EDITORIAL CORRESPONDENCE.

PHILADELPHIA, April 6, 1864.

Notwithstanding the high prices which everything commands, trade and business is in a flourishing, not to say a prosperous condition. People will buy at any price, and eventually grow accustomed to even exorbitant charges, as experience evinces where those who complain on account of this state of affairs, should reflect that no government on earth has so well sustained itself as our own, under such enormous pressure, and no other could. The present times will stimulate capitalists, and induce them to invest in enterprises, that must eventually prove of immense interest to this country. The iron business is one branch that is absorbing an immense amount of capital, and with that is involved the great coal interests of our State.

The New Yorkers are, at present, exciting considerable interest with their great "Sanitary Fair." They never do anything in a small way, and are never satisfied with being second best. The late Brooklyn Fair yielded over $400,000. But the New Yorkers promise to make theirs yield one and a half million. This money will all be spent for the benefit and comfort of the sick and disabled soldiers—a noble charity for a most noble cause. Philadelphia is preparing for the great fair, for a similar purpose, to be held in June; and they say it will be one of the best, if not the very best. It will, no doubt, be an effort worthy of the great city of "brotherly love," but New York is a formidable competitor, and hard to beat.

There is also a great rivalry in railway matters between New York and Philadelphia. The former are extending their lines into the very heart of our State, for the purpose of tapping our coal regions. It will not be long before we will have an air-line railroad from Sunbury to New York, by connecting the Shamokin Valley road with the Quakake, and through Mauch Chunk and Easton to New York. The distance from Mt. Carmel to the Quakake on the Catawissa line, is about 18 miles. The Reading railroad is also building a line, almost side by side, to counteract the efforts of the Lehigh company, or New York interest. These roads will be of great importance to our section of the State, and will, no doubt, be well patronized by trade and travel.

THE RE-INTERMENT OF THE DEAD AT GETTYSBURG.—All the bodies of the Union soldiers have now been disinterred from the pits and trenches at Gettysburg, Pa., where they were hastily thrown after the battle, and carefully buried in their appropriate places in the cemetery. The total number of bodies thus removed and entombed is 3513. Nearly a fourth of the whole number of the slain, it is stated, belong to the State of New York. Quite an amount of money, in small sums, ranging from the fractional part of a dollar up to fifty dollars, was found upon these bodies by those who disinterred them. Thirty-six dollars in gold were found in the pocket of one, and thirty to forty dollars, paper and gold, in the garments of others, besides many relics, mementoes, &c. All this money and these relics have been taken care of by the committee, properly labelled, and held in safe keeping for the relatives, should they ever be discovered. An elegant hunting case gold watch and five or six silver watches were also found upon different bodies.

Mr. John Fritz, Superintendent of the Bethlehem Rolling Mill and Furnace, received a call from the government, about ten days ago, to proceed at once to Chattanooga, Tennessee, to erect a Government Rolling Mill at that place. The Government has about 11,000 tons of old railroad rails at that place, which are to be re-rolled. The Government has also taken possession of the massive machinery in Philadelphia designed for the Bethlehem Mill, which is also to be transferred to Chattanooga.

END OF A MURDER TRIAL.—James Moore, who was tried in the Criminal Court of California county, for the murder of Jordan Marbourg, on the 12th of February last, was brought in guilty of murder in the second degree. The case was concluded on the 17th ult., after having been ten days on trial. He has been sentenced six years in the Penitentiary. It will be remembered that Moore was a soldier, and that during his absence in the army, a criminal intimacy was formed between his wife and Marbourg. Stung with jealousy and shame, Moore shot Marbourg to avenge his wrongs.

The "Beast" Rev. H. S. Stawell, is to work for three months at cleaning the streets. Gen. Lee has no floor in his tent, never drinks, never swears, and is reported to be a very much beloved old rebel indeed.

The above is from a neighboring copperhead paper. That the publisher is not only a copperhead, but a traitor at heart, is apparent. Not a word of reproach have these fellows even for such out-throat rascals as Morgan and Mosely. As for the clergy, they hate and denounce all who are not rebels. This Rev. Mr. Stawell is not only a traitor, but a perjurer one who professed loyalty to cover his acts of treason and deserved hanging.

DEATH OF THE LIBRARIAN OF THE STATE SENATE.—We regret to announce this morning, the death of Capt. William P. Douglass, for many years the Librarian of the State Senate. The deceased had a few days since, injured one of his hands, which resulted in an attack of the erysipelas, terminating in his death. This announcement will remain a white spot on the memory of the Librarian of the Senate for many years.

We have no means of giving the age of the deceased. A soldier of the war of 1812, he had of course reached an age at which he had of course passed, and yet, had the old man met with the accident referred to, he might have lived for many years. He was, we believe, a citizen of Middle county, to which his remains are to be removed.

Progress in Maryland.

