REMARKS OF HON. JOHN SCOTT.

In Senate, February 25, on the question of admitting to his seat Hon. Hiram R. Revels, Senator elect from the State of Mississippi.

Mr. SCOTT. Mr. President, I will occupy the attention of the Senate for a very few moments, and that upon the direct question, I do not propose, sir, to discuss the past history of the contest about the negro, nor probable future consequences of that contest; but to look simply at the question which in a few moments we may be able to dispose of that question.

This debate has developed two leading facts. The first is that the person who is proposed as a Senator from the State of Mississippi is now a citizen of the United States; and the second is that he never been an alien or foreigner.

It is admitted that he is a citizen now, and less than a few moments ago, could it be said that he was not a citizen prior to the enactment of the civil rights bill?

The proposal is to refer his credentials to the Judiciary Committee for the purpose of making inquiry as to whether he has been a citizen of the United States for nine years.

Where the Wages Go.

Why is it that so many of the families of the laboring men in our towns and cities live in such a poor, beggarly way, and in so many damp, dark, miserably, and up in such close, confined, rickety old attics?

Many of the heads of these families receive good wages, and yet their pay every week or month regularly. But when, in too many cases, do the wages go? Not to the banker, the grocer, the butcher, the merchant; they go for strong drink, ale and beer, which do not strengthen the physical man.

The constant use of intoxicating liquors makes him fit for many a man. The family of five persons will consume four barrels of strong drink a year, or $200 of bread. This is nearly three pounds a day.

Good food can be bought now at 37 a barrel; four times seven makes 287; and thirty cents a day for drinks is $108.50 a year.

Let us see. Twenty men at 30 cents a day, will pay one of these "tippling shops" $2,100 a year. A man who pays 30 cents a day for "drinks," pays $108.50 a year.

This is the interest on $1,564 at 7 per cent, at simple interest. The sum, 30 cents a day, amounts in ten years to $1,171.50. All this is wasted, paid out for "an enemy that steals away a man's brains, and robs him and his family of every comfort.

Intoxicating liquors give neither strength to the body, vigor to the mind, resolution to the will; elevation to morals, nor dignity to character. Strong drink drains a man's appetites, and leaves him in want and misery, the mere wreck and semblance of a man.

An Illinois Lady Lives Twenty Years Without Seeing a Minister.

A Methodist minister was on his travels through the west of Illinois twenty years ago. Illinois was a wild place then. He traveled twenty miles one day before coming to a farm-house.

But there he was received with hospitality. Chicken-potpie and corn-dodgers composed his supper; but to a hungry man these are as good as a truffled turkey.

A fine old grandmother of the house was most profuse in her hospitality. She pressed the pot-pie on the holy man's plate till he could eat no more.

And then, when the family was gathered around the great log-chimney and its blazing fire, the venerated dame opened her mouth, and thus spake:

"Ah, well-a-day! It's a grand comfort to have a minister of the Gospel in these parts. It's twenty year ago now, since I have seen one on 'em. I've been a readin' o' my Bible all that time, a waitin' for some minister to come to this old place about 'suthin' I don't rightly understand."

"Madam," answered the cautious minister, "I am so tired with my long ride that I could not enter into a serious question till I have slept; but if you will ask me to-morrow morning, before I get out, I will try to be as plain as I can."

The old lady expressed herself satisfied, and the cunning minister secured a soft couch for the night. The next morning grandma was up early, and hard at work frying flapjacks for the minister's breakfast. This last being dispatched the old lady was asked a question about her question, while the holy man's horse was saddled and brought to the door.

"After adjusting his saddle-bags and shaking hands with all the family, he mounted his horse, and turning to her, asked:

"Ah, now, Madam, what is your question?"

"Waal, minister," said she, "yer know how it sez in the Bible that arter Elisha was made a prophet, the heavens opened a chariot an' horses of fire, it's better than twenty yer sin! I sez that ere in the Bible, and I have puzzled over it ever since; an' there ain't a soul nor the diggins knows any more nor I. But you're a minister of the Gospel, an' ought to know all them things. Now, what I want to know is this: Did the Lord take up Elisha right slick to heaven, or did he go kinder slant-ter?"

"History has not recorded the minister's reply.

An Irishman who had just landed, went to see his sister, who was married to a Yankee. The couple lived very happily in Chicago, and when Pat came, the gentleman took him over his place to show it to him. Pat, at the evidence of his prosperity, said to his brother-in-law:

"Behold, you are very happy here with this fine property, to look on the sister had good luck entirely, so she had, in getting you for a husband?"

"Ah, yes," responded the married man, "you would be very happy but for one thing."

"Ah, Pat?" returned the gentleman, "I am sorry to say that we have no children."

"No children!" exclaimed Pat; "then begorra, is not my sister Maggie's fault for she had two before she left Ireland and that is the reason my father sent her to America."

RECIPE. BEAN MANGE - One pint of milk and one pint of cream, one oz. of bitter almonds, blanched and pounded; dissolve the ingredients in half pint of hot water over a fire; in pouring in cold water over a little rose or orange flower water to prevent them from curdling. Put all these ingredients into a kettle and boil them fifteen or twenty minutes; then strain it through thin muslin, sweeten to your taste; it will take about three-quarters of a pound of sugar.

STEWED MITTOS - Stew three pounds of a neck of mutton for stock the day before, which will make about two quarts; take a loin of mutton, cut it into chops, with all the fat taken off, put it into the stock and let it boil gently for two hours; add onions, turnips, carrots and small potatoes, with three pint of water, and a head of celery, six minutes before serving in add milk dumplings.

TOMATO AND OREGA SOUP - A leg of beef put on with six quarts of water at nine o'clock, boiled slowly, skimming off all the grease as it rises; at eleven o'clock put in five dozen oysters, leaving out the stalks and cut in slices; six dozen tomatoes, taking off the skins; six onions, one tablespoonful of salt; let it boil until three o'clock.
