

CONGRESS. The Senate, February 6th, Mr. Buckalew introduced a bill fixing the time for choosing electors for President and Vice President of the United States.

CONGRESS. The House passed some important bills during the past week. The bill to establish a Provisional Government in Louisiana, and provide for the re-organization of the State on the basis of loyalty and impartial suffrage, is a very important measure.

CONGRESS. The House passed and went to the House for concurrence in amendments. The Tariff bill is still in committee, as is also the Loan bill.

CONGRESS. The project of an air line railroad between Washington and New York is again before Congress. Among the incorporators are Simon Cameron, John W. Forney, and Morton McMichael.

CONGRESS. Gen. B. F. Butler, in a published card, denies that he has brought suit for libel against Mr. Pomeroy, the editor of the La Crosse Democrat.

CONGRESS. Pomroy published a forged letter, purporting to be from Gen. Butler to himself, offering to withdraw his suit and then publishing a reply abusive of Gen. Butler. This story is republished in the Democratic papers as if true.

CONGRESS. A New York Court has just decided that a gift presentation concert is no lottery and cannot be prosecuted as such.

CONGRESS. In 1866, sixteen million tons of coal were mined and marketed in Pennsylvania, an increase of two millions over 1865, and of four millions over 1860. Value, $80,000,000, this year.

CONGRESS. In 1866, the quantity of petroleum produced in the State was ninety millions of gallons. Value, $47,310,879.

CONGRESS. In 1866, the product of pig iron was 646,268 tons; an increase of 100,000 tons over the year before, and valued at $31,020,864.

CONGRESS. The aggregate value of these three articles $158,331,843.

CONGRESS. The impression gains strength that the General Railroad bill will become a law; though there are reasons to apprehend that amendments may be forced into it which will restrict its usefulness.

CONGRESS. D. J. Morrell has written a letter in reply to the question what amount of Western agricultural produce the Cambria Iron works, of which he is superintendent, now make a market for. He estimates the number of tons of iron produced by the Cambria works for the year ending October 31, 1866, at 45,000, and the amount expended in living by workmen for each ton at $65, making a total of $2,925,000. Of this sum $1,050,780 was paid to Western farmers, $310,050 to Southern farmers, to local farmers $371,800, and to foreign farmers $175,500. Considerably more than half of the nearly three millions of dollars which are paid to the employees of this one manufacturing establishment go into the pockets of American farmers, and more than two thirds of the sum which is distributed among American farmers goes to the farmers of the West. Had the rails made by the Cambria been imported from England, not one-fifth of the part of the produce of Western farms for which the Cambria Iron Works paid more than a million of dollars, would have been exported to England, and for that fifth the farmers of the West would have received lower prices than were paid them by American mechanics.

CONGRESS. The Rev. Mr. Finney, of Oberlin, in a recent prayer, made a special invocation in behalf of Congress, extolling their virtues to the skies, and then called the attention of the Lord to the President. "But how," said he, "shall I pray for the President? 'Oh, Lord, if thou canst manage him, without crushing him, spare him. Otherwise, crush him!' This reminds an exchange of the preacher who, having a grudge against an unknown neighbor, prayed: "Oh, Lord, take John Smith by the slack of his breeches, and shake him over hell, but don't drop him in."

CONGRESS. WILD CHERRY BALSAM.—The memory of Dr. Wistar is embalmed in the thousands, whose his Balsam of Wild Cherry has cured of coughs, colds, consumption, or some other form of Pulmonary disease. It is now over forty years since this preparation was brought before the public, and yet the demand for it is constantly increasing.

CONGRESS. The Double Murder in Maine. Lewiston, Me., Feb. 9.—In reference to the Auburn murder the negro asserts that he did not think the murder was contemplated, and consequently he was not armed, while his accomplice first seized Mrs. Kinsley and demanded where the money was, when she screamed for Mrs. Caswell. The accomplice then struck Mrs. Kinsley with a chair. Mrs. Caswell on coming out of her room was struck on the head with a brick for dead, when she fell. The murderer returned to Mrs. Kinsley's bed room, and searched for money where she indicated, but found none. Mrs. Caswell had returned to consciousness and was attempting to reach her room, when the negro followed her and killed her with a chair. In the meantime the accomplice finished Mrs. Kinsley. They then tried to light a lamp, but failed, and, after further search, gave up all hopes of finding any money and left, Verill, whom the negro charges with being the instigator of and accomplice in the crime, is in jail. Detectives are understood to be at work on his case.