An important election, involving the great question of emancipation in a direct form, will shortly take place in our neighbor State of Maryland. This fact alone shows the rapid progress which public sentiment has made during the war; but we shall not be surprised if the coming election will permanently decide the growing issue in that State in favor of human liberty. We remark that the great intelligent mass of our non-slaveholders—young Maryland, in other words, under leader of Henry Winter Davis—are radically against the continuation of slavery; but the number of slaveholders who take side with the new sentiment is also remarkable. The Grand Council of the Union Leagues of Maryland has issued an address to all the Councils of the State, which advocates a system of immediate and general emancipation which will place Maryland at once and forever in the category of free States. This is significant of the spirit of a people whose loyalty is earnest and not less significant; and the reassertion of the following resolutions by the Union League has an emphasis which is inspiring:

"Resolved, That the origin and progress of the rebellion leave no room to doubt that the institution of slavery has become an instrument in the hands of traitors to build up an oligarchy and an aristocracy on the ruins of Republican liberty; that its continued existence is incompatible with the maintenance of Republican forms of government in the United States; that the emancipation of all men, white or black, is to be made law by Congress, and, in fact, by all the power placed by Congress in the hands of the President; that traitors have no right to enforce the obedience of slaves; and that, against traitors in arms, the President should use all men, white or black, in such way as they can be most useful, and to the extent to which they can be used, whether it be to handle a spade or shoulder a musket."

"Resolved, That the safety and interest of the State of Maryland, and especially of her white laboring people, require that slavery should cease to be recognized by the law of Maryland."

"Resolved, That the safety and interest of the State of Maryland, and especially of her white laboring people, require that slavery should cease to be recognized by the law of Maryland."

COPPERHEAD LOYALTY AND DECEIT.—The following is a part of a low and vulgar article, entitled the "Lincoln Catechism," which we find in the copperhead papers. One can readily imagine the character and calibre of the readers and patrons of papers, who are made to believe that to be a good democrat, a man must be both a fool and a blackguard. Such only can appreciate such vile trash:

What is the Constitution?
A compact with hell—now obsolete. By whom had the Constitution been made obsolete?
By Abraham Africans the First.

The Copperhead Riot in Illinois.

THE Chicago Tribune has some fuller particulars of the Copperhead riot in Coles county, Ill. A letter to that paper, dated at Mattson on the 28th of March, says:

"Yesterday, about 70 or 100 Copperheads, the most desperate characters in this and a few adjoining counties, assembled at Charleston, where the Circuit Court was in session. A few officers and soldiers of the 54th Illinois, veterans, were there on a furlough."

"At a little after 3 o'clock p. m., while Court was quietly in session, a man named Wells suddenly fired on a soldier in the court-yard. As though this was a preconcerted signal, the Copperheads of the Court House and yard opened a general fire on Union men and soldiers with revolvers, making a rush at the same time to a wagon where they had guns concealed, and firing with these as fast as they could get them."

"The few soldiers present, being taken entirely by surprise, fought manfully with their pistols, and soon the dead and wounded were scattered around the public square. The soldiers and Union citizens ran for guns as soon as possible, but as they returned the rebels were in full retreat, the whole affair thus far having occupied but a short time."

"Col. Mitchell of the 54th Illinois was without his revolver when it commenced. While attempting to take a pistol from a man, he was shot by another man, the ball striking his heavy gold watch and inflicting a slight wound. Another man put a pistol to his back, and would have killed him had it not snapped. Still another man was just about firing a fatal shot at him, when a soldier knocked him down with a brickbat."

"The Colonel was killed among the more. Major Shubal W. Surgen, of the 54th, was shot dead while gallantly defending himself."

"Within an hour from the beginning of the affair, Lieut. Col. Chapman, with a portion of the 54th, about 350 men, arrived from Mattson, 23 miles distant, and squads were sent out after the retreating Copperheads. About 35 of the raiders were arrested during the evening and night, and are now here in custody."

THEY cut the telegraph post of Charleston and retreated. They met a soldier—Levi Freiser, Co. C, 54th—who they took prisoner at the command of John S. O'Hair, Sheriff of Coles county, who was at their head."

Enthusiasm of New Converts.

IT is scarcely necessary to mention a fact that would not have escaped the notice of even the least observing; to wit: that new converts are always the most enthusiastic of disciples; and certainly words need not be wasted in proving a proposition about which there can be no dispute; and in view of this, it is not surprising that, just at this moment, the Copperheads have thrown their whole soul into the cause of free speech."

"The more hardened the snorer, the more intense his devotion to the cause of righteousness, the moment he is converted from the error of his ways, and permitted to see the light."

"Copperheads, and devotees of slavery, have hitherto been awful snorers, the chief among ten thousand; though not "altogether lovely," in their dealings with men who differed from them in their political views. We recollect not many years since, that an Indiana man was arrested and imprisoned in Columbia, South Carolina, merely because of making inquiries relative to the population and resources of the various counties, and because he had in his possession a document written to exhibit the injustice of the system of representation in the South Carolina Legislature. He explained to the clergy that he was merely collecting material for a Gazetteer, but they suspected him of hostility to their "institution" and imprisoned him, and other were treated him so harshly, that he lived but a few months after his release."

