

	T H. KASE, Attorney at Law, SUN	WEDDING CARDS,	a vast tract of land at D., with an eye, it	the cardinal points of the compas and	about with a chorus of delight.	ent directions, surrounded me, as I stood at were ever known; many troubled with ring	BURY, PA., office in Masser's Building		must have been, to such promises as were held out to Abraham of old; for acres and	shaking his head slightly.		like a marble statue, hardly knowing vousness, being alarmed at sudden sounds, hfulness, with frequent blushing, attended	near the Court House. Front Room up stairs above the Drug Store. Collections made in Nor-	VISITING CARDS,	acres of this land he could never utilize,	Cordelia, her glowing cheeks nearly as	she thought the wolves were after her still,		letter and trying to keep back the tears ; actimes with derangement of mind, were cured	thumberland and adjoining counties. Sunbury, Pa., June 8, 1872.		though later he might sell it again to per-	bright as her scarlet hood, came forward		diately divested me of my jewelry, saying nediately. TAKE PARTICULAR NOTICE.		SHOW CARDS,	sonal advantage. I was out helping him.	with an animated manner. As I drew the	own stable. My weeping aunt and excited	contemptuously as she turned away, "I care not for the trash, but it is mine. It	airl in front to horrow a grammar and we
br. J. addresses all those who have injurred	G. B. CADWALLADER, Market Street, SUNBURY, PA.	BALL TICKETS,	The family consisted of two grown-up	bullaloes around her, I thought how a	thankful to God than I ever before had		were entirely unconscious of the presence of mselves by improper indulgence and solitary sits, which ruin both body and mind, unfitting	Dealer in Drugs, Medicines, Paints, Oils, Glass, Varnishes, Liquors, Tobacco, Cigare,	DALL HOREIS,	daughters and two young sons, and there	week of two ago, I should have esteemed			the girl we loved. We stood beside her in m for either business, study, society or mar-	Pocket Books, Dairies, &c.		was a niece, Cordelia. From the moment	the privilege of this close companionship	But that terrible fighting of wolves close	and the second	the class as straight as a pole, never letting
re. HESE are some of the sad and melancholy	C P. WOLVERTON, Attorney at Law.	BLANKS,	I saw Cordelia Berdwell I thought a great	ciate it now. She had treated me too	upon us-what did it mean ? I asked		on that we saw her, and the mutual agree-cts produced by early habits of youth, viz :	O. Market Square, SUNBURY, PA. Profession-		deal of her. Perhaps that's why I stayed	cavalierly and I had grown somewhat re-	later, when, before the blazing fire, I in akness of the Back and Limbs, Pains in the sk and Head, Dimness of Sight, Loss of Mus-	al business in this and adjoining counties prompt- y attended to.	HANDBILLS,	in the uncivilized place.	sentful.	vain essayed to steady my shaking nerves.	exquisite ! how beautiful ! Yes, I will put ar Power, Palpitation of the Heart, Dyspepsy,	IT B. MASSER, Attorney at Law, SUN-	1	'Rolfe,' said Uncle Dan, one morning in	'We dashed away. The air was damp	And why did they not come on to the at-	them on. I will adorn myself once more, vous Irritability, Derangement of Digestive actions, General Debility, Symptoms of Con-	D • BURY, PACollections attended to in	MERCANTILE LETTER HEADS,	the latter part of the winter, 'it looks like	and cutting, and as we came upon the open	tack ? 'Was it a miracle ?'-		when we went to the head and left her aption, &c. iENTALLY-The fearful effects on the mind	the countles of Northumberland, Union, Snyder, Montour, Columbia and Lycoming. apl10-69	10721 (PART 1 1077 1 1027	a fine day, does it not ?	prairie it stung our cheeks like needles.	'It was one of my stags,' exclaimed	I used to wear such things when he loved	near the foot, but we couldn't do it.
much to be dreaded-Loss of Memory, Con-	COLOMON MALICK.	NC-TE HEADS,	"Clear and bright, sir, I believe."	Haif an hour after starting I said to her,	Uncle Dan. 'Anderson came in and said	me better than rum. What have I done,	It went on in this way for three or four on of Idens, Depression of Spirits, Evil- ebodings, Aversion to Society, Self-Distrust,	Ø	BILL HEADS.	taking Brown Bess and going to Bingley's	Haf an hour after starting I said to her, 'If the snow only keeps off we will get	the late unusually cold weather had made	that I should be clothed in rags, and see	days. Once in a while we caught her look-e of Solitude, Timidity, &c., are some of the	ATTORNEY AT LAW, Office at his residence on Arch street, one square		Mills for me ?	along vicely.' Cordelia glanced up from	the cowardiy creatures boid and ravenous.	the finery that was purchased with my own money sported on the person of	ing at us with a sad, sweet smile, as it she
* produced. HOUSANDS of persons of all ages can now	north of the Court House, near the fail, SUN-	ENVELOPES,	4] will an with plassure I hale I han t	her scarlet hood ; she did not seem to think	and he and I heard them signaling the	another? Oh, yes, I will put on these	the world : and her note said that she
;e what is the cause of their declining health,	business promptly attended to in this and adjoin-	CARDS,	'The weather may break up any week,	about it one way or the other.	might overtake you if you delayed your		couldn't part with the letters and the ig their vigor, becoming, weak, pale, nervous emachated, having a singular appearance	ing counties. Consultations can be had in the German language. July27-1872.	CAROS,	now, Rolfe, and I must have the timber	'Did you accomplish your postal com-	return till after dark ; and so we slew the		keepsakes. We held out bravely until it at the eyes, cough and symptoms of consump-		CHECKS AND DRAFTS,	ready down the river as far as the forks	missions, Miss Cordelia.' 'Oh, yes, thank you.'	stag and drove out with him as far as we		began to hurt us the most, and then we got YOUNG MEN	ZIEGLER & ROHRBACH,	PROGRAMMES,	with the freshets. There's a master lot to	'At that very moment a particle of icy	deemed advisable, hoping that they might	hide them ! Shall I not look like a queen?"	ready to "make up." It couldn't be done > have injured th mselves by a certain prac- indulged in when alone, a habit frequently	ATTORNEYS AT LAW,	DODGERS,	go down next season, and we shall have a	snow fell on my glove. I would not be-	find and fight over it while you were dash-		suddenly, that would be acknowledging our ned from evil companions, or at scheol, the	Office in Haupt's Building, lately occupied by	DODGERS,	vast deal of teaming to bring it over here	lieve but that the mare had flung the par-	ing past. We grew wild with fright as		wrong. We waited until noon-time, and is of which are nightly felt, even when ep, and if not cured, renders marriage impos-	Judge Rockefeller and L. T. Rohrbach, Esq. Collections and all professional business	PAPER BOOKS,	from the forks. But, Rolfe, I know it will	ticle from her flying heels. But in a min-	time passed on, Rolfe, and, arming our-		then as she sat eating her dinner in her
, and destroys both mind and body, should	promptly attended to in the Courts of Northum- berland and adjoining counties.	MANIFESTS.	be a good speculation. By crecting a num- ber of cheap, substantial buildings on sec-	ute more a handful of fine particles sifted	selves with torches, rushed to meet you.'		seat we began looking for a lost book. We
y immediately. hat a pity that a young man, the hope of his	Dec. 2, 1871.		tions of my land, I can advertise and sell	over us both. Cordelia gave a half startled	His plan had succeeded in saving us-		thought it was under the seat next to hers, and while we were looking for it she spoke.
stry, the darling of his parents, should be ched from all prospects and enjoyments of	T.R. C. M. MARTIN, Office in Drug	CIRCULARS.	first-rate.'	glance.	good old Uncle Dan ! But I don't hke the word prairie at all.'		We heard, but pretended not to, and she
by the consequence of deviating from the	DR. C. M. MARTIN, Office in Drug Store, Clement House Block, Office hours :		'Well, sir, I am ready to go over to Bing-	'I spoke cheerfully to the mare, and	"What became of Cordelia, Captain ?"		spoke again. Then we coldly replied, but of nature and indulging in a certain secret	from 11 a. m., to 1 p. m., and from 6 to 9 p. m., at all other hours, when not Professionally en-	Every thing that is needed in the printing de-		tneked the blanket in around my compan-	'Cordelia ? Ah ! I thought I had told	cruel in the heartless thief to keep them
t. Such persons MUST before contemplating MARKIAGE,	gaged can be found at residence, corner of Front	partment will be executed with promptness and	ments you please about the timber.'	ion. A half hour longer found the north- west wind steadily and perceptibly rising,	you my aunt and cousins bore her into the		those letters with her." She said no, and ct that a sound mind and body are the most seary requisites to promote connubial happi-	attention given to surgical cases. Will visit		'So, Hector, boy, go out and get the	while the icy flakes were tinkling on the	house in their arms.'	Once more I was left alone. If I could	we moved nearer. She said it wasn't her
. Indeed without these, the journey through	Patients either in town or country.		mare harnessed.'	erusty surface around our way. Quite	"No evasion. Did you humbly beg her	have sunk into the earth gladly would I becomes a weary pilgrimage; the prospect iv darkens to the view ; the mind becomes	Rately my Bertowert	mine our samples. No trouble to give estimates		soon very small whirlwinds were driving	pardon later for vexing her in opposing her	have done so. But no ! there I sat dressed	how our fingers touched.
owed with despair and filled with the melan-	Hotels and Lestanrants.			the dry, powdery stuff and then spinning	pet theories ?'	only in under garments, and looking more	No one knew what a burden of anxiety
y reflection, that the happiness of another mes blighted with our own.	CORAWPORD HOUSE	to all, who call for that purpose, without charge.	Hector leaped off after his errand.	it up in a little column. Darkness came	'I did that, sir. I begged her pardon on	like a ghost than a living creature. But I
A CERTAIN DISEASE.	CRAWFORD HOUSE, Cor. Third and Mulberry, Business Centre. Williamsport.		'1 could hardly believe my ears. The	down suddenly, but not before the wind	my knees. I told her that she had proved	had not yet reached the climax of horror.	much clearer the afternoon sun shone for hen the misguided and imprudent votary of sure finds that he has imbibed the seeds of	Pa.		voice was Cordelia's. 'The child must be crazy !' cried our	had increased, and the atmosphere was	in herself, by her own bravery, every good	Another female appeared in the distance ;	it. She seemed dearer than ever before, painful disease, it too often happens that an	D. B. FLSE & CO., Proprietor. June 29, 1873.		aunt. 'Do you know the length of the	white with tiny flakes that drifted by us in	thing she had said of her sex."	she approached and I felt a death-like sick-	and when the brown eyes cleared the tears med sense of shame, or dread of discovery, 's him from applying to those who, from	TINITED STATES HOTEL, W. F.		journey, Delia ?'	loose, bulging folds.	'Did she forgive you ?'		away and the merry dimples came back, ation and respectability, can alone befriend	KITCHEN, Proprietor. Opposite the De-	Orders for Subscription. Advertising or	'It is a lovely day, aunt, it won't hurt	Cordelia did not speak ; she only tight-	'Not exactly.'	not. She was the perfect picture of de-	we wondered how we could have been such an unfeeling wretch, and yet it was the delaying till the constitutional symptoms of horrid disease make their appearance, such	pot SHAMOKIN, PA. Every attention given to travellers, and the best accommodations given.	Job Printing, thankfully received.	me.'	ened the fur scarf around her neck and sat	'She was right, Captain. She should have punished you severely.'		same thing over in less than six weeks. cerated sore throat, diseased nose, noctural	April 5, 1873tf	too training, tanaking recorder	'Yes, it is a lovely day, mother, so clear	perfectly quiet. At that moment I would	'She did. Oh ! she did. She-married	in her look that overawed, that made me s in the head and limbs, dimness of sight, tess, nodes on the shin boncs and arms,	WASHINGTON HOUSE, C. NEFF		and calm,' cried one of the other girls-	have given a fortune if the girl had been	me ! Ow-w ! Ow-w ! Cordelia, leave me		Ah, me? Those lovers who have had a smooth path and married without having hes on the head, face and extremities, pro-	Y Proprietor, Corner of Market & Second Streets, opposite the Court House, Sunbary,	Address	Mira, I think-with quite an eager tone,	safe at my uncle's and I breasting the storm alone. We came to a belt of wood-	ears !'	on the full white skirt that flowed to my	quarrels and make-ups and jealousies will ing with frightful rapidity, till at last the c of the mouth or the bones of the nose fall	Pa. May28, 70.		'and poor Delia never goes anywhere.'	land, just ten miles of our journey though;		feet, and examining its texture, she said	never know what true love is.
ad the victim of this awful disease becomes	A LLEGHENY HOUSE, A. BECK,	EM'L WILVERT, Proprietor,	'That was true ; but still I felt aston-	nearly twenty more before us. Heaven,	Miscellancous.	in a low, thrilling voice, "Yes, this will	never anow what the love is.
rid object of commiseration, till death puts riod to his dreadful suffering, by sending	A Proprietor, Nos. 812 and 814 Market Street, above eighth, PHILADELPHIA. Teems, $2	LML WILVERT, HOPPING,	ished. Later I knew that it was a kind of	it seemed like a voyage across the world !	gerstettanteous.	do; it is beautiful indeed ! and was it not to " that Undiscovered Country from whence	per day. He respectfully solicits your patron-		a conspiracy. The girls all wanted to get	And a most awful fear was tugging at my	Dream of a Rumseller's Wife.	purchased with the money that was toiled	THE HABIT OF DRUNKENNESS An aveller returns." is a melancholy fact that thousands DIE	NATIONAL HOTEL. AUGUSTUS	SUNBURY, PA.	some trustworthy person to the postoflice at Bingley's Mills to post letters and get	heart.	I dreamed last night that I was passing	for by these poor hands, while my datling angel lay moaning in his hard cradle and ALLOWARD ROLLING AUGUSTUS		at bingley's Mills to bost letters and get ne to this terrible disease, through falling	WALD, Proprietor, Georgetown North'd			A white gloom was let down all around ne to this terrible disease, through falling the hands of Ignorant or unskillful PRE- DERS, who, by the use of that deadly Pol-	County, Pa., at the Station of the N. C. R. W.	Abbertising Medium	some that were laying there not intended	A white gloom was let down all around us. On and on we went. I did not speak	leisurely through the streets, dressed with	I could not take him up-could not hush	courses in pretty strong English on the
the hands of Ignorant or unskillful PRE- DERS, who, by the use of that deadly Pol- Mercury, &c., destroy the constitution, and	County, Pa., at the Station of the N. C. R. W. Choice wines and cigars at the bar. The table is supplied with the best the market	Sobertising Medium	some that were laying there not intended for papa and mamma to read.	us. On and on we went. I did not speak to the mare, nor with her; there was no	leisurely through the streets, dressed with care, as I usually am when walking out for	I could not take him up-could not hush him on my bosom ! Woman," she said,	courses in pretty strong English on the vice of intemperance : "Take especial care the hands of Ignorant or unskillful PRE- DERS, who, by the use of that deadly Poi-	County, Pa., at the Station of the N. C. R. W. Choice wines and cigars at the bar,	Sobertising Medium	some that were laying there not intended for papa and mamma to read. "I really don't know why Delia should	us. On and on we went. I did not speak to the mare, nor with her; there was no need. She was trotting like a race horse,	leisurely through the streets, dressed with care, as I usually am when walking out for pleasure, and as I intended making some	I could not take him up-could not hush him on my bosom ! Woman," she said, looking me in the face with a gaze I shall	courses in pretty strong English on the vice of intemperance : "Take especial care that you delight not in wine, for there ne-
the hands of Ignorant or unskillful PRE- DERS, who, by the use of that deadly Pol- Mercury, dec., destroy the constitution, and able of curing, keep the unhappy sufferer h after month taking their noxious or ke- us compounds, and instead of being restored	County, Pa., at the Station of the N. C. R. W. Choice wines and clgars at the bar. The table is supplied with the best the market affords. Good stabling and attentive ostlers.	Sobertising Medium	some that were laying there not intended for papa and mamma to read. 'I really don't know why Delia should not go,' said the unsuspicious, good-na-	us. On and on we went. I did not speak to the mare, nor with her; there was no need. She was trotting like a race horse, her tail streaming over the dash-board of	leisurely through the streets, dressed with care, as I usually am when walking out for pleasure, and as I intended making some trifling purchases by the way, I recollect I	I could not take him up—could not hush him on my bosom ! Woman," she said, looking me in the face with a gaze I shall never forget, "I will take this linen now,	courses in pretty strong English on the vice of intemperance : "Take especial care that you delight not in wine, for there ne- ver was any man who came to honor or
the hands of Ignorant or unskillful PRE- DERS, who, by the use of that deadly Pol- Mercury, &c., destroy the constitution, and able of curing, keep the unhappy sufferer h after month taking their noxious or ke-	County, Pa., at the Station of the N. C. R. W. Choice wines and clgars at the bar. The table is supplied with the best the market affords. Good stabling and attentive ostlers. HUMMEL'S RESTAURANT, LOUIS SUMMEL, Proprietor,		some that were laying there not intended for papa and mamma to read. 'I really don't know why Delia should not go,' said the unsuspicious, good-na- tured uncle. 'You will be sure to take	us. On and on we went. I did not speak to the mare, nor with her; there was no need. She was trotting like a race horse, her tail streaming over the dash-board of the sleigh.	leisurely through the streets, dressed with care, as I usually am when walking out for pleasure, and as I intended making some trifling purchases by the way, I recollect I had the beautiful purse which was my	I could not take him up—could not hush him on my bosom ! Woman," she said, looking me in the face with a gaze I shall never forget, "I will take this linen now, for it is needed, and I have no money to	courses in pretty strong English on the vice of intemperance : "Take especial care that you delight not in wine, for there ne- ver was any man who came to honor or preferment that loved it, for it transform-
the hands of Ignorant or unskillful PRE- DERS, who, by the use of that deadly Pol- Mercury, &c., destroy the constitution, and able of curing, keep the unhappy sufferer h after month taking their noxious or kn- us compounds, and instead of being restored enewal of Life Vigor and Hoppiness, in des- eave him with ruined Health to sigh over alling disappointment.	County, Pa., at the Station of the N. C. R. W. Choice wines and cigars at the bar. The table is supplied with the best the market affords. Good stabling and attentive ostlers. HUMMEL'S RESTAURANT , LOUIS YUMMEL, Proprietor, Commerce St., SEAMOKIN, PENN'A. Having just refitted the above Saloon for the	Sobertising Medium THE SUNBURY AMERICAN	some that were laying there not intended for papa and mamma to read. 'I really don't know why Delia should not go,' said the unsuspicious, good-ma- tured uncle. 'You will be sure to take care of her, Rolfe ?'	us. On and on we went. I did not speak to the mare, nor with her; there was no need. She was trotting like a race horse, her tail streaming over the dash-board of the sleigh. Another hour passed. The light snow	leisurely through the streets, dressed with care, as I usually am when walking out for pleasure, and as I intended making some trifling purchases by the way, I recollect I had the beautiful purse which was my Christmas present in my hand. Mrs. B-	I could not take him up—could not hush him on my bosom ! Woman," she said, looking me in the face with a gaze I shall never forget, "I will take this linen now,	courses in pretty strong English on the vice of intemperance : "Take especial care that you delight not in wine, for there ne- ver was any man who came to honor or preferment that loved it, for it transform- eth a man into a beast, decayeth health,
the hands of Ignorant or unskillful PRE- DERS, who, by the use of that deadly Pol- Mercury, dec., destroy the constitution, and able of curing, keep the unhappy sufferer h after month taking their noxious or in- us compounds, and instead of being restored enewal of Life Vigor and Happiness, in des- eave him with ruined Health to sigh over ulling disappointment. such, therefore, Dr. JOHNSTON pledges him- preserve the most Inviolable Secrecy, and	County, Pa., at the Station of the N. C. R. W. Choice wines and clgars at the bar. The table is supplied with the best the market affords. Good stabling and attentive ostlers. HUMMEL'S RESTAURANT , LOUIS SUMMEL, Proprietor, Commerce St., SEAMOKIN, PENN'A. Having just refitted the above Saloon for the accomodation of the public, is now prepared to serve his friends with the best refreshments, and		some that were laying there not intended for papa and mamma to read. 'I really don't know why Delia should not go,' said the unsuspicious, good-ma- tured uncle. 'You will be sure to take care of her, Rolfe ?' 'I'll try to, sir.' 'So in less than half an hour from the	us. On and on we went. I did not speak to the mare, nor with her; there was no need. She was trotting like a race horse, her tail streaming over the dash-board of the sleigh. Another hour passed. The light snow was mounting above the runners, and dri-	leisurely through the streets, dressed with care, as I usually am when walking out for pleasure, and as I intended making some trifling purchases by the way, I recollect I had the beautiful purse which was my Christmas present in my hand. Mrs. B— was walking a few rods ahead of me, and I was wondering how she got every new	I could not take him up—could not hush him on my bosom ! Woman," she said, looking me in the face with a gaze I shall never forget, "I will take this linen now, for it is needed, and I have no money to buy more." I did not answer her. I had lost all power of utterance. There was a grim, despairing expression in her eyes	courses in pretty strong English on the vice of intemperance : "Take especial care that you delight not in wine, for there ne- ver was any man who came to honor or preferment that loved it, for it transform- eth a man into a beast, decayeth health, poiseneth the breath, destroyeth natural heat, bringeth a man's stomach to an arti-
the hands of Ignorant or unskillful PRE- DERS, who, by the use of that deadly Pol- Mercury, dc., destroy the constitution, and able of curing, keep the unhappy sufferer h after month taking their noxious or in- us compounds, and instead of being restored enewal of Life Vigor and Happiness, in des- eave him with ruined Health to sigh over slifting disappointment. such, therefore, Dr. JOHNSTON pledges him- p preserve the most Inviolable Secreev, and his extensive practice and observations in	County, Pa., at the Station of the N. C. R. W. Choice wines and cigars at the bar. The table is supplied with the best the market affords. Good stabling and attentive ostlers. HUMMEL'S RESTAURANT , LOUIS MUMMEL, Proprietor, Commerce St., SEAMOKIN, PENN'A. Having just refitted the above Saloon for the accomodation of the public, is now prepared to		some that were laying there not intended for papa and mamma to read. 'I really don't know why Delia should not go,' said the unsuspicious, good-na- tured uncle. 'You will be sure to take care of her, Rolfe ?' 'I'll try to, sir.' 'So in less than half an hour from the time it was mentioned, I was gathering up	us. On and on we went. I did not speak to the mare, nor with her; there was no need. She was trotting like a race horse, her tail streaming over the dash-board of the sleigh. Another hour passed. The light snow was mounting above the runners, and dri- ving obliquely across our laps in blinding,	leisurely through the streets, dressed with care, as I usually am when walking out for pleasure, and as I intended making some tridling purchases by the way, I recollect I had the beautiful purse which was my Christmas present in my hand. Mrs. B- was walking a few rods ahead of me, and I was wondering how she got every new fashion so soon, and whether she used her	I could not take him up—could not hush him on my bosom ! Woman," she said, looking me in the face with a gaze I shall never forget, "I will take this linen now, for it is needed, and I have no money to buy more." I did not answer her. I had lost all power of utterance. There was a grim, despairing expression in her eyes that froze me. She fastened them on me	courses in pretty strong English on the vice of intemperance : "Take especial care that you delight not in wine, for there ne- ver was any man who came to honor or preferment that loved it, for it transform- eth a man into a beast, decayeth health, poiseneth the breath, destroyeth natural heat, bringeth a man's stomach to an arti- ficial burning, deformeth the face, rotteth
the hands of Ignorant or unskillful PRE- DERS, who, by the use of that deadly Pol- Mercury, &c., destroy the constitution, and able of curing, keep the unhappy sufferer h after month taking their noxious or kn- us compounds, and instead of being restored enewal of Life Vigor and Heppiness, in des- enveloption of the Vigor and Vigor and Vigor and his extensive practice and observations in reat Hospitals of Europe, and the first in contry, viz: England, France, Philadelphia	County, Pa., at the Station of the N. C. R. W. Choice wines and clgars at the bar. The table is supplied with the best the market affords. Good stabling and attentive ostlers. HUMMEL'S RESTAURANT , LOUIS SUMMEL, Proprietor, Commerce St., SEAMOKIN, PENN'A. Having just refitted the above Saloon for the accomodation of the public, is now prepared to serve his friends with the best refreshments, and	THE SUNBURY AMERICAN	some that were laying there not intended for papa and mamma to read. 'I really don't know why Delia should not go,' said the unsuspicious, good-na- tured uncle. 'You will be sure to take care of her, Rolfe ?' 'I'll try to, sir.' 'So in less than half an hour from the time it was mentioned, I was gathering up the reins, and Brown Bess was tossing her	us. On and on we went. I did not speak to the mare, nor with her; there was no need. She was trotting like a race horse, her tail streaming over the dash-board of the sleigh. Another hour passed. The light snow was mounting above the runners, and dri- ving obliquely across our laps in blinding, smothering thickness, still we were getting	leisurely through the streets, dressed with care, as I usually am when walking out for pleasure, and as I intended making some trilling purchases by the way, I recollect I had the beautiful purse which was my Christmas present in my hand. Mrs. B— was walking a few rods ahead of me, and I was wondering how she got every new fashion so soon, and whether she used her cast off things to pay her help with, or sold	I could not take him up—could not hush him on my bosom ! Woman," she said, looking me in the face with a gaze I shall never forget, "I will take this linen now, for it is needed, and I have no money to buy more." I did not answer her. I had lost all power of utterance. There was a grim, despairing expression in her eyes that froze me. She fastened them on me a moment, and perceiving my shudder of	courses in pretty strong English on the vice of intemperance : "Take especial care that you delight not in wine, for there ne- ver was any man who came to honor or preferment that loved it, for it transform- eth a man into a beast, decayeth health, poiseneth the breath, destroyeth natural heat, bringeth a man's stomach to an arti- ficial burning, deformeth the face, rotteth the teeth, and to conclude, maketh a man
the hands of Ignorant or unskillful PRE- DERS, who, by the use of that deadly Pol- Mercury, &c., destroy the constitution, and able of curing, keep the unhappy sufferer h after month taking their noxious or ke- us compounds, and instead of being restored enewal of Life Vigor and Heppiness, in des- entered in the transformer of the sign over alling disappointment. such, therefore, Dr. JORNSTON pledges him- p preserve the most Inviolable Secrecy, and his extensive practice and observations in reat Hospitals of Europe, and the first in country, viz: England, France, Philadelphia is extensive practice and observations in country, viz: England, France, Philadelphia	County, Pa., at the Station of the N. C. R. W. Choice wines and cigars at the bar. The table is supplied with the best the market affords. Good stabling and attentive ostlers. HUMMEL'S RESTAURANT, LOUIS SUMMEL, Proprietor, Commerce St., SEAMOKIN, PENN'A. Having just refitted the above Saloon for the accomodation of the public, is now prepared to serve his friends with the best refreshments, and fresh Lager Beer, Ale, Porter, and all other malt quors.	THE SUNBURY AMERICAN	some that were laying there not intended for papa and mamma to read. 'I really don't know why Delia should not go,' said the unsuspicious, good-na- tured uncle. 'You will be sure to take care of her, Rolfe ?' 'I'll try to, sir.' 'So in less than half an hour from the time it was mentioned, I was gathering up the reins, and Brown Bess was tossing her head until the bells jingled merrily.	us. On and on we went. I did not speak to the mare, nor with her; there was no need. She was trotting like a race horse, her tail streaming over the dash-board of the sleigh. Another hour passed. The light snow was mounting above the runners, and dri- ving obliquely across our laps in blinding, smothering thickness, still we were getting on well; I hoped we were nearing home. 'Are you cold ?' I asked drawing Cor-	leisurely through the streets, dressed with care, as I usually am when walking out for pleasure, and as I intended making some trifling purchases by the way, I recollect I had the beautiful purse which was my Christmas present in my hand. Mrs. B- was walking a few rods ahead of me, and I was wondering how she got every new fashion so soon, and whether she used her cast off things to pay her help with, or sold them to the china pedlers, or whether it	I could not take him up—could not hush him on my bosom ! Woman," she said, looking me in the face with a gaze I shall never forget, "I will take this linen now, for it is needed, and I have no money to buy more." I did not answer her. I had lost all power of utterance. There was a grim, despairing expression in her eyes that froze me. She fastened them on me a moment, and perceiving my shudder of horror at the idea of being utterly deprived	courses in pretty strong English on the vice of intemperance : "Take especial care that you delight not in wine, for there ne- ver was any man who came to honor or preferment that loved it, for it transform- eth a man into a beast, decayeth health, poiseneth the breath, destroyeth natural heat, bringeth a man's stomach to an arti- ficial burning, deformeth the face, rotteth the teeth, and to conclude, maketh a man contemptable, soon old, and despised of all
the hands of Ignorant or unskillful PRE- DERS, who, by the use of that deadly Pol- Mercury, &c., destroy the constitution, and able of curing, keep the unhappy sufferer h after month taking their noxious or in- us compounds, and instead of being restored enewal of Life Vigor and Happiness, in des- eave him with ruined Health to sigh over ulling disappointment. such, therefore, Dr. JONNETON pledges him- o preserve the most Inviolable Secrecy, and his extensive practice and observations in reat Hospitals of Europe, and the first in ountry, viz: England, France, Philadelphia lsewhere, is enabled to offer the most cer- speedy and effectual remedy in the world l diseases of imprudence.	County, Pa., at the Station of the N. C. R. W. Choice wines and clgars at the bar. The table is supplied with the best the market affords. Good stabling and attentive ostlers. HUMMEL'S RESTAURANT , LOUIS SUMMEL, Proprietor, Commerce St., SEAMOKIN, PENN'A. Having just refitted the above Saloon for the accomodation of the public, is now prepared to serve his friends with the best refreshments, and	THE SUNBURY AMERICAN	some that were laying there not intended for papa and mamma to read. 'I really don't know why Delia should not go,' said the unsuspicious, good-na- tured uncle. 'You will be sure to take care of her, Rolfe ?' 'I'll try to, sir.' 'So in less than half an hour from the time it was mentioned, I was gathering up the reins, and Brown Bess was tossing her head until the bells jingled merrily. 'It's royal traveling,' called out Uncle	us. On and on we went. I did not speak to the mare, nor with her; there was no need. She was trotting like a race horse, her tail streaming over the dash-board of the sleigh. Another hour passed. The light snow was mounting above the runners, and dri- ving obliquely across our laps in blinding, smothering thickness, still we were getting on well; I hoped we were nearing home. 'Are you cold?' I asked, drawing Cor-	leisurely through the streets, dressed with care, as I usually am when walking out for pleasure, and as I intended making some trifling purchases by the way, I recollect I had the beautiful purse which was my Christmas present in my hand. Mrs. B- was walking a few rods ahead of me, and I was wondering how she got every new fashion so soon, and whether she used her cast off things to pay her help with, or sold them to the china pedlers, or whether it could be really true that she gave them to	I could not take him up—could not hush him on my bosom ! Woman," she said, looking me in the face with a gaze I shall never forget, "I will take this linen now, for it is needed, and I have no money to buy more." I did not answer her. I had lost all power of utterance. There was a grim, despairing expression in her eyes that froze me. She fastened them on me a moment, and perceiving my shudder of horror at the idea of being utterly deprived of clothing, and left as a gazing stock in	courses in pretty strong English on the vice of intemperance : "Take especial care that you delight not in wine, for there ne- ver was any man who came to honor or preferment that loved it, for it transform- eth a man into a beast, decayeth health, poiseneth the breath, destroyeth natural heat, bringeth a man's stomach to an arti- ficial burning, deformeth the face, rotteth the tecth, and to conclude, maketh a man contemptable, soon old, and despised of all wise and worthy men ; hated in thy ser-
