LO CONVENTION OF GOOD TEMPLANS. -The lodges of Good Templars located in the counties of Union, Snyder, Northumberland, Montour and Columbia, met in convention at Bloomsburg on Wednesday evening, Nov. 7th. The convention was called to order by the W. C. T., Rev. N W. Colhurn of Mifflinburg, when Rev. M. Rhodes, of Sunbury, opened it with prayer.

Delegates from the ten lodges in the District presented their credentials, and were duly received as members of the convention. The attendance of visitors was large, and on motion all the members of the order were admitted as advisory members.

An election for officers of the convention resulted as follows : W. C. T., Rev. M. Rhodes, of Sunbury ; W. V. T., Miss Maggie Appleman, of Bloomsburg; W. S., Geo. W. Hackett, of Lewisburg. The convention adjourned to meet in Selinsgrove on the evening of the 1st of May, 1567.

SWINDLING IN UNION COUNTY .- The Mifflinburg Telegraph mentions a number of cases of swindling effected by bogus agents traveling through that region. Among others, it says : A party came along, pretending to be agents for a New York dry goods firm that was compelled to raise a large amount of money in a short time, and in order to do this they were selling goods at a very low figure, beaver cloth for $1.00 per yard, Brussels carpet at 50 cents, muslin and calico at 8 and 10 cents, &c. A good many persons purchased of them, but were considerably taken down when, on taking some of them o the tailors they were told that the goods were not sorth making up.

The boldest rascals of all were a couple of men sho were selling the right of a patent hay-fork. 'hey succeeded in persuading several of our citizen > purchase the right of Union and Snyder counties, obiled up one thousand dollars, and then left, no oubt to try their game at some other place. The apers they gave in regard to the right are said to a forgerics.

In the first place it is com sed of three sections of chilled iron, bolted to ther. forming an immense itop safe, weighing tteen tons, and over and around this is built a mive wall of stone and brick masonry, about five t thick. The spproach to the inner sanctum, ich will contain the money and most valuable urities, is through four massive chilled iron doors, b secured with one of Hobb's celebrated combina 1 locks.
