THE PLANING MILL now being built by Mr. Ira T. Clement, adjoining the P. & E. Railroad, on Race street, is rapidly approaching completion. The mill is a large sized one, 60 by 80 feet, and will be furnished with the latest and most improved machinery. This is a much needed improvement, and no doubt will be a profitable one. Heretofore builders and others have been compelled to send maintenance and education of the orphans of the 40 or 50 miles for any kind of manufactured lumber. and the establishing of a mill here will not only be being established and endowed by the enterprise and a great convenience, but will prove a great saving in the way of expensive railroad transportation.

THE PEACH BUSINESS IN SUBBURY .--- When we referred, some time since, to the peach trade in this Riverside Institute cannot fail of success. Their place, we had no correct idea, of its extent and importance. We have since spoken to some of our ments published throughout the country at great ladies, and especially are we guilty of the most inheaviest dealers in the article, and find that nearly two thousand boxes have been received and disposed of in this place by the different persons engaged in the business. Porhaps about one-third of this amount was re-sold to the trade in the neighboring towns. The remainder was used by our citisens. The prices ranged from $2 to $3.50, and averaged about $2 50. Had the prices kept down the consumption would have been much greater .--These facts should stimulate our farmers and others in paying more attention to the culture of fruit. With such a home market and facilities for transportation the business could not fail being profitable.

THE CONCERT .- The Danville Choral Society, according to announcement, gave a grand concert in their country. the Masonie Hall, in this place, on Saturday evening last. The Society chartered a car, which ran from Danville to Northumberland, and they were brought to Sunbury from the latter place by our steamer, arriving here about 6 P. M. They numbered about fifty persons, and while here stopped at the Central Hotel. The Hall was filled with a large and respectable audience on this occasion, and we noticed in the assembly quite a number from Northumberland and Danville, who accompanied the Society hither. The choruses sung by the company were Recellent, and the pieces rendered by Miss Jones, Miss Hughes and Mrs. Evan, were particularly face, fully maintaining their regutations as accompliated to.