the hands of Ignorant or unskillful PRE- DERS, who, by the use of that deadly Pol- Mercury, &c., destroy the constitution, and able of curing, keep the unhappy sufferer h after month taking their noxious or in- us compounds, and instead of being restored enewal of Life Vigor and Happiness, in des- eave him with ruined Health to sigh over sling disappointment. such, therefore, Dr. Jourserox pledges him- o preserve the most Inviolable Secrecy, and his extensive practice and observations in reat Hospitals of Europe, and the first in ountry, viz: England, France, Philadelphia lsewhere, is enabled to offer the most cer- speedy and effectual remedy in the world l diseases of imprudence. DR. JOHNSTON.	County, Pa., at the Station of the N. C. R. W. Choice wines and cigars at the bar. The table is supplied with the best the market affords. Good stabling and attentive ostlers. HUMMEL'S RESTAURANT. LOUIS FUMMEL, Proprietor, Commerce St., SEAMOKIN, PENN'A. Having just reflitted the above Saloon for the accomodation of the public, is now prepared to serve his friends with the best refreshments, and fresh Lager Beer, Ale, Parter, and all other malt quors. Business Cards. W. S. EHOADS. J. PACKER HAAS	THE SUNBURY AMERICAN IS THE	some that were laying there not intended for papa and mamma to read. 'I really don't know why Delia should not go,' said the unsuspicious, good-ma- tured uncle. 'You will be sure to take care of her, Rolfe ?' 'I'll try to, sir.' 'So in less than half an hour from the time it was mentioned, I was gathering up the reins, and Brown Bess was tossing her head until the bells jingled merrily. 'It's royal traveling,' called out Uncle Dan, as we started. 'Don't be out too	us. On and on we went. I did not speak to the mare, nor with her; there was no need. She was trotting like a race horse, her tail streaming over the dash-board of the sleigh. Another hour passed. The light snow was mounting above the runners, and dri- ving obliquely across our laps in blinding, smothering thickness, still we were getting on well; I hoped we were nearing home. 'Are you cold?' I asked, drawing Cor-	leisurely through the streets, dressed with care, as I usually am when walking out for pleasure, and as I intended making some trifling purchases by the way, I recollect I had the beautiful purse which was my Christmas present in my hand. Mrs. B— was walking a few rods ahead of me, and I was wondering how she got every new fashion so soon, and whether she used her cast off things to pay her help with, or sold them to the china pedlers, or whether it could be really true that she gave them to the poor. Well, just as this foolish train	I could not take him up—could not hush him on my bosom ! Woman," she said, looking me in the face with a gaze I shall never forget, "I will take this linen now, for it is needed, and I have no money to buy more." I did not answer her. I had lost all power of utterance. There was a grim, despairing expression in her eyes that froze me. She fastened them on me a moment, and perceiving my shudder of horror at the idea of being utterly deprived of clothing, and left as a gazing stock in the public street, she drew back, saying,	courses in pretty strong English on the vice of intemperance : "Take especial care that you delight not in wine, for there ne- ver was any man who came to honor or preferment that loved it, for it transform- eth a man into a beast, decayeth health, poiseneth the breath, destroyeth natural heat, bringeth a man's stomach to an arti- ficial burning, deformeth the face, rotteth the teeth, and to conclude, maketh a man contemptable, soon old, and despised of all wise and worthy men; hated in thy ser- vants, thyself and thy companions, for it is
the hands of Ignorant or unskillful PRE- DERS, who, by the use of that deadly Pol- Mercury, &c., destroy the constitution, and able of curing, keep the unhappy sufferer h after month taking their noxious or in- us compounds, and instead of being restored enewal of Life Vigor and Happiness, in des- eave him with ruined Health to sigh over ulling disappointment. such, therefore, Dr. Jourserox pledges him- o preserve the most Inviolable Secrecy, and his extensive practice and observations in reat Hospitals of Europe, and the first in ountry, viz: England, France, Philadelphia lsewhere, is enabled to offer the most cer- speedy and effectual remedy in the world I diseases of imprudence. DR. JOHNSTON. iCE, NO. 7, S. FREDERICK STREET.	County, Pa., at the Station of the N. C. R. W. Choice wines and cigars at the bar. The table is supplied with the best the market affords. Good stabling and attentive ostlers. HUMMEL'S RESTAURANT, LOUIS SUMMEL, Proprietor, Commerce St., SEAMOKIN, PENN'A. Having just refitted the above Saloon for the accomodation of the public, is now prepared to serve his friends with the best refreshments, and fresh Lager Beer, Ale, Porter, and all other malt quors. US SUMMES Cards.	THE SUNBURY AMERICAN IN THE BEST ADVERISING MEDIUM	some that were laying there not intended for papa and mamma to read. 'I really don't know why Delia should not go,' said the unsuspicious, good-ma- tured uncle. 'You will be sure to take care of her, Rolfe ?' 'I'll try to, sir.' 'So in less than half an hour from the time it was mentioned, I was gathering up the reins, and Brown Bess was tossing her head until the bells jingled merrily. 'It's royal traveling,' called out Uncle Dan, as we started. 'Don't be out too late, Rolfe, for there has been a severe snap	us. On and on we went. I did not speak to the mare, nor with her; there was no need. She was trotting like a race horse, her tail streaming over the dash-board of the sleigh. Another hour passed. The light snow was mounting above the runners, and dri- ving obliquely across our laps in blinding, smothering thickness, still we were getting on well; I hoped we were nearing home. 'Are you cold ?' I asked, drawing Cor- delia close to me.	leisurely through the streets, dressed with care, as I usually am when walking out for pleasure, and as I intended making some trifling purchases by the way, I recollect I had the beautiful purse which was my Christmas present in my hand. Mrs. B— was walking a few rods ahead of me, and I was wondering how she got every new fashion so soon, and whether she used her cast off things to pay her help with, or sold them to the china pedlers, or whether it could be really true that she gave them to the poor. Well, just as this foolish train of thought was passing through my mind	I could not take him up—could not hush him on my bosom ! Woman," she said, looking me in the face with a gaze I shall never forget, "I will take this linen now, for it is needed, and I have no money to buy more." I did not answer her. I had lost all power of utterance. There was a grim, despairing expression in her eyes that froze me. She fastened them on me a moment, and perceiving my shudder of horror at the idea of being utterly deprived of clothing, and left as a gazing stock in the public street, she drew back, saying, "No, sinful, condemned womau—no? I	courses in pretty strong English on the vice of intemperance : "Take especial care that you delight not in wine, for there ne- ver was any man who came to honor or preferment that loved it, for it transform- eth a man into a beast, decayeth health, poiseneth the breath, destroyeth natural heat, bringeth a man's stomach to an arti- ficial burning, deformeth the face, rotteth the teeth, and to conclude, maketh a man contemptable, soon old, and despised of all wise and worthy men; hated in thy ser- vants, thyself and thy companious, for it is a bewitching and infectious vice; and re-
the hands of Ignorant or unskillful PRE- DERS, who, by the use of that deadly Pol- Mercury, &c., destroy the constitution, and able of curing, keep the unhappy sufferer h after month taking their noxious or kn- us compounds, and instead of being restored enewal of Life Vigor and Happiness, in des- eave him with ruined Health to sigh over alling disappointment. such, therefore, Dr. JOHNSTON pledges him- p preserve the most Inviolable Secreey, and his extensive practice and observations in reat Hospitals of Europe, and the first in country, viz: England, France, Philadelphia isewhere, is enabled to offer the most cer- speedy and effectual remedy in the world i diseases of imprudence. DR. JOHNSTON. iCE, NO. 7, S. FREDERICK STREET. EALTIMORS, M. D. and side going from Baltimore street, a few	County, Pa., at the Station of the N. C. R. W. Choice wines and cigars at the bar. The table is supplied with the best the market affords. Good stabling and attentive ostlers. HUMMEL'S RESTAURANT. LOUIS FUMMEL, Proprietor, Commerce St., SEAMOKIN, PENN'A. Having just reflitted the above Saloon for the accomodation of the public, is now prepared to serve his friends with the best refreshments, and fresh Lager Beer, Ale, Parter, and all other malt quors. Business Cards. W. S. EHOADS. J. PACKER HAAS	THE SUNBURY AMERICAN IS THE	some that were laying there not intended for papa and mamma to read. 'I really don't know why Delia should not go,' said the unsuspicious, good-ma- tured uncle. 'You will be sure to take care of her, Rolfe ?' 'I'll try to, sir.' 'So in less than half an hour from the time it was mentioned, I was gathering up the reins, and Brown Bess was tossing her head until the bells jingled merrily. 'It's royal traveling,' called out Uncle Dan, as we started. 'Don't be out too late, Rolfe, for there has been a severe snap in the weather lately, and—'	us. On and on we went. I did not speak to the mare, nor with her; there was no need. She was trotting like a race horse, her tail streaming over the dash-board of the sleigh. Another hour passed. The light snow was mounting above the runners, and dri- ving obliquely across our laps in blinding, smothering thickness, still we were getting on well; I hoped we were nearing home. 'Are you cold?' I asked, drawing Cor- delia close to me. 'Nothing to speak of,' she cheerfully re- plied. But I felt a strong shudder shake her from head to foot.	leisurely through the streets, dressed with care, as I usually am when walking out for pleasure, and as I intended making some trifling purchases by the way, I recollect I had the beautiful purse which was my Christmas present in my hand. Mrs. B— was walking a few rods ahead of me, and I was wondering how she got every new fashion so soon, and whether she used her cast off things to pay her help with, or sold them to the china pedlers, or whether it could be really true that she gave them to the poor. Well, just as this foolish train of thought was passing through my mind all at once a woman advanced toward me,	I could not take him up—could not hush him on my bosom ! Woman," she said, looking me in the face with a gaze I shall never forget, "I will take this linen now, for it is needed, and I have no money to buy more." I did not answer her. I had lost all power of utterance. There was a grim, despairing expression in her eyes that froze me. She fastened them on me a moment, and perceiving my shudder of horror at the idea of being utterly deprived of clothing, and left as a gazing stock in the public street, she drew back, saying, "No, sinful, condemned woman—no! I cannot take away thy covering.	courses in pretty strong English on the vice of intemperance : "Take especial care that you delight not in wine, for there ne- ver was any man who came to honor or preferment that loved it, for it transform- eth a man into a beast, decayeth health, poiseneth the breath, destroyeth natural heat, bringeth a man's stomach to an arti- ficial burning, deformeth the face, rotteth the teeth, and to conclude, maketh a man contemptable, soon old, and despised of all wise and worthy men ; hated in thy ser- vants, thyself and thy companious, for it is a bewitching and infectious vice ; and re- member my words, that it were better for a
the hands of Ignorant or unskillful PRE- DERS, who, by the use of that deadly Pol- Mercury, &c., destroy the constitution, and able of curing, keep the unhappy sufferer h after month taking their noxious or ke- us compounds, and instead of being restored enewal of Life Vigor and Happiness, in des- eave him with ruined Health to sigh over alling disappointment. such, therefore, Dr. JOHNSTON pledges him- o preserve the most Inviolable Secrecy, and his extensive practice and observations in reat Hospitals of Europe, and the first in ountry, viz: England, France, Philadelphia leewhere, is enabled to offer the most cer- speedy and effectual remedy in the world i diseases of imprudence. DR. JOHNSTON, iCE, NO. 7, S. FREDERICK STREET, EMILIMORE, M. D.	County, Pa., at the Station of the N. C. R. W. Choice wines and cigars at the bar. The table is supplied with the best the market affords. Good stabling and attentive ostlers. HUMBEL'S RESTAURANT . LOUIS WUMMEL, Proprietor, Commerce St., SEAMOKIN, PENN'A. Having just refitted the above Saloon for the accomodation of the public, is now prepared to serve his friends with the best refreshments, and fresh Lager Beer, Ale, Porter, and all other malt quors. Business Gards . W. S. EHOADS. W. S. EHOADS. M. S. RHOADS & CO., RETAIL DEALERS OF ANTHRACITE COAL, SUNBURY, PENN'A. OFFICE WITH HAAS, FAGELY & Co.,	THE SUNBURY AMERICAN IN THE BEST ADVERISING MEDIUM	some that were laying there not intended for papa and mamma to read. 'I really don't know why Delia should not go,' said the unsuspicious, good-ma- tured uncle. 'You will be sure to take care of her, Rolfe ?' 'I'll try to, sir.' 'So in less than half an hour from the time it was mentioned, I was gathering up the reins, and Brown Bess was tossing her head until the bells jingled merrily. 'It's royal traveling,' called out Uncle Dan, as we started. 'Don't be out too late, Rolfe, for there has been a severe snap in the weather lately, and—' 'The rest was lost in the crunching of	 us. On and on we went. I did not speak to the mare, nor with her; there was no need. She was trotting like a race horse, her tail streaming over the dash-board of the sleigh. Another hour passed. The light snow was mounting above the runners, and dri- ving obliquely across our laps in blinding, smothering thickness, still we were getting on well; I hoped we were nearing home. 'Are you cold ?' I asked, drawing Cor- delia close to me. 'Nothing to speak of,' she cheerfully re- plied. But I felt a strong shudder shake her from head to foot. 'Presently the sleigh pitched considera- 	leisurely through the streets, dressed with care, as I usually am when walking out for pleasure, and as I intended making some trifling purchases by the way, I recollect I had the beautiful purse which was my Christmas present in my hand. Mrs. B— was walking a few rods ahead of me, and I was wondering how she got every new fashion so soon, and whether she used her cast off things to pay her help with, or sold them to the china pedlers, or whether it could be really true that she gave them to the poor. Well, just as this foolish train of thought was passing through my mind	I could not take him up—could not hush him on my bosom ! Woman," she said, looking me in the face with a gaze I shall never forget, "I will take this linen now, for it is needed, and I have no money to buy more." I did not answer her. I had lost all power of utterance. There was a grim, despairing expression in her eyes that froze me. She fastened them on me a moment, and perceiving my shudder of horror at the idea of being utterly deprived of clothing, and left as a gazing stock in the public street, she drew back, saying, "No, sinful, condemned woman—no? I cannot take away thy covering. O, my child, my cherub, my cherub, my	courses in pretty strong English on the vice of intemperance : "Take especial care that you delight not in wine, for there ne- ver was any man who came to honor or preferment that loved it, for it transform- eth a man into a beast, decayeth health, poiseneth the breath, destroyeth natural heat, bringeth a man's stomach to an arti- ficial burning, deformeth the face, rotteth the teeth, and to conclude, maketh a man contemptable, soon old, and despised of all wise and worthy men; hated in thy ser- vants, thyself and thy companious, for it is a bewitching and infectious vice; and re-
the hands of Ignorant or unskillful PRE- DERS, who, by the use of that deadly Pol- Mercury, &c., destroy the constitution, and able of curing, keep the unhappy sufferer h after month taking their noxious or in- us compounds, and instead of being restored enewal of Life Vigor and Happiness, in des- eave him with ruined Health to sigh over ulling disappointment. such, therefore, Dr. Jouwsrow pledges him- o preserve the most Inviolable Secrecy, and his extensive practice and observations in reat Hospitals of Europe, and the first in ountry, viz: England, France, Philadelphia lsewhere, is enabled to offer the most cer- speedy and effectual remedy in the world I diseases of imprudence. DR. JOHNSTON. iCE, NO. 7, S. FREDERICK STREET. EALTIMORE, M. D. and side going from Baltimore street, a few from the corner. Fail not to observe name umber. "No letters received unless postpaid and	County, Pa., at the Station of the N. C. R. W. Choice wines and cigars at the bar. The table is supplied with the best the market affords. Good stabling and attentive ostlers. HUMMEL'S RESTAURANT . LOUIS FUMMEL, Proprietor, Commerce St., SEAMOKIN, PENN'A. Having just reflitted the above Saloon for the accomodation of the public, is now prepared to serve his friends with the best refreshments, and fresh Lager Beer, Ale, Parter, and all other malt quors. Gusiness Cards . W. S. EHOADS. J. PACKER HAAS W. S. EHOADS & CO., RETAIL DEALERS OF ANTHRACITE COAL, SUNBURY, PENN'A. OFFICE WITH HAAS, FAGELY & CO., Orders left at Seaskoltz & Bro's., office Market treet, will receive prompt attention. Country	THE SUNBURY AMERICAN IN THE BEST ADVERISING MEDIUM	some that were laying there not intended for papa and mamma to read. 'I really don't know why Delia should not go,' said the unsuspicious, good-ma- tured uncle. 'You will be sure to take care of her, Rolfe ?' 'I'll try to, sir.' 'So in less than half an hour from the time it was mentioned, I was gathering up the reins, and Brown Bess was tossing her head until the bells jingled merrily. 'It's royal traveling,' called out Uncle Dan, as we started. 'Don't be out too late, Rolfe, for there has been a severe snap in the weather lately, and—'	 us. On and on we went. I did not speak to the mare, nor with her; there was no need. She was trotting like a race horse, her tail streaming over the dash-board of the sleigh. Another hour passed. The light snow was mounting above the runners, and dri- ving obliquely across our laps in blinding, smothering thickness, still we were getting on well; I hoped we were nearing home. 'Are you cold ?' I asked, drawing Cor- delia close to me. 'Nothing to speak of,' she cheerfully re- plied. But I felt a strong shudder shake her from head to foot. 'Presently the sleigh pitched considera- ble, although I had a tight rein. 	leisurely through the streets, dressed with care, as I usually am when walking out for pleasure, and as I intended making some trifling purchases by the way, I recollect I had the beautiful purse which was my Christmas present in my hand. Mrs. B— was walking a few rods ahead of me, and I was wondering how she got every new fashion so soon, and whether she used her cast off things to pay her help with, or sold them to the china pedlers, or whether it could be really true that she gave them to the poor. Well, just as this foolish train of thought was passing through my mind all at once a woman advanced toward me, with no bonnet, and a miserable shawl drawn over her head. I thought she was going to beg, and was beginning to tell her	I could not take him up—could not hush him on my bosom ! Woman," she said, looking me in the face with a gaze I shall never forget, "I will take this linen now, for it is needed, and I have no money to buy more." I did not answer her. I had lost all power of utterance. There was a grim, despairing expression in her eyes that froze me. She fastened them on me a moment, and perceiving my shudder of horror at the idea of being utterly deprived of clothing, and left as a gazing stock in the public street, she drew back, saying, "No, sinful, condemned womau—no? I cannot take away thy covering. O, my child, my cherub, my cherub, my blessed angel of heaven ! thou art innocent, her the is a miltr. Na medem ! I had	courses in pretty strong English on the vice of intemperance : "Take especial care that you delight not in wine, for there ne- ver was any man who came to honor or preferment that loved it, for it transform- eth a man into a beast, decayeth health, poiseneth the breath, destroyeth natural heat, bringeth a man's stomach to an arti- ficial burning, deformeth the face, rotteth the teeth, and to conclude, maketh a man contemptable, soon old, and despised of all wise and worthy men ; hated in thy ser- vants, thyself and thy companions, for it is a bewitching and infectious vice ; and re- member my words, that it were better for a man to be subjected to any vice than to it ; for all other vanities and sins are recovered, but a drunkard will never shake off the
the hands of Ignorant or unskillful PRE- DERS, who, by the use of that deadly Pol- Mercury, &c., destroy the constitution, and able of curing, keep the unhappy sufferer h after month taking their noxious or ke- us compounds, and instead of being restored enewal of Life Vigor and Heappiness, in des- entered in the state of the state of the second state of the state of the state of the second state of the state of the state of the second state of the state of the state of the second state of the state of the state of the second state of the state of the state of the second state of the state of the state of the second state of the state of the state of the second state of the state of the state of the state of the second state of the state of the state of the state of the second state of the state of the state of the state of the second state of the state of the state of the state of the second state of the state of the state of the state of the second state of the state of the state of the state of the second state of the state of the state of the state of the second state of the state of the state of the second state of the state of the state of the second state of the	County, Pa., at the Station of the N. C. R. W. Choice wines and cigars at the bar. The table is supplied with the best the market affords. Good stabling and attentive ostlers. HUMMEL'S RESTAURANT, LOUIS SUMMEL, Proprietor, Commerce St., SEAMOKIN, PENN'A. Having just refitted the above Saloon for the accomodation of the public, is now prepared to serve 'ais friends with the best refreshments, and fresh Lager Beer, Ale, Porter, and all other malt quors. Business Cards. W. s. EHOADS. J. PACKER HAAS W. S. EHOADS & CO., RETAIL DEALERS OF ANTHRACITE COAL, SUNBURY, PENN'A. OFFICE WITH HAAS, FAGELY & CO., Orders left at Seaskoltz & Bro's., office Market treet, will receive prompt attention. Country usion respectfully solicited.	THE SUNBURY AMERICAN IS THE BEST AD VERISING MEDIUM In the Central part of the Biate,	some that were laying there not intended for papa and mamma to read. 'I really don't know why Delia should not go,' said the unsuspicious, good-ma- tured uncle. 'You will be sure to take care of her, Rolfe ?' 'I'll try to, sir.' 'So in less than half an hour from the time it was mentioned, I was gathering up the reins, and Brown Bess was tossing her head until the bells jingled merrily. 'It's royal traveling,' called out Uncle Dan, as we started. 'Don't be out too late, Rolfe, for there has been a severe smap in the weather lately, and—' 'The rest was lost in the crunching of the crusty snow, and the 'ding ding, ding,	us. On and on we went. I did not speak to the mare, nor with her; there was no need. She was trotting like a race horse, her tail streaming over the dash-board of the sleigh. Another hour passed. The light snow was mounting above the runners, and dri- ving obliquely across our laps in blinding, smothering thickness, still we were getting on well; I hoped we were nearing home. 'Are you cold ?' I asked, drawing Cor- delia close to me. 'Nothing to speak of,' she cheerfully re- plied. But I felt a strong shudder shake her from head to foot. 'Presently the sleigh pitched considera- ble, although I had a tight rein. 'Rolfe,' she began, and I thought I again	leisurely through the streets, dressed with care, as I usually am when walking out for pleasure, and as I intended making some trifling purchases by the way, I recollect I had the beautiful purse which was my Christmas present in my hand. Mrs. B— was walking a few rods ahead of me, and I was wondering how she got every new fashion so soon, and whether she used her cast off things to pay her help with, or sold them to the china pedlers, or whether it could be really true that she gave them to the poor. Well, just as this foolish train of thought was passing through my mind all at once a woman advanced toward me, with no bonnet, and a miserable shawl drawn over her head. I thought she was going to beg, and was beginning to tell her that I had nothing to give, when she seized	I could not take him up—could not hush him on my bosom ! Woman," she said, looking me in the face with a gaze I shall never forget, "I will take this linen now, for it is needed, and I have no money to buy more." I did not answer her. I had lost all power of utterance. There was a grim, despairing expression in her eyes that froze me. She fastened them on me a moment, and perceiving my shudder of horror at the idea of being utterly deprived of clothing, and left as a gazing stock in the public street, she drew back, saying, "No, sinful, condemned woman—no? I cannot take away thy covering. O, my child, my cherub, my cherub, my blessed angel of heaven ! thou art innocent, but she is guilty. No, madam ! I had themet to take it for a shrand to lay out	courses in pretty strong English on the vice of intemperance : "Take especial care that you delight not in wine, for there ne- ver was any man who came to honor or preferment that loved it, for it transform- eth a man into a beast, decayeth health, poiseneth the breath, destroyeth natural heat, bringeth a man's stomach to an arti- ficial burning, deformeth the face, rotteth the teeth, and to conclude, maketh a man contemptable, soon old, and despised of all wise and worthy men ; hated in thy ser- vants, thyself and thy companions, for it is a bewitching and infectious vice ; and re- member my words, that it were better for a man to be subjected to any vice than to it ; for all other vanities and sins are recovered, but a drunkard will never shake off the delight of beastliness ; for the longer it
the hands of Ignorant or unskillful PRE- DERS, who, by the use of that deadly Pol- Mercury, dec., destroy the constitution, and able of curing, keep the unhappy sufferer h after month taking their noxious or ke- us compounds, and instead of being restored enewal of Life Vigor and Hoppiness, in des- eave him with ruined Health to sigh over ulling disappointment. such, therefore, Dr. JOHNSTON pledges him- o preserve the most Inviolable Secreev, and his extensive practice and observations in reat Hospitals of Europe, and the first in ountry, viz: England, France, Philadelphia isewhere, is enabled to offer the most cer- speedy and effectual remedy in the world I diseases of imprudence. DR. JOHNSTON. iCE, NO. 7, S. FREDERICK STREET. EALTIMORE, M. D. and side going from Baltimorestreet, a few from the corner. Fail not to observe name umber. "No letters received unless postpaid and ining a stamp to be used on the reply. Per- eriting should state age, and send a portion in tisement describing symptoms.	County, Pa., at the Station of the N. C. R. W. Choice wines and cigars at the bar. The table is supplied with the best the market affords. Good stabling and attentive ostlers. HUMMEL'S RESTAURANT , LOUIS FUMMEL, Proprietor, Commerce St., SEAMOKIN, PENN'A. Having just reflitted the above Saloon for the accomodation of the public, is now prepared to serve his friends with the best refreshments, and fresh Lager Beer, Ale, Parter, and all other malt quors. Gusiness Gards . W. S. EHOADS. M. S. EHOADS & CO., RETAIL DEALERS OF ANTHRACITE COAL, SUNBURY, PENN'A. OFFICE WITH HAAS, FAGELY & CO., Orders left at Seaskoltz & Bro's., office Market treet, will receive prompt attention. Country ustom respectfully solicited. Feb. 4, 1571tf.	THE SUNBURY AMERICAN IN THE BEST ADVERISING MEDIUM	some that were laying there not intended for papa and mamma to read. 'I really don't know why Delia should not go,' said the unsuspicious, good-ma- tured uncle. 'You will be sure to take care of her, Rolfe ?' 'I'll try to, sir.' 'So in less than half an hour from the time it was mentioned, I was gathering up the reins, and Brown Bess was tossing her head until the bells jingled merrily. 'It's royal traveling,' called out Uncle Dan, as we started. 'Don't be out too late, Rolfe, for there has been a severe snap in the weather lately, and—' 'The rest was lost in the crunching of the crusty snow, and the 'ding ding, ding, of the cup-shaped bells.	 us. On and on we went. I did not speak to the mare, nor with her; there was no need. She was trotting like a race horse, her tail streaming over the dash-board of the sleigh. Another hour passed. The light snow was mounting above the runners, and dri- ving obliquely across our laps in blinding, smothering thickness, still we were getting on well; I hoped we were nearing home. 'Are you cold ?' I asked, drawing Cor- delia close to me. 'Nothing to speak of,' she cheerfully re- plied. But I felt a strong shudder shake her from head to foot. 'Presently the sleigh pitched considera- ble, although I had a tight rein. 'Rolfe,' she began, and I thought I again felt her frame tremble, although her voice 	leisurely through the streets, dressed with care, as I usually am when walking out for pleasure, and as I intended making some trifling purchases by the way, I recollect I had the beautiful purse which was my Christmas present in my hand. Mrs. B— was walking a few rods ahead of me, and I was wondering how she got every new fashion so soon, and whether she used her cast off things to pay her help with, or sold them to the china pedlers, or whether it could be really true that she gave them to the poor. Well, just as this foolish train of thought was passing through my mind all at once a woman advanced toward me, with no bonnet, and a miserable shawl drawn over her head. I thought she was going to beg, and was beginning to tell her that I had nothing to give, when she seized the strings of my hat, and with a resolute	I could not take him up—could not hush him on my bosom ! Woman," she said, looking me in the face with a gaze I shall never forget, "I will take this linen now, for it is needed, and I have no money to buy more." I did not answer her. I had lost all power of utterance. There was a grim, despairing expression in her eyes that froze me. She fastened them on me a moment, and perceiving my shudder of horror at the idea of being utterly deprived of clothing, and left as a gazing stock in the public street, she drew back, saying, "No, sinful, condemned woman—no! I cannot take away thy covering. O, my child, my cherub, my cherub, my blessed angel of heaven ! thou art innocent, but she is guilty. No, madam ! I had thought to take it for a shroud, to lay out my dead haby, my murdered child—mur-	courses in pretty strong English on the vice of intemperance : "Take especial care that you delight not in wine, for there ne- ver was any man who came to honor or preferment that loved it, for it transform- eth a man into a beast, decayeth health, poiseneth the breath, destroyeth natural heat, bringeth a man's stomach to an arti- ficial burning, deformeth the face, rotteth the teeth, and to conclude, maketh a man contemptable, soon old, and despised of all wise and worthy men; hated in thy ser- vants, thyself and thy companious, for it is a bewitching and infectious vice; and re- member my words, that it were better for a man to be subjected to any vice than to it; for all other vanities and sins are recovered, but a drunkard will never shake off the delight of beastliness; for the longer it possesseth a man the more he will delight
the hands of Ignorant or unskillful PRE- DERS, who, by the use of that deadly Pol- Mercury, &c., destroy the constitution, and able of curing, keep the unhappy sufferer h after month taking their noxious or ke- us compounds, and instead of being restored enewal of Life Vigor and Happiness, in des- eave him with ruined Health to sigh over alling disappointment. such, therefore, Dr. JOHNSTON pledges him- o preserve the most Inviolable Secreey, and his extensive practice and observations in reat Hospitals of Europe, and the first in country, viz: England, France, Philadelphia isewhere, is enabled to offer the most cer- speedy and effectual remedy in the world i diseases of imprudence. DR. JOHNSTON. MCE, NO. 7, S. FREDERICK STREET. EALTIMORS, M. D. and side going from Baltimore street, a few from the corner. Fail not to observe name umber. "No letters received unless postpaid and infig a stamp to be used on the reply. Per- criting should state age, and send a portion intisement describing symptoms. re are so many Paltry, Designing and dess Imprutes advertising themselves as	County, Pa., at the Station of the N. C. R. W. Choice wines and cigars at the bar. The table is supplied with the best the market affords. Good stabling and attentive ostlers. HUMMEL'S RESTAURANT, LOUIS SUMMEL, Proprietor, Commerce St., SEAMOKIN, PENN'A. Having just refitted the above Saloon for the accomodation of the public, is now prepared to serve 'ais friends with the best refreshments, and fresh Lager Beer, Ale, Porter, and all other malt quors. W. S. EHOADS. W. S. EHOADS. Cards. M. S. RHOADS & CO., EFTAIL DEALERS OF ANTHRACITE COAL, SUNBURY, PENN'A. Orfices with Haas, FAGELY & CO., Orders left at Seaskoltz & Bro's., office Market treet, will receive prompt attention. Country ustom respectfully solicited. Feb. 4, 157141. ANTHRACITE COAL ! VALENTINE DIETZ, Wholesale and	THE SUNBURY AMERICAN IS THE BEST AD VERISING MEDIUM In the Central part of the Biate,	some that were laying there not intended for papa and mamma to read. 'I really don't know why Delia should not go,' said the unsuspicious, good-ma- tured uncle. 'You will be sure to take care of her, Rolfe ?' 'I'll try to, sir.' 'So in less than half an hour from the time it was mentioned, I was gathering up the reins, and Brown Bess was tossing her head until the bells jingled merrily. 'It's royal traveling,' called out Uncle Dan, as we started. 'Don't be out too late, Rolfe, for there has been a severe snap in the weather lately, and—' 'The rest was lost in the crunching of the crusty snow, and the 'ding ding, ding, of the cup-shaped bells. 'This is an unexpected honor, Miss Cor- delia,' I began, as the sleigh went smoothly along.	 us. On and on we went. I did not speak to the mare, nor with her; there was no need. She was trotting like a race horse, her tail streaming over the dash-board of the sleigh. Another hour passed. The light snow was mounting above the runners, and driving obliquely across our laps in blinding, smothering thickness, still we were getting on well; I hoped we were nearing home. 'Are you cold?' I asked, drawing Cordelia close to me. 'Nothing to speak of,' she cheerfully replied. But I felt a strong shudder shake her from head to foot. 'Presently the sleigh pitched considerable, although I had a tight rein. 'Rolfe,' she began, and I though I again felt her frame tremble, although her voice was cool and steady, 'the wind does not 	leisurely through the streets, dressed with care, as I usually am when walking out for pleasure, and as I intended making some trifling purchases by the way, I recollect I had the beautiful purse which was my Christmas present in my hand. Mrs. B— was walking a few rods ahead of me, and I was wondering how she got every new fashion so soon, and whether she used her cast off things to pay her help with, or sold them to the china pedlers, or whether it could be really true that she gave them to the poor. Well, just as this foolish train of thought was passing through my mind all at once a woman advanced toward me, with no bonnet, and a miserable shawl drawn over her head. I thought she was going to beg, and was beginning to tell her that I had nothing to give, when she seized the strings of my hat, and with a resolute hand, and a look that almost petrified me,	I could not take him up—could not hush him on my bosom ! Woman," she said, looking me in the face with a gaze I shall never forget, "I will take this linen now, for it is needed, and I have no money to buy more." I did not answer her. I had lost all power of utterance. There was a grim, despairing expression in her eyes that froze me. She fastened them on me a moment, and perceiving my shudder of horror at the idea of being utterly deprived of clothing, and left as a gazing stock in the public street, she drew back, saying, "No, sinful, condemned womau—no? I cannot take away thy covering. O, my child, my cherub, my cherub, my blessed angel of heaven ! thou art innocent, but she is guilty. No, madam ! I had thought to take it for a shroud, to lay out my dead baby, my murdered child—mur- dered by fhe cruelty of a drunken father !	courses in pretty strong English on the vice of intemperance : "Take especial care that you delight not in wine, for there ne- ver was any man who came to honor or preferment that loved it, for it transform- eth a man into a beast, decayeth health, poiseneth the breath, destroyeth natural heat, bringeth a man's stomach to an arti- ficial burning, deformeth the face, rotteth the teeth, and to conclude, maketh a man contemptable, soon old, and despised of all wise and worthy men; hated in thy ser- vants, thyself and thy companious, for it is a bewitching and infectious vice; and re- member my words, that it were better for a man to be subjected to any vice than to it; for all other vanities and sins are recovered, but a drunkard will never shake off the delight of beastliness; for the longer it possesseth a man the more he will delight in it, and the older he groweth, the more