CONGRESS. A man who represented himself as the Cashier of a National Bank at Washington, insulted a young girl on the Atlantic & Great Western cars between Salamanca and Cleveland, on Wednesday evening. The girl asked protection of the passengers, when two or three of them seized the blackguard, took him to the rear end of the train, and dropped him off.

CONGRESS. Prentice, of the Louisville Journal, tenders his advice to the public as follows: "Never buy goods of those who don't advertise. They have so little to sell that they have to sell dear."

CONGRESS. The "bulls" and "bears" who do business in Wall street frequently resort to artifices in the settlement of their "jobs." On Saturday afternoon three of them got into a fight concerning a blow which was to be delivered between the parties, but at the end of the first round an M. P. put in an appearance, captured the belligerents and conveyed them, crawling, to the Station House. The result was that each of them was fined $10 and discharged.

CONGRESS. Another diamond has been found in Australia. In the vicinity of Beechworth, it is a depth of two hundred and fifty feet, amidst small blue and white topazes, hyacinths, tourmalines and tin sand. Its weight exceeded a carat and one eighth.

REVIEWS.

A Chicago thief was captured in Germany. A long race.

There is some talk of Jenny Lind coming again to this country.

General Grant doubts the report that he and Mrs. Grant are going to Europe.

Dead crinoline is being shipped from England to the South American Missions.

The young Mormon girls are said to be very ready to elope with young Gentiles.

In one of the wards of New York there is a grog shop to every fifty-seven persons.

Empress Eugenie is afraid of copulency, and has taken to a diet of vinegar and salsaparilla.

The Federal dead at Lagrange, Tennessee, are being removed to Memphis by contract.

In England there are five people to one porker. In the United States it is the reverse.

Beecher, in a recent sermon, stopped to talk about "through tickets for salvation."

Some of the French newspapers speak of a resolution asking what States now represented in Congress have ratified the constitutional amendment proposed by the Thirtieth Congress. He says that Connecticut, on the 12th inst., Oregon, Kentucky, Vermont, West Virginia, Kansas, Missouri and New Hampshire are the only States which have given official notification of its ratification.

The House passed and otherwise disposed of a large number of bills relating to army affairs. Mr. Blaine gave notice that he would call on the 17th inst. for the bill to reimburse the loyal States for troops furnished during the late war. The bill to regulate the civil service of the United States was taken up, and after some discussion it was laid upon the table. Mr. Stevens introduced a bill for the more efficient government of the Insular Territories, which provides that the so-called States shall be divided into military districts and made subject to the military authority of the United States. The House then adjourned.

SENATE.—In the Senate, February 7th, after the reception of several petitions, Mr. Trumbull introduced a bill for the Secretary, reported without amendment the House bill to amend the act which provides for the suspension of all awards to loyal owners of slaves enlisted in the army, and abolishes the commissioners appointed to make the awards; but without action the bill was laid on the table.

Mr. Sumner, in the course of his remarks, reported without amendment the House bill to amend the act which provides for the suspension of all awards to loyal owners of slaves enlisted in the army, and abolishes the commissioners appointed to make the awards; but without action the bill was laid on the table.

Mr. Sumner, in the course of his remarks, reported without amendment the House bill to amend the act which provides for the suspension of all awards to loyal owners of slaves enlisted in the army, and abolishes the commissioners appointed to make the awards; but without action the bill was laid on the table.

Mr. Sumner, in the course of his remarks, reported without amendment the House bill to amend the act which provides for the suspension of all awards to loyal owners of slaves enlisted in the army, and abolishes the commissioners appointed to make the awards; but without action the bill was laid on the table.

Mr. Sumner, in the course of his remarks, reported without amendment the House bill to amend the act which provides for the suspension of all awards to loyal owners of slaves enlisted in the army, and abolishes the commissioners appointed to make the awards; but without action the bill was laid on the table.

Mr. Sumner, in the course of his remarks, reported without amendment the House bill to amend the act which provides for the suspension of all awards to loyal owners of slaves enlisted in the army, and abolishes the commissioners appointed to make the awards; but without action the bill was laid on the table.

