EDITORIAL CORRESPONDENCE.

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 16, 1868. The Quaker City, at present, in all outward appearances, has an air of quiet rapose, politically and commercially, except among the retailers, who are busy in supplying the wants, (and they are numerous,) of those who are preparing for the holidays. The interchange of Christmas presents is a custom so firmly rooted and well established that it has almost as much force as inexorable law. It is, moreover, a custom that has much to commend it, as it engenders good and kindly feelings, to say nothing of Christianizing influences.

In regard to politics, perhaps there never was a greater calm. The leading politicians and the knowing ones are all in a bad way, of the New York banks in issueing certified politically, owing to the continued silence of checks to Wall street operators. He recounsel in regard to his Cabinet and the policy of his administration, as he did before the election, when his opponents urged that | lion dollars of capital and one hundred and his reticence was a matter of policy. Mark | twelve million dollars of credit for specula-Twain says that the General's only answer to the numerous questions put to him is, invariably, "Let us have peace," and the impression is almost universal that when the ful money of the country, whether it be pa-General says "Let us have peace" he means that we shall have it, and the sooner the Southern fire eaters make up their minds to and equable circulating medium he recomsubmit to law and order, and behave themselves, the better it will be for them. It is a most singular fact that everybody seems satisfied with the election.

Andy Johnson's Message finds but little favor; even among his former supporters. A mutual friend, a Democrat, conversing with Judge Black, this morning, asked him if be gested that no one would accuse him of having written this Message. The Judge re plied that he was obliged to acknowledge, under oath, before the Committee, that he had a hand in the Veto Message, on reconstruction, but he could freely swear he had nothing to do with Andy's last Message to judge. Congress.

As an evidence of prosperity here, as every where else, real estate is rapidly advancing, and more buildings are going up in Philadelphia than ever.

I was pleased to hear that the prospects for the early completion of the railroad now favorable than ever.

POSTMASTER GENERAL RANDALL STATES that the postal revenue for the last year was $16,292,600, and the expenditures $22,730,-592, being au excess over receipts of $6,437, 991. Ascompared with last year, the receipts have increased 6 per cent., and the expenses 18 per cent. The estimates for the next year are fixed at $24,540,413 for expenses, and $17,800,000 for receipts, leaving a deficit to be supplied by appropriation of $6,envelopes at $1,285,219.

The whole number of letters received at the dead letter office during the year was were returned to their owners. The large excess of expenditures over receipts is looked upon as an encouraging feature of progress, and is attributed to the extension of routes into all the Southern States and Territories. Ten years hence the Post Office will cost $40,000,000, and the receipts will not exceed $30,000,000. Attention is called to the gross abuse of the franking privilege. The Scoretary will, at an early day, submit a plan for the reorganization of the Post Office Depart ment.

A gentleman of undoubted veracity, writing from Illinois, says: While out hunting, two weeks ago, I was in some corn-fields which belong to a man named Sullivan. He probably owns more land than any farmer in the State. He is the proprietor of nine townships, each six miles square. This year he has twenty-five thousand acres of corn. This seems like a big story, but is nevertheless true. It was just the easiest thing in the world to get lost in one of his cornfields. I strayed into one field, and walked four and a half miles before I came to the end of a row of corn which I followed. A party of six of us were absent four days, and during that time killed two geese, two hundred and sixty-three mallard ducks, besides chickens, cranes, etc., that we did not

A statistical work, of some authority, recently published by M. Ch. Sauvestre, and entitled "Les Congregations Religienses," states the number of females in Franch con vents to be ninety thousand, "more than before the Revolution." The same writer also says that two millions of children out of four are educated in schools belonging to these establishments. The number of converts is twelve thousand and four, according to the official statement of 1861.

THE TRIAL OF ANDREWS FOR THE MURDER OF HOLMES, -After a fair and searching trial, the jury has found Deacon Andrews guilty of manslaughter and the court at once sentenced him to twenty years' imprisonment at hard labor in the State prison. Before the closing of the trial the prisoner was allowed to give testimony in his own case. His history of the homicide was clear, detailed and full, in which he confessed his guilt as to the killing, though he said it was in self-defence. We believe this is the first instance in Massachusetts, and one of the first in the country, wh re an alleged criminal has been permitted to give his own statement before the court. The law making provision for this innovation upon established custom was passed by the Massachusetts Legislature last winter. There is a similar law in Maine; and if we remember rightly a man on trial for morder gave his testimony under it about a year ago. We are inclined to believe such a law will forward the interests of justice. It was long urged in England by Lord Brougham. And there is no reason why such a law should not be enacted in Pennsylvania. We have advocated it for years, and once or twice the question was up before our Legislature. - Escharge.