the hands of Ignorant or unskillful PRE- DERS, who, by the use of that deadly Pol- Mercury, &c., destroy the constitution, and able of curing, keep the unhappy sufferer h after month taking their noxious or in- us compounds, and instead of being restored enewal of Life Vigor and Hoppiness, in des- eave him with ruined Health to sigh over ulling disappointment. such, therefore, Dr. Jouxston pledges him- p reserve the most Inviolable Secreev, and his extensive practice and observations in reat Hospitals of Europe, and the first in ountry, viz: England, France, Philadelphia is even imprudence. DR. JOHNSTON, iCE, NO. 7, S. FREDERICK STREET. EALTIMORS, M. D. and side going from Baltimore street, a few from the corner. Fail not to observe name umber. "No letters received unless postpaid and ining a stamp to be used on the reply. Per- oriting should state age, and send a portion irtisement describing symptoms. re are so many Paltry, Designing and	County, Pa., at the Station of the N. C. R. W. Choice wines and cigars at the bar. The table is supplied with the best the market affords. Good stabling and attentive ostlers. HUMMEL'S RESTAURANT, LOUIS SUMMEL, Proprietor, Commerce St., SEAMOKIN, PENN'A. Having just refitted the above Saloon for the accomodation of the public, is now prepared to serve his friends with the best refreshments, and fresh Lager Beer, Ale, Porter, and all other malt quors. W. s. EHOADS. W. s. EHOADS. Cards. W. s. EHOADS. Cards. W. s. EHOADS. Correce with HAAS, FAGELY & CO., OFFICE WITH HAAS, FAGELY & CO., Orders left at Seaskoltz & Bro's., office Market treet, will receive prompt attention. Country ustom respectfully solicited. Feb. 4, 1871tt. ANTHRACITE COAL ! VALENTINE DIETZ, Wholesale and Retail dealer in every variety of	THE SUNBURY AMERICAN IS THE BEST AD VERISING MEDIUM In the Central part of the Biate,	some that were laying there not intended for papa and mamma to read. 'I really don't know why Delia should not go,' said the unsuspicious, good-ma- tured uncle. 'You will be sure to take care of her, Rolfe ?' 'I'll try to, sir.' 'So in less than half an hour from the time it was mentioned, I was gathering up the reins, and Brown Bess was tossing her head until the bells jingled merrily. 'It's royal traveling,' called out Uncle Dan, as we started. 'Don't be out too late, Rolfe, for there has been a severe snap in the weather lately, and—' 'The rest was lost in the crunching of the crusty snow, and the 'ding ding, ding, of the cup-shaped bells. 'This is an unexpected honor, Miss Cor- delia,' I began, as the sleigh went smoothly along. 'Susan and Almira voted me their min-	 us. On and on we went. I did not speak to the mare, nor with her; there was no need. She was trotting like a race horse, her tail streaming over the dash-board of the sleigh. Another hour passed. The light snow was mounting above the runners, and dri- ving obliquely across our laps in blinding, smothering thickness, still we were getting on well; I hoped we were nearing home. 'Are you cold ?' I asked, drawing Cor- delia close to me. 'Nothing to speak of,' she cheerfully re- plied. But I felt a strong shudder shake her from head to foot. 'Presently the sleigh pitched considera- ble, although I had a tight rein. 'Rolfe,' she began, and I thought I again felt her frame tremble, although her voice 	leisurely through the streets, dressed with care, as I usually am when walking out for pleasure, and as I intended making some trifling purchases by the way, I recollect I had the beautiful purse which was my Christmas present in my hand. Mrs. B— was walking a few rods ahead of me, and I was wondering how she got every new fashion so soon, and whether she used her cast off things to pay her help with, or sold them to the china pedlers, or whether it could be really true that she gave them to the poor. Well, just as this foolish train of thought was passing through my mind all at once a woman advanced toward me, with no bonnet, and a miserable shawl drawn over her head. I thought she was going to beg, and was beginning to tell her that I had nothing to give, when she seized the strings of my hat, and with a resolute hand, and a look that almost petrified me, took it off and put it on her own head and	I could not take him up—could not hush him on my bosom ! Woman," she said, looking me in the face with a gaze I shall never forget, "I will take this linen now, for it is needed, and I have no money to buy more." I did not answer her. I had lost all power of utterance. There was a grim, despairing expression in her eyes that froze me. She fastened them on me a moment, and perceiving my shudder of horror at the idea of being utterly deprived of clothing, and left as a gazing stock in the public street, she drew back, saying, "No, sinful, condemned woman—no! I cannot take away thy covering. O, my child, my cherub, my cherub, my blessed angel of heaven ! thou art innocent, but she is guilty. No, madam ! I had thought to take it for a shroud, to lay out my dead baby, my murdered child—mur- dered by fhe crueity of a drunken father !	courses in pretty strong English on the vice of intemperance : "Take especial care that you delight not in wine, for there ne- ver was any man who came to honor or preferment that loved it, for it transform- eth a man into a beast, decayeth health, poiseneth the breath, destroyeth natural heat, bringeth a man's stomach to an arti- ficial burning, deformeth the face, rotteth the teeth, and to conclude, maketh a man contemptable, soon old, and despised of all wise and worthy men; hated in thy ser- vants, thyself and thy companious, for it is a bewitching and infectious vice; and re- member my words, that it were better for a man to be subjected to any vice than to it; for all other vanities and sins are recovered, but a drunkard will never shake off the delight of beastliness; for the longer it possesseth a man the more he will delight in it, and the older he groweth, the more he will be subject to it, for it dulleth the
the hands of Ignorant or unskillful PRE- DERS, who, by the use of that deadly Pol- Mercury, dec., destroy the constitution, and able of curing, keep the unhappy sufferer h after month taking their noxious or in- us compounds, and instead of being restored enewal of Life Vigor and Hoppiness, in des- eave him with ruined Health to sigh over ulling disappointment. such, therefore, Dr. JORNSTON pledges him- o preserve the most Inviolable Secreev, and his extensive practice and observations in reat Hospitals of Europe, and the first in ountry, viz: England, France, Philadelphia is ewhere, is enabled to offer the most cer- speedy and effectual remedy in the world I diseases of impradence. DR. JOHNSTON. ICE, NO. 7, S. FREDERICK STREET. BALTIMORS, M. D. and side going from Baltimore street, a few from the corner. Fail not to observe name umber. No letters received unless postpaid and ining a stamp to be used on the reply. Per- writing should state age, and send a portion it issement describing symptoms. re are so many Paltry, Designing and iless Impasters advertising themselves as vians, trifling with and rulning the healt who unfortunately fall into their power, tr. Johnston deems it necessary to say es-	County, Pa., at the Station of the N. C. R. W. Choice wines and cigars at the bar. The table is supplied with the best the market affords. Good stabling and attentive ostlers. HUMEL'S RESTAURANT. LOUIS YUMMEL, Proprietor, Commerce St., SEAMOKIN, PENN'A. Having just refitted the above Saloon for the accomodation of the public, is now prepared to serve his friends with the best refreshments, and fresh Lager Beer, Ale, Porter, and all other malt quors. Gusiness Gards. W. S. EHOADS. U. PACKER HAAS W. S. EHOADS. M. RETAIL DEALERS OF ANTHERACITE COAL, SUNBURY, PENN'A. OFFICE WITH HAAS, FAGELY & Co., Orders left at Seaskoliz & Bro's., office Market treet, will receive prompt attention. Country ustom respectfully solicited. Feb. 4, 1571tf. ANTHRACITE COAL SUNBURY, PENN'A. OKALENTINE DIETZ. Wholesale and Retail dealer in every variety of ANTHRACITE COAL. UPPER WHARF, SUNBURY, PENN'A.	THE SUNBURY AMERICAN IS THE BEST AD VERISING MEDIUM In the Central part of the Biate,	some that were laying there not intended for papa and mamma to read. 'I really don't know why Delia should not go,' said the unsuspicious, good-ma- tured uncle. 'You will be sure to take care of her, Rolfe ?' 'I'll try to, sir.' 'So in less than half an hour from the time it was mentioned, I was gathering up the reins, and Brown Bess was tossing her head until the bells jingled merrily. 'It's royal traveling,' called out Uncle Dan, as we started. 'Don't be out too late, Rolfe, for there has been a severe snsp in the weather lately, and—' 'The rest was lost in the crunching of the crusty snow, and the 'ding ding, ding, of the cup-shaped bells. 'This is an unexpected honor, Miss Cor- delia,' I began, as the sleigh went smoothly along. 'Susan and Almira voted me their min- ister plenipotentiary,' she responded coldly.	 us. On and on we went. I did not speak to the mare, nor with her; there was no need. She was trotting like a race horse, her tail streaming over the dash-board of the sleigh. Another hour passed. The light snow was mounting above the runners, and driving obliquely across our laps in blinding, smothering thickness, still we were getting on well; I hoped we were nearing home. 'Are you cold ?' I asked, drawing Cordelia close to me. 'Nothing to speak of,' she cheerfully replied. But I felt a strong shudder shake her from head to foot. 'Presently the sleigh pitched considerable, although I had a tight rein. 'Rolfe,' she began, and I though I again felt her frame tremble, although her voice was cool and steady, 'the wind does not strike us just as it did, neither did we pitch 	leisurely through the streets, dressed with care, as I usually am when walking out for pleasure, and as I intended making some trifling purchases by the way, I recollect I had the beautiful purse which was my Christmas present in my hand. Mrs. B— was walking a few rods ahead of me, and I was wondering how she got every new fashion so soon, and whether she used her cast off things to pay her help with, or sold them to the china pedlers, or whether it could be really true that she gave them to the poor. Well, just as this foolish train of thought was passing through my mind all at once a woman advanced toward me, with no bonnet, and a miserable shawl drawn over her head. I thought she was going to beg, and was beginning to tell her that I had nothing to give, when she seized the strings of my hat, and with a resolute hand, and a look that almost petrified me, took it off and put it on her own head and walked away ! I looked after her with as-	I could not take him up—could not hush him on my bosom ! Woman," she said, looking me in the face with a gaze I shall never forget, "I will take this linen now, for it is needed, and I have no money to buy more." I did not answer her. I had lost all power of utterance. There was a grim, despairing expression in her eyes that froze me. She fastened them on me a moment, and perceiving my shudder of horror at the idea of being utterly deprived of clothing, and left as a gazing stock in the public street, she drew back, saying, "No, sinful, condemned woman—no? I cannot take away thy covering. O, my child, my cherub, my cherub, my blessed angel of heaven ! then art innocent, but she is guilty. No, madam ! I had thought to take it for a shroud, to lay out my dead baby, my murdered child—mur- dered by the cruelty of a drunken father ! There he lies, in his pillowless cradle, with the little soiled frock he has worn for weeks	courses in pretty strong English on the vice of intemperance : "Take especial care that you delight not in wine, for there ne- ver was any man who came to honor or preferment that loved it, for it transform- eth a man into a beast, decayeth health, poiseneth the breath, destroyeth natural heat, bringeth a man's stomach to an arti- ficial burning, deformeth the face, rotteth the teeth, and to conclude, maketh a man contemptable, soon old, and despised of all wise and worthy men ; hated in thy ser- vants, thyself and thy companious, for it is a bewitching and infectious vice ; and re- member my words, that it were better for a man to be subjected to any vice than to it ; for all other vanities and sins are recovered, but a drunkard will never shake off the delight of beastliness ; for the longer it possesseth a man the more he will delight in it, and the older he groweth, the more he will be subject to it, for it dulleth the spirits and destroyeth the body, as ivy doth
the hands of Ignorant or unskillful PRE- DERS, who, by the use of that deadly Pol- Mercury, &c., destroy the constitution, and able of curing, keep the unhappy sufferer h after month taking their noxious or ke- us compounds, and instead of being restored enewal of Life Vigor and Heappiness, in des- eave him with ruined Health to sigh over alling disappointment. such, therefore, Dr. JORNSTON pledges him- o preserve the most Inviolable Secreev, and his extensive practice and observations in reat Hospitals of Europe, and the first in ountry, viz: England, France, Philadelphia isewhere, is enabled to offer the most cer- speedy and effectual remedy in the world i diseases of impradence. DR. JOHNSTON. iCE, NO. 7, S. FREDERICK STREET. Extrimong, M. D. and side going from Baltimore street, a few from the corner. Fail not to observe name umber. "No letters received unless postpaid and ining a stamp to be used on the reply. Per- oriting should state age, and send a portion irtisement describing symptoms. re are so many Paltry, Designing mod iless Impraters advertising themselves as ians, trifling with and rulning the Leath who unfortunately fall into their power,	County, Pa., at the Station of the N. C. R. W. Choice wines and cigars at the bar. The table is supplied with the best the market affords. Good stabling and attentive ostlers. HUMEL'S RESTAURANT , LOUIS YUMMEL, Proprietor, Commerce St., SEAMOKIN, PENN'A. Having just refitted the above Saloon for the accomodation of the public, is now prepared to serve his friends with the best refreshments, and fresh Lager Beer, Ale, Porter, and all other malt quors. Gusiness Gards . W. S. EHOADS. W. S. EHOADS. M. RETAIL DEALERS OF ANTHERACITE COAL, SUNBURY, PENN'A. OFFICE WITH HAAS, FAGELY & CO., Orders left at Seaskoltz & Bro's., office Market treet, will receive prompt attention. Country ustom respectfully solicited. Feb. 4, 1571tf. ANTHRACITE COAL . UPPER WHARF, SUNBURY, PENN'A. All kinds of Grain taken in exchange for Coal.	THE SUNBURY AMERICAN IS THE BEST AD VERISING MEDIUM In the Central part of the Biate,	some that were laying there not intended for papa and mamma to read. 'I really don't know why Delia should not go,' said the unsuspicious, good-ma- tured uncle. 'You will be sure to take care of her, Rolfe ?' 'I'll try to, sir.' 'So in less than half an hour from the time it was mentioned, I was gathering up the reins, and Brown Bess was tossing her head until the bells jingled merrily. 'It's royal traveling,' called out Uncle Dan, as we started. 'Don't be out too late, Rolfe, for there has been a severe snap in the weather lately, and—' 'The rest was lost in the crunching of the crusty snow, and the 'ding ding, ding, of the cup-shaped bells. 'This is an unexpected honor, Miss Cor- delia,' I began, as the sleigh went smoothly along. 'Susan and Almira voted me their min- ister plenipotentiary,' she responded coldly. 'I and Cordelia, who was no blood rela-	 us. On and on we went. I did not speak to the mare, nor with her; there was no need. She was trotting like a race horse, her tail streaming over the dash-board of the sleigh. Another hour passed. The light snow was mounting above the runners, and driving obliquely across our laps in blinding, smothering thickness, still we were getting on well; I hoped we were nearing home. 'Are you cold ?' I asked, drawing Cordelia close to me. 'Nothing to speak of,' she cheerfully replied. But I felt a strong shudder shake her from head to foot. 'Presently the sleigh pitched considerable, although I had a tight rein. 'Rolfe,' she began, and I thought I again felt her frame tremble, although her voice was cool and steady, 'the wind does not strike us just as it did, neither did we pitch this morning as we do now. Have the lost road ?' 	leisurely through the streets, dressed with care, as I usually am when walking out for pleasure, and as I intended making some trifling purchases by the way, I recollect I had the beautiful purse which was my Christmas present in my hand. Mrs. B— was walking a few rods ahead of me, and I was wondering how she got every new fashion so soon, and whether she used her cast off things to pay her help with, or sold them to the china pedlers, or whether it could be really true that she gave them to the poor. Well, just as this foolish train of thought was passing through my mind all at once a woman advanced toward me, with no bonnet, and a miserable shawl drawn over her head. I thought she was going to beg, and was beginning to tell her that I had nothing to give, when she seized the strings of my hat, and with a resolute hand, and a look that almost petrified me, took it off and put it on her own head and walked away ! I looked after her with as- tonishment, but what could I do—go in at	I could not take him up—could not hush him on my bosom ! Woman," she said, looking me in the face with a gaze I shall never forget, "I will take this linen now, for it is needed, and I have no money to buy more." I did not answer her. I had lost all power of utterance. There was a grim, despairing expression in her eyes that froze me. She fastened them on me a moment, and perceiving my shudder of horror at the idea of being utterly deprived of clothing, and left as a gazing stock in the public street, she drew back, saying, "No, sinful, condemned woman—no? I cannot take away thy covering. O, my child, my cherub, my cherub, my blessed angel of heaven ! thou art innocent, but she is guilty. No, madam ! I had thought to take it for a shroud, to lay out my dead baby, my murdered child—mur- dered by the cruelty of a drunken father ! There he lies, in his pillowless cradle, with the little soiled frock he has worn for weeks still on him ! I could not beg when I knew	courses in pretty strong English on the vice of intemperance : "Take especial care that you delight not in wine, for there ne- ver was any man who came to honor or preferment that loved it, for it transform- eth a man into a beast, decayeth health, poiseneth the breath, destroyeth natural heat, bringeth a man's stomach to an arti- ficial burning, deformeth the face, rotteth the teeth, and to conclude, maketh a man contemptable, soon old, and despised of all wise and worthy men ; hated in thy ser- vants, thyself and thy companions, for it is a bewitching and infectious vice ; and re- member my words, that it were better for a man to be subjected to any vice than to it ; for all other vanities and sins are recovered, but a drunkard will never shake off the delight of beastliness ; for the longer it possesseth a man the more he will delight in it, and the older he groweth, the more he will be subject to it, for it dulleth the spirits and destroyeth the body, as ivy doth the old tree, or as the worm that engende-
the hands of Ignorant or unskillful PRE- DERS, who, by the use of that deadly Pol- Mercury, &c., destroy the constitution, and able of curing, keep the unhappy sufferer h after month taking their noxious or ke- us compounds, and instead of being restored enewal of Life Vigor and Happiness, in des- eave him with ruined Health to sigh over alling disappointment. such, therefore, Dr. JOHNSTON pledges him- preserve the most Inviolable Secreey, and his extensive practice and observations in reat Hospitals of Europe, and the first in country, viz: England, France, Philadelphia isewhere, is enabled to offer the most cer- speedy and effectual remedy in the world i diseases of imprudence. DR. JOHNSTON. MCE, NO. 7, S. FREDERICK STREET. EALTIMORS, M. D. and side going from Baltimore street, a few from the corner. Fail not to observe name umber. No letters received unless postpaid and ing a stamp to be used on the reply. Per- criting should state age, and send a portion intisement describing symptoms. re are so many Paltry, Designing and less Impreters advertising themselves as ians, trifling with and ruining the health who unfortunately fall into their power, tr. Johnston deems it necessary to say es- y to those unacquainted with his reputa- hat his Ordentials or Diplomas always a his office.	County, Pa., at the Station of the N. C. R. W. Choice wines and cigars at the bar. The table is supplied with the best the market affords. Good stabling and attentive ostlers. HUMMEL'S RESTAURANT , LOUIS SUMMEL, Proprietor, Commerce St., SEAMOKIN, PENN'A. Having just refitted the above Saloon for the accomodation of the public, is now prepared to serve his friends with the best refreshments, and fresh Lager Beer, Ale, Porter, and all other malt quors. Business Gards . W. S. EHOADS. W. S. EHOADS. W. S. EHOADS. M. S. EHOADS. M. KETAH. DEALERS OF ANTHRACITE COAL, SUNBURY, PENN'A. OFFICE WITH HAAS, FAGELY & CO., Orders left at Seaskoltz & Bro's., office Market treet, will receive prompt attention. Country ustom respectively solicited. Feb. 4, 1871tt. ANTHRACITE COAL ! VALENTINE DIETZ , Wholesale and Retail dealer in every variety of ANTHRACITE COAL, UPPER WHARF, SUNBURY, PENN'A. All kinds of Grain taken in exchange for Coal. Orders solicited and filed promptly. Orders left at S. F. Nevin's Confectionery Store, on Third	THE SUNBURY AMERICAN IS THE BEST AD VERISING MEDIUM In the Central part of the State, IT CIRCULATES	some that were laying there not intended for papa and mamma to read. 'I really don't know why Delia should not go,' said the unsuspicious, good-ma- tured uncle. 'You will be sure to take care of her, Rolfe ?' 'I'll try to, sir.' 'So in less than half an hour from the time it was mentioned, I was gathering up the reins, and Brown Bess was tossing her head until the bells jingled merrily. 'It's royal traveling,' called out Uncle Dan, as we started. 'Don't be out too late, Rolfe, for there has been a severe snap in the weather lately, and—' 'The rest was lost in the crunching of the crusty snow, and the 'ding ding, ding, of the cup-shaped bells. 'This is an unexpected honor, Miss Cor- delia,' I began, as the sleigh went smoothly along. 'Susan and Almira voted me their min- ister plenipotentiary,' she responded coldly. 'I and Cordelia, who was no blood rela- tion of mine, had a falling out of a recent	 us. On and on we went. I did not speak to the mare, nor with her; there was no need. She was trotting like a race horse, her tail streaming over the dash-board of the sleigh. Another hour passed. The light snow was mounting above the runners, and driving obliquely across our laps in blinding, smothering thickness, still we were getting on well; I hoped we were nearing home. 'Are you cold ?' I asked, drawing Cordelia close to me. 'Nothing to speak of,' she cheerfully replied. But I felt a strong shudder shake her from head to foot. 'Presently the sleigh pitched considerable, although I had a tight rein. 'Rolfe,' she began, and I thought I again felt her frame tremble, although her voice was cool and steady, 'the wind does not strike us just as it did, neither did we pitch this morning as we do now. Have the lost road ?' 'By Heaven ! you have spoken my thoughts, Cordelia,' I ejaculated, while a 	leisurely through the streets, dressed with care, as I usually am when walking out for pleasure, and as I intended making some trifling purchases by the way, I recollect I had the beautiful purse which was my Christmas present in my hand. Mrs. B— was walking a few rods ahead of me, and I was wondering how she got every new fashion so soon, and whether she used her cast off things to pay her help with, or sold them to the china pedlers, or whether it could be really true that she gave them to the poor. Well, just as this foolish train of thought was passing through my mind all at once a woman advanced toward me, with no bonnet, and a miserable shawl drawn over her head. I thought she was going to beg, and was beginning to tell her that I had nothing to give, when she seized the strings of my hat, and with a resolute hand, and a look that almost petrified me, took it off and put it on her own head and walked away ! I looked after her with as-	I could not take him up—could not hush him on my bosom ! Woman," she said, looking me in the face with a gaze I shall never forget, "I will take this linen now, for it is needed, and I have no money to buy more." I did not answer her. I had lost all power of utterance. There was a grim, despairing expression in her eyes that froze me. She fastened them on me a moment, and perceiving my shudder of horror at the idea of being utterly deprived of clothing, and left as a gazing stock in the public street, she drew back, saying, "No, sinful, condemned woman—no? I cannot take away thy covering. O, my child, my cherub, my cherub, my blessed angel of heaven ! thou art innocent, but she is guilty. No, madam ! I had thought to take it for a shroud, to lay out my dead baby, my murdered child—mur- dered by the cruelty of a drunken father ! There he lies, in his pillowless cradle, with the little soiled frock he has worn for weeks still on him ! I could not beg when I knew there was cloth of my own, so white, so	courses in pretty strong English on the vice of intemperance : "Take especial care that you delight not in wine, for there ne- ver was any man who came to honor or preferment that loved it, for it transform- eth a man into a beast, decayeth health, poiseneth the breath, destroyeth natural heat, bringeth a man's stomach to an arti- ficial burning, deformeth the face, rotteth the teeth, and to conclude, maketh a man contemptable, soon old, and despised of all wise and worthy men ; hated in thy ser- vants, thyself and thy companions, for it is a bewitching and infectious vice ; and re- member my words, that it were better for a man to be subjected to any vice than to it ; for all other vanities and sins are recovered, but a drunkard will never shake off the delight of beastliness ; for the longer it possesseth a man the more he will delight in it, and the older he groweth, the more he will be subject to it, for it dulleth the spirits and destroyeth the body, as ivy doth the old tree, or as the worm that engende-
the hands of Ignorant or unskillful PRE- DERS, who, by the use of that deadly Pol- Mercury, &c., destroy the constitution, and able of curing, keep the unhappy sufferer h after month taking their noxious or ke- us compounds, and instead of being restored enewal of Life Vigor and Hoppiness, in des- eave him with ruined Health to sigh over alling disappointment. such, therefore, Dr. JOHNSTON pledges him- preserve the most Inviolable Secreey, and his extensive practice and observations in reat Hospitals of Europe, and the first in ountry, viz: England, France, Philadelphia lisewhere, is enabled to offer the most cer- speedy and effectual remedy in the world i diseases of imprudence. DR. JOHNSTON. iCE, NO. 7, S. FREDERICK STREET. CEATIMORS, M. D. and side going from Baltimore street, a few from the corner. Fail not to observe name umber. No letters received unless postpaid and ning a stamp to be used on the reply. Per- writing should state age, and send a portion intisement describing symptoms. re are so many Paltry, Designing med less Impaters advertising themselves as ians, trifling with and ruining the health who unfortunately fall into their power, tr. Johnston deems it necessary to say es- ly to those unacquainted with his reputa- hat his Credentials or Diplomas always a his office. ENDORSEMENT OF THE PRESS.	County, Pa., at the Station of the N. C. R. W. Choice wines and cigars at the bar. The table is supplied with the best the market affords. Good stabling and attentive ostlers. HUMPEL'S RESTAURANT . LOUIS WUMMEL, Proprietor, Commerce St., SEAMOKIN, PENN'A. Having just refitted the above Saloon for the accomodation of the public, is now prepared to serve his friends with the best refreshments, and fresh Lager Beer, Ale, Porter, and all other malt quors. Gusiness Gards . W. S. EHOADS. C. PACKER HAAS W. S. EHOADS. C. ACO., RETAIL DEALERS OF ANTHRACITE COAL, SUNBURY, PENN'A. OFFICE WITH HAAS, FAGELY & CO., Orders left at Seaskoltz & Bro's., office Market treet, will receive prompt attention. Country ustom respectfully solicited. Feb. 4, 1571tf. ANTHRACITE COAL . UPPER WHARF, SUNBURY, PENN'A. All kinds of Grain taken in exchange for Coal, Orders solicited and filled promptly. Orders left at S. F. Nevin'S Confectionery Store, on Third treet, will receive prompt attentios, and money	THE SUNBURY AMERICAN IS THE BEST AD VERISING MEDIUM In the Central part of the State, IT CIRCULATES	some that were laying there not intended for papa and mamma to read. 'I really don't know why Delia should not go,' said the unsuspicious, good-ma- tured uncle. 'You will be sure to take care of her, Rolfe ?' 'I'll try to, sir.' 'So in less than half an hour from the time it was mentioned, I was gathering up the reins, and Brown Bess was tossing her head until the bells jingled merrily. 'It's royal traveling,' called out Uncle Dan, as we started. 'Don't be out too late, Rolfe, for there has been a severe snap in the weather lately, and—' 'The rest was lost in the crunching of the crusty snow, and the 'ding ding, ding, of the cup-shaped bells. 'This is an unexpected honor, Miss Cor- delia,' I began, as the sleigh went smoothly along. 'Susan and Almira voted me their min- ister plenipotentiary,' she responded coldly. 'I and Cordelia, who was no blood rela-	 us. On and on we went. I did not speak to the mare, nor with her; there was no need. She was trotting like a race horse, her tail streaming over the dash-board of the sleigh. Another hour passed. The light snow was mounting above the runners, and driving obliquely across our laps in blinding, smothering thickness, still we were getting on well; I hoped we were nearing home. 'Are you cold ?' I asked, drawing Cordelia close to me. 'Nothing to speak of,' she cheerfully replied. But I felt a strong shudder shake her from head to foot. 'Presently the sleigh pitched considerable, although I had a tight rein. 'Rolfe,' she began, and I thought I again felt her frame tremble, although her voice was cool and steady, 'the wind does not strike us just as it did, neither did we pitch this morning as we do now. Have the lost road ?' 'By 'Heaven ! you have spoken my thoughts, Cordelia,' I ejaculated, while a damp, icy coldness broke out from every 	leisurely through the streets, dressed with care, as I usually am when walking out for pleasure, and as I intended making some trifling purchases by the way, I recollect I had the beautiful purse which was my Christmas present in my hand. Mrs. B— was walking a few rods ahead of me, and I was wondering how she got every new fashion so soon, and whether she used her cast off things to pay her help with, or sold them to the china pedlers, or whether it could be really true that she gave them to the poor. Well, just as this foolish train of thought was passing through my mind all at once a woman advanced toward me, with no bonnet, and a miserable shawl drawn over her head. I thought she was going to beg, and was beginning to tell her that I had nothing to give, when she seized the strings of my hat, and with a resolute hand, and a look that almost petrified me, took it off and put it on her own head and walked away ! I looked after her with as- tonishment, but what could I do—go in at the first ? The people were strangers and what would they think ? There was no milliner shop at hand, and I was quite a	I could not take him up—could not hush him on my bosom ! Woman," she said, looking me in the face with a gaze I shall never forget, "I will take this linen now, for it is needed, and I have no money to buy more." I did not answer her. I had lost all power of utterance. There was a grim, despairing expression in her eyes that froze me. She fastened them on me a moment, and perceiving my shudder of horror at the idea of being utterly deprived of clothing, and left as a gazing stock in the public street, she drew back, saying, "No, sinful, condemned woman—no? I cannot take away thy covering. O, my child, my cherub, my cherub, my blessed angel of heaven ! thou art innocent, but she is guilty. No, madam ! I had thought to take it for a shroud, to lay out my dead baby, my murdered child—mur- dered by fhe cruelty of a drunken father ! There he lies, in his pillowless cradle, with the little soiled frock he has worn for weeks still on him ! I could not beg when I knew there was cloth of my own, so white, so fine, so suitable. But no, I will not take	courses in pretty strong English on the vice of intemperance : "Take especial care that you delight not in wine, for there ne- ver was any man who came to honor or preferment that loved it, for it transform- eth a man into a beast, decayeth health, poiseneth the breath, destroyeth natural heat, bringeth a man's stomach to an arti- ficial burning, deformeth the face, rotteth the teeth, and to conclude, maketh a man contemptable, soon old, and despised of all wise and worthy men ; hated in thy ser- vants, thyself and thy companious, for it is a bewitching and infectious vice ; and re- member my words, that it were better for a man to be subjected to any vice than to it ; for all other vanities and sins are recovered, but a drunkard will never shake off the delight of beastliness ; for the longer it possesseth a man the more he will delight in it, and the older he groweth, the more he will be subject to it, for it dulleth the spirits and destroyeth the body, as ivy doth the old tree, or as the worm that engende- reth in the kernel of the nut."