"We might fill a volume with such instances; but we have only room for a few of the principal ones. Without our memory—and also that of most of our readers—we recollect Kansas, where, on several occasions, overran by bands of ruffians; her citizens driven from the polls and minions of the mob placed in office; yet neither the Senator in question, nor any who are now active in opposing the Copperhead party, were generally rejoiced at the successful overthrow of the elective franchise in that distracted territory. If Senator Powell's feelings were harrowed by these outrages, he managed to overcome them, and kept silent."

AGAIN: How frequently have Cassius M. Clay and his friends, been mobbed in Kentucky and yet when did Lazarus Powell raise his voice in behalf of these persecuted opponents of slavery? When did any of the freedom of speech and the press? Suppose in 1856, a citizen of Mr. Powell's own town had offered to vote for Fremont, does any one believe he would have been allowed to do so? We believe Mr. Powell had stepped forth upon the champion of free speech, and discriminating public can readily answer these interrogatories."

"The conversion of the Copperheads, and their devotion to free speech, a free press, and a free ballot, is remarkable; but what is even more remarkable, is the fact that it is the same individuals who, when insulted or discriminated, or when spies were convicted and sentenced. With all their devotions to liberty, we have never heard them utter a protest against the silencing of Union men in the South, or against the systematic persecution of those who are termed rebels, or subjects. Have you tears only for traitors, gentlemen.—Nashville Union."

Division of the Mississippi.

LOUISVILLE, April 3.
The military authorities here have no apprehensions for the present for the Kentucky portion of the Mississippi river. A special despatch from Huntsville to the Journal says that parties of guerrillas, on Thursday night, robbed several houses sixteen miles below that place, and stole a number of horses."

"General Anderson and Logan drove them to the Tennessee river on Friday, but could see no rebels on the opposite bank."

"The Nashville Times mentions the capture, on Thursday, of the notorious guerrilla Sam Moore, who has committed depredations on the banks of the Mississippi, and Desatur for months past."

"The passenger train from Nashville to Louisville is several hours behind time, having been detained in consequence of a freight train running off the track at Munfordsville this morning."

"Ten officers and one hundred privates, belonging to Colonel Hawkins 7th Tennessee Cavalry, who were captured by Forrest lately at Union City, have made their escape, and in part reported to headquarters. They say their comrades are daily fleeing from rebel raid, and it is probable that many of them will finally get home."

"Lieutenant Bradford, who escaped from the Liberty prison, with Colonel Straight, was among the lucky ones, as well as a son of Colonel Hawkins, and Lieutenants Morgan and Gray."

"Several hundred rebels of Faulkner's command occupy Hickman during the day time, returning in the evening. They have thus far made no demonstration."

"An expedition of 1,500 men, composed of a rebel raid into Kentucky still exist, notwithstanding the assurances of the military authorities. Forrest, Faulkner, and McCullough, with 10,000 mounted men, are in the western part of the State, and an equal force is being prepared for a raid between those two points."

M. Deasmer, the inventor of the process of converting iron quickly into steel, now says he can produce a block of it, twenty tons in weight, from first cast iron in twenty minutes."

It appears the Archduke Maximilian is a great spendthrift, he has been assisted by his brother many times to a great extent, and that the Mexican speculation is mainly entered upon to fill his Dukeship's empty pockets."

The latest style of hoop-skirt is the self-adjusting, double-back action, bust-ectrusion, face expansion, Piccolomini attachment, gossamer, indestructible polioetorium. It is said to be a very charming thing."

An ingenious pocket map, made of two pieces of paper thirteen inches by five, has been contrived by M. Carrington, of London. These by being folded in a peculiar way give at pleasure a complete map of the world and of the heavens."

A general Congress of Freemasons from all nations is shortly to be assembled at Leipzig."

"The Peoria Illinois Transcript, says: 'Over in Iowa, in the city of Muscatine, lives Percy Vallandigham, a nephew of the martyr, Oliver, who is married and lives with a French black as a Guinea native. A brother of the first named Vallandigham lives on this side of the river opposite Muscatine. He, too, is married to a negro.'

A new style of shell, invented by Capt. Wm. S. Williams, of Ohio, has recently been successfully experimented with at Muskogee, in a 20 pound Parrot gun. One shell, weighing twenty pounds, was by his means of explosion, broken into one hundred and twenty seven pieces, which surpassed any of a similar kind now in use."

LOYALTY IN ARKANSAS.—ALBERT PIKE TENDERS ALLEGIANCE.—Official notices received from Arkansas state that there is a steady return here of citizens to their allegiance. Many prominent rebel officials being among the number. General Albert Pike has, it is averred, made overtures for an amnesty."