Mr. Sumner, in the course of his remarks, reported without amendment the House bill to amend the act which provides for the suspension of all awards to loyal owners of slaves enlisted in the army, and abolishes the commissioners appointed to make the awards; but without action the bill was laid on the table.

Mr. Sumner, in the course of his remarks, reported without amendment the House bill to amend the act which provides for the suspension of all awards to loyal owners of slaves enlisted in the army, and abolishes the commissioners appointed to make the awards; but without action the bill was laid on the table.

Mr. Sumner, in the course of his remarks, reported without amendment the House bill to amend the act which provides for the suspension of all awards to loyal owners of slaves enlisted in the army, and abolishes the commissioners appointed to make the awards; but without action the bill was laid on the table.

Mr. Sumner, in the course of his remarks, reported without amendment the House bill to amend the act which provides for the suspension of all awards to loyal owners of slaves enlisted in the army, and abolishes the commissioners appointed to make the awards; but without action the bill was laid on the table.

Mr. Sumner, in the course of his remarks, reported without amendment the House bill to amend the act which provides for the suspension of all awards to loyal owners of slaves enlisted in the army, and abolishes the commissioners appointed to make the awards; but without action the bill was laid on the table.

Mr. Sumner, in the course of his remarks, reported without amendment the House bill to amend the act which provides for the suspension of all awards to loyal owners of slaves enlisted in the army, and abolishes the commissioners appointed to make the awards; but without action the bill was laid on the table.

Mr. Sumner, in the course of his remarks, reported without amendment the House bill to amend the act which provides for the suspension of all awards to loyal owners of slaves enlisted in the army, and abolishes the commissioners appointed to make the awards; but without action the bill was laid on the table.

Mr. Sumner, in the course of his remarks, reported without amendment the House bill to amend the act which provides for the suspension of all awards to loyal owners of slaves enlisted in the army, and abolishes the commissioners appointed to make the awards; but without action the bill was laid on the table.

Mr. Sumner, in the course of his remarks, reported without amendment the House bill to amend the act which provides for the suspension of all awards to loyal owners of slaves enlisted in the army, and abolishes the commissioners appointed to make the awards; but without action the bill was laid on the table.

Mr. Sumner, in the course of his remarks, reported without amendment the House bill to amend the act which provides for the suspension of all awards to loyal owners of slaves enlisted in the army, and abolishes the commissioners appointed to make the awards; but without action the bill was laid on the table.

Mr. Sumner, in the course of his remarks, reported without amendment the House bill to amend the act which provides for the suspension of all awards to loyal owners of slaves enlisted in the army, and abolishes the commissioners appointed to make the awards; but without action the bill was laid on the table.

Mr. Sumner, in the course of his remarks, reported without amendment the House bill to amend the act which provides for the suspension of all awards to loyal owners of slaves enlisted in the army, and abolishes the commissioners appointed to make the awards; but without action the bill was laid on the table.

Mr. Sumner, in the course of his remarks, reported without amendment the House bill to amend the act which provides for the suspension of all awards to loyal owners of slaves enlisted in the army, and abolishes the commissioners appointed to make the awards; but without action the bill was laid on the table.

Mr. Sumner, in the course of his remarks, reported without amendment the House bill to amend the act which provides for the suspension of all awards to loyal owners of slaves enlisted in the army, and abolishes the commissioners appointed to make the awards; but without action the bill was laid on the table.

Mr. Sumner, in the course of his remarks, reported without amendment the House bill to amend the act which provides for the suspension of all awards to loyal owners of slaves enlisted in the army, and abolishes the commissioners appointed to make the awards; but without action the bill was laid on the table.

Mr. Sumner, in the course of his remarks, reported without amendment the House bill to amend the act which provides for the suspension of all awards to loyal owners of slaves enlisted in the army, and abolishes the commissioners appointed to make the awards; but without action the bill was laid on the table.

Mr. Sumner, in the course of his remarks, reported without amendment the House bill to amend the act which provides for the suspension of all awards to loyal owners of slaves enlisted in the army, and abolishes the commissioners appointed to make the awards; but without action the bill was laid on the table.