the hands of Ignorant or unskillful PRE- DERS, who, by the use of that deadly Pol- Mercury, &c., destroy the constitution, and able of curing, keep the unhappy sufferer h after month taking their noxious or ke- us compounds, and instead of being restored enewal of Life Vigor and Heippiness, in des- eave him with ruined Health to sigh over alling disappointment. such, therefore, Dr. JORNSTON pledges him- o preserve the most Inviolable Secreev, and his extensive practice and observations in reat Hospitals of Europe, and the first in ountry, viz: England, France, Philadelphia isewhere, is enabled to offer the most cer- speedy and effectual remedy in the world i diseases of imprudence. DR. JOHNSTON. iCE, NO. 7, S. FREDERICK STREET. Extrimonr, M. D. and side going from Baltimore street, a few from the corner. Fail not to observe name umber. No letters received unless postpaid and ining a stamp to be used on the reply. Per- criting should state age, and send a portion intisement describing symptoms. re are so many Paltry, Designing and ideas Impriters advertising themselves as ians, trifiling with and ruining the health who unfortunately fall into their power, vr. Johnston deems it necessary to say es- iy to those unacquainted with his reputa- hat his Credentials or Diplomas always a his office. ENDORSEMENT OF THE PRESS. many thousands cured at this Establish- year after year, and the numerous im-	County, Pa., at the Station of the N. C. R. W. Choice wines and cigars at the bar. The table is supplied with the best the market affords. Good stabling and attentive ostlers. HUMPEL'S RESTAURANT , LOUIS SUMMEL, Proprietor, Commerce St., SEAMOKIN, PENN'A. Having just refitted the above Saloon for the accomodation of the public, is now prepared to serve his friends with the best refreshments, and fresh Lager Beer, Ale, Porter, and all other malt quors. Business Cards . W. S. EHOADS. C. ACO., M. S. EHOADS. C. PACKER HAAS W. S. EHOADS. J. PACKER HAAS OFFICE WITH HAAS, FAGELY & CO., Orders left at Seaskoltz & Bro's., office Market treet, will receive prompt attention. Country ustom respectfully solicited. Feb. 4, 1871tt. ANTHRACITE COAL . UPPER WHARF, SUNBURY, PENN'A. All kinds of Grain taken in exchange for Coal. Orders solicited and filed prompty. Orders left at S. F. Novin's Confectionery Store, on Third treet, will receive prompt attentios, and money receiptedfor, the same as at the office.	THE SUNBURY AMERICAN IS THE BEST AD VERISING MEDIUM In the Central part of the State, IT CIRCULATES	some that were laying there not intended for papa and mamma to read. 'I really don't know why Delia should not go,' said the unsuspicious, good-ma- tured uncle. 'You will be sure to take care of her, Rolfe ?' 'I'll try to, sir.' 'So in less than half an hour from the time it was mentioned, I was gathering up the reins, and Brown Bess was tossing her head until the bells jingled merrily. 'It's royal traveling,' called out Uncle Dan, as we started. 'Don't be out too late, Rolfe, for there has been a severe snap in the weather lately, and—' 'The rest was lost in the crunching of the crusty snow, and the 'ding ding, ding, of the cup-shaped bells. 'This is an unexpected honor, Miss Cor- delia,' I began, as the sleigh went smoothly along. 'Susan and Almira voted me their min- ister plenipotentiary,' she responded coldly. 'I and Cordelia, who was no blood rela- tion of mine, had a falling out of a recent date which made it all the more surprising that she should have cared to go with me	 us. On and on we went. I did not speak to the mare, nor with her; there was no need. She was trotting like a race horse, her tail streaming over the dash-board of the sleigh. Another hour passed. The light snow was mounting above the runners, and driving obliquely across our laps in blinding, smothering thickness, still we were getting on well; I hoped we were nearing home. 'Are you cold ?' I asked, drawing Cordelia close to me. 'Nothing to speak of,' she cheerfully replied. But I felt a strong shudder shake her from head to foot. 'Presently the sleigh pitched considerable, although I had a tight rein. 'Rolfe,' she began, and I thought I again felt her frame tremble, although her voice was cool and steady, 'the wind does not strike us just as it did, neither did we pitch this morning as we do now. Have the lost road ?' 'By 'Heaven ! you have spoken my thoughts, Cordelia, 'I ejaculated, while a damp, icy coldness broke out from every pore in my skin. She shuddered again, 	leisurely through the streets, dressed with care, as I usually am when walking out for pleasure, and as I intended making some trifling purchases by the way, I recollect I had the beautiful purse which was my Christmas present in my hand. Mrs. B— was walking a few rods ahead of me, and I was wondering how she got every new fashion so soon, and whether she used her cast off things to pay her help with, or sold them to the china pedlers, or whether it could be really true that she gave them to the poor. Well, just as this foolish train of thought was passing through my mind all at once a woman advanced toward me, with no bonnet, and a miserable shawl drawn over her head. I thought she was going to beg, and was beginning to tell her that I had nothing to give, when she seized the strings of my hat, and with a resolute hand, and a look that almost petrified me, took it off and put it on her own head and walked away ! I looked after her with as- tonishment, but what could I do—go in at the first ? The people were strangers and what would they think ? There was no	I could not take him up—could not hush him on my bosom ! Woman," she said, looking me in the face with a gaze I shall never forget, "I will take this linen now, for it is needed, and I have no money to buy more." I did not answer her. I had lost all power of utterance. There was a grim, despairing expression in her eyes that froze me. She fastened them on me a moment, and perceiving my shudder of horror at the idea of being utterly deprived of clothing, and left as a gazing stock in the public street, she drew back, saying, "No, sinful, condemned woman—no! I cannot take away thy covering. O, my child, my cherub, my cherub, my blessed angel of heaven ! thou art innocent, but she is guilty. No, madam ! I had thought to take it for a shroud, to lay out my dead baby, my murdered child—mur- dered by the crueity of a drunken father ! There he lies, in his pillowless cradle, with the little solied frock he has worn for weeks still on him ! I could not beg when I knew there was cloth of my own, so white, so fine, so suitable. But no, I will not take it from you ! If I am a mother I am a	courses in pretty strong English on the vice of intemperance : "Take especial care that you delight not in wine, for there ne- ver was any man who came to honor or preferment that loved it, for it transform- eth a man into a beast, decayeth health, poiseneth the breath, destroyeth natural heat, bringeth a man's stomach to an arti- ficial burning, deformeth the face, rotteth the teeth, and to conclude, maketh a man contemptable, soon old, and despised of all wise and worthy men ; hated in thy ser- vants, thyself and thy companious, for it is a bewitching and infectious vice ; and re- member my words, that it were better for a man to be subjected to any vice than to it ; for all other vanities and sins are recovered, but a drunkard will never shake off the delight of beastliness ; for the longer it possesseth a man the more he will delight in it, and the older he groweth, the more he will be subject to it, for it dulleth the spirits and destroyeth the body, as ivy doth the old tree, or as the worm that engende- reth in the kernel of the nut."
the hands of Ignorant or unskillful PRE- DERS, who, by the use of that deadly Pol- Mercury, &c., destroy the constitution, and able of curing, keep the unhappy sufferer h after month taking their noxious or ke- us compounds, and instead of being restored enewal of Life Vigor and Hoppiness, in des- enter him with ruined Health to sigh over ulling disappointment. such, therefore, Dr. Jonsston pledges him- o preserve the most Inviolable Secreev, and his extensive practice and observations in reat Hospitals of Europe, and the first in ountry, viz: England, France, Philadelphia isewhere, is enabled to offer the most cer- speedy and effectual remedy in the world I diseases of imprudence. DR. JOHNSTON. ICE, NO. 7, S. FREDERICK STREET. EALTIMORE, M. D. and side going from Baltimorestreet, a few from the corner. Fail not to observe name umber. No letters received unless postpaid and ining a stamp to be used on the reply. Per- writing should state age, and send a portion itrisement describing symptoms. re are so many Paltry, Designing and iless Impusters advertising themselves as vians, trifling with and rulning the health who unfortunately fall into their power, tr. Johnston deems it necessary to say es- ly to those unacquainted with his reputa- hat his Credentials or Diplomas always n his office. ENDORSEMENT OF THE PRESS. many thousands cured at this Establish- year after year, and the numerous im- t Surgical Operations performed by Dr.	County, Pa., at the Station of the N. C. R. W. Choice wines and cigars at the bar. The table is supplied with the best the market affords. Good stabling and attentive ostlers. MUMEL'S RESTAURANT, LOUIS SUMMEL, Proprietor, Commerce St., SEAMOKIN, PENN'A. Having just refitted the above Saloon for the accomodation of the public, is now prepared to serve his friends with the best refreshments, and fresh Lager Beer, Ale, Porter, and all other malt quors.	THE SUNBURY AMERICAN IS THE BEST AD VERISING MEDIUM In the Central part of the State, IT CIRCULATES In one of the Most Thrifty, Intelligent and	some that were laying there not intended for papa and mamma to read. 'I really don't know why Delia should not go,' said the unsuspicious, good-ma- tured uncle. 'You will be sure to take care of her, Rolfe ?' 'I'll try to, sir.' 'So in less than half an hour from the time it was mentioned, I was gathering up the reins, and Brown Bess was tossing her head until the bells jingled merrily. 'It's royal traveling,' called out Uncle Dan, as we started. 'Don't be out too late, Rolfe, for there has been a severe snap in the weather lately, and—' 'The rest was lost in the crunching of the crusty snow, and the 'ding ding, ding, of the cup-shaped bells. 'This is an unexpected honor, Miss Cor- delia,' I began, as the sleigh went smoothly along. 'Susan and Almira voted me their min- ister plenipotentiary,' she responded coldly. 'I and Cordelia, who was no blood rela- tion of mine, had a falling out of a recent date which made it all the more surprising	 us. On and on we went. I did not speak to the mare, nor with her; there was no need. She was trotting like a race horse, her tail streaming over the dash-board of the sleigh. Another hour passed. The light snow was mounting above the runners, and driving obliquely across our laps in blinding, smothering thickness, still we were getting on well; I hoped we were nearing home. 'Are you cold ?' I asked, drawing Cordelia close to me. 'Nothing to speak of,' she cheerfully replied. But I felt a strong shudder shake her from head to foot. 'Presently the sleigh pitched considerable, although I had a tight rein. 'Rolfe,' she began, and I thought I again felt her frame tremble, although her voice was cool and steady, 'the wind does not strike us just as it did, neither did we pitch this morning as we do now. Have the lost road ?' 'By Heaven ! you have spoken my thoughts, Cordelia, 'I ejaculated, while a damp, icy coldness broke out from every pore in my skin. She shuddered again, but said nothing. 	leisurely through the streets, dressed with care, as I usually am when walking out for pleasure, and as I intended making some trifling purchases by the way, I recollect I had the beautiful purse which was my Christmas present in my hand. Mrs. B— was walking a few rods ahead of me, and I was wondering how she got every new fashion so soon, and whether she used her cast off things to pay her help with, or sold them to the china pedlers, or whether it could be really true that she gave them to the poor. Well, just as this foolish train of thought was passing through my mind all at once a woman advanced toward me, with no bonnet, and a miserable shawl drawn over her head. I thought she was going to beg, and was beginning to tell her that I had nothing to give, when she seized the strings of my hat, and with a resolute hand, and a look that almost petrified me, took it off and put it on her own head and walked away ! I looked after her with as- tonishment, but what could I do—go in at the first ? The people were strangers and what would they think ? There was no milliner shop at band, and I was quite a distance from home. As I could do noth- ing in my turn I drew my shawl over my	I could not take him up—could not hush him on my bosom ! Woman," she said, looking me in the face with a gaze I shall never forget, "I will take this linen now, for it is needed, and I have no money to buy more." I did not answer her. I had lost all power of utterance. There was a grim, despairing expression in her eyes that froze me. She fastened them on me a moment, and perceiving my shudder of horror at the idea of being utterly deprived of clothing, and left as a gazing stock in the public street, she drew back, saying, "No, sinful, condemned woman—no? I cannot take away thy covering. O, my child, my cherub, my cherub, my blessed angel of heaven ! thou art innocent, but she is guilty. No, madam ! I had thought to take it for a shroud, to lay out my dead baby, my murdered child—mur- dered by fhe cruelty of a drunken father ! There he lies, in his pillowless cradle, with the little solied frock he has worn for weeks still on him ! I could not beg when I knew there was cloth of my own, so white, so fine, so suitable. But no, I will not take it from you ! If I am a mother I am a woman. Better that I should forbear—	courses in pretty strong English on the vice of intemperance : "Take especial care that you delight not in wine, for there ne- ver was any man who came to honor or preferment that loved it, for it transform- eth a man into a beast, decayeth health, poiseneth the breath, destroyeth natural heat, bringeth a man's stomach to an arti- ficial burning, deformeth the face, rotteth the teeth, and to conclude, maketh a man contemptable, soon old, and despised of all wise and worthy men ; hated in thy ser- vants, thyself and thy companions, for it is a bewitching and infectious vice ; and re- member my words, that it were better for a man to be subjected to any vice than to it ; for all other vanities and sins are recovered, but a drunkard will never shake off the delight of beastliness ; for the longer it possesseth a man the more he will delight in it, and the older he groweth, the more he will be subject to it, for it dulleth the spirits and destroyeth the body, as ivy doth the old tree, or as the worm that engende- reth in the kernel of the nut."
the hands of Ignorant or unskillful PRE- DERS, who, by the use of that deadly Pol- Mercury, &c., destroy the constitution, and able of curing, keep the unhappy sufferer h after month taking their noxious or k- us compounds, and instead of being restored enewal of Life Vigor and Hoppiness, in des- eave him with ruined Health to sigh over alling disappointment. such, therefore, Dr. JOHNSTON pledges him- o preserve the most Inviolable Secreev, and his extensive practice and observations in reat Hospitals of Europe, and the first in ountry, viz: England, France, Philadelphia lisewhere, is enabled to offer the most cer- speedy and effectual remedy in the world l diseases of imprudence. DR. JOHNSTON. iCE, NO. 7, S. FREDERICK STREET. CEATIMORS, M. D. and side going from Baltimore street, a few from the corner. Fall not to observe name umber. No letters received unless postpaid and ing a stamp to be used on the reply. Per- writing should state age, and send a portion intisement describing symptoms. re are so many Paltry, Designing mod less Impaters advertising themselves as ians, trifling with and ruining the health who unfortunately fall into their power, tr. Johnston deems it necessary to say es- ly to those unacquainted with his reputa- hat his Credentials or Diplomas always a his office. ENDORSEMENT OF THE PRESS. many thousands cured at this Establish- year after year, and the numerous im- t Surgical Operations performed by Dr. on, witnessed by the representatives of the and many other papers, notices of which	County, Pa., at the Station of the N. C. R. W. Choice wines and cigars at the bar. The table is supplied with the best the market affords. Good stabling and attentive ostlers. HUMPEL'S RESTAURANT , LOUIS SUMMEL, Proprietor, Commerce St., SEAMOKIN, PENN'A. Having just refitted the above Saloon for the accomodation of the public, is now prepared to serve his friends with the best refreshments, and fresh Lager Beer, Ale, Porter, and all other malt quors. Business Cards . W. S. EHOADS. C. ACO., M. S. EHOADS. C. PACKER HAAS W. S. EHOADS. J. PACKER HAAS OFFICE WITH HAAS, FAGELY & CO., Orders left at Seaskoltz & Bro's., office Market treet, will receive prompt attention. Country ustom respectfully solicited. Feb. 4, 1871tt. ANTHRACITE COAL . UPPER WHARF, SUNBURY, PENN'A. All kinds of Grain taken in exchange for Coal. Orders solicited and filed prompty. Orders left at S. F. Novin's Confectionery Store, on Third treet, will receive prompt attentios, and money receiptedfor, the same as at the office.	THE SUNBURY AMERICAN IS THE BEST AD VERISING MEDIUM In the Central part of the State, IT CIRCULATES In one of the Most Thrifty, Intelligent and WEALTHY	some that were laying there not intended for papa and mamma to read. 'I really don't know why Delia should not go,' said the unsuspicious, good-ma- tured uncle. 'You will be sure to take care of her, Rolfe ?' 'I'll try to, sir.' 'So in less than half an hour from the time it was mentioned, I was gathering up the reins, and Brown Bess was tossing her head until the bells jingled merrily. 'It's royal traveling,' called out Uncle Dan, as we started. 'Don't be out too late, Rolfe, for there has been a severe smap in the weather lately, and—' 'The rest was lost in the crunching of the crusty snow, and the 'ding ding, ding, of the cup-shaped bells. 'This is an unexpected honor, Miss Cor- delia,' I began, as the sleigh went smoothly along. 'Susan and Almira voted me their min- ister plenipotentiary,' she responded coldly. 'I and Cordelia, who was no blood rela- tion of mine, had a falling out of a recent date which made it all the more surprising that she should have cared to go with me that day. She was one of those high-	 us. On and on we went. I did not speak to the mare, nor with her; there was no need. She was trotting like a race horse, her tail streaming over the dash-board of the sleigh. Another hour passed. The light snow was mounting above the runners, and driving obliquely across our laps in blinding, smothering thickness, still we were getting on well; I hoped we were nearing home. 'Are you cold ?' I asked, drawing Cordelia close to me. 'Nothing to speak of,' she cheerfully replied. But I felt a strong shudder shake her from head to foot. 'Presently the sleigh pitched considerable, although I had a tight rein. 'Rolfe,' she began, and I though I again felt her frame tremble, although her voice was cool and steady, 'the wind does not strike us just as it did, neither did we pitch this morning as we do now. Have the lost road ?' 'By Heaven ! you have spoken my thoughts, Cordelia,' I ejaculated, while a damp, icy coldness broke out from every pore in my skin. She shuddered again, but said nothing. 	leisurely through the streets, dressed with care, as I usually am when walking out for pleasure, and as I intended making some trifling purchases by the way, I recollect I had the beautiful purse which was my Christmas present in my hand. Mrs. B— was walking a few rods ahead of me, and I was wondering how she got every new fashion so soon, and whether she used her cast off things to pay her help with, or sold them to the china pedlers, or whether it could be really true that she gave them to the poor. Well, just as this foolish train of thought was passing through my mind all at once a woman advanced toward me, with no bonnet, and a miserable shawl drawn over her head. I thought she was going to beg, and was beginning to tell her that I had nothing to give, when she seized the strings of my hat, and with a resolute hand, and a look that almost petrified me, took it off and put it on her own head and walked away ! I looked after her with as- tonishment, but what could I do—go in at the first ? The people were strangers and what would they think ? There was no milliner shop at band, and I was quite a distance from home. As I could do noth- ing in my turn I drew my shawl over my head and tried to quicken my steps; but	I could not take him up—could not hush him on my bosom ! Woman," she said, looking me in the face with a gaze I shall never forget, "I will take this linen now, for it is needed, and I have no money to buy more." I did not answer her. I had lost all power of utterance. There was a grim, despairing expression in her eyes that froze me. She fastened them on me a moment, and perceiving my shudder of horror at the idea of being utterly deprived of clothing, and left as a gazing stock in the public street, she drew back, saying, "No, sinful, condemned woman—no? I cannot take away thy covering. O, my child, my cherub, my cherub, my blessed angel of heaven ! thou art innocent, but she is guilty. No, madam ! I had thought to take it for a shroud, to lay out my dead baby, my murdered child—mur- dered by the crueity of a drunken father ! There he lies, in his pillowless cradle, with the little solied frock he has worn for weeks still on him ! I could not beg when I knew there was cloth of my own, so white, so fine, so suitable. But no, I will not take it from you ! If I am a mother I am a woman. Better that I should forbear— better that my innocent one should go to	courses in pretty strong English on the vice of intemperance : "Take especial care that you delight not in wine, for there ne- ver was any man who came to honor or preferment that loved it, for it transform- eth a man into a beast, decayeth health, poiseneth the breath, destroyeth natural heat, bringeth a man's stomach to an arti- ficial burning, deformeth the face, rotteth the teeth, and to conclude, maketh a man contemptable, soon old, and despised of all wise and worthy men ; hated in thy ser- vants, thyself and thy companious, for it is a bewitching and infectious vice ; and re- member my words, that it were better for a man to be subjected to any vice than to it ; for all other vanities and sins are recovered, but a drunkard will never shake off the delight of beastliness ; for the longer it possesseth a man the more he will delight in it, and the older he groweth, the more he will be subject to it, for it dulleth the spirits and destroyeth the body, as ivy doth the old tree, or as the worm that engende- reth in the kernel of the nut."
