THE COAL TRADE.

THE Miners' Journal, of Pottsville, says the fall in the price of stove coal, from the highest point, has reached nearly two dollars, and unless a reduction of the recent absolutely necessary for the time being. in Shamokin coal will be announced before attention to was this: Lee thought the Southern people would be perfectly satisfied. the end of the month. The prices have also come down at Wilkes-Barre.

THE proposition to increase the President's salary from $25,000 to $100,000, does not meet the approbation of the press outside of New York, where the Democracy boast a majority of 60,000, and where they squander millions of dollars on the leaders of the party, who make a nice thing out of the offices. The compensation of the President now, is now considering the times and the additional expenses of the office, not more than half of what it was twenty years since. It is paid, however, in gold, which makes it one-third more than currency.

THE Christmas number of Forney's Weekly Press will contain a large amount of valuable and interesting matter, for a small sum of money. Among many other things this with condign punishment. Besides, General number will contain an interesting story by Col. Foruey, entitled "How a Republican Boldier won a Southern wife on Christmas incendiary doctrines and fomenting turbu-Day," also, "The History and Mystery of an lence and bloodshed, and that the hypocriti-Irish Wedding," a humorous story by Dr. McKenzie, of the Press, and "Hans Breiterman's Christmas," by C. G. Leland.

COL. JOSEPH W. CARE, the Collector at Philadelphia; has given the authorities at Washington great offense because he refuses to remove certain clerks and employees in his office, and put into their places such men | the attention of Officer Howard was called as some of the unscrupulous leaders of the Democratic party, in Philadelphia, would at the northeast corner of Tenth and Pine select. There were rumors that Secretary door was opened by George II. Twitchal, McCullough intended to suspend Col. REVERDY JOHNSON. - The tondyism of Mr. Johnson, our minister at the British Court, has brought down on him the censure of the Republican press everywhere. Wilkes' Spirit of the Times thus refers to his con-

"Now, is the North, which was so foully wronged and robbed, to allow a Southern man, whose heart was with Lee and Semmes in the rebellion, to settle the question be-tween England and the United States ? Is Reverdy Johnson, of Maryland, a steadfast opponent of the Government throughout the war, the right man to settle the business of New England, and New York, and Pennsylvania? No! He is unfit to be charged with so great a mission because of his whole record, and doubly unfit because of his course in England, whither he was sent by a too magnanimous and mistaken Senate. Putting all other causes of complaint aside. the American people do not want, and will not have, a minister who disgraces himself by dining with the infamous Laird, and who joyfully permits the captain general of all modern pirates to show him where the Alabama was built at Birkenhead, and how she was launched in English waters to drive the American flag from the oceas. We do not want-we will not have-a minister shakes hands with the man who said in Parliament that he would like to build a hundred Alabamas. We do not want him anywhere, not even as minister to the Hottentots-much less, therefore, to England itself, of whom we demand satis faction and redress. It would be shameful enough to know that such an American It is immeasurably disgraceful that he should be the authorized representative of the United States, claiming the power to treat with our enemies, who are his friendand deliberately proposing to betray the people who clothed him with power. Rever-Johnson has placed the United States in an attitude of which Patagonia might be ashamed. It is no exaggeration to say that he has humbled his country in a way which in the last century would have cost him his head. England shot Admiral Byng for a far less odious crime than that which Reverdy Johnson has committed."

WHAT GRANT SAID.

Although General Grant has made very few speeches since his election to the Presidency, yet he has spoken enough in conversation with some of his most intimate friends to show where he stands on the subject of rebelism. He thinks the late rebel overtures, wherein they demand to be restored to power of rather an impudent character, as will be seen by one of his recent utterances, claimed by a correspondent of the New York Times to have been spoken in his presence. Re-ferring to the surrender of General Lee, President Grant detailed an historic instance of peculiar import, which is said to have been as follows, in his own words: "The rators must suffer. This sudden rise has depressed the trade and operated injuriously on all, except a few speculators. Sellers and consumers will, of course, limit their orders and consumers will, of course, limit their orders and consumers. orders, and purchase no more coal than is if he wished to serve his friends, go to the other armies in person and prevail upon them to surrender. He said he would wish There was no warrant or justification for to see Mr. Davis first. I didn't encourage to see Mr. Davis first. >
> What a change has come over the rebel mind recently! They not only foundly expect to have a voice in the Government, as they have been led to believe by A. Johnson, but to exercise their former political rights -aye, they demand both! Every intelligent American knows that magnanimity and generosity are largely developed in General Grant's nature; but they also know that he is punctilious about observing the terms of a parole given to a surrendered rebel, and if that parole is broken, either by Ku Klux barbarities, the intimidation of Union voters, or another open rebellion, the offender will surely be marked, and sooner or later meet that rebels in editorial places can easily break the terms of the parole by advocating

Two boys, about twelve years of age, were flogged with twenty lashes each for petty offences they had committed. One man was placed in the pillory until he was tetally helpless from the cold, and was then whipped with twenty lashes. Each of the criminals, after receiving the barbarous punishment, was returned to prison, to remain there six months; after that time they will each also have to wear a cenvict's dress in public for another half year.

Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. MATURE'S GREAT RESTORER. SCHEETZ'S CELEBRATED

Bitter Cordial This medical preparation is now offered to the public as a reliable substitute for the many worthless compounds which now flood the market. It is purely registable, composed of various herbs, gathered from the great storchouse of nature, and selected with the utmost care. It is not recommended as a Curs All, but by its direct and salutary influence upon the Heart, Liver, Kidneys, Lungs, Stomach and Bowels, it acts both as a preventive and cure for many of the diseases to which these organs are subject. It is a reliable Family Medicine, and can be taken by either infant or adult with the same beneficial results. It is a certain, prompt and speedy remedy for Diarrhoca, Dysentery, Bowel Complaint, Dyspepsia, Lowness of Spirits, Faintings, Sick-Headache, &c. For Chills and Fevers of all kinds, it is far better and safer than quinine, without any of its pernicious effects. It creates an appear out may of its permicious effects. It creates an appe-tite, proves a powerful digester of food, and will counteract the effects of liquor in a few minutes. Prepared by