Report of the Comptroller, of the Currency. The Comptroller of the Currency, in his annual report to the Secretary of the Treasury, show that there are 1,629 national banks in active operation, with a circulation within a fraction up to the legal timit of three hundred millions. Twelve national banks have been organized since the last annual report, five of which are new associations. Fourteen national banks have failed to redeem their circulating notes and were put into the hands of receivers. The loans and discounts made by the national banking associations amount to $3,351,004,665. The Comptroller recommends several reforms in the national banks. One is an amendment to the act creating these associations, authorizing the Comptroller to call upon the banks for five detailed state; ments er reports during each year, fixing upon some day that is past for the date of the report. He argues that the day specified quarterly for the reports being known in advance, the banks prepare for them by a process of operations which do not present their actual working condition.

LATER DESPATCHES FROM MADRID.

It appears that 6,665,742,-50 acres of public lands have been disposed of, thus leaving still in the hands of the Government 1,405,366,678 acres. One Revolutionary soldier is still living. During the last fiscal year there was paid to invalid nilitary soldiers and dependant relatives the sum of $22,658,598 and to navy invalids the sum of $352,383. That part of the report which refers to the Pacific railroad will be found at once interesting and instructive. It has already cost a large som of money to the nation, but the result will be one of the triumphs of the age. To United States marshals has been paid $1,337,042 and to district attorneys, assistants, &c., and Uni ted States commissioners the aggregate amount of $1,789,177. The Secretary dreads a deficit unless the fines be increased. The closing part of the report, which treats of residences for the President and Vice President and the heads of the executive departments, will be read by all with interest, by some with approval and by others with doubt.

The men are willing to submit to a reduction of 10 per cent, on the October rate of wages, which the operators resist, hence the stoppage. Coal has fallen more than the advance obtained in November, and therefore we think the men are asking a little too much under the circumstances. The Ruilroad Company ought also to reduce their rates to the October standard, for if prices of coal are kept up too high, it will check consumption and diminish production. But so long as the Railroad Company keeps up its high rates to the November standard, the men would seem to be justified in doing so also. The reduction ought to be made BPAIR, -THE CIVIL WAR. LONDON, Dec. 12.—Telegraphic communi-cation with Madrid is still interrupted. The cation with Madrid is still interrupted. The latest despatches say that the political agitation throughout Spain is very great, and that capitalists are leaving the country. There is much alarm among all classes of people. The government authorities are in receipt of communications from many parts of the country, promising aid to suppress the revolution. The insurgents at Cadiz held strong positions. The President of the Republican Committee had not yet arrived from Seville. The insurrectionary movements has not spread beyond Cadiz.

LONDON, Dec. 12-Midnight, -Despatches have just been received from Madrid, of this day's date. The official Gazette of that city has the following :- "Nothing further from Cadiz, owing to disarrangement of the telegraph wires. The government is auxious for the insurgents to yield to reason and patriotism, and not force the national troops, which have so many advantages, to fire upon their countrymen. The government commanders are certain of the prompt suppression of the revolt. The Captain General of the Department of Valencia reports to the government an imminent rising of the Car-ists in Arragon." Madrid, Dec. 12 .- The government has decided on postponing the attack on the party in revolt in Cadiz, hoping the insur-gents will accept the terms offered them and

General Rode, who is at the head of the government troops, has declared the port of Cadiz blockaded, and the foreign representatives have been notified accordingly. News has been received that the Carlist party in the town is preparing for a revolt. Fears are entertained of a rising in Barcelona tonight by the Republicans. The greatest precautions are adopted to guard against the contingency in both places. A CHISIS APTROACHING.

Loxnon, Dec. 13 .- A Madrid despatch shows that affairs in Spain are rapidly approaching a crisis. Admiral Topete has been despatched to Cadiz to negotiate with the insurgents, but, according to the latest reports, he has met with no success. An interview was held there between the leading Rebels and the representatives of the concludes by saying that with regard to the Provisional Ministry, at which Admiral currency and banking the business public of