the hands of Ignorant or unskillful PRE- DERS, who, by the use of that deadly Pol- Mercury, &c., destroy the constitution, and able of curing, keep the unhappy sufferer h after month taking their noxious or ke- us compounds, and instead of being restored enewal of Life Vigor and Heppiness, in des- eave him with ruined Health to sigh over alling disappointment. such, therefore, Dr. JORNSTON pledges him- o preserve the most Inviolable Secreev, and his extensive practice and observations in reat Hospitals of Europe, and the first in ountry, viz: England, France, Philadelphia isewhere, is enabled to offer the most cer- speedy and effectual remedy in the world i diseases of impradence. DR. JOHNSTON. iCE, NO. 7, S. FREDERICK STREET. DR. JOHNSTON. iCE, NO. 7, S. FREDERICK STREET, numd side going from Baltimore street, a few from the corner. Fail not to observe name number. No letters received unless postpaid and hing a stamp to be used on the reply. Per- writing should state age, and send a portion intisement describing symptoms. The are so many Palitry, Designing and less Impneters advertising themselves as isons, trifling with and rulning the Lealth who unfortunately fall into their power, wr. Johnston deems it necessary to say es- iy to those unaequainted with his remata- hat his Credentials or Diplomas always n his office. ENDORSEMENT OF THE PRESS. many thousands cured at this Establish- year after year, and the numerous im- t Surgical Operations performed by Dr. on, witnessed by the representatives of the and many other papers, notices of which ppeared again and again before the public,	County, Pa., at the Station of the N. C. R. W. Choice wines and cigars at the bar. The table is supplied with the best the market affords. Good stabling and attentive ostlers. HUMEL'S RESTAURANT, LOUIS SUMMEL, Proprietor, Commerce St., SEAMOKIN, PENN'A. Having just refitted the above Saloon for the accomodation of the public, is now prepared to serve his friends with the best refreshments, and fresh Lager Beer, Ale, Porter, and all other malt quors. Business Cards. W. S. EHOADS. Content of the Accord N. S. EHOADS. Content of the Accord N. KETAH. DEALERS OF ANTHRACITE COAL, SUNBURY, PENN'A. OFFICE WITH HAAS, FAGELY & CO., Orders left at Seaskoltz & Bro's., office Market treet, will receive prompt attention. Country ustom respectfully solicited. Feb. 4, 187141. ANTHRACITE COAL . UPPER WHARF, SUNBURY, PENN'A. All kinds of Grain taken in exchange for Coal. Orders solicited and filled prompty. Orders left at S. F. Novin's Confectionery Store, on Third treet, will receive prompt attentios, and money receiptedfor, the same as at the office. DENTISTRY. GEORGE M. RENN, In Sumpson's Building, Mucket Square, SUNBURY, PA.,	THE SUNBURY AMERICAN IS THE BEST AD VERISING MEDIUM In the Central part of the State, IT CIRCULATES In one of the Most Thrifty, Intelligent and	some that were laying there not intended for papa and mamma to read. 'I really don't know why Delia should not go,' said the unsuspicious, good-ma- tured uncle. 'You will be sure to take care of her, Rolfe ?' 'I'll try to, sir.' 'So in less than half an hour from the time it was mentioned, I was gathering up the reins, and Brown Bess was tossing her head until the bells jingled merrily. 'It's royal traveling,' called out Uncle Dan, as we started. 'Don't be out too late, Rolfe, for there has been a severe snsp in the weather lately, and—' 'The rest was lost in the crunching of the crusty snow, and the 'ding ding, ding, of the cup-shaped bells. 'This is an unexpected honor, Miss Cor- delia,' I began, as the sleigh went smoothly along. 'Susan and Almira voted me their min- ister plenipotentiary,' she responded coldly. 'I and Cordelia, who was no blood rela- tion of mine, had a falling out of a recent date which made it all the more surprising that she should have cared to go with me that day. She was one of those high- spirited girls who never strike their colors. 'It happened one evening about a week before. My aunt had a party—for there	 us. On and on we went. I did not speak to the mare, nor with her; there was no need. She was trotting like a race horse, her tail streaming over the dash-board of the sleigh. Another hour passed. The light snow was mounting above the runners, and driving obliquely across our laps in blinding, smothering thickness, still we were getting on well; I hoped we were nearing home. 'Are you cold ?' I asked, drawing Cordelia close to me. 'Nothing to speak of,' she cheerfully replied. But I felt a strong shudder shake her from head to foot. 'Presently the sleigh pitched considerable, although I had a tight rein. 'Rolfe,' she began, and I though I again felt her frame tremble, although her voice was cool and steady, 'the wind does not strike us just as it did, neither did we pitch this morning as we do now. Have the lost road ?' 'By Heaven ! you have spoken my thoughts, Cordelia,' I ejaculated, while a damp, icy coldness broke out from every pore in my skin. She shuddered again, but said nothing. 'I knotted the reins and threw them over the dash-board. This was why the mare 	leisurely through the streets, dressed with care, as I usually am when walking out for pleasure, and as I intended making some trifling purchases by the way, I recollect I had the beautiful purse which was my Christmas present in my hand. Mrs. B— was walking a few rods ahead of me, and I was wondering how she got every new fashion so soon, and whether she used her cast off things to pay her help with, or sold them to the china pedlers, or whether it could be really true that she gave them to the poor. Well, just as this foolish train of thought was passing through my mind all at once a woman advanced toward me, with no bonnet, and a miserable shawl drawn over her head. I thought she was going to beg, and was beginning to tell her that I had nothing to give, when she seized the strings of my hat, and with a resolute hand, and a look that almost petrified me, took it off and put it on her own head and walked away ! I looked after her with as- tonishment, but what could I do—go in at the first ? The people were strangers and what would they think ? There was no milliner shop at band, and I was quite a distance from home. As I could do noth- ing in my turn I drew my shawl over my	I could not take him up—could not hush him on my bosom ! Woman," she said, looking me in the face with a gaze I shall never forget, "I will take this linen now, for it is needed, and I have no money to buy more." I did not answer her. I had lost all power of utterance. There was a grim, despairing expression in her eyes that froze me. She fastened them on me a moment, and perceiving my shudder of horror at the idea of being utterly deprived of clothing, and left as a gazing stock in the public street, she drew back, saying, "No, sinful, condemned womau—no? I cannot take away thy covering. O, my child, my cherub, my cherub, my blessed angel of heaven ! thou art innocent, but she is guilty. No, madam ! I had thought to take it for a shroud, to lay out my dead baby, my murdered child—mur- dered by fhe cruelty of a drunken father ! There he lies, in his pillowless cradle, with the little soiled frock he has worn for weeks still on him ! I could not beg when I knew there was cloth of my own, so white, so fine, so suitable. But no, I will not take it from you ! If I am a mother 1 am a woman. Better that 1 should forbear— better that my innocent one should go to his grave uncovered ! He has never sinned ; let him lie in his pure nakedness. God's	courses in pretty strong English on the vice of intemperance : "Take especial care that you delight not in wine, for there ne- ver was any man who came to honor or preferment that loved it, for it transform- eth a man into a beast, decayeth health, poiseneth the breath, destroyeth natural heat, bringeth a man's stomach to an arti- ficial burning, deformeth the face, rotteth the teeth, and to conclude, maketh a man contemptable, soon old, and despised of all wise and worthy men ; hated in thy ser- vants, thyself and thy companions, for it is a bewitching and infectious vice ; and re- member my words, that it were better for a man to be subjected to any vice than to it ; for all other vanities and sins are recovered, but a drunkard will never shake off the delight of beastliness ; for the longer it possesseth a man the more he will delight in it, and the older he groweth, the more he will be subject to it, for it dulleth the spirits and destroyeth the body, as ivy doth the old tree, or as the worm that engende- reth in the kernel of the nut." SALT IN THE OCEAN.—Everybody knows that the waters of the ocean are very salty to the taste ; but how many of you have thought of the immense quanti- ties of salts of different kinds that must be
the hands of Ignorant or unskillful PRE- DERS, who, by the use of that deadly Pol- Mercury, &c., destroy the constitution, and able of curing, keep the unhappy sufferer h after month taking their noxious or ke- us compounds, and instead of being restored enewal of Life Vigor and Hoppiness, in des- enter him with ruined Health to sigh over ulling disappointment. such, therefore, Dr. Jourserox pledges him- o preserve the most Inviolable Secreev, and his extensive practice and observations in reat Hospitals of Europe, and the first in ountry, viz: England, France, Philadelphia is where, is enabled to offer the most cer- speedy and effectual remedy in the world I diseases of imprudence. DR. JOHNSTON. ICE, NO. 7, S. FREDERICK STREET. EALTIMORS, M. D. and side going from Baltimorestreet, a few from the corner. Fail not to observe name umber. No letters received unless postpaid and ining a stamp to be used on the reply. Per- writing should state age, and send a portion it issement describing symptoms. re are so many Paltry, Designing and iless Imposters advertising themselves as ians, trifling with and ruining the health who unfortunately fall into their power, tr. Johnston deems it necessary to say es- ly to those unacquainted with his reputa- hat his Credentials or Diplomas always n his office. ENDORSEMENT OF THE PRESS. many thousands cured at this Establish- year after year, and the numerous im- t Surgical Operations performed by Dr. on, witnessed by the representatives of the and many other papers, notices of which peared again and again before the puble, i his standing as a gentleman of character sponsibility, is a sufficient guarantee to the	County, Pa., at the Station of the N. C. R. W. Choice wines and cigars at the bar. The table is supplied with the best the market affords. Good stabling and attentive ostlers. HUMEL'S RESTAURANT. LOUIS SUMMEL, Proprietor, Commerce St., SEAMOKIN, PENN'A. Having just refitted the above Saloon for the accomodation of the public, is now prepared to serve his friends with the best refreshments, and fresh Lager Beer, Ale, Porter, and all other malt quors. Business Gards. W. S. EHOADS. Co., RETAIL DEALERS OF ANTHRACITE COAL, SUNBURY, PENN'A. OFFICE WITH HAAS, FAGELY & CO., Orders left at Scassfoltz & Bro's., office Market treet, will receive prompt attention. Country ustom respectfully solicited. Feb. 4, 1871tf. ANTHRACITE COAL , UPPER WHARF, SUNBURY, PENN'A. ANTHRACITE COAL, UPPER WHARF, SUNBURY, PENN'A. ANTHRACITE COAL, UPPER WHARF, SUNBURY, PENN'A. All kinds of Grain taken in exchange for Coal. Orders solicited and filled promptly. Orders left at S. F. Nevin's Confectionery Store, on Third treet, will receive prompt attentios, and money receiptedfor, the same as at the office. DENTISTRY. Markinds of Grain taken in exchange for Coal. Orders solicited and filled promptly. Orders left at S. F. Nevin's Confectionery Store, on Third treet, will receive prompt attentions, and money receiptedfor, the same as at the office. DENTISTRY. Markinds of Grain taken in exchange for Coal. Orders solicited and filled promptly. Orders left at S. F. Nevin's Confectionery Store, an Third treet, will receive prompt attentions, and money receiptedfor, the same as at the office. DENTISTRY. Market Spaner, SUNBURY, PA., J prepared to do all kinds of work pertaining	THE SUNBURY AMERICAN IS THE BEST AD VERISING MEDIUM In the Central part of the State, IT CIRCULATES In one of the Most Thrifty, Intelligent and WEALTHY	some that were laying there not intended for papa and mamma to read. 'I really don't know why Delia should not go,' said the unsuspicious, good-ma- tured uncle. 'You will be sure to take care of her, Rolfe ?' 'I'll try to, sir.' 'So in less than half an hour from the time it was mentioned, I was gathering up the reins, and Brown Bess was tossing her head until the bells jingled merrily. 'It's royal traveling,' called out Uncle Dan, as we started. 'Don't be out too late, Rolfe, for there has been a severe snap in the weather lately, and—' 'The rest was lost in the crunching of the crusty snow, and the 'ding ding, ding, of the cup-shaped bells. 'This is an unexpected honor, Miss Cor- delia,' I began, as the sleigh went smoothly along. 'Susan and Almira voted me their min- ister plenipotentiary,' she responded coldly. 'I and Cordelia, who was no blood rela- tion of mine, had a falling out of a recent date which made it all the more surprising that she should have cared to go with me that day. She was one of those high- spirited girls who never strike their colors. 'It happened one evening about a week before. My aunt had a party—for there were-settlers enough in the vicinity to give	 us. On and on we went. I did not speak to the mare, nor with her; there was no need. She was trotting like a race horse, her tail streaming over the dash-board of the sleigh. Another hour passed. The light snow was mounting above the runners, and driving obliquely across our laps in blinding, smothering thickness, still we were getting on well; I hoped we were nearing home. 'Are you cold?' I asked, drawing Cordelia close to me. 'Nothing to speak of,' she cheerfully replied. But I felt a strong shudder shake her from head to foot. 'Presently the sleigh pitched considerable, although I had a tight rein. 'Rolfe,' she began, and I thought I again felt her frame tremble, although her voice was cool and steady, 'the wind does not strike us just as it did, neither did we pitch this morning as we do now. Have the lost road ?' 'By Heaven ! you have spoken my thoughts, Cordelia,' I ejaculated, while a damp, icy coldness broke out from every pore in my skin. She shuddered again, but said nothing. 'I knotted the reins and threw them over the dash-board. This was why the mare had held so hardly—she knew better than 	leisurely through the streets, dressed with care, as I usually am when walking out for pleasure, and as I intended making some trifling purchases by the way, I recollect I had the beautiful purse which was my Christmas present in my hand. Mrs. B— was walking a few rods ahead of me, and I was wondering how she got every new fashion so soon, and whether she used her cast off things to pay her help with, or sold them to the china pedlers, or whether it could be really true that she gave them to the poor. Well, just as this foolish train of thought was passing through my mind all at once a woman advanced toward me, with no bonnet, and a miserable shawl drawn over her head. I thought she was going to beg, and was beginning to tell her that I had nothing to give, when she seized the strings of my hat, and with a resolute hand, and a look that almost petrified me, took it off and put it on her own head and walked away! I looked after her with as- tonishment, but what could I do—go in at the first ? The people were strangers and what would they think ? There was no milliner shop at band, and I was quite a distance from home. As I could do noth- ing in my turn I drew my shawl over my head and tried to quicken my steps; but my feet seemed paralyzed, and I made little progress.	I could not take him up—could not hush him on my bosom ! Woman," she said, looking me in the face with a gaze I shall never forget, "I will take this linen now, for it is needed, and I have no money to buy more." I did not answer her. I had lost all power of utterance. There was a grim, despairing expression in her eyes that froze me. She fastened them on me a moment, and perceiving my shudder of horror at the idea of being utterly deprived of clothing, and left as a gazing stock in the public street, she drew back, saying, "No, sinful, condemned womau—no? I cannot take away thy covering. O, my child, my cherub, my cherub, my blessed angel of heaven ! thou art innocent, but she is guilty. No, madam ! I had thought to take it for a shroud, to lay out my dead baby, my murdered child—mur- dered by the cruelty of a drunken father ! There he lies, in his pillowless cradle, with the little soiled frock he has worn for weeks still on him ! I could not beg when I knew there was cloth of my own, so white, so fine, so suitable. But no, I will not take it from you ! If I am a mother I am a woman. Better that I should forbear— better that my innocent one should go to his grave uncovered ! He has never sinned ; let him lie in his pure nakedness. God's angels shall spread over him their spot-	courses in pretty strong English on the vice of intemperance : "Take especial care that you delight not in wine, for there ne- ver was any man who came to honor or preferment that loved it, for it transform- eth a man into a beast, decayeth health, poiseneth the breath, destroyeth natural heat, bringeth a man's stomach to an arti- ficial burning, deformeth the face, rotteth the teath, and to conclude, maketh a man contemptable, soon old, and despised of all wise and worthy men ; hated in thy ser- vants, thyself and thy companions, for it is a bewitching and infectious vice ; and re- member my words, that it were better for a man to be subjected to any vice than to it ; for all other vanities and sins are recovered, but a drunkard will never shake off the delight of beastliness ; for the longer it possesseth a man the more he will delight in it, and the older he groweth, the more he will be subject to it, for it dulleth the spirits and destroyeth the body, as ivy doth the old tree, or as the worm that engende- reth in the kernel of the nut." SALT IN THE OCEAN.—Everybody knows that the waters of the ocean are very salty to the taste ; but how many of you have thought of the immense quanti- ties of salts of different kinds that must be in the Atlantic and Pacific to give a flavor
the hands of Ignorant or unskillful PRE- DERS, who, by the use of that deadly Pol- Mercury, dec., destroy the constitution, and able of curing, keep the unhappy sufferer h after month taking their noxious or k- us compounds, and instead of being restored enewal of Life Vigor and Happiness, in des- eave him with runned Health to sigh over alling disappointment. such, therefore, Dr. JOHNSTON pledges him- o preserve the most Inviolable Secreey, and his extensive practice and observations in reat Hospitals of Europe, and the first in contry, viz: England, France, Philadelphia isewhere, is enabled to offer the most cer- speedy and effectual remedy in the world i diseases of imprudence. DR. JOHNSTON. MCE, NO. 7, S. FREDERICK STREET. EALTIMORS, M. D. and side going from Baltimore street, a few from the corner. Fail not to observe name umber. No letters received unless postpaid and ing a stamp to be used on the reply. Per- criting should state age, and send a portion intisement describing symptoms. re are so many Paltry, Designing and less Imposters advertising themselves as tans, trifling with and rulning the health who unfortunately fall into their power, v. Johnston deems it necessary to say es- by to those unacquainted with his reputa- hat his Office. ENDORSEMENT OF THE PRESS. many thousands cured at this Establish- year after year, and the numerous in- t Surgical Operations performed by Dr. on, witnessed by the representatives of the ind many other papers, notices of which ppeared again and again before the puble, i his standing as a gentleman of character sponsibility, is a sufficient guarantee to the d. Shiu disenses speedily cured.	County, Pa., at the Station of the N. C. R. W. Choice wines and cigars at the bar. The table is supplied with the best the market affords. Good stabling and attentive ostlers. HUMMEL'S RESTAURANT, LOUIS SUMMEL, Proprietor, Commerce St., SEAMOKIN, PENN'A. Having just refitted the above Saloon for the accomodation of the public, is now prepared to serve 'ais friends with the best refreshments, and fresh Lager Beer, Ale, Porter, and all other malt quors. W. S. EHOADS. Cards. W. S. EHOADS. Cards. W. S. EHOADS. Cards. W. S. EHOADS. J. PACKER HAAS M. RETAIL DEALERS OF ANTHRACITE COAL, SUNBURY, PENN'A. Orfice with Haas, FAGELY & CO., Orders left at Seaskoltz & Bro's., office Market treet, will receive prompt attention. Country ustom respectfully solicited. Feb. 4, 187141. ANTHRACITE COAL , UPPER WHARF, SUNBURY, PENN'A. All kinds of Grain taken in exchange for Coal. Orders solicited and filled prompty. Orders left at S. F. Nevin's Confectionery Store, on Third treet, will receive prompt attentios, and money receiptedfor, the same as at the office. DENTISTEY . MENTINER M. RENN, In Simpson's Building, Mucket Square, SUNBURY, PA., I prepared to do all kinds of work pertaining to Dentistry. He keeps constantly on hand a large assortment of Teeth, and other Dental	THE SUNBURY AMERICAN IS THE BEST ADVERISING MEDIUM In the Central part of the Biate, IT CIRCULATES In one of the Most Thrifty, Intelligent and WEALTHY SECTIONS OF PENNSYLVANIA.	some that were laying there not intended for papa and mamma to read. 'I really don't know why Delia should not go,' said the unsuspicious, good-ma- tured uncle. 'You will be sure to take care of her, Rolfe ?' 'I'll try to, sir.' 'So in less than half an hour from the time it was mentioned, I was gathering up the reins, and Brown Bess was tossing her head until the bells jingled merrily. 'It's royal traveling,' called out Uncle Dan, as we started. 'Don't be out too late, Rolfe, for there has been a severe snap in the weather lately, and—' 'The rest was lost in the crunching of the crusty snow, and the 'ding ding, ding, of the cup-shaped bells. 'This is an unexpected honor, Miss Cor- delia,' I began, as the sleigh went smoothly along. 'Susan and Almira voted me their min- ister plenipotentiary,' she responded coldly. 'I and Cordelia, who was no blood rela- tion of mine, had a falling out of a recent date which made it all the more surprising that she should have cared to go with me that day. She was one of those high- spirited girls who never strike their colors. 'It happened one evening about a week before. My aunt had a party—for there were-settlers enough in the vicinity to give us social evenings—and about a dozen peo-	 us. On and on we went. I did not speak to the mare, nor with her; there was no need. She was trotting like a race horse, her tail streaming over the dash-board of the sleigh. Another hour passed. The light snow was mounting above the runners, and driving obliquely across our laps in blinding, smothering thickness, still we were getting on well; I hoped we were nearing home. 'Are you cold ?' I asked, drawing Cordelia close to me. 'Nothing to speak of,' she cheerfully replied. But I felt a strong shudder shake her from head to foot. 'Presently the sleigh pitched considerable, although I had a tight rein. 'Rolfe,' she began, and I though I again felt her frame tremble, although her voice was cool and steady, 'the wind does not strike us just as it did, neither did we pitch this morning as we do now. Have the lost road ?' 'By Heaven ! you have spoken my thoughts, Cordelia,' I ejaculated, while a damp, icy coldness broke out from every pore in my skin. She shuddered again, but said nothing. 'I knotted the reins and threw them over the dash-board. This was why the mare 	leisurely through the streets, dressed with care, as I usually am when walking out for pleasure, and as I intended making some trifling purchases by the way, I recollect I had the beautiful purse which was my Christmas present in my hand. Mrs. B— was walking a few rods ahead of me, and I was wondering how she got every new fashion so soon, and whether she used her cast off things to pay her help with, or sold them to the china pedlers, or whether it could be really true that she gave them to the poor. Well, just as this foolish train of thought was passing through my mind all at once a woman advanced toward me, with no bonnet, and a miserable shawl drawn over her head. I thought she was going to beg, and was beginning to tell her that I had nothing to give, when she seized the strings of my hat, and with a resolute hand, and a look that almost petrified me, took it off and put it on her own head and walked away! I looked after her with as- tonishment, but what could I do—go in at the first ? The people were strangers and what would they think ? There was no milliner shop at band, and I was quite a distance from home. As I could do noth- ing in my turn I drew my shawl over my head and tried to quicken my steps; but my feet seemed paralyzed, and I made little progress. Just then I saw a woman in the distance,	I could not take him up—could not hush him on my bosom ! Woman," she said, looking me in the face with a gaze I shall never forget, "I will take this linen now, for it is needed, and I have no money to buy more." I did not answer her. I had lost all power of utterance. There was a grim, despairing expression in her eyes that froze me. She fastened them on me a moment, and perceiving my shudder of horror at the idea of being utterly deprived of clothing, and left as a gazing stock in the public street, she drew back, saying, "No, sinful, condemned woman—no? I cannot take away thy covering. O, my child, my cherub, my cherub, my blessed angel of heaven ! thou art innocent, but she is guilty. No, madam ! I had thought to take it for a shroud, to lay out my dead baby, my murdered child—mur- dered by the crueity of a drunken father ! There he lies, in his pillowless cradle, with the little soiled frock he has worn for weeks still on him ! I could not beg when I knew there was cloth of my own, so white, so fine, so suitable. But no, I will not take it from you ! If I am a mother I am a woman. Better that I should forbear— better that my innocent one should go to his grave uncovered ! He has never sinned ; let him lie in his pure nakedness. God's angels shall spread over him their spot- less wings. Keep thy ill-gotten clothing.	courses in pretty strong English on the vice of intemperance : "Take especial care that you delight not in wine, for there ne- ver was any man who came to honor or preferment that loved it, for it transform- eth a man into a beast, decayeth health, poiseneth the breath, destroyeth natural heat, bringeth a man's stomach to an arti- ficial burning, deformeth the face, rotteth the teeth, and to conclude, maketh a man contemptable, soon old, and despised of all wise and worthy men; hated in thy ser- vants, thyself and thy companious, for it is a bewitching and infectious vice ; and re- member my words, that it were better for a man to be subjected to any vice than to it ; for all other vanities and sins are recovered, but a drunkard will never shake off the delight of beastliness ; for the longer it possesseth a man the more he will delight in it, and the older he groweth, the more he will be subject to it, for it dulleth the spirits and destroyeth the body, as ivy doth the old tree, or as the worm that engende- reth in the kernel of the nut." SALT IN THE OCEANEverybody knows that the waters of the ocean are very salty to the taste ; but how many of you have thought of the immense quanti- ties of salts of different kinds that must be in the Atlantic and Pacific to give a flavor to such enormous bodies of water ? Scien-
the hands of Ignorant or unskillful PRE- DERS, who, by the use of that deadly Pol- Mercury, &c., destroy the constitution, and able of curing, keep the unhappy sufferer h after month taking their noxious or ke- us compounds, and instead of being restored enewal of Life Vigor and Hoppiness, in des- enter him with ruined Health to sigh over ulling disappointment. such, therefore, Dr. Jourserox pledges him- o preserve the most Inviolable Secreev, and his extensive practice and observations in reat Hospitals of Europe, and the first in ountry, viz: England, France, Philadelphia is where, is enabled to offer the most cer- speedy and effectual remedy in the world I diseases of imprudence. DR. JOHNSTON. ICE, NO. 7, S. FREDERICK STREET. EALTIMORS, M. D. and side going from Baltimorestreet, a few from the corner. Fail not to observe name umber. No letters received unless postpaid and ining a stamp to be used on the reply. Per- writing should state age, and send a portion it issement describing symptoms. re are so many Paltry, Designing and iless Imposters advertising themselves as ians, trifling with and ruining the health who unfortunately fall into their power, tr. Johnston deems it necessary to say es- ly to those unacquainted with his reputa- hat his Credentials or Diplomas always n his office. ENDORSEMENT OF THE PRESS. many thousands cured at this Establish- year after year, and the numerous im- t Surgical Operations performed by Dr. on, witnessed by the representatives of the and many other papers, notices of which peared again and again before the puble, i his standing as a gentleman of character sponsibility, is a sufficient guarantee to the	County, Pa., at the Station of the N. C. R. W. Choice wines and cigars at the bar. The table is supplied with the best the market affords. Good stabling and attentive ostlers. HUMEL'S RESTAURANT , LOUIS SUMMEL, Proprietor, Commerce St., SEAMOKIN, PENN'A. Having just refitted the above Saloon for the accomodation of the public, is now prepared to serve his friends with the best refreshments, and fresh Lager Beer, Ale, Porter, and all other malt quors. Business Cards . W. S. RHOADS COA, N. S. RHOADS & COA, Orfarce wrmt HAAS, FAGELY & COA Orfars left at Seaskoltz & Bro's., office Market treet, will receive prompt attention. Country ustom respectfully solicited. Feb. 4, 157141. ANTHRACITE COAL . UPPER WHARF, SUNBURY, PENN'A. All kinds of Grain taken in exchange for Coal. Orders solicited and filed promptly. Orders left at S. F. Nevin's Confectionery Store, on Third treet, will receive prompt attentics, and money receiptedfor, the same as at the office. DENTISTEX. MI kinds of Grain taken in exchange for Coal. Orders solicited and filed promptly. Orders left at S. F. Nevin's Confectionery Store, on Third treet, will receive prompt attentics, and money receiptedfor, the same as at the office. DENTISTEX. I prepared to do all kinds of work pertaining to Dentistry. He keeps constantly on hand a large assortment of Teeth, and other Dental material, from which he will be able to select,	THE SUNBURY AMERICAN IS THE BEST ADVERISING MEDIUM In the Central part of the Blate, IT CIRCULATES In one of the Most Thrifty, Intelligent and WEALTHY SECTIONS OF PENNSYLVANIA. Sample copy of paper sent to any address free	some that were laying there not intended for papa and mamma to read. 'I really don't know why Delia should not go,' said the unsuspicious, good-ma- tured uncle. 'You will be sure to take care of her, Rolfe ?' 'I'll try to, sir.' 'So in less than half an hour from the time it was mentioned, I was gathering up the reins, and Brown Bess was tossing her head until the bells jingled merrily. 'It's royal traveling,' called out Uncle Dan, as we started. 'Don't be out too late, Rolfe, for there has been a severe smap in the weather lately, and—' 'The rest was lost in the crunching of the crusty snow, and the 'ding ding, ding, of the cup-shaped bells. 'This is an unexpected honor, Miss Cor- delia,' I began, as the sleigh went smoothly along. 'Susan and Almira voted me their min- ister plenipotentiary,' she responded coldly. 'I and Cordelia, who was no blood rela- tion of mine, had a falling out of a recent date which made it all the more surprising that she should have cared to go with me that day. She was one of those high- spirited girls who never strike their colors. 'It happened one evening about a week before. My aunt had a party—for there were settlers enough in the vicinity to give us social evenings—and about a dozen peo- ple were present. You may fancy, per-	 us. On and on we went. I did not speak to the mare, nor with her; there was no need. She was trotting like a race horse, her tail streaming over the dash-board of the sleigh. Another hour passed. The light snow was mounting above the runners, and driving obliquely across our laps in blinding, smothering thickness, still we were getting on well; I hoped we were nearing home. 'Are you cold?' I asked, drawing Cordelia close to me. 'Nothing to speak of,' she cheerfully replied. But I felt a strong shudder shake her from head to foot. 'Presently the sleigh pitched considerable, although I had a tight rein. 'Rolfe,' she began, and I thought I again felt her frame tremble, although her voice was cool and steady, 'the wind does not strike us just as it did, neither did we pitch this morning as we do now. Have the lost road ?' 'By Heaven ! you have spoken my thoughts, Cordelia,' I ejaculated, while a damp, icy coldness broke out from every pore in my skin. She shuddered again, but said nothing. 'I knotted the reins and threw them over the dash-board. This was why the mare had held so hardly—she knew better than I. I must trust to her instinct. In twenty 	leisurely through the streets, dressed with care, as I usually am when walking out for pleasure, and as I intended making some trifling purchases by the way, I recollect I had the beautiful purse which was my Christmas present in my hand. Mrs. B— was walking a few rods ahead of me, and I was wondering how she got every new fashion so soon, and whether she used her cast off things to pay her help with, or sold them to the china pedlers, or whether it could be really true that she gave them to the poor. Well, just as this foolish train of thought was passing through my mind all at once a woman advanced toward me, with no bonnet, and a miserable shawl drawn over her head. I thought she was going to beg, and was beginning to tell her that I had nothing to give, when she seized the strings of my hat, and with a resolute hand, and a look that almost petrified me, took it off and put it on her own head and walked away! I looked after her with as- tonishment, but what could I do—go in at the first ? The people were strangers and what would they think ? There was no milliner shop at hand, and I was quite a distance from home. As I could do noth- ing in my turn I drew my shawl over my head and tried to quicken my steps ; but my feet seemed paralyzed, and I made little progress. Just then I saw a woman in the distance, coming towards me. Oh ! if I could only	I could not take him up—could not hush him on my bosom ! Woman," she said, looking me in the face with a gaze I shall never forget, "I will take this linen now, for it is needed, and I have no money to buy more." I did not answer her. I had lost all power of utterance. There was a grim, despairing expression in her eyes that froze me. She fastened them on me a moment, and perceiving my shudder of horror at the idea of being utterly deprived of clothing, and left as a gazing stock in the public street, she drew back, saying, "No, sinful, condemned woman—no? I cannot take away thy covering. O, my child, my cherub, my cherub, my blessed angel of heaven ! thou art innocent, but she is guilty. No, madam ! I had thought to take it for a shroud, to lay out my dead baby, my murdered child—mur- dered by the crueity of a drunken father ! There he lies, in his pillowless cradle, with the little soiled frock he has worn for weeks still on him ! I could not beg when I knew there was cloth of my own, so white, so fine, so suitable. But no, I will not take it from you ! If I am a mother I am a woman. Better that I should forbear— better that my innocent one should go to his grave uncovered ! He has never sinned ; let him lie in his pure nakedness. God's angels shall spread over him their spot- less wings. Keep thy ill-gotten clothing. It may shield thy form from the gaze of	courses in pretty strong English on the vice of intemperance : "Take especial care that you delight not in wine, for there ne- ver was any man who came to honor or preferment that loved it, for it transform- eth a man into a beast, decayeth health, poiseneth the breath, destroyeth natural heat, bringeth a man's stomach to an arti- ficial burning, deformeth the face, rotteth the teeth, and to conclude, maketh a man contemptable, soon old, and despised of all wise and worthy men ; hated in thy ser- vants, thyself and thy companions, for it is a bewitching and infectious vice ; and re- member my words, that it were better for a man to be subjected to any vice than to it ; for all other vanities and sins are recovered, but a drunkard will never shake off the delight of beastliness ; for the longer it possesseth a man the more he will delight in it, and the older he groweth, the more he will be subject to it, for it dulleth the spirits and destroyeth the body, as ivy doth the old tree, or as the worm that engende- reth in the kernel of the nut." SALT IN THE OCEANEverybody knows that the waters of the ocean are very salty to the taste ; but how many of you have thought of the immense quanti- ties of salts of different kinds that must be in the Atlantic and Pacific to give a flavor to such enormous bodies of water ? Scien- tife men have thoucht about it : and one