Mr. Sumner, in the course of his remarks, reported without amendment the House bill to amend the act which provides for the suspension of all awards to loyal owners of slaves enlisted in the army, and abolishes the commissioners appointed to make the awards; but without action the bill was laid on the table.

Mr. Sumner, in the course of his remarks, reported without amendment the House bill to amend the act which provides for the suspension of all awards to loyal owners of slaves enlisted in the army, and abolishes the commissioners appointed to make the awards; but without action the bill was laid on the table.

Mr. Sumner, in the course of his remarks, reported without amendment the House bill to amend the act which provides for the suspension of all awards to loyal owners of slaves enlisted in the army, and abolishes the commissioners appointed to make the awards; but without action the bill was laid on the table.

Mr. Sumner, in the course of his remarks, reported without amendment the House bill to amend the act which provides for the suspension of all awards to loyal owners of slaves enlisted in the army, and abolishes the commissioners appointed to make the awards; but without action the bill was laid on the table.

Mr. Sumner, in the course of his remarks, reported without amendment the House bill to amend the act which provides for the suspension of all awards to loyal owners of slaves enlisted in the army, and abolishes the commissioners appointed to make the awards; but without action the bill was laid on the table.

Mr. Sumner, in the course of his remarks, reported without amendment the House bill to amend the act which provides for the suspension of all awards to loyal owners of slaves enlisted in the army, and abolishes the commissioners appointed to make the awards; but without action the bill was laid on the table.

Mr. Sumner, in the course of his remarks, reported without amendment the House bill to amend the act which provides for the suspension of all awards to loyal owners of slaves enlisted in the army, and abolishes the commissioners appointed to make the awards; but without action the bill was laid on the table.

Mr. Sumner, in the course of his remarks, reported without amendment the House bill to amend the act which provides for the suspension of all awards to loyal owners of slaves enlisted in the army, and abolishes the commissioners appointed to make the awards; but without action the bill was laid on the table.

Mr. Sumner, in the course of his remarks, reported without amendment the House bill to amend the act which provides for the suspension of all awards to loyal owners of slaves enlisted in the army, and abolishes the commissioners appointed to make the awards; but without action the bill was laid on the table.

Mr. Sumner, in the course of his remarks, reported without amendment the House bill to amend the act which provides for the suspension of all awards to loyal owners of slaves enlisted in the army, and abolishes the commissioners appointed to make the awards; but without action the bill was laid on the table.

Mr. Sumner, in the course of his remarks, reported without amendment the House bill to amend the act which provides for the suspension of all awards to loyal owners of slaves enlisted in the army, and abolishes the commissioners appointed to make the awards; but without action the bill was laid on the table.

Mr. Sumner, in the course of his remarks, reported without amendment the House bill to amend the act which provides for the suspension of all awards to loyal owners of slaves enlisted in the army, and abolishes the commissioners appointed to make the awards; but without action the bill was laid on the table.

REVIEWS.

A Chicago thief was captured in Germany. A long race.

There is some talk of Jenny Lind coming again to this country.

General Grant doubts the report that he and Mrs. Grant are going to Europe.

Dead crinoline is being shipped from England to the South American Missions.

The young Mormon girls are said to be very ready to elope with young Gentiles.

In one of the wards of New York there is a grog shop to every fifty-seven persons.

Empress Eugenie is afraid of copulency, and has taken to a diet of vinegar and salsaparilla.

The Federal dead at Lagrange, Tennessee, are being removed to Memphis by contract.

In England there are five people to one porker. In the United States it is the reverse.

Beecher, in a recent sermon, stopped to talk about "through tickets for salvation."

Some of the French newspapers speak of a resolution asking what States now represented in Congress have ratified the constitutional amendment proposed by the Thirtieth Congress. He says that Connecticut, on the 12th inst., Oregon, Kentucky, Vermont, West Virginia, Kansas, Missouri and New Hampshire are the only States which have given official notification of its ratification.

The House passed and otherwise disposed of a large number of bills relating to army affairs. Mr. Blaine gave notice that he would call on the 17th inst. for the bill to reimburse the loyal States for troops furnished during the late war. The bill to regulate the civil service of the United States was taken up, and after some discussion it was laid upon the table. Mr. Stevens introduced a bill for the more efficient government of the Insular Territories, which provides that the so-called States shall be divided into military districts and made subject to the military authority of the United States. The House then adjourned.

