as this Expectorant. Thousands who have been given up by their physicians as incurable have been restored to perfect health by its use, and their testimony must carry conviction to all who read it.

HAVE YOU PLEURISY?
Then use JAYNE'S EXPECTORANT. By taking two or three large doses in the early stage of the disease in quick succession, and covering up warmly in bed, this preparation sets up a sudorific or medicinal action, and induces the inflammation at the outset.

HAVE YOU WHOOPING-COUGH.
Then use JAYNE'S EXPECTORANT. There is no remedy so effectively overcomes this disease as the Expectorant. What parent can witness the sufferings of his children from this distressing complaint without doing all in his power for their relief? What medicine so responsive to the wishes of parents to procure immediate benefit? Give it a trial, and let it prove its efficacy.

HAVE YOU CROUP?
Then use JAYNE'S EXPECTORANT. Children are so liable to this disease when cold in their throats, or in the absence of prompt relief, none more fatal in its results than Croup. Parents, therefore, should have at hand a remedy which will not only keep a supply by hand, but will also cure the disease when it breaks out.

JAYNE'S EXPECTORANT.
It is standard medicine. For thirty years it has been known to the public, and during that period its curative powers have been testified to by all classes of people in all quarters of the world. Physicians, clergymen, lawyers, merchants, and mechanics have expressed their medical effects, and have furnished us with their testimony, and it may be found at length in our Almanac, to be had gratis of all agents. To their certificates we would refer the doubting. The Expectorant and all Dr. J. C. JAYNE & SON'S FAMILY MEDICINES are sold by all Druggists. May 17, 1862—3 m.