the hands of Ignorant or unskillful PREDERS, who, by the use of that deadly Poiders, we, destroy the constitution, and able of curing, keep the unhappy sufferer hafter month taking their noxious or has compounds, and instead of being restored enewal of Life Vigor and Happiness, in destenewal of Life Vigor and Happiness, in desteney and observations in protein and observations in protein and the first happines. DR. JOHNSTON. The No. 7, S. FREDERICK STREET. No letters received unless postpaid not interest. Thing a stamp to be used on the reply. Perforing abould state age, and send a portion. This a stamp to be used on the reply. For thing abould state age, and send a portion. The are so many Paltry, Designing made and the first montation deems it necessary to say esty to those unacqualited with his reputations, trifling with and rulining the health who unfortunately fall into their power, to Johnston deems it necessary to say esty to those unacqualited with his reputation. ENDORSEMENT OF THE PRESS. Many thousands cured at this Establish fear filter year, and the numerous into Surgical Operations performed by Drive and Surgical Operations performed by Drive andibil	County, Pa., at the Station of the N. C. R. W. Choice wines and cigars at the bar. The table is supplied with the best the market affords. Good stabling and attentive ostlers. HUMPEL'S RESTAURANT . LOUIS SUMMEL, Proprietor, Commerce St., SEAMOKIN, PENN'A. Having just refitted the above Saloon for the accomodation of the public, is now prepared to serve its friends with the best refreshments, and fresh Lager Beer, Ale, Porter, and all other malt quors. Gusiness Gards . W. S. EHOADS CO. N. S. EHOADS CO. W. S. EHOADS & CO. N. S. EHOADS CO.L. W. S. EHOADS & CO. Netrall. DEALERS OF ANTHRACITE COAL, SUNBURY, PENN'A. Orffice with Haas, FAGELY & CO., Orders left at Seaskoliz & Bro's., office Market treet, will receive prompt attention. Country ustom respectfully solicited. Feb. 4, 1971tf. ANTHRACITE COAL . UPPER WHARF, SUNBURY, PENN'A. All kinds of Grain taken in exchange for Coal. Orders solicited and filled promptly. Orders left at S. F. Nevin's Confectionery Store, on Third treet, will receive prompt attentions, and money receiptedfor, the same as at the office. DENTISTRY. GEORGE M. RENN . In Sumpson's Building, Mucket Square, SUNBURY, PA I prepared to do all kinds of work pertaining to Dentistry. He keeps constantly on hand a large assortment of Teeth, and other Dentai material, from which he will be able to select, and meet the warts of his customers. All work warranted to give satisfaction, or else	THE SUNBURY AMERICAN IS THE BEST ADVERISING MEDIUM In the Central part of the Biate, IT CIRCULATES In one of the Most Thrifty, Intelligent and WEALTHY SECTIONS OF PENNSYLVANIA.	some that were laying there not intended for papa and mamma to read. 'I really don't know why Delia should not go,' said the unsuspicious, good-ma- tured uncle. 'You will be sure to take care of her, Rolfe ?' 'I'll try to, sir.' 'So in less than half an hour from the time it was mentioned, I was gathering up the reins, and Brown Bess was tossing her head until the bells jingled merrily. 'It's royal traveling,' called out Uncle Dan, as we started. 'Don't be out too late, Rolfe, for there has been a severe snap in the weather lately, and—' 'The rest was lost in the crunching of the crusty snow, and the 'ding ding, ding, of the cup-shaped bells. 'This is an unexpected honor, Miss Cor- delia,' I began, as the sleigh went smoothly along. 'Susan and Almira voted me their min- ister plenipotentiary,' she responded coldly. 'I and Cordelia, who was no blood rela- tion of mine, had a falling out of a recent date which made it all the more surprising that she should have cared to go with me that day. She was one of those high- spirited girls who never strike their colors. 'It happened one evening about a week before. My aunt had a party—for there were settlers enough in the vicinity to give us social evenings—and about a dozen peo- ple were present. You may fancy, per- haps, that we have no intelligent spirits on	 us. On and on we went. I did not speak to the mare, nor with her; there was no need. She was trotting like a race horse, her tail streaming over the dash-board of the sleigh. Another hour passed. The light snow was mounting above the runners, and driving obliquely across our laps in blinding, smothering thickness, still we were getting on well; I hoped we were nearing home. 'Are you cold ?' I asked, drawing Cordelia close to me. 'Nothing to speak of,' she cheerfully replied. But I felt a strong shudder shake her from head to foot. 'Presently the sleigh pitched considerable, although I had a tight rein. 'Rolfe,' she began, and I thought I again felt her frame tremble, although her voice was cool and steady, 'the wind does not strike us just as it did, neither did we pitch this morning as we do now. Have the lost road ?' 'By Heaven ! you have spoken my thoughts, Cordelia,' I ejaculated, while a damp, icy coldness broke out from every pore in my skin. She shuddered again, but said nothing. 'I knotted the reins and threw them over the dash-board. This was why the mare had held so hardly—she knew better than I. I must trust to her instinct. In twenty minutes she had swung around so as to 	leisurely through the streets, dressed with care, as I usually am when walking out for pleasure, and as I intended making some trifling purchases by the way, I recollect I had the beautiful purse which was my Christmas present in my hand. Mrs. B— was walking a few rods ahead of me, and I was wondering how she got every new fashion so soon, and whether she used her cast off things to pay her help with, or sold them to the china pedlers, or whether it could be really true that she gave them to the poor. Well, just as this foolish train of thought was passing through my mind all at once a woman advanced toward me, with no bonnet, and a miserable shawl drawn over her head. I thought she was going to beg, and was beginning to tell her that I had nothing to give, when she seized the strings of my hat, and with a resolute hand, and a look that almost petrified me, took it off and put it on her own head and walked away! I looked after her with as- tonishment, but what could I do—go in at the first ? The people were strangers and what would they think ? There was no milliner shop at band, and I was quite a distance from home. As I could do noth- ing in my turn I drew my shawl over my head and tried to quicken my steps; but my feet seemed paralyzed, and I made little progress. Just then I saw a woman in the distance, coming towards me. Oh! if I could only walk as she does, thought I. The woman	I could not take him up—could not hush him on my bosom ! Woman," she said, looking me in the face with a gaze I shall never forget, "I will take this linen now, for it is needed, and I have no money to buy more." I did not answer her. I had lost all power of utterance. There was a grim, despairing expression in her eyes that froze me. She fastened them on me a moment, and perceiving my shudder of horror at the idea of being utterly deprived of clothing, and left as a gazing stock in the public street, she drew back, saying, "No, sinful, condemned womau—no? I cannot take away thy covering. O, my child, my cherub, my cherub, my blessed angel of heaven ! thou art innocent, but she is guilty. No, madam ! I had thought to take it for a shroud, to lay out my dead baby, my murdered child—mur- dered by the crueity of a drunken father ! There he lies, in his pillowless cradle, with the little solied frock he has worn for weeks still on him ! I could not beg when I knew there was cloth of my own, so white, so fine, so suitable. But no, I will not take it from you ! If I am a mother I am a woman. Better that I should forbear— better that my innocent one should go to his grave uncovered ! He has never sinned ; let him lie in his pure nakedness. God's angels shall spread over him their spot- less wings. Keep thy ill-gotten clothing, It may shield thy form from the gaze of man, but it cannot shield thy soul from	courses in pretty strong English on the vice of intemperance : "Take especial care that you delight not in wine, for there ne- ver was any man who came to honor or preferment that loved it, for it transform- eth a man into a beast, decayeth health, poiseneth the breath, destroyeth natural heat, bringeth a man's stomach to an arti- ficial burning, deformeth the face, rotteth the teeth, and to conclude, maketh a man contemptable, soon old, and despised of all wise and worthy men ; hated in thy ser- vants, thyself and thy companions, for it is a bewitching and infectious vice ; and re- member my words, that it were better for a man to be subjected to any vice than to it ; for all other vanities and sins are recovered, but a drunkard will never shake off the delight of beastliness ; for the longer it possesseth a man the more he will delight in it, and the older he groweth, the more he will be subject to it, for it dulleth the spirits and destroyeth the body, as ivy doth the old tree, or as the worm that engende- reth in the kernel of the nut." SALT IN THE OCEANEverybody knows that the waters of the ocean are very salty to the taste ; but how many of you have thought of the immense quanti- ties of salts of different kinds that must be in the Atlantic and Pacific to give a flavor to such enormous bodies of water ? Scien- tific men have thought about it ; and one of them (Captain Maury) has told us that
the hands of Ignorant or unskillful PRE- DERS, who, by the use of that deadly Pol- Mercury, dec., destroy the constitution, and able of curing, keep the unhappy sufferer h after month taking their noxious or k- us compounds, and instead of being restored enewal of Life Vigor and Happiness, in des- eave him with runned Health to sigh over alling disappointment. such, therefore, Dr. JOHNSTON pledges him- o preserve the most Inviolable Secreey, and his extensive practice and observations in reat Hospitals of Europe, and the first in contry, viz: England, France, Philadelphia isewhere, is enabled to offer the most cer- speedy and effectual remedy in the world i diseases of imprudence. DR. JOHNSTON. MCE, NO. 7, S. FREDERICK STREET. EALTIMORS, M. D. and side going from Baltimore street, a few from the corner. Fail not to observe name umber. No letters received unless postpaid and ing a stamp to be used on the reply. Per- criting should state age, and send a portion intisement describing symptoms. re are so many Paltry, Designing and less Imposters advertising themselves as tans, trifling with and rulning the health who unfortunately fall into their power, v. Johnston deems it necessary to say es- by to those unacquainted with his reputa- hat his Office. ENDORSEMENT OF THE PRESS. many thousands cured at this Establish- year after year, and the numerous in- t Surgical Operations performed by Dr. on, witnessed by the representatives of the ind many other papers, notices of which ppeared again and again before the puble, i his standing as a gentleman of character sponsibility, is a sufficient guarantee to the d. Shiu disenses speedily cured.	County, Pa., at the Station of the N. C. R. W. Choice wines and cigars at the bar. The table is supplied with the best the market affords. Good stabling and attentive ostlers. HUMMEL'S RESTAURANT . LOUIS SUMMEL, Proprietor, Commerce St., SEAMOKIN, PENN'A. Having just refitted the above Saloon for the accomodation of the public, is now prepared to serve its friends with the best refreshments, and fresh Lager Beer, Ale, Porter, and all other malt quors. Business Cards . W. S. EHOADS. C. PACKER HARS W. S. EHOADS. C. PACKER HARS OFFICE WITH HARS, FAGELY & CO., Orders left at Seaskoltz & Bro's., office Market treet, will receive prompt attention. Country ustom respectfully solicited. Feb. 4, 187141. ANTHRACITE COAL . SUNBURY, PENN'A. Orders left at Seaskoltz & Bro's., office Market treet, will receive prompt attention. Country ustom respectfully solicited. Feb. 4, 187141. ANTHRACITE COAL . UPPER WHARF, SUNBURY, PENN'A. All kinds of Grain taken in exchange for Coal. Orders solicited and filled promptyl. Orders left at 8. F. Nevin's Confectionery Store, on Third treet, will receive prompt attentios, and money receiptedfor, the same as at the office. DENTISTEN . MENTISTENEN .	THE SUNBURY AMERICAN IS THE BEST ADVERISING MEDIUM In the Central part of the Blate, IT CIRCULATES In one of the Most Thrifty, Intelligent and WEALTHY SECTIONS OF PENNSYLVANIA. Sample copy of paper sent to any address free	some that were laying there not intended for papa and mamma to read. 'I really don't know why Delia should not go,' said the unsuspicious, good-ma- tured uncle. 'You will be sure to take care of her, Rolfe ?' 'I'll try to, sir.' 'So in less than half an hour from the time it was mentioned, I was gathering up the reins, and Brown Bess was tossing her head until the bells jingled merrily. 'It's royal traveling,' called out Uncle Dan, as we started. 'Don't be out too late, Rolfe, for there has been a severe snap in the weather lately, and—' 'The rest was lost in the crunching of the crusty snow, and the 'ding ding, ding, of the cup-shaped bells. 'This is an unexpected honor, Miss Cor- delia,' I began, as the sleigh went smoothly along. 'Susan and Almira voted me their min- ister plenipotentiary,' she responded coldly. 'I and Cordelia, who was no blood rela- tion of mine, had a falling out of a recent date which made it all the more surprising that she should have cared to go with me that day. She was one of those high- spirited girls who never strike their colors. 'It happened one evening about a week before. My aunt had a party—for there were settlers enough in the vicinity to give us social evenings—and about a dozen peo- ple were present. You may fancy, per- haps, that we have no intelligent spirits on the prairies; but that is a mistake.	 us. On and on we went. I did not speak to the mare, nor with her; there was no need. She was trotting like a race horse, her tail streaming over the dash-board of the sleigh. Another hour passed. The light snow was mounting above the runners, and driving obliquely across our laps in blinding, smothering thickness, still we were getting on well; I hoped we were nearing home. 'Are you cold ?' I asked, drawing Cordelia close to me. 'Nothing to speak of,' she cheerfully replied. But I felt a strong shudder shake her from head to foot. 'Presently the sleigh pitched considerable, although I had a tight rein. 'Rolfe,' she began, and I thought I again felt her frame tremble, although her voice was cool and steady, 'the wind does not strike us just as it did, neither did we pitch this morning as we do now. Have the lost road ?' 'By Heaven ! you have spoken my thoughts, Cordelia,' I ejaculated, while a damp, icy coldness broke out from every pore in my skin. She shuddered again, but said nothing. 'I knotted the reins and threw them over the dash-board. This was why the mare had held so hardly—she knew better than I. I must trust to her instinet. In twenty minutes she had swung around so as to bring the wind on the old quarter with us. 	leisurely through the streets, dressed with care, as I usually am when walking out for pleasure, and as I intended making some trifling purchases by the way, I recollect I had the beautiful purse which was my Christmas present in my hand. Mrs. B— was walking a few rods ahead of me, and I was wondering how she got every new fashion so soon, and whether she used her cast off things to pay her help with, or sold them to the china pedlers, or whether it could be really true that she gave them to the poor. Well, just as this foolish train of thought was passing through my mind all at once a woman advanced toward me, with no bonnet, and a miserable shawl drawn over her head. I thought she was going to beg, and was beginning to tell her that I had nothing to give, when she seized the strings of my hat, and with a resolute hand, and a look that almost petrified me, took it off and put it on her own head and walked away! I looked after her with as- tonishment, but what could I do—go in at the first ? The people were strangers and what would they think ? There was no milliner shop at band, and I was quite a distance from home. As I could do noth- ing in my turn I drew my shawl over my head and tried to quicken my steps; but my feet seemed paralyzed, and I made little progress. Just then I saw a woman in the distance, coming towards me. Oh ! if I could only walk as she does, thought I. The woman was very meagre, poorly dressed, and with	I could not take him up—could not hush him on my bosom ! Woman," she said, looking me in the face with a gaze I shall never forget, "I will take this linen now, for it is needed, and I have no money to buy more." I did not answer her. I had lost all power of utterance. There was a grim, despairing expression in her eyes that froze me. She fastened them on me a moment, and perceiving my shudder of horror at the idea of being utterly deprived of clothing, and left as a gazing stock in the public street, she drew back, saying, "No, sinful, condemned woman—no? I cannot take away thy covering. O, my child, my cherub, my cherub, my blessed angel of heaven ! thon art innocent, but she is guilty. No, madam ! I had thought to take it for a shroud, to lay out my dead baby, my murdered child—mur- dered by fhe cruelty of a drunken father ! There he lies, in his pillowless cradle, with the little soiled frock he has worn for weeks still on him ! I could not beg when I knew there was cloth of my own, so white, so fine, so suitable. But no, I will not take it from you ! If I am a mother I am a woman. Better that 1 should forbear— better that my innocent one should go to his grave uncovered ! He has never sinned ; let him lie in his pure nakedness. God's angels shall spread over him their spot- less wings. Keep thy ill-gotten clothing, It may shield thy form from the gaze of man, but it cannot shield thy soul from the curse of the childless mother—the	courses in pretty strong English on the vice of intemperance : "Take especial care that you delight not in wine, for there ne- ver was any man who came to honor or preferment that loved it, for it transform- eth a man into a beast, decayeth health, poiseneth the breath, destroyeth natural heat, bringeth a man's stomach to an arti- ficial burning, deformeth the face, rotteth the teeth, and to conclude, maketh a man contemptable, soon old, and despised of all wise and worthy men ; hated in thy ser- vants, thyself and thy companions, for it is a bewitching and infectious vice ; and re- member my words, that it were better for a man to be subjected to any vice than to it ; for all other vanities and sins are recovered, but a drunkard will never shake off the delight of beastliness ; for the longer it possesseth a man the more he will delight in it, and the older he groweth, the more he will be subject to it, for it dulleth the spirits and destroyeth the body, as ivy doth the old tree, or as the worm that engende- reth in the kernel of the nut." SALT IN THE OCEAN.—Everybody knows that the waters of the ocean are very salty to the taste ; but how many of you have thought of the immense quanti- ties of salts of different kinds that must be in the Atlantic and Pacific to give a flavor to such enormous bodies of water ? Scien- tific men have thought about it ; and one of them (Captain Maury) has told us that if all the various salts of these oceans could
the hands of Ignorant or unskillful PREDERS, who, by the use of that deadly Poiders, we, destroy the constitution, and able of curing, keep the unhappy sufferer hafter month taking their noxious or has compounds, and instead of being restored enewal of Life Vigor and Happiness, in destenewal of Life Vigor and Happiness, in desteney and observations in protein and observations in protein and the first happines. DR. JOHNSTON. The No. 7, S. FREDERICK STREET. No letters received unless postpaid not interest. Thing a stamp to be used on the reply. Perforing abould state age, and send a portion. This a stamp to be used on the reply. For thing abould state age, and send a portion. The are so many Paltry, Designing made and the first montation deems it necessary to say esty to those unacqualited with his reputations, trifling with and rulining the health who unfortunately fall into their power, to Johnston deems it necessary to say esty to those unacqualited with his reputation. ENDORSEMENT OF THE PRESS. Many thousands cured at this Establish fear filter year, and the numerous into Surgical Operations performed by Drive and Surgical Operations performed by Drive andibil	County, Pa., at the Station of the N. C. R. W. Choice wines and cigars at the bar. The table is supplied with the best the market affords. Good stabling and attentive ostlers. HUMBEL'S RESTAURANT, LOUIS FUMMEL, Proprietor, Commerce St., SEAMOKIN, PENN'A. Having just refitted the above Saloon for the accomodation of the public, is now prepared to serve his friends with the best refreshments, and fresh Lager Beer, Ale, Porter, and all other malt quors. Gusiness Cards. W. S. EHOADS W. S. EHOADS CO., N. S. EHOADS M. RETAIL DEALERS OF ANTHRACITE COAL, SUNBURY, PENN'A. OFFICE WITH HAAS, FAGELY & CO., Orders left at Seaskoitz & Bro's., office Market treet, will receive prompt attention. Country usiom respectfully solicited. Feb. 4, 1971tf. ANTHRACITE COAL . UPPER WHARF, SUNBURY, PENN'A. All kinds of Grain taken in exchange for Coal. Orders solicited and filled promptly. Orders left at S. F. Nevin's Confectionery Store, on Third treet, will receive prompt attentiog, and money recepted for, the same as at the office. DENTISTEN. M kinds of Grain taken in exchange for Coal. Orders solicited and filled promptly. Orders left at S. F. Nevin's Confectionery Store, on Third treet, will receive prompt attentiog, and money recepted for, the same as at the office. DENTISTEN. I formpson's Building, Mucket Square, SUNBURY, PA I prepared to do all kinds of work pertaining to Dentistry. He keeps constantly on hand alarge assortment of Teeth, and other Dental material, from which he will be able to select, and meet the wants of his sustomers. All work warranted to give satisfaction, or else the money refunded. The very best Mouth Wash and Tooth-Powders kept on hand.	THE SUNBURY AMERICAN IN THE BESTADVERISING MEDIUM In the Central part of the State, IT CIRCULATES In one of the Most Thrifty, Intelligent and WEALTHY SECTIONS OF PENNSYLVANIA. Sample copy of paper sent to any address free of charge.	some that were laying there not intended for papa and mamma to read. 'I really don't know why Delia should not go,' said the unsuspicious, good-na- tured uncle. 'You will be sure to take care of her, Rolfe ?' 'I'll try to, sir.' 'So in less than half an hour from the time it was mentioned, I was gathering up the reins, and Brown Bess was tossing her head until the bells jingled merrily. 'It's royal traveling,' called out Uncle Dan, as we started. 'Don't be out too late, Rolfe, for there has been a severe smap in the weather lately, and—' 'The rest was lost in the crunching of the crusty snow, and the 'ding ding, ding, of the cup-shaped bells. 'This is an unexpected honor, Miss Cor- delia,' I began, as the sleigh went smoothly along. 'Susan and Almira voted me their min- ister plenipotentiary,' she responded coldly. 'I and Cordelia, who was no blood rela- tion of mine, had a falling out of a recent date which made it all the more surprising that she should have cared to go with me that day. She was one of those high- spirited girls who never strike their colors. 'It happened one evening about a week before. My auot had a party—for there were settlers enough in the vicinity to give us social evenings—and about a dozen peo- ple were present. You may fancy, per- taps, that we have no intelligent spirits on the prairies ; but that is a mistake. 'Cordelia and I disputed about the rela-	 us. On and on we went. I did not speak to the mare, nor with her; there was no need. She was trotting like a race horse, her tail streaming over the dash-board of the sleigh. Another hour passed. The light snow was mounting above the runners, and driving obliquely across our laps in blinding, smothering thickness, still we were getting on well; I hoped we were nearing home. 'Are you cold ?' I asked, drawing Cordelia close to me. 'Nothing to speak of,' she cheerfully replied. But I felt a strong shudder shake her from head to foot. 'Presently the sleigh pitched considerable, although I had a tight rein. 'Rolfe,' she began, and I thought I again felt her frame tremble, although her voice was cool and steady, 'the wind does not strike us just as it did, neither did we pitch this morning as we do now. Have the lost road ?' 'By Heaven ! you have spoken my thoughts, Cordelia, ' I ejaculated, while a damp, icy coldness broke out from every pore in my skin. She shuddered again, but said nothing. 'I knotted the reins and threw them over the dash-board. This was why the mare had held so hardly—she knew better than I. I must trust to her instinct. In twenty minutes she had swung around so as to bring the wind on the old quarter with us. It was blowing heavy. 1 got my arm around my companion to hold the blankets in place. 	leisurely through the streets, dressed with care, as I usually am when walking out for pleasure, and as I intended making some triding purchases by the way, I recollect I had the beautiful purse which was my Christmas present in my hand. Mrs. B was walking a few rods ahead of me, and I was wondering how she got every new fashion so soon, and whether she used her cast off things to pay her help with, or sold them to the china pedlers, or whether it could be really true that she gave them to the poor. Well, just as this foolish train of thought was passing through my mind all at once a woman advanced toward me, with no bonnet, and a miserable shawl drawn over her head. I thought she was going to beg, and was beginning to tell her that I had nothing to give, when she seized the strings of my hat, and with a resolute hand, and a look that almost petrified me, took it off and put it on her own head and walked away! I looked after her with as- tonishment, but what could I dogo in at the first ? The people were strangers and what would they think ? There was no milliner shop at band, and I was quite a distance from home. As I could do noth- ing in my turn I drew my shawl over my head and tried to quicken my steps; but my feet seemed paralyzed, and I made little progress. Just then I saw a woman in the distance, coming towards me. Oh! if I could only walk as she does, thought I. The woman was very meagre, poorly dressed, and with nothing about her shoulders though the	I could not take him up—could not hush him on my bosom ! Woman," she said, looking me in the face with a gaze I shall never forget, "I will take this linen now, for it is needed, and I have no money to buy more." I did not answer her. I had lost all power of utterance. There was a grim, despairing expression in her eyes that froze me. She fastened them on me a moment, and perceiving my shudder of horror at the idea of being utterly deprived of clothing, and left as a gazing stock in the public street, she drew back, saying, "No, sinful, condemned woman—no? I cannot take away thy covering. O, my child, my cherub, my cherub, my blessed angel of heaven ! thou art innocent, but she is guilty. No, madam ! I had thought to take it for a shroud, to lay out my dead baby, my murdered child—mur- dered by the cruelty of a drunken father ! There he lies, in his pillowless cradle, with the little soiled frock he has worn for weeks still on him ! I could not beg when I knew there was cloth of my own, so white, so fine, so suitable. But no, I will not take it from you ! If I am a mother I am a woman. Better that I should forbear— better that my innocent one should go to his grave uncovered ! He has never sinned ; let him lie in his pure nakedness. God's angels shall spread over him their spot- less wings. Keep thy ill-gotten clothing, It may shield thy form from the gaze of man, but it cannot shield thy soul from the curse of the childless mother—the Drunkard's Wife !"	courses in pretty strong English on the vice of intemperance : "Take especial care that you delight not in wine, for there ne- ver was any man who came to honor or preferment that loved it, for it transform- eth a man into a beast, decayeth health, poiseneth the breath, destroyeth natural heat, bringeth a man's stomach to an arti- ficial burning, deformeth the face, rotteth the teeth, and to conclude, maketh a man contemptable, soon old, and despised of all wise and worthy men ; hated in thy ser- vants, thyself and thy companious, for it is a bewitching and infectious vice ; and re- member my words, that it were better for a man to be subjected to any vice than to it ; for all other vanities and sins are recovered, but a drunkard will never shake off the delight of beastliness ; for the longer it possesseth a man the more he will delight in it, and the older he groweth, the more he will be subject to it, for it dulleth the spirits and destroyeth the body, as ivy doth the old tree, or as the worm that engende- reth in the kernel of the nut." SALT IN THE OCEANEverybody knows that the waters of the ocean are very salty to the taste ; but how many of you have thought of the immense quanti- ties of salts of different kinds that must be in the Atlantic and Pacific to give a flavor to such enormous bodies of water ? Scien- tific men have thought about it ; and one of them (Captain Maury) has told us that if all the various salts of these oceans could be separated from the water and spread