SENATE.—In the Senate, February 7th, after the reception of several petitions, Mr. Trumbull introduced a bill for the Secretary, reported without amendment the House bill to amend the act which provides for the suspension of all awards to loyal owners of slaves enlisted in the army, and abolishes the commissioners appointed to make the awards; but without action the bill was laid on the table.

Mr. Sumner, in the course of his remarks, reported without amendment the House bill to amend the act which provides for the suspension of all awards to loyal owners of slaves enlisted in the army, and abolishes the commissioners appointed to make the awards; but without action the bill was laid on the table.

Mr. Sumner, in the course of his remarks, reported without amendment the House bill to amend the act which provides for the suspension of all awards to loyal owners of slaves enlisted in the army, and abolishes the commissioners appointed to make the awards; but without action the bill was laid on the table.

Mr. Sumner, in the course of his remarks, reported without amendment the House bill to amend the act which provides for the suspension of all awards to loyal owners of slaves enlisted in the army, and abolishes the commissioners appointed to make the awards; but without action the bill was laid on the table.

Mr. Sumner, in the course of his remarks, reported without amendment the House bill to amend the act which provides for the suspension of all awards to loyal owners of slaves enlisted in the army, and abolishes the commissioners appointed to make the awards; but without action the bill was laid on the table.

Mr. Sumner, in the course of his remarks, reported without amendment the House bill to amend the act which provides for the suspension of all awards to loyal owners of slaves enlisted in the army, and abolishes the commissioners appointed to make the awards; but without action the bill was laid on the table.

Mr. Sumner, in the course of his remarks, reported without amendment the House bill to amend the act which provides for the suspension of all awards to loyal owners of slaves enlisted in the army, and abolishes the commissioners appointed to make the awards; but without action the bill was laid on the table.

Mr. Sumner, in the course of his remarks, reported without amendment the House bill to amend the act which provides for the suspension of all awards to loyal owners of slaves enlisted in the army, and abolishes the commissioners appointed to make the awards; but without action the bill was laid on the table.

Mr. Sumner, in the course of his remarks, reported without amendment the House bill to amend the act which provides for the suspension of all awards to loyal owners of slaves enlisted in the army, and abolishes the commissioners appointed to make the awards; but without action the bill was laid on the table.

Mr. Sumner, in the course of his remarks, reported without amendment the House bill to amend the act which provides for the suspension of all awards to loyal owners of slaves enlisted in the army, and abolishes the commissioners appointed to make the awards; but without action the bill was laid on the table.

Mr. Sumner, in the course of his remarks, reported without amendment the House bill to amend the act which provides for the suspension of all awards to loyal owners of slaves enlisted in the army, and abolishes the commissioners appointed to make the awards; but without action the bill was laid on the table.

Mr. Sumner, in the course of his remarks, reported without amendment the House bill to amend the act which provides for the suspension of all awards to loyal owners of slaves enlisted in the army, and abolishes the commissioners appointed to make the awards; but without action the bill was laid on the table.

Mr. Sumner, in the course of his remarks, reported without amendment the House bill to amend the act which provides for the suspension of all awards to loyal owners of slaves enlisted in the army, and abolishes the commissioners appointed to make the awards; but without action the bill was laid on the table.

Mr. Sumner, in the course of his remarks, reported without amendment the House bill to amend the act which provides for the suspension of all awards to loyal owners of slaves enlisted in the army, and abolishes the commissioners appointed to make the awards; but without action the bill was laid on the table.

Mr. Sumner, in the course of his remarks, reported without amendment the House bill to amend the act which provides for the suspension of all awards to loyal owners of slaves enlisted in the army, and abolishes the commissioners appointed to make the awards; but without action the bill was laid on the table.

Mr. Sumner, in the course of his remarks, reported without amendment the House bill to amend the act which provides for the suspension of all awards to loyal owners of slaves enlisted in the army, and abolishes the commissioners appointed to make the awards; but without action the bill was laid on the table.

Mr. Sumner, in the course of his remarks, reported without amendment the House bill to amend the act which provides for the suspension of all awards to loyal owners of slaves enlisted in the army, and abolishes the commissioners appointed to make the awards; but without action the bill was laid on the table.

