This Distressing Affection—which renders Life miserable and marriage impossible—is the penalty paid by the victims of improper indulgences. Young persons are too apt to commit excesses from not being aware of the dreadful consequences that may ensue. Now, who that understands the subject will pretend to deny that the power of procreation is lost sooner by those falling into improper habits than by the pradent? Besides being deprived the pleasures of healthy offspring, the most serious and destructive symptoms to both holy, and mind give. The system becomes de-

Dr. J. addresses all those who have injured themselves by improper indulgence and solitary habits, which ruin both body and mind, unfitting them for either business, study, society or mar-

THESE are some of the sad and melancholy effects produced by early habits of youth, viz: Weakness of the Back and Limbs, Pains in the Back and Head, Dinness of Sight, Loss of Muscular Power, Palpitation of the Heart, Dyspepsy, Nervous Irritability, Derangement of Digestive Functions, General Debility, Symptoms of Con-

What a pity that a young man, the hope of his country, the darling of his parents, should be snatched from all prospects and enjoyments of life, by the consequence of deviating from the path of nature and indulging in a certain secret habit. Such persons MUST, before contemplating MARRIAGE, reflect that a sound mind and body are the most necessary regulaites to promote communical harminesses.

Indeed without these, the journey through life becomes a weary pilgrimage; the prospect hourly darkens to the view; the mind becomes shadowed with despair and filled with the melancholy reflection, that the happiness of another becomes blighted with our own.

A CERTAIN DISEASE.

When the misguided and imprudent votary of pleasure finds that he has imbibed the seeds of this painful disease, it too often happens that an ill-timed sense of shame, or dread of discovery, deters him from applying to those who, from education and respectability, can alone befriend him, delaying till the constitutional symptoms of this horrid disease make their appearance, such as ulcerated sore throat, diseased nose, noctural pains in the head and limbs, dimness of sight. pains in the head and limbs, dimness of sight, deafness, nodes on the shin bones and arms, biotches on the head, face and extremities, progressing with frightful rapidity, till at last the palate of the mouth or the bones of the nose fail as the palate of the return of this awful disease becomes

THE ALMEGRETY ATEM.

William of Holland, the great Dutch King, the greatest King that ever sat on the English throne was, manifestly raised up, and led by the Almighty, who never deserted his own great cause of truth and freedom. How wonderfully the Almighty has sustained the cause of his people! Near the close of the 18th century, when Spain had used all the horrible cruelties of her Papal inquisitions; and France was spreading heartless havor among all her Protestant churches, by wholesale massacres, which to-day are the still startling horrors of the world, and Ireland had filled her dungeons, and forged all her iron into chains, and lit up all the fires at her stakes, and glutted her gibbots and gallows with the best and noblest men and women that God ever made, and spared neither reverend, age, nor innocent infancy, and when the Popish King, James, of England. had given himself up soul and body to the Pope and his wicked and ruthless emiss-ries the Jesuits, and English Religious freedom seemed approaching its death struggle, and all the Protestant world stood appalled and ready to surrender, William. of Holland, still true and firm in his brave little Protestant Holland, saw that in his sword and courage was the last hope of the expiring freedom of the world, and determined to risk all and strike for freedom. He summoned his army, and set sail for England, after storms and vicissitudes and discouragements, he again reached the British Chaunel under his auspicious east wind, called the Protestant wind, splendid was the grand sight as his mighty fleet of 600 sails followed his frigate, with her three lanterns beaming in the night, and at her mast waved the standard of England and Holland. Immense throngs of people pageant filled with the destiny of ages, moved onward as if already a harbinger of peace." A wind rising into a gale, drove the fleet onward and beat back the hostile navy into harbor. William intended to land at Torbaz, but the almost fatal error of a pilot, led him to the hostile harbor of Plymouth, already a powerful English fleet was following in his rear, "go to your prayers," said an officer to the chaplain "for all is lost," Human freedom trembled in the scale. The eyes of the world were ready to weep tears of blood, thousands, millions, looked out from their dungeons, and from their hiding places and from their exile in all the distant corners o' the earth to that moment of deep unutterable suspense and agony, and it would seem the bleeding agonized heart of the downtrodden and oppressed world uttered one universal prayer to the Almighty for helf. "Then that Protestant wind which had borne William so swiftly to his aim. but which was now no longer useful, sud-denly paused, a stillness followed, and the sun broke out, the south wind sprung up, as if by a miracle and carried the fleet gently to the safe harbor of Torbaz, but rising into a gale broke flercely upon the hostile navy that was pursuing and again drove it back into port."

The moment being with the destiny of empires and of our race is past, and the fu-ture full of light and freedom forever is scaled! Then came the great victory of the Boyne.

The Almighty arm was there and controlled those winds. The same arm led the little colony of pilgrim fathers to their rock-bound new-England home and protected them. The same hand led the cause of Religious and civil freedom than all the struggles of the Revolution. The same hand led our nation through the war with Great Britain, and through the late dreadful Rebellion and now when Irish Catho-lic rioters in New York begin the battle against Religious freedom in this country, and unveil the designs of their friends at home and abroad to crush out freedom of Religion, and establish a great spiritual power, that cannot live and reign, by the side of Religious freedom, and must there-tore in the desperate conflict of rule or ruin, seek to blot out from the face of the earth all human freedom. In the great battle the same Almighty arm will carry the nation through her great conflict.

In this great coming battle, let every freeman be like the brave Dutch King Witliam and do his duty, and iteligious and civil freedom will be again saved to the world.

Bound to be Arull Day's work.—
Mr. M.—, of Oxford, don't object to having a hired man don full day's work, least, so we should ludge from the following story: A short time ago a man went to his place for work. Mr. M.—sent him plowing round a forty-acre field. After he had plowed frithfully all day, until the sun was about half an hour high, he expressed was about half an hour high, he expressed his opinion the it was about time to quit "Oh, no," said Mr. M "you can plow around six or eight times more just as well as not,' So the hired man plowed around six or night times, then went to the house, took care of his team, milked nine cows, are his supper, and found ten o'clock staring him

The good woman answered, "He has retired: do you wish to see him?"
He replied that he did. After being conducted to the bed-room, he said, "Mr. M., where is the axe?"
"Why," said Mr. M., "what do you

Why," said Mr. M. ,"what do you want to do with the nac?"

"Well." said and hired man," I thought you might like me to split wood till break fast is ready."