 the hands of Ignorant or unskillful PREDERS, who, by the use of that deadly Pol-Mercury, &c., destroy the constitution, and able of curing, keep the unhappy sufferer h after month taking their noxious or be us compounds, and instead of being restored envel of Life Vigor and Happiness, in desenvel of Life Vigor and Life Vigor and View All of Life Vigor All of Lif	County, Pa., at the Station of the N. C. R. W. Choice wines and cigars at the bar. The table is supplied with the best the market affords. Good stabiling and attentive ostlers. HUMBEL'S RESTAURANT, LOUIS FUMMEL, Proprietor, Commerce St., SEAMOKIN, PENN'A. Having just reflited the above Saloon for the accomodation of the public, is now prepared to serve his friends with the best refreshments, and fresh Lager Beer, Ale, Porter, and all other mait quors. Eusiness Cards. W. S. EHOADS. W. S. EHOADS. Context Heat Construction M. S. RHOADS & CO. M. S. RHOADS & CO. M. S. RHOADS & CO. Orders left at Seaskoltz & Bro's., office Market treet, will receive prompt attention. Country ustom respectfully solicited. Feb. 4, 197141. ANTHRACITE COAL . Wholesale and Retail dealer in every variety of ANTHRACITE COAL. UPER WHARF, SUNBURY, PENN'A. All kinds of Grain taken in exchange for Coal. Orders solicited and filled promptly. Orders left at S. S. Building, Mucket Square, SUNBURY, PA. MI kinds of Grain taken in exchange for Coal. Orders solicited and filled promptly. Orders left at S. F. Nevin's Confectionery Store, on Thirdirect, will receive prompt attentios, and money receiptedfor, the same as at the office. DENTISTRY. In Sumpson's Building, Mucket Square, SUNBURY, PA. I prepared to do all kinds of work pertaining to Dentistry. He keeps constantly on hand alarge assortment of Teeth, and other Dentain material, from which he will be able to select, and meet the wants of his customers. The very best Mouth Wash and Tooth-Powders key on hand. His references are the paramerous patrons for	THE SUNBURY AMERICAN IN THE BEST ADVERISING MEDIUM In the Central part of the State, IT CIRCULATES In one of the Most Thrifty, Intelligent and WEALTHY SECTIONS OF PENNSYLVANIA. Sample copy of paper sent to any address free of charge. Manhoed : How Lost, flow Restored Just published, a new edition of Da, CELVERWELL'S CRESSERTED Essay on the radical cure (without medi- ticae) of the sectored	some that were taying there not intended for papa and mamma to read. 'I really don't know why Delia should not go,' said the unsuspicious, good-na- tured uncle. 'You will be sure to take care of her, Rolfe ?' 'I'll try to, sir.' 'So in less than half an hour from the time it was mentioned, I was gathering up the reins, and Brown Bess was tossing her head until the bells jingled merrily. 'It's royal traveling,' called out Uncle Dan, as we started. 'Don't be out too late, Rolfe, for there has been a severe smap in the weather lately, and—' 'The reft was lost in the crunching of the crusty snow, and the 'ding ding, ding, of the cup-shaped bells. 'This is an unexpected honor, Miss Cor- delia,' I began, as the sleigh went smoothly along. 'Susan and Almira voted me their min- ister plenipotentiary,' she responded coldly. 'I and Cordelia, who was no blood rela- tion of mine, had a falling out of a recent date which made it all the more surprising that she should have cared to go with me that day. She was one of those high- spirited girls who never strike their colors. 'It happened one evening about a week before. My auot had a party—for there were settlers enough in the vicinity to give us social evenings—and about a dozen peo- ple were present. You may fancy, per- baps, that we have no intelligent spirits on the prairies; but that is a mistake. 'Cordelia and I disputed about the rela- tive characteristics of men and women.''	 us. On and on we went. I did not speak to the mare, nor with her; there was no need. She was trotting like a race horse, her tail streaming over the dash-board of the sleigh. Another hour passed. The light snow was mounting above the runners, and driving obliquely across our laps in blinding, smothering thickness, still we were getting on well; I hoped we were nearing home. 'Are you cold ?' I asked, drawing Cordelia close to me. 'Nothing to speak of,' she cheerfully replied. But I felt a strong shudder shake her from head to foot. 'Presently the sleigh pitched considerable, although I had a tight rein. 'Rolfe,' she began, and I thought I again felt her frame tremble, although her voice was cool and steady, 'the wind does not strike us just as it did, neither did we pitch this morning as we do now. Have the lost road ?' 'By Heaven ! you have spoken my thoughts, Cordelia,' I ejaculated, while a damp, icy coldness broke out from every pore in my skin. She shuddered again, but said nothing. 'I knotted the reins and threw them over the dash-board. This was why the mare had held so hardly—she knew better than I. I must trust to her instinct. In twenty minutes she had swung around so as to bring the wind on the old quarter with us. It was blowing heavy. 1 got my arm around my companion to hold the blankets in place. 	leisurely through the streets, dressed with care, as I usually am when walking out for pleasure, and as I intended making some trifling purchases by the way, I recollect I had the beautiful purse which was my Christmas present in my hand. Mrs. B— was walking a few rods ahead of me, and I was wondering how she got every new fashion so soon, and whether she used her cast off things to pay her help with, or sold them to the china pedlers, or whether it could be really true that she gave them to the poor. Well, just as this foolish train of thought was passing through my mind all at once a woman advanced toward me, with no bonnet, and a miserable shawl drawn over her head. I thought she was going to beg, and was beginning to tell her that I had nothing to give, when she seized the strings of my hat, and with a resolute hand, and a look that almost petrified me, took it off and put it on her own head and walked away! I looked after her with as- tonishment, but what could I do—go in at the first ? The people were strangers and what would they think ? There was no milliner shop at band, and I was quite a distance from home. As I could do noth- ing in my turn I drew my shawl over my head and tried to quicken my steps; but my feet seemed paralyzed, and I made little progress. Just then I saw a woman in the distance, coming towards me. Oh ! if I could only walk as she does, thought I. The woman was very meagre, poorly dressed, and with	I could not take him up—could not hush him on my bosom ! Woman," she said, looking me in the face with a gaze I shall never forget, "I will take this linen now, for it is needed, and I have no money to buy more." I did not answer her. I had lost all power of utterance. There was a grim, despairing expression in her eyes that froze me. She fastened them on me a moment, and perceiving my shudder of horror at the idea of being utterly deprived of clothing, and left as a gazing stock in the public street, she drew back, saying, "No, sinful, condemned womau—no? I cannot take away thy covering. O, my child, my cherub, my cherub, my blessed angel of heaven ! thou art innocent, but she is guilty. No, madam ! I had thought to take it for a shroud, to lay out my dead baby, my murdered child—mur- dered by the crueity of a drunken father ! There he lies, in his pillowless cradle, with the little solied frock he has worn for weeks still on him ! I could not beg when I knew there was cloth of my own, so white, so fine, so suitable. But no, I will not take it from you ! If I am a mother I am a woman. Better that I should forbear— better that my innocent one should go to his grave uncovered ! He has never sinned ; let him lie in his pure nakedness. God's angels shall spread over him their spot- less wings. Keep thy ill-gotten clothing, It may shield thy form from the gaze of man, but it cannot shield thy soul from the curse of the childless mother—the Drunkard's Wife !" O, my husband, the sound of that voice	courses in pretty strong English on the vice of intemperance : "Take especial care that you delight not in wine, for there ne- ver was any man who came to honor or preferment that loved it, for it transform- eth a man into a beast, decayeth health, poiseneth the breath, destroyeth natural heat, bringeth a man's stomach to an arti- ficial burning, deformeth the face, rotteth the teeth, and to conclude, maketh a man contemptable, soon old, and despised of all wise and worthy men ; hated in thy ser- vants, thyself and thy companious, for it is a bewitching and infectious vice ; and re- member my words, that it were better for a man to be subjected to any vice than to it ; for all other vanities and sins are recovered, but a drunkard will never shake off the delight of beastliness ; for the longer it possesseth a man the more he will delight in it, and the older he groweth, the more he will be subject to it, for it dulleth the spirits and destroyeth the body, as ivy doth the old tree, or as the worm that engende- reth in the kernel of the nut." SALT IN THE OCEANEverybody knows that the waters of the ocean are very salty to the taste ; but how many of you have thought of the immense quanti- ties of salts of different kinds that must be in the Atlantic and Pacific to give a flavor to such enormous bodies of water ? Scien- tific men have thought about it ; and one of them (Captain Maury) has told us that if all the various salts of these oceans could be separated from the water and spread out equally over the northern half of this
the hands of Ignorant or unskillful PREDERS, who, by the use of that deadly Poi- Mercury, &c., destroy the constitution, and able of curing, keep the unhappy sufferer h after month taking their noxious or be- us compounds, and instead of being restored envel of Life Vigor and Happiness, in des- eave him with ruined Health to sigh over uling disappointment. such, therefore, Dr. Jonsstrox piedges him- opreserve the most Inviolable Secrecy, and he extensive practice and observations in reat Hospitals of Europe, and the first in ountry, viz: England, France, Philadelphia sewhere, is enabled to offer the most cer- seedy and effectual remedy in the world diseases of imprudence. DR. JOHNSTON. TE, NO. 7, S. FREDERICK STREET. CALIMOR, M. D. and side going from Baltimorestreet, a few from the corner. Fail not to observe name. No letters received unless postpaid and ining a stamp to be used on the reply. Per- oriting abould state age, and send a portion ining a stamp to be used on the reply. Per- oriting mith and rulining the Leath who unfortunately fall into their power, r. Johnaton deems it necessary to say es- ty to those unaequainted with his renata- ing. ENDORSEMENT OF THE PRESS. Many thousands cured at this Establish- year after year, and the numerous in- t Surgical Operations performed by Dr. on witnessed by the representatives of the ind many other papers, notices of which peared again and again before the puble, a bast discness by cured. I. StardIN WINTER STORES. AND MINTER STORES. AND MIN	County, Pa., at the Station of the N. C. R. W. Choice wines and cigars at the bar. The table is supplied with the best the market affords. Good stabling and attentive ostlers. HUMBEL'S RESTAURANT, LOUIS FUMMEL, Proprietor, Commerce St., SEAMOKIN, PENN'A. Having just refitted the above Saloon for the accomodation of the public, is now prepared to serve his friends with the best refreshments, and fresh Lager Beer, Ale, Porter, and all other malt quors. Gusiness Cards. W. S. EHOADS W. S. EHOADS CO., N. S. EHOADS M. RETAIL DEALERS OF ANTHRACITE COAL, SUNBURY, PENN'A. OFFICE WITH HAAS, FAGELY & CO., Orders left at Seaskoitz & Bro's., office Market treet, will receive prompt attention. Country usiom respectfully solicited. Feb. 4, 1971tf. ANTHRACITE COAL . UPPER WHARF, SUNBURY, PENN'A. All kinds of Grain taken in exchange for Coal. Orders solicited and filled promptly. Orders left at S. F. Nevin's Confectionery Store, on Third treet, will receive prompt attentiog, and money recepted for, the same as at the office. DENTISTEN. M kinds of Grain taken in exchange for Coal. Orders solicited and filled promptly. Orders left at S. F. Nevin's Confectionery Store, on Third treet, will receive prompt attentiog, and money recepted for, the same as at the office. DENTISTEN. I formpson's Building, Mucket Square, SUNBURY, PA I prepared to do all kinds of work pertaining to Dentistry. He keeps constantly on hand alarge assortment of Teeth, and other Dental material, from which he will be able to select, and meet the wants of his sustomers. All work warranted to give satisfaction, or else the money refunded. The very best Mouth Wash and Tooth-Powders kept on hand.	THE SUNBURY AMERICAN IS THE BEST ADVERISING MEDIUM In the Central part of the State, In the Central part of the State, IT CIRCULATES In one of the Most Thrifty, Intelligent and WEALTHY SECTIONS OF PENNSYLVANIA. Sample copy of paper sent to any address free of charge. Manhoed : How Lost, How Restored Just published, a new edition of Da. CELTERWARD FOR	some that were taying there not intended for papa and mamma to read. 'I really don't know why Delia should not go,' said the unsuspicious, good-na- tured uncle. 'You will be sure to take care of her, Rolfe?' 'I'll try to, sir.' 'So in less than half an hour from the time it was mentioned, I was gathering up the reins, and Brown Bess was tossing her head until the bells jingled merrily. 'It's royal traveling,' called out Uncle Dan, as we started. 'Don't be out too late, Rolfe, for there has been a severe smap in the weather lately, and—' 'The rest was lost in the crunching of the crusty snow, and the 'ding ding, ding, of the cup-shaped bells. 'This is an unexpected honor, Miss Cor- delia,' I began, as the sleigh went smoothly along. 'Susan and Almira voted me their min- ister plenipotentiary,' she responded coldly. 'I and Cordelia, who was no blood rela- tion of mine, had a falling out of a recent date which made it all the more surprising that she should have cared to go with me that day. She was one of those high- spirited girls who never strike their colors. 'It happened one evening about a week before. My aunt had a party—for there were-settlers enough in the vicinity to give us social evenings—and about a dozen peo- ple were present. You may fancy, per- taps, that we have no intelligent spirits on the prairies; but that is a mistake. 'Cordelia and I disputed about the rela- tive characteristics of men and women. The sweet attributes of patience, purity	 us. On and on we went. I did not speak to the mare, nor with her; there was no need. She was trotting like a race horse, her tail streaming over the dash-board of the sleigh. Another hour passed. The light snow was mounting above the runners, and driving obliquely across our laps in blinding, smothering thickness, still we were getting on well; I hoped we were nearing home. 'Are you cold ?' I asked, drawing Cordelia close to me. 'Nothing to speak of,' she cheerfully replied. But I felt a strong shudder shake her from head to foot. 'Presently the sleigh pitched considerable, although I had a tight rein. 'Rolfe,' she began, and I thought I again felt her frame tremble, although her voice was cool and steady, 'the wind does not strike us just as it did, neither did we pitch this morning as we do now. Have the lost road ?' 'By Heaven! you have spoken my thoughts, Cordelia,' I ejaculated, while a damp, icy coldness broke out from every pore in my skin. She shuddered again, but said nothing. 'I knotted the reins and threw them over the dash-board. This was why the mare had held so hardly—she knew better than I. I must trust to her instinct. In twenty minutes she had swung around so as to bring the wind on the old quarter with us. It was blowing heavy. 1 got my arm around my companion to hold the blankets in place. 	leisurely through the streets, dressed with care, as I usually am when walking out for pleasure, and as I intended making some trilling purchases by the way, I recollect I had the beautiful purse which was my Christmas present in my hand. Mrs. B was walking a few rods ahead of me, and I was wondering how she got every new fashion so soon, and whether she used her cast off things to pay her help with, or sold them to the china pedlers, or whether it could be really true that she gave them to the poor. Well, just as this foolish train of thought was passing through my mind all at once a woman advanced toward me, with no bonnet, and a miserable shawl drawn over her head. I thought she was going to beg, and was beginning to tell her that I had nothing to give, when she seized the strings of my hat, and with a resolute hand, and a look that almost petrified me, took it off and put it on her own head and walked away ! I looked after her with as- tonishment, but what could I do-go in at the first ? The people were strangers and what would they think ? There was no milliner shop at band, and I was quite a distance from home. As I could do noth- ing in my turn I drew my shawl over my head and tried to quicken my steps ; but my feet scemed paralyzed, and I made little progress. Just then I saw a woman in the distance, coming towards me. Oh ! if I could only walk as she does, thought I. The woman was very meagre, poorly dressed, and with nothing about her shoulders though the air was quite keen. The moment we met	I could not take him up—could not hush him on my bosom ! Woman," she said, looking me in the face with a gaze I shall never forget, "I will take this linen now, for it is needed, and I have no money to buy more." I did not answer her. I had lost all power of utterance. There was a grim, despairing expression in her eyes that froze me. She fastened them on me a moment, and perceiving my shudder of horror at the idea of being utterly deprived of clothing, and left as a gazing stock in the public street, she drew back, saying, "No, sinful, condemned woman—no? I cannot take away thy covering. O, my child, my cherub, my cherub, my blessed angel of heaven ! thou art innocent, but she is guilty. No, madam ! I had thought to take it for a shroud, to lay out my dead baby, my murdered child—mur- dered by the cruelty of a drunken father ! There he lies, in his pillowless cradle, with the little solied frock he has worn for weeks still on him ! I could not beg when I knew there was cloth of my own, so white, so fine, so suitable. But no, I will not take it from you ! If I am a mother I am a woman. Better that I should forbear— better that my innocent one should go to his grave uncovered ! He has never sinned ; let him lie in his pure nakedness. God's angels shall spread over him their spot- less wings. Keep thy ill-gotten clothing, It may shield thy form from the gaze of man, but it cannot shield thy soul from the curse of the childless mother—the Drunkard's Wife !" O, my husband, the sound of that voice is ringing in my ears this moment ! Per-	courses in pretty strong English on the vice of intemperance : "Take especial care that you delight not in wine, for there ne- ver was any man who came to honor or preferment that loved it, for it transform- eth a man into a beast, decayeth health, poiseneth the breath, destroyeth natural heat, bringeth a man's stomach to an arti- ficial burning, deformeth the face, rotteth the teeth, and to conclude, maketh a man contemptable, soon old, and despised of all wise and worthy men ; hated in thy ser- vants, thyself and thy companious, for it is a bewitching and infectious vice ; and re- member my words, that it were better for a man to be subjected to any vice than to it ; for all other vanities and sins are recovered, but a drunkard will never shake off the delight of beastliness ; for the longer it possesseth a man the more he will delight in it, and the older he groweth, the more he will be subject to it, for it dulleth the spirits and destroyeth the body, as ivy doth the old tree, or as the worm that engende- reth in the kernel of the nut." SALT IN THE OCEAN.—Everybody knows that the waters of the ocean are very salty to the taste ; but how many of you have thought of the immense quanti- ties of salts of different kinds that must be in the Atlantic and Pacific to give a flavor to such enormous bodies of water ? Scien- tific men have thought about it ; and one of them (Captain Maury) has told us that if all the various salts of these oceans could be separated from the water and spread out equally over the northern half of this continent, they would form a cevering one
the hands of Ignorant or unskillful PRE- DERS, who, by the use of that deadly Pol- Mercury, &c., destroy the constitution, and able of caring, keep the unhappy sufferer h after month taking their noxious or is- us compounds, and instead of being restored enewal of Life Vigor and Happiness, in des- eave him with ruined Health to sigh over ulling disappointment. such, therefore, Dr. Joursertox pledges him- preserve the most Inviolable Secreev, and his extensive practice and observations in reat Hospitals of Europe, and the first in ountry, viz: England, France, Philadelphin isewhere, is enabled to offer the most cer- speedy and effectual remedy in the world diseases of imprudence. DR. JOHNSTON. ICE, NO. 7, S. FREDERICK STREET. Dand side going from Baltimore street, a few from the corner. Fail not to observe name imber. No letters received unless postpaid and in fissment describing symptoms. re are so many Paltry, Designing and less Impreters advertising themselves as ians, trifling with and ruining the health who unfortunately fall into their power, in the Gredentials or Diplomas always on his office. ENDORSEMENT OF THE PRESS. Many thousands cured at this Establish- wear after year, and the numerous in it sums thousands cured at this Establish- wear after year, and the numerous in it suffice. ENDORSEMENT OF THE PRESS. Many thousands cured at this Establish- wear after year, and the numerous in it suffice. ENDORSEMENT OF THE PRESS. Many thousands cured at this Establish- year after year, and the numerous in it suffice. ENDORSEMENT OF THE PRESS. Many thousands cured at this establish- peared again and again before the puble, i his standing as a gentleman of character i sponsibility, is a sufficient guarantee to the d. Shita diseases speedily cured. it 3, 187419	County, Pa., at the Station of the N. C. R. W. Choice wines and cigars at the bar. The table is supplied with the best the market affords. Good stabiling and attentive ostiers. MMELS RESTAURANT. LOUIS FUMMEL, Proprietor, Commerce St., SEAMOKIN, PENN'A. Having just refitted the above Saloon for the accomodation of the public, is now prepared to serve lis friends with the best refreshments, and fraces. Market and the public is now prepared to serve lis friends with the best refreshments, and fraces.	THE SUNBURY AMERICAN IN THE BESTADVERISING MEDIUM In the Central part of the Biate, In the Central part of the Biate, IT CIRCULATES In one of the Most Thrifty, Intelligent and WEALTHY SECTIONS OF PENNSYLVANIA. Sample copy of paper sent to any address free of charge.	some that were taying there not intended for papa and mamma to read. 'I really don't know why Delia should not go,' said the unsuspicious, good-na- tured uncle. 'You will be sure to take care of her, Rolfe?' 'I'll try to, sir.' 'So in less than half an hour from the time it was mentioned, I was gathering up the reins, and Brown Bess was tossing her head until the bells jingled merrily. 'It's royal traveling,' called out Uncle Dan, as we started. 'Don't be out too late, Rolfe, for there has been a severe snap in the weather lately, and—' 'The rest was lost in the crunching of the crusty snow, and the 'ding ding, ding, of the cup-shaped bells. 'This is an unexpected honor, Miss Cor- delia,' I began, as the sleigh went smoothly along. 'Susan and Almira voted me their min- ister plenipotentiary,' she responded coldly. 'I and Cordelia, who was no blood rela- tion of mine, had a falling out of a recent date which made it all the more surprising that she should have cared to go with me that day. She was one of those high- spirited girls who never strike their colors. 'It happened one evening about a week before. My aunt had a party—for there were-settlers enough in the vicinity to give us social evenings—and about a dozen peo- ple were present. You may fancy, per- taps, that we have no intelligent spirits on the prairies; but that is a mistake. 'Cordelia and I disputed about the rela- tive characteristics of men and women. The sweet attributes of patience, purity and consistency she claimed entirely for	 us. On and on we went. I did not speak to the mare, nor with her; there was no need. She was trotting like a race horse, her tail streaming over the dash-board of the sleigh. Another hour passed. The light snow was mounting above the runners, and driving obliquely across our laps in blinding, smothering thickness, still we were getting on well; I hoped we were nearing home. 'Are you cold ?' I asked, drawing Cordelia close to me. 'Nothing to speak of,' she cheerfully replied. But I felt a strong shudder shake her from head to foot. 'Presently the sleigh pitched considerable, although I had a tight rein. 'Rolfe,' she began, and I thought I again felt her frame tremble, although her voice was cool and steady, 'the wind does not strike us just as it did, neither did we pitch this morning as we do now. Have the lost road ?' 'By Heaven! you have spoken my thoughts, Cordelia,' I ejaculated, while a damp, icy coldness broke out from every pore in my skin. She shuddered again, but said nothing. 'I knotted the reins and threw them over the dash-board. This was why the mare had held so hardly—she knew better than I. I must trust to her instinct. In twenty minutes she had swung around so as to bring the wind on the old quarter with us. It was blowing heavy. 1 got my arm around my companion to hold the blankets in place. 	leisurely through the streets, dressed with care, as I usually am when walking out for pleasure, and as I intended making some trilling purchases by the way, I recollect I had the beautiful purse which was my Christmas present in my hand. Mrs. B was walking a few rods ahead of me, and I was wondering how she got every new fashion so soon, and whether she used her cast off things to pay her help with, or sold them to the china pedlers, or whether it could be really true that she gave them to the poor. Well, just as this foolish train of thought was passing through my mind all at once a woman advanced toward me, with no bonnet, and a miserable shawl drawn over her head. I thought she was going to beg, and was beginning to tell her that I had nothing to give, when she seized the strings of my hat, and with a resolute hand, and a look that almost petrified me, took it off and put it on her own head and walked away! I looked after her with as- tonishment, but what could I dogo in at the first? The people were strangers and what would they think? There was no milliner shop at hand, and I was quite a distance from home. As I could do noth- ing in my turn I drew my shawl over my head and tried to quicken my steps; but my feet scemed paralyzed, and I made little progress. Just then I saw a woman in the distance, coming towards me. Oh! if I could only walk as she does, thought I. The woman was very meagre, poorly dressed, and with nothing about her shoulders though the air was quite keen. The moment we met she stopped, looked me sternly in the face,	I could not take him up—could not hush him on my bosom ! Woman," she said, looking me in the face with a gaze I shall never forget, "I will take this linen now, for it is needed, and I have no money to buy more." I did not answer her. I had lost all power of utterance. There was a grim, despairing expression in her eyes that froze me. She fastened them on me a moment, and perceiving my shudder of horror at the idea of being utterly deprived of clothing, and left as a gazing stock in the public street, she drew back, saying, "No, sinful, condemned womau—no! I cannot take away thy covering. O, my child, my cherub, my cherub, my blessed angel of heaven ! thou art innocent, but she is guilty. No, madam! I had thought to take it for a shroud, to lay out my dead baby, my murdered child—mur- dered by the cruelty of a drunken father ! There he lies, in his pillowless cradle, with the little soiled frock he has worn for weeks still on him ! I could not beg when I knew there was cloth of my own, so white, so fine, so suitable. But no, I will not take it from you ! If I am a mother I am a woman. Better that I should forbear— better that my innocent one should go to his grave uncovered ! He has never sinned ; let him lie in his pure nakedness. God's angels shall spread over him their spot- less wings. Keep thy ill-gotten clothing, It may shield thy form from the gaze of man, but it cannot shield thy soul from the eurse of the childless mother—the Drunkard's Wife !" O, my husband, the sound of that voice is ringing in my ears this moment ! Per- haps I am weak and foolish ; but truly as	courses in pretty strong English on the vice of intemperance : "Take especial care that you delight not in wine, for there ne- ver was any man who came to honor or preferment that loved it, for it transform- eth a man into a beast, decayeth health, poiseneth the breath, destroyeth natural heat, bringeth a man's stomach to an arti- ficial burning, deformeth the face, rotteth the teeth, and to conclude, maketh a man contemptable, soon old, and despised of all wise and worthy men ; hated in thy ser- vants, thyself and thy companious, for it is a bewitching and infectious vice ; and re- member my words, that it were better for a man to be subjected to any vice than to it ; for all other vanities and sins are recovered, but a drunkard will never shake off the delight of beastliness ; for the longer it possesseth a man the more he will delight in it, and the older he groweth, the more he will be subject to it, for it dulleth the spirits and destroyeth the body, as ivy doth the old tree, or as the worm that engende- reth in the kernel of the nut." SALT IN THE OCEAN.—Everybody knows that the waters of the ocean are very salty to the taste ; but how many of you have thought of the immense quanti- ties of salts of different kinds that must be in the Atlantic and Pacific to give a flavor to such enormous bodies of water ? Scien- tific men have thought about it ; and one of them (Captain Maury) has told us that if all the various salts of these oceans could be separated from the water and spread out equally over the northern half of this continent, they would form a covering one mile deep. So heavy would be this mass of
the hands of Ignorant or unskillful PRE- DERS, who, by the use of that deadly Poi- Mercury, &c., destroy the constitution, and able of caring, keep the unhappy sufferer h after month taking their noxious or k- us compounds, and instead of being restored enewal of Life Vigor and Happiness, in des- eave him with ruined Health to sigh over ulting disappointment. such, therefore, Dr. JORNSTON pledges him- preserve the most Inviolable Secreev, and his extensive practice and observations in reat Hospitals of Europe, and the first in ountry, viz: England, France, Philadelphia isewhere, is enabled to offer the most cer- speedy and effectual remedy in the world i diseases of improdence. DR. JOHNSTON. ICE, NO. 7, S. FREDERICK STREET. Mad side going from Baltimare street, a few from the corner. Fail not to observe name umber. No letters received unless postpaid and intisement describing symptoms. re are so many Paltry, Designing and dess improters advertising themselves as inst, trifling with and ruining the Leath who unfortunately fall into their power, who unfortunately fall into their power, while office. ENDORSEMENT OF THE PRESS. many thousands cured at this Establish- year after year, and the numerous in- t Surgical Operations performed by Dr. on, witnessed by the representatives of the indicessed by the representatives of the indicessed by the representatives of the indicessed by the representative to the a Shin disenses speedily cured. it 3, 1874.—19 MINTER STORES. MEN MINER, is a sufficient guarantee to the a Shin disenses speedily cured. it 3, 1874.—19	County, Pa., at the Station of the N. C. R. W. Choice wines and cigars at the bar. The table is supplied with the best the market affords. Good stabiling and attentive ostiers. HUMPEL'S RESTAURANT. LOUIS FUMMEL, Proprietor, Commerce St., SEAMOKIN, PENN'A. Having just refitted the above Saloon for the accomodation of the public, is now prepared to serve ais friends with the best refreshments, and frash Lager Beer, Ale, Porter, and all other mail utors. Gusiness Cards. W. S. EHOADS. Cords. W. S. EHOADS. Cords. OFFICE WITH HAAS, FAGELY & CO., Orders left at Seaskoltz & Bro's., office Market treet, will receive prompt attention. Country usion respectfully solicited. Feb. 4, 1871tf. ANTHRACITE COAL , SUNBURY, PENN'A. OFFICE WITH HAAS, FAGELY & CO., Orders left at Seaskoltz & Bro's., office Market treet, will receive prompt attention. Country usion respectfully solicited. Feb. 4, 1871tf. ANTHRACITE COAL , UPPER WHARF, SUNBURY, PENN'A. All kinds of Grain tuken in exchange for Coal. Orders solicited and filled promptly. Orders left at S.F. Nevin's Confectionery Store, on Third treet, will receive prompt attentics, and money receiptedfor, the same as at the office. DENTISTRY. M Simpson's Building, Market Square, SUNBURY, PA I prepared to do all kinds of work pertaining to Dentistry. He keeps constantly on hand alarge assortment of Teeth, and other Dental material, from which he will be able to select, and meet the wants of his customer. All work warranted to give satisfaction, or else the money refunded. The very best Mouth Wash and Tooth-Powders teen on hand. The references are the mancrons patrons for some has worked for the last tweive years. Sumbury, April 21, 1872. COAL! COAL! COAL!- GRANT BROS., Shippers and Wholesale and Retail Dealers in	THE SUNBURY AMERICAN IN THE BESTADVERISING MEDIUM In the Central part of the Biste, IT CIRCULATES In one of the Most Thrifty, Intelligent and WEALTHY SECTIONS OF PENNSYLVANIA. Sample copy of paper sent to any address free of charge. Manhood : How Lost, How Restored Just published, a new edition of Da Criveswell's Cristiants fease, or seminal wakness, involut- inty seminal losses, or seminal wakness, involut- inty seminal losses, impotency, Mental and physical in- cupacity, impediments to marriage, etc., also Consump- tion, Epilepsy and Six, induced by cell-indulgence or serval cattravagance.	some that were taying there not intended for papa and mamma to read. 'I really don't know why Delia should not go,' said the unsuspicious, good-na- tured uncle. 'You will be sure to take care of her, Rolfe ?' 'I'll try to, sir.' 'So in less than half an hour from the time it was mentioned, I was gathering up the reins, and Brown Bess was tossing her head until the bells jingled merrily. 'It's royal traveling,' called out Uncle Dan, as we started. 'Don't be out too late, Rolfe, for there has been a severe smsp in the weather lately, and—' 'The rest was lost in the crunching of the crusty snow, and the 'ding ding, ding, of the cup-shaped bells. 'This is an unexpected honor, Miss Cor- delia,' I began, as the sleigh went smoothly along. 'Susan and Almira voted me their min- ister plenipotentiary,' she responded coldly. 'I and Cordelia, who was no blood rela- tion of mine, had a falling out of a recent date which made it all the more surprising that she should have cared to go with me that day. She was one of those high- spirited girls who never strike their colors. 'It happened one evening about a week before. My aunt had a party—for there were settlers enough in the vicinity to give us social evenings—and about a dozen peo- ple were present. You may fancy, per- taps, that we have no intelligent spirits on the prairies; but that is a mistake. 'Cordelia and I disputed about the rela- tive characteristics of men and women. The sweet attributes of patience, purity and consistency she claimed entirely for her sex. I gave genius, persistency and	 us. On and on we went. I did not speak to the mare, nor with her; there was no need. She was trotting like a race horse, her tail streaming over the dash-board of the sleigh. Another hour passed. The light snow was mounting above the runners, and driving obliquely across our laps in blinding, smothering thickness, still we were getting on well; I hoped we were nearing home. 'Are you cold?' I asked, drawing Cordelia close to me. 'Nothing to speak of,' she cheerfully replied. But I felt a strong shudder shake her from head to foot. 'Presently the sleigh pitched considerable, although I had a tight rein. 'Rolfe,' she began, and I thought I again felt her frame tremble, although her voice was cool and steady, 'the wind does not strike us just as it did, neither did we pitch this morning as we do now. Have the lost road?' 'By Heaven! you have spoken my thoughts, Cordelia,' I ejaculated, while a damp, icy coldness broke out from every pore in my skin. She shuddered again, but said nothing. 'I knotted the reins and threw them over the dash-board. This was why the mare had held so hardly—she knew better than I. I must trust to her instinct. In twenty minutes she had swung around so as to bring the wind on the old quarter with us. It was blowing heavy. 1 got my arm around my companion to hold the blankets in place. 	leisurely through the streets, dressed with care, as I usually am when walking out for pleasure, and as I intended making some trifting purchases by the way, I recollect I had the beautiful purse which was my Christmas present in my hand. Mrs. B— was walking a few rods ahead of me, and I was wondering how she got every new fushion so soon, and whether she used her cast off things to pay her help with, or sold them to the china pedlers, or whether it could be really true that she gave them to the poor. Well, just as this foolish train of thought was passing through my mind all at once a woman advanced toward me, with no bonnet, and a miserable shawl drawn over her head. I thought she was going to beg, and was beginning to tell her that I had nothing to give, when she seized the strings of my hat, and with a resolute hand, and a look that almost petrified me, took it off and put it on her own head and walked away ! I looked after her with as- tonishment, but what could I do—go in at the first ? The people were strangers and what would they think ? There was no milliner shop at band, and I was quite a distance from home. As I could do noth- ing in my turn I drew my shawl over my head and tried to quicken my steps ; but my feet seemed paralyzed, and I made little progress. Just then I saw a woman in the distance, coming towards me. Oh ! if I could only walk as she does, thought I. The woman was very meagre, poorly dressed, and with nothing about her shoulders though the air was quite keen. The moment we met she stopped, looked me sternly in the face, and exclaimed in a voice as stern as the look, ''Give me my shawl madam !'' and without waiting for reply or resistance,	I could not take him up—could not hush him on my bosom ! Woman," she said, looking me in the face with a gaze I shall never forget, "I will take this linen now, for it is needed, and I have no money to buy more." I did not answer her. I had lost all power of utterance. There was a grim, despairing expression in her eyes that froze me. She fastened them on me a moment, and perceiving my shudder of horror at the idea of being utterly deprived of clothing, and left as a gazing stock in the public street, she drew back, saying, "No, sinful, condemned woman—no! I cannot take away thy covering. O, my child, my cherub, my cherub, my blessed angel of heaven ! thou art innocent, but she is guilty. No, madam ! I had thought to take it for a shroud, to lay out my dead baby, my murdered child—mur- dered by the cruelty of a drunken father ! There he lies, in his pillowless cradle, with the little soiled frock he has worn for weeks still on him ! I could not beg when I knew there was cloth of my own, so white, so fine, so suitable. But no, I will not take it from you ! If I am a mother I am a woman. Better that I should forbear— better that my innocent one should go to his grave uncovered ! He has never sinned ; let him lie in his pure nakedness. God's angels shall spread over him their spot- less wings. Keep thy ill-gotten clothing, It may shield thy form from the gaze of man, but it cannot shield thy soul from the curse of the childless mother—the Drunkard's Wife !" O, my husband, the sound of that voice is ringing in my ears this moment ! Per- haps I am weak and foolish ; but truly as I am alive and sitting bere, I will never	courses in pretty strong English on the vice of intemperance : "Take especial care that you delight not in wine, for there ne- ver was any man who came to honor or preferment that loved it, for it transform- eth a man into a beast, decayeth health, poiseneth the breath, destroyeth natural heat, bringeth a man's stomach to an arti- ficial burning, deformeth the face, rotteth the teeth, and to conclude, maketh a man contemptable, soon old, and despised of all wise and worthy men ; hated in thy ser- vants, thyself and thy companions, for it is a bewitching and infectious vice ; and re- member my words, that it were better for a man to be subjected to any vice than to it ; for all other vanities and sins are recovered, but a drunkard will never shake off the delight of beastliness ; for the longer it possesseth a man the more he will delight in it, and the older he groweth, the more he will be subject to it, for it dulleth the spirits and destroyeth the body, as ivy doth the old tree, or as the worm that engende- reth in the kernel of the nut." SALT IN THE OCEAN.—Everybody knows that the waters of the ocean are very salty to the taste ; but how many of you have thought of the immense quanti- ties of salts of different kinds that must be in the Atlantic and Pacific to give a flavor to such enormous bodies of water ? Scien- tife men have thought about it ; and one of them (Captain Maury) has told us that if all the various salts of these oceans could be separated from the water and spread out equally over the northern half of this continent, they would form a covering one mile deep. So heavy would be this mass of salts that all the mechanical inventions of