Mr. Sumner, in the course of his remarks, reported without amendment the House bill to amend the act which provides for the suspension of all awards to loyal owners of slaves enlisted in the army, and abolishes the commissioners appointed to make the awards; but without action the bill was laid on the table.

Mr. Sumner, in the course of his remarks, reported without amendment the House bill to amend the act which provides for the suspension of all awards to loyal owners of slaves enlisted in the army, and abolishes the commissioners appointed to make the awards; but without action the bill was laid on the table.

Mr. Sumner, in the course of his remarks, reported without amendment the House bill to amend the act which provides for the suspension of all awards to loyal owners of slaves enlisted in the army, and abolishes the commissioners appointed to make the awards; but without action the bill was laid on the table.

Mr. Sumner, in the course of his remarks, reported without amendment the House bill to amend the act which provides for the suspension of all awards to loyal owners of slaves enlisted in the army, and abolishes the commissioners appointed to make the awards; but without action the bill was laid on the table.

Mr. Sumner, in the course of his remarks, reported without amendment the House bill to amend the act which provides for the suspension of all awards to loyal owners of slaves enlisted in the army, and abolishes the commissioners appointed to make the awards; but without action the bill was laid on the table.

Mr. Sumner, in the course of his remarks, reported without amendment the House bill to amend the act which provides for the suspension of all awards to loyal owners of slaves enlisted in the army, and abolishes the commissioners appointed to make the awards; but without action the bill was laid on the table.

Mr. Sumner, in the course of his remarks, reported without amendment the House bill to amend the act which provides for the suspension of all awards to loyal owners of slaves enlisted in the army, and abolishes the commissioners appointed to make the awards; but without action the bill was laid on the table.

Mr. Sumner, in the course of his remarks, reported without amendment the House bill to amend the act which provides for the suspension of all awards to loyal owners of slaves enlisted in the army, and abolishes the commissioners appointed to make the awards; but without action the bill was laid on the table.

Mr. Sumner, in the course of his remarks, reported without amendment the House bill to amend the act which provides for the suspension of all awards to loyal owners of slaves enlisted in the army, and abolishes the commissioners appointed to make the awards; but without action the bill was laid on the table.

Mr. Sumner, in the course of his remarks, reported without amendment the House bill to amend the act which provides for the suspension of all awards to loyal owners of slaves enlisted in the army, and abolishes the commissioners appointed to make the awards; but without action the bill was laid on the table.

Mr. Sumner, in the course of his remarks, reported without amendment the House bill to amend the act which provides for the suspension of all awards to loyal owners of slaves enlisted in the army, and abolishes the commissioners appointed to make the awards; but without action the bill was laid on the table.

Mr. Sumner, in the course of his remarks, reported without amendment the House bill to amend the act which provides for the suspension of all awards to loyal owners of slaves enlisted in the army, and abolishes the commissioners appointed to make the awards; but without action the bill was laid on the table.

Mr. Sumner, in the course of his remarks, reported without amendment the House bill to amend the act which provides for the suspension of all awards to loyal owners of slaves enlisted in the army, and abolishes the commissioners appointed to make the awards; but without action the bill was laid on the table.

Mr. Sumner, in the course of his remarks, reported without amendment the House bill to amend the act which provides for the suspension of all awards to loyal owners of slaves enlisted in the army, and abolishes the commissioners appointed to make the awards; but without action the bill was laid on the table.

Mr. Sumner, in the course of his remarks, reported without amendment the House bill to amend the act which provides for the suspension of all awards to loyal owners of slaves enlisted in the army, and abolishes the commissioners appointed to make the awards; but without action the bill was laid on the table.

Mr. Sumner, in the course of his remarks, reported without amendment the House bill to amend the act which provides for the suspension of all awards to loyal owners of slaves enlisted in the army, and abolishes the commissioners appointed to make the awards; but without action the bill was laid on the table.

Mr. Sumner, in the course of his remarks, reported without amendment the House bill to amend the act which provides for the suspension of all awards to loyal owners of slaves enlisted in the army, and abolishes the commissioners appointed to make the awards; but without action the bill was laid on the table.

Mr. Sumner, in the course of his remarks, reported without amendment the House bill to amend the act which provides for the suspension of all awards to loyal owners of slaves enlisted in the army, and abolishes the commissioners appointed to make the awards; but without action the bill was laid on the table.

REVIEWS.

A Chicago thief was captured in Germany. A long race.

There is some talk of Jenny Lind coming again to this country.

General Grant doubts the report that he and Mrs. Grant are going to Europe.

Dead crinoline is being shipped from England to the South American Missions.

The young Mormon girls are said to be very ready to elope with young Gentiles.

In one of the wards of New York there is a grog shop to every fifty-seven persons.

Empress Eugenie is afraid of copulency, and has taken to a diet of vinegar and salsaparilla.

The Federal dead at Lagrange, Tennessee, are being removed to Memphis by contract.

In England there are five people to one porker. In the United States it is the reverse.

Beecher, in a recent sermon, stopped to talk about "through tickets for salvation."

Some of the French newspapers speak of a resolution asking what States now represented in Congress have ratified the constitutional amendment proposed by the Thirtieth Congress. He says that Connecticut, on the 12th inst., Oregon, Kentucky, Vermont, West Virginia, Kansas, Missouri and New Hampshire are the only States which have given official notification of its ratification.

The House passed and otherwise disposed of a large number of bills relating to army affairs. Mr. Blaine gave notice that he would call on the 17th inst. for the bill to reimburse the loyal States for troops furnished during the late war. The bill to regulate the civil service of the United States was taken up, and after some discussion it was laid upon the table. Mr. Stevens introduced a bill for the more efficient government of the Insular Territories, which provides that the so-called States shall be divided into military districts and made subject to the military authority of the United States. The House then adjourned.

SENATE.—In the Senate, February 7th, after the reception of several petitions, Mr. Trumbull introduced a bill for the Secretary, reported without amendment the House bill to amend the act which provides for the suspension of all awards to loyal owners of slaves enlisted in the army, and abolishes the commissioners appointed to make the awards; but without action the bill was laid on the table.

Mr. Sumner, in the course of his remarks, reported without amendment the House bill to amend the act which provides for the suspension of all awards to loyal owners of slaves enlisted in the army, and abolishes the commissioners appointed to make the awards; but without action the bill was laid on the table.

Mr. Sumner, in the course of his remarks, reported without amendment the House bill to amend the act which provides for the suspension of all awards to loyal owners of slaves enlisted in the army, and abolishes the commissioners appointed to make the awards; but without action the bill was laid on the table.

Mr. Sumner, in the course of his remarks, reported without amendment the House bill to amend the act which provides for the suspension of all awards to loyal owners of slaves enlisted in the army, and abolishes the commissioners appointed to make the awards; but without action the bill was laid on the table.

Mr. Sumner, in the course of his remarks, reported without amendment the House bill to amend the act which provides for the suspension of all awards to loyal owners of slaves enlisted in the army, and abolishes the commissioners appointed to make the awards; but without action the bill was laid on the table.

Mr. Sumner, in the course of his remarks, reported without amendment the House bill to amend the act which provides for the suspension of all awards to loyal owners of slaves enlisted in the army, and abolishes the commissioners appointed to make the awards; but without action the bill was laid on the table.

Mr. Sumner, in the course of his remarks, reported without amendment the House bill to amend the act which provides for the suspension of all awards to loyal owners of slaves enlisted in the army, and abolishes the commissioners appointed to make the awards; but without action the bill was laid on the table.

Mr. Sumner, in the course of his remarks, reported without amendment the House bill to amend the act which provides for the suspension of all awards to loyal owners of slaves enlisted in the army, and abolishes the commissioners appointed to make the awards; but without action the bill was laid on the table.

Mr. Sumner, in the course of his remarks, reported without amendment the House bill to amend the act which provides for the suspension of all awards to loyal owners of slaves enlisted in the army, and abolishes the commissioners appointed to make the awards; but without action the bill was laid on the table.

Mr. Sumner, in the course of his remarks, reported without amendment the House bill to amend the act which provides for the suspension of all awards to loyal owners of slaves enlisted in the army, and abolishes the commissioners appointed to make the awards; but without action the bill was laid on the table.

Mr. Sumner, in the course of his remarks, reported without amendment the House bill to amend the act which provides for