the hands of Ignorant or unskillful PRE- DERS, who, by the use of that deadly Pol- Mercury, &c., destroy the constitution, and able of caring, keep the unhappy sufferer h after month taking their noxious or is- us compounds, and instead of being restored enewal of Life Vigor and Happiness, in des- eave him with ruined Health to sigh over ulling disappointment. such, therefore, Dr. Joursertox pledges him- preserve the most Inviolable Secreev, and his extensive practice and observations in reat Hospitals of Europe, and the first in ountry, viz: England, France, Philadelphin isewhere, is enabled to offer the most cer- speedy and effectual remedy in the world diseases of imprudence. DR. JOHNSTON. ICE, NO. 7, S. FREDERICK STREET. Dand side going from Baltimore street, a few from the corner. Fail not to observe name imber. No letters received unless postpaid and intisement describing symptoms. re are so many Paltry, Designing mod less Impreters advertising themselves as ians, trifling with and ruining the health who unfortunately fall into their power, in the Gredentials or Diplomas always on his office. ENDORSEMENT OF THE PRESS. Many thousands cured at this Establish- wear after year, and the numerous in it sumer. ENDORSEMENT OF THE PRESS. Many thousands cured at this Establish- who take cured at this Establish- who take the cure of a the setablish- who there appears, notices of which peared again and again before the puble, i his standing as a gentleman of character iponsibility, is a sufficient guarantee to the d. Shita disense speedily cured. it 3, 187419	County, Pa., at the Station of the N. C. R. W. Choice wines and cigars at the bar. The table is supplied with the best the market affords. Good stabiling and attentive ostiers. MMELS RESTAURANT. LOUIS FUMMEL, Proprietor, Commerce St., SEAMOKIN, PENN'A. Having just refitted the above Saloon for the accomodation of the public, is now prepared to serve lis friends with the best refreshments, and fraces. Market and the public is now prepared to serve lis friends with the best refreshments, and fraces.	THE SUNBURY AMERICAN IN THE BESTADVERISING MEDIUM In the Central part of the Biate, In the Central part of the Biate, IT CIRCULATES In one of the Most Thrifty, Intelligent and WEALTHY SECTIONS OF PENNSYLVANIA. Sample copy of paper sent to any address free of charge. Manhood : How Lost, How Restored Just published, a new edition of Da Crivtawell's Cristanter East, or seminal wat need, involution and the content of the Content and the content of the seminatory of the seminator of the Cristawell's Cristaware East, or seminal wat need, involution and the content of the Content and the content of the Section of the Content of the Cristawell's Cristaware East, induced by cell-induction of the seminator of the seminator of the section of the Section of Spermatorines, or seminative and physical in- content of the sedied envelope only circums. If Price in scaled envelope only circums.	some that were taying there not intended for papa and mamma to read. 'I really don't know why Delia should not go,' said the unsuspicious, good-na- tured uncle. 'You will be sure to take care of her, Rolfe ?' 'I'll try to, sir.' 'So in less than half an hour from the time it was mentioned, I was gathering up the reins, and Brown Bess was tossing her head until the bells jingled merrily. 'It's royal traveling,' called out Uncle Dan, as we started. 'Don't be out too late, Rolfe, for there has been a severe snsp in the weather lately, and—' 'The reft was lost in the crunching of the crusty snow, and the 'ding ding, ding, of the cup-shaped bells. 'This is an unexpected honor, Miss Cor- delia,' I began, as the sleigh went smoothly along. 'Susan and Almira voted me their min- ister plenipotentiary,' she responded coldly. 'I and Cordelia, who was no blood rela- tion of mine, had a falling out of a recent date which made it all the more surprising that she should have cared to go with me that day. She was one of those high- spirited girls who never strike their colors. 'It happened one evening about a week before. My aunt had a party—for there were-settlers enough in the vicinity to give us social evenings—and about a dozen peo- ple were present. You may fancy, per- baps, that we have no intelligent spirits on the prairies ; but that is a mistake. 'Cordelia and I disputed about the rela- tive characteristics of men and women. The sweet attributes of patience, purity and consistency she claimed entirely for her sex. I gave genius, persistency and strength of character to mine. To vex her still further, I averred my opinion that	 us. On and on we went. I did not speak to the mare, nor with her; there was no need. She was trotting like a race horse, her tail streaming over the dash-board of the sleigh. Another hour passed. The light snow was mounting above the runners, and driving obliquely across our laps in blinding, smothering thickness, still we were getting on well; I hoped we were nearing home. 'Are you cold?' I asked, drawing Cordelia close to me. 'Nothing to speak of,' she cheerfully replied. But I felt a strong shudder shake her from head to foot. 'Presently the sleigh pitched considerable, although I had a tight rein. 'Rolfe,' she began, and I thought I again felt her frame tremble, although her voice was cool and steady, 'the wind does not strike us just as it did, neither did we pitch this morning as we do now. Have the lost road?' 'By Heaven! you have spoken my thoughts, Cordelia,' I ejaculated, while a damp, icy coldness broke out from every pore in my skin. She shuddered again, but said nothing. 'I knotted the reins and threw them over the dash-board. This was why the mare had held so hardly—she knew better than I. I must trust to her instinct. In twenty minutes she had swung around so as to bring the wind on the old quarter with us. It was blowing heavy. I got my arm around my companion to hold the blankets in place. 	leisurely through the streets, dressed with care, as I usually am when walking out for pleasure, and as I intended making some trifling purchases by the way, I recollect I had the beautiful purse which was my Christmas present in my hand. Mrs. B was walking a few rods ahead of me, and I was wondering how she got every new fashion so soon, and whether she used her cast off things to pay her help with, or sold them to the china pedlers, or whether it could be really true that she gave them to the poor. Well, just as this foolish train of thought was passing through my mind all at once a woman advanced toward me, with no bonnet, and a miserable shawl drawn over her head. I thought she was going to beg, and was beginning to tell her that I had nothing to give, when she seized the strings of my hat, and with a resolute hand, and a look that almost petrified me, took it off and put it on her own head and walked away ! I looked after her with as- tonishment, but what could I dogo in at the first ? The people were strangers and what would they think ? There was no milliner shop at hand, and I was quite a distance from home. As I could do noth- ing in my turn I drew my shawl over my head and tried to quicken my steps ; but my feet scemed paralyzed, and I made little progress. Just then I saw a woman in the distance, coming towards me. Oh! if I could only walk as she does, thought I. The woman was very meagre, poorly dressed, and with nothing about her shoulders though the air was quite keen. The moment we met she stopped, looked me sternly in the face, and exclaimed in a voice as stern as the look, "Give me my shawl madam !" and without waiting for reply or resistance, stripped it from me, and wrapping it about	I could not take him up—could not hush him on my bosom! Woman," she said, looking me in the face with a gaze I shall never forget, "I will take this linen now, for it is needed, and I have no money to buy more." I did not answer her. I had lost all power of utterance. There was a grim, despairing expression in her eyes that froze me. She fastened them on me a moment, and perceiving my shudder of horror at the idea of being utterly deprived of clothing, and left as a gazing stock in the public street, she drew back, saying, "No, sinful, condemned woman—no! I cannot take away thy covering. O, my child, my cherub, my cherub, my blessed angel of heaven! thou art innocent, but she is guilty. No, madam! I had thought to take it for a shroud, to lay out my dead baby, my murdered child—mur- dered by the eruelty of a drunken father! There he lies, in his pillowless cradle, with the little soiled frock he has worn for weeks still on him ! I could not beg when I knew there was cloth of my own, so white, so fine, so suitable. But no, I will not take it from you ! If I am a mother I am a woman. Better that I should forbear— better that my innocent one should go to his grave uncovered ! He has never sinned ; let him lie in his pure nakedness. Gos's angels shall spread over him their spot- less wings. Keep thy ill-gotten clothing. It may shield thy form from the gaze of man, but it cannot shield thy soul from the curse of the childless mother—the Drunkard's Wife !'' O, my husband, the sound of that voice is ringing in my ears this moment ! Per- haps I am weak and foolish ; but truly as I am alive and sitting here, I will never use one of those articles of dress again. I	courses in pretty strong English on the vice of intemperance : "Take especial care that you delight not in wine, for there ne- ver was any man who came to honor or preferment that loved it, for it transform- eth a man into a beast, decayeth health, poiseneth the breath, destroyeth natural heat, bringeth a man's stomach to an arti- ficial burning, deformeth the face, rotteth the teeth, and to conclude, maketh a man contemptable, soon old, and despised of all wise and worthy men ; hated in thy ser- vants, thyself and thy companions, for it is a bewitching and infectious vice ; and re- member my words, that it were better for a man to be subjected to any vice than to it ; for all other vanities and sins are recovered, but a drunkard will never shake off the delight of beastliness ; for the longer it posseseth a man the more he will delight in it, and the older he groweth, the more he will be subject to it, for it dulleth the spirits and destroyeth the body, as ivy doth the old tree, or as the worm that engende- reth in the kernel of the nut." SALT IN THE OCEAN.—Everybody knows that the waters of the ocean are very salty to the taste ; but how many of you have thought of the immense quanti- ties of salts of different kinds that must be in the Atlantic and Pacific to give a flavor to such enormous bodies of water ? Scien- tife men have thought about it ; and one of them (Captain Maury) has told us that if all the various salts of these oceans could be separated from the water and spread out equally over the northern half of this continent, they would form a covering one mile deep. So heavy would be this mass of salts that all the mechanical inventions of man, aided by all the steam and water
the hands of Ignorant or unskillful PRE- DERS, who, by the use of that deadly Poi- Mercury, &c., destroy the constitution, and able of caring, keep the unhappy sufferer h after month taking their noxious or le- us compounds, and instead of being restored enewal of Life Vigor and Heipfiness, in des- eare him with ruined Health to sigh over illing disappointment. such, therefore, Dr. Jourstrox pledges him- p preserve the most Inviolable Secreev, and his extensive practice and observations in reat Hospitals of Europe, and the first in ountry, viz: England, France, Philadelphia isewhere, is enabled to offer the most cor- geedy and effectual remedy in the world liseases of imprudence. DR. JOHNSTON. 7CE, NO. 7, S. FREDERICK STREET. Carrimons, M. D. and side going from Baltimore street, a few from the corner. Fall not to observe name unber. No letters received unless postpaid and ining a stamp to be used on the reply. Per- oriting should state age, and send a portion intisement describing symptoms. re are so many Paltry, Designing and in a stamp to be used on the reply. Per- oriting should state age, and send a portion intisement describing symptoms. Rest Impruters advertising themselves as ians, trifling with and ruining the Leath who unfortunately fall into their power, v. Johnston deems it necessary to say es- tor these unacquainted with his results at his office. ENDORSEMENT OF THE PRESS. MADY HOURSEMENT OF THE PRESS. Many thousands cured at this Establish- year after year, and the numerous into i Surgical Operations performed by Dr. on, witnessed by the representatives of the oppeared again and again before the public, i his standing as a gentleman of character oposibility, is a sufficient guarantee to the d. Shiu disenses speedily cured. I 3, 1874.—19 MELOW SEAL SHERRY, In large bottles, $11,00 a dozen. GOLD SEAL BRANDY, i Sk.00 a dozen. APPLE JACK, JAMAICA REM.	County, Pa., at the Station of the N. C. R. W. Choice wines and cigars at the bar. The table is supplied with the best the market affords. Good stabiling and attentive ostiers. HUMPEL'S RESTAURANT . LOUIS EUMAEL, Proprietor, Commerce St., SELAMOKIN, PENN'A. Taving just refitted the above Saloon for the accomodation of the public, is now prepared to serve his friends with the best refreshments, and fresh Lager Beer, Ale, Porter, and all other malt uors. Gusiness Gards . N. S. BROADS. W. S. BROADS. M. MARCITE COAL, SUNBURY, PENN'A. Oraces with HAAS, FAGELY & Co Orders left at Seaskoltz & Bro's., office Market treet, will receive prompt attention. Country ustom respectfully solicited. Feb. 4, 1871tt. MATHRACITE COAL , UPPER WHARF, SUNBURY, PENN'A. MATHRACITE COAL , UPPER WHARF, SUNBURY, PENN'A. ANTHRACITE COAL, UPPER WHARF, SUNBURY, PENN'A. Mi kinds of Grain taken in exchange for Coal. Orders of of Grain taken in exchange for Coal. Orders of Gardin taken in exchange for Coal. Orders solicited and filled promptly. Orders left at s. F. Nevin's Confectionery Store, on Third tree, will receive prompt attentics, and money receipted for, the same as at the office. Mersurery, Pa., Merspared to do all kinds of work pertaining to Dentistry. He keeps constantily on hand alarge assortment of Teeth, and other Dentai alarge assortment of the setsoners. The very best multice of the set twelve years. Summy, April 21, 1872. CALI COALI COALI-GRANT BROS., Shippers and Wholesale and Retail Dealers in WHITE AND RED ASH COAL, SUNBURY, PA.	THE SUNBURY AMERICAN IN THE BEST ADVERISING MEDIUM In the Central part of the State, IT CIRCULATES In one of the Most Thrifty, Intelligent and WEALTHY SECTIONS OF PENNSYLVANIA. Sample copy of paper sent to any address free of charge. Manhoed : How Lost, How Restored Just published, a new edition of DR, CELVERWELL'S Charges. Manhoed : How Lost, How Restored Just published, a new edition of DR, CELVERWELL'S Charges. Manhoed : How Lost, How Restored Just published, a new edition of DR, CELVERWELL'S Charges. Manhoed : How Lost, Mow Restored Just published, a new edition of DR, CELVERWELL'S Charges. Manhoed : How Lost, Mow Restored Just published, a new edition of DR, CELVERWELL'S Charges. Manhoed : How Lost, Mow Restored Just published, a new edition of DR, CELVERWELL'S Charges. Manhoed : How Lost, Mow Restored Just published, a new edition of DR, CELVERWELL'S Charges. Manhoed : How Lost, Mow Restored Just published, a new edition of DR, CELVERWELL'S Charges and Bases, importency, Mental and physical in- cupacity, impediment to maring, etc., also Consump- tion, Epiderey and Base, induced by edit-indulgence or setual curve spano. JP Price in scaled envelops only site cents. The celebrate duthor, in this safe state was of informations and states in the rest of adjustion the diagerous use of initernal	some that were laying there not intended for papa and mamma to read. 'I really don't know why Delia should not go,' said the unsuspicious, good-na- tured uncle. 'You will be sure to take care of her, Rolfe ?' 'I'll try to, sir.' 'So in less than half an hour from the time it was mentioned, I was gathering up the reins, and Brown Bess was tossing her head until the bells jingled merrily. 'It's royal traveling,' called out Uncle Dan, as we started. 'Don't be out too late, Rolfe, for there has been a severe snap in the weather lately, and—' 'The rest was lost in the crunching of the crusty snow, and the 'ding ding, ding, of the cup-shaped bells. 'This is an unexpected honor, Miss Cor- delia,' I began, as the sleigh went smoothly along. 'Susan and Almira voted me their min- ister plenipotentiary,' she responded coldly. 'I and Cordelia, who was no blood rela- tion of mine, had a falling out of a recent date which made it all the more surprising that she should have cared to go with me that day. She was one of those high- spirited girls who never strike their colors. 'It happened one evening about a week before. My aunt had a party—for there were settlers enough in the vicinity to give us social evenings—and about a dozen peo- ple were present. You may fancy, per- baps, that we have no intelligent spirits on the prairies; but that is a mistake. 'Cordelia and I disputed about the rela- tive characteristics of men and women. The sweet attributes of patience, purity and consistency she claimed entirely for her sex. I gave genius, persistency and strength of character to mine. To vex her atill further, I averred my opinion that women were a mass of sentimentality, im-	 us. On and on we went. I did not speak to the mare, nor with her; there was no need. She was trotting like a race horse, her tail streaming over the dash-board of the sleigh. Another hour passed. The light snow was mounting above the runners, and driving obliquely across our laps in blinding, smothering thickness, still we were getting on well; I hoped we were nearing home. 'Are you cold?' I asked, drawing Cordelia close to me. 'Nothing to speak of,' she cheerfully replied. But I felt a strong shudder shake her from head to foot. 'Presently the sleigh pitched considerable, although I had a tight rein. 'Rolfe,' she began, and I though I again felt her frame tremble, although her voice was cool and steady, 'the wind does not strike us just as it did, neither did we pitch this morning as we do now. Have the lost road?' 'By Heaven! you have spoken my thoughts, Cordelia,' I ejaculated, while a damp, icy coldness broke out from every pore in my skin. She shuddered again, but said nothing. 'I knotted the reins and threw them over the dash-board. This was why the mare had held so hardly—she knew better than I. I must trust to her instinct. In twenty minutes she had swung around so as to bring the wind on the old quarter with us. It was blowing heavy. I got my arm around my companion to hold the blankets in place. 'Just then a faint sound reached my startled car. A swift shudder shook me, and I came near crying aloud. Another melancholy cry. I would have drawn the iolankets about Cordelia's head. 'I hear it,' she softly whispered—and in 	leisurely through the streets, dressed with care, as I usually am when walking out for pleasure, and as I intended making some trifling purchases by the way, I recollect I had the beautiful purse which was my Christmas present in my hand. Mrs. B was walking a few rods ahead of me, and I was wondering how she got every new fashion so soon, and whether she used her cast off things to pay her help with, or sold them to the china pedlers, or whether it could be really true that she gave them to the poor. Well, just as this foolish train of thought was passing through my mind all at once a woman advanced toward me, with no bonnet, and a miserable shawl drawn over her head. I thought she was going to beg, and was beginning to tell her that I had nothing to give, when she seized the strings of my hat, and with a resolute hand, and a look that almost petrified me, took it off and put it on her own head and walked away ! I looked after her with as- tonishment, but what could I do-go in at the first ? The people were strangers and what would they think ? There was no milliner shop at band, and I was quite a distance from home. As I could do noth- ing in my turn I drew my shawl over my head and tried to quicken my steps ; but my feet seemed paralyzed, and I made little progress. Just then I saw a woman in the distance, coming towards me. Oh! if I could only walk as she does, thought I. The woman was very meagre, poorly dressed, and with nothing about her shoulders though the air was quite keen. The moment we met she stopped, looked me sternly in the face, and exclaimed in a voice as stern as the look, "Give me my shawl madam !" and without waiting for reply or resistance, stripped it from me, and wrapping it about her shoulders, went on.	I could not take him up—could not hush him on my bosom! Woman," she said, looking me in the face with a gaze I shall never forget, "I will take this linen now, for it is needed, and I have no money to buy more." I did not answer her. I had lost all power of utterance. There was a grim, despairing expression in her eyes that froze me. She fastened them on me a moment, and perceiving my shudder of horror at the idea of being utterly deprived of clothing, and left as a gazing stock in the public street, she drew back, saying, "No, sinful, condemned woman—no? I cannot take away thy covering. O, my child, my cherub, my cherub, my blessed angel of heaven! thou art innocent, but she is guilty. No, madam! I had thought to take it for a shroud, to lay out my dead baby, my murdered child—mur- dered by the cruelty of a drunken father! There he lies, in his pillowless cradle, with the little soiled frock he has worn for weeks still on him ! I could not beg when I knew there was cloth of my own, so white, so fine, so suitable. But no, I will not take it from you ! If I am a mother I am a woman. Better that 1 should forbear— better that my innocent one should go to his grave uncovered ! He has never sinned ; let him lie in his pure nakedness. God's angels shall spread over him their spot- less wings. Keep thy ill-gotten clothing. It may shield thy form from the gaze of man, but it cannot shield thy soul from the eurse of the childless mother—the Drunkard's Wife !" O, my husband, the sound of that voice is ringing in my ears this moment ! Per- haps I am weak and foolish ; but truly as I am alive and sitting here, I will never use one of those articles of dress again. I will put on mourning, eat bread and water;	courses in pretty strong English on the vice of intemperance : "Take especial care that you delight not in wine, for there ne- ver was any man who came to honor or preferment that loved it, for it transform- eth a man into a beast, decayeth health, poiseneth the breath, destroyeth natural heat, bringeth a man's stomach to an arti- ficial burning, deformeth the face, rotteth the teach, and to conclude, maketh a man contemptable, soon old, and despised of all wise and worthy men ; hated in thy ser- vants, thyself and thy companions, for it is a bewitching and infectious vice ; and re- member my words, that it were better for a man to be subjected to any vice than to it ; for all other vanities and sins are recovered, but a drunkard will never shake off the delight of beastliness ; for the longer it possesseth a man the more he will delight in it, and the older he groweth, the more he will be subject to it, for it dulleth the spirits and destroyeth the body, as ivy doth the old tree, or as the worm that engende- reth in the kernel of the nut." SALT IN THE OCEAN.—Everybody knows that the waters of the ocean are very salty to the taste ; but how many of you have thought of the immense quanti- ties of salts of different kinds that must be in the Atlantic and Pacific to give a flavor to such enormous bodies of water ? Scien- tific men have thought about it ; and one of them (Captain Maury) has told us that if all the various salts of these oceans could be separated from the water and spread out equally over the northern half of this continent, they would form a covering one mile deep. So heavy would be this mass of salts that all the mechanical inventions of man, aided by all the steam and water power in the world, could not move it so
the hands of Ignorant or unskillful PRE- DERS, who, by the use of that deadly Pol- Mercury, &c., destroy the constitution, and able of curing, keep the unhappy sufferer h after month taking their noxious or is- see compounds, and instead of being restored enewai of Life Vigor and Happiness, in des- eave him with ruined Health to sigh over any of the fore pr. Jourston pledges him- p preserve the most Inviolable Secreey, and his extensive practice and observations in reather thospitals of Europe, and the first in ountry, viz: England, France, Philadelphin isewhere, is enabled to offer the most eer- speedy and effectual remedy in the world iseases of imprudence. DR JOHNSTON, 76, NO. 7, S. FREDERICK STREET. Data side going from Baltimore street, a few from the corner. Fail not to observe name umber. No letters received unless postpaid and infinement describing symptoms. reare so many Paltry, Designing and iess Imposters advertising themselves as inns, trifling with and ruining the Leath who unfortunately fall into their power, w. Johnston deems it necessary to say ee- iy to those unacquainted with his remuta- his office. ENDORSEMENT OF THE PRESS. Many thousands cured at this Establish- year after year, and the numerous int- to function again before the public, is standing as a gentleman of character on subtress dy the representatives of the ind many other papers, notices of which is standing as a gentleman of character on shift, is a sufficient guarantee to the on shift, is a sufficient guarantee to the out for the sealer seedily cured. its standing as a gentleman of character on shift, is a sufficient guarantee to the fore due to a spain before the public, is standing as a gentleman of character on shift, is a sufficient guarantee to the first year. Ind the numerous in the many other papers, notices of which is standing as a gentleman of character on shift, is a sufficient guarantee to the shift which a first year. I a 1874-019	County, Pa., at the Station of the N. C. R. W. Choice wines and cigars at the bar. The table is supplied with the best the market affords. Good stabiling and attentive ostiers. MUMEL'S RESTAURANT, LOUIS SUMMEL, Proprietor, Commerce St., SELAMOKIN, PENN'A. Taving just refitted the above Saloon for the serve his friends with the best refreshments, and fresh Lager Beer, Ale, Porter, and all other mait uors.	THE SUNBURY AMERICAN IN THE BESTADVERISING MEDIUM In the Central part of the State, In the Central part of the State, IT CIRCULATES In one of the Most Thrifty, Intelligent and WEALTHY SECTIONS OF PENNSYLVANIA. Sample copy of paper sent to any address free of charge. Manhoed : How Lost, How Restored Just published, a new edition of DR, CELTREWELL'S Charges and the radical cure (whites) free of charge. Manhoed : How Lost, How Restored Just published, a new edition of DR, CELTREWELL'S Charges and the radical cure (whites) free of charge. The projection of the solid cure of the set of the second state of the set	some that were laying there not intended for papa and mamma to read. I really don't know why Delia should not go,' said the unsuspicious, good-na- tured uncle. 'You will be sure to take care of her, Rolfe ?' 'I'll try to, sir.' 'So in less than half an hour from the time it was mentioned, I was gathering up the reins, and Brown Bess was tossing her head until the bells jingled merrily. 'It's royal traveling,' called out Uncle Dan, as we started. 'Don't be out too late, Rolfe, for there has been a severe smap in the weather lately, and—' 'The rest was lost in the crunching of the cup-shaped bells. 'This is an unexpected honor, Miss Cor- delia,' I began, as the sleigh went smoothly along. 'Susan and Almira voted me their min- ister plenipotentiary,' she responded coldly. 'I and Cordelia, who was no blood rela- tion of mine, had a falling out of a recent date which made it all the more surprising that she should have cared to go with me that day. She was one of those high- spirited girls who never strike their colors. 'It happened one evening about a week before. My aunt had a party—for there were-settlers enough in the vicinity to give us social evenings—and about a dozen peo- ple were present. You may fancy, per- haps, that we have no intelligent spirits on the prairies; but that is a mistake. 'Qordelia and I disputed about the rela- tive characteristics of men and women. The sweet attributes of patience, purity and consistency she claimed entirely for her sex. I gave genius, persistency and strength of character to mine. To vex her atill further, I averred my opinion that wonen were a mass of sentimontality, im- promptu shrieks and vacillation.	 us. On and on we went. I did not speak to the mare, nor with her; there was no need. She was trotting like a race horse, her tail streaming over the dash-board of the sleigh. Another hour passed. The light snow was mounting above the runners, and driving obliquely across our laps in blinding, smothering thickness, still we were getting on well; I hoped we were nearing home. 'Are you cold?' I asked, drawing Cordelia close to me. 'Nothing to speak of,' she cheerfully replied. But I felt a strong shudder shake her from head to foot. 'Presently the sleigh pitched considerable, although I had a tight rein. 'Rolfe,' she began, and I thought I again felt her frame tremble, although her voice was cool and steady, 'the wind does not strike us just as it did, neither did we pitch this morning as we do now. Have the lost road?' 'I ejaculated, while a damp, icy coldness broke out from every pore in my skin. She shuddered again, but said nothing. 'I knotted the reins and threw them over the dash-board. This was why the mare had held so hardly—she knew better than I. I must trust to her instinct. In twenty minutes she had swung around so as to bring the wind on the old quarter with us. It was blowing heavy. I got my arm around my companion to hold the blankets in place. 'Just then a faint sound reached my startled car. A swift shudder shook me, and I came near crying aloud. Another melancholy cry. I would have drawn the iolankets about Cordelia's head. 'I hear it,' she softly whispered—and in my terror and agony I drew her closer in 	leisurely through the streets, dressed with care, as I usually am when walking out for pleasure, and as I intended making some trifling purchases by the way, I recollect I had the beautiful purse which was my Christmas present in my hand. Mrs. B was walking a few rods ahead of me, and I was wondering how she got every new fashion so soon, and whether she used her cast off things to pay her help with, or sold them to the china pedlers, or whether it could be really true that she gave them to the poor. Well, just as this foolish train of thought was passing through my mind all at once a woman advanced toward me, with no bonnet, and a miserable shawl drawn over her head. I thought she was going to beg, and was beginning to tell her that I had nothing to give, when she seized the strings of my hat, and with a resolute hand, and a look that almost petrified me, took it off and put it on her own head and walked away ! I looked after her with as- tonishment, but what could I do-go in at the first ? The people were strangers and what would they think ? There was no milliner shop at hand, and I was quite a distance from home. As I could do noth- ing in my turn I drew my shawl over my head and tried to quicken my steps ; but my feet seemed paralyzed, and I made little progress. Just then I saw a woman in the distance, coming towards me. Oh! if I could only walk as she does, thought I. The woman was very meagre, poorly dressed, and with nothing about her shoulders though the air was quite keen. The moment we met she stopped, looked me sternly in the face, and exclaimed in a voice as stern as the look, "Give me my shawl madam !" and without waiting for reply or resistance, stripped it from me, and wrapping it about her shoulders, went on. Scarcely had I began to cast about in my	I could not take him up—could not hush him on my bosom! Woman," she said, looking me in the face with a gaze I shall never forget, "I will take this linen now, for it is needed, and I have no money to buy more." I did not answer her. I had lost all power of utterance. There was a grim, despairing expression in her eyes that froze me. She fastened them on me a moment, and perceiving my shudder of horror at the idea of being utterly deprived of clothing, and left as a gazing stock in the public street, she drew back, saying, "No, sinful, condemned woman—no! I cannot take away thy covering. O, my child, my cherub, my cherub, my blessed angel of heaven! thou art innocent, but she is guilty. No, madam! I had thought to take it for a shroud, to lay out my dead baby, my murdered child—mur- dered by the eruelty of a drunken father! There he lies, in his pillowless cradle, with the little soiled frock he has worn for weeks still on him ! I could not beg when I knew there was cloth of my own, so white, so fine, so suitable. But no, I will not take it from you ! If I am a mother I am a woman. Better that I should forbear— better that my innocent one should go to his grave uncovered ! He has never sinned ; let him lie in his pure nakedness. Gos's angels shall spread over him their spot- less wings. Keep thy ill-gotten clothing. It may shield thy form from the gaze of man, but it cannot shield thy soul from the curse of the childless mother—the Drunkard's Wife !'' O, my husband, the sound of that voice is ringing in my ears this moment ! Per- haps I am weak and foolish ; but truly as I am alive and sitting here, I will never use one of those articles of dress again. I	courses in pretty strong English on the vice of intemperance : "Take especial care that you delight not in wine, for there ne- ver was any man who came to honor or preferment that loved it, for it transform- eth a man into a beast, decayeth health, poiseneth the breath, destroyeth natural heat, bringeth a man's stomach to an arti- ficial burning, deformeth the face, rotteth the teach, and to conclude, maketh a man contemptable, soon old, and despised of all wise and worthy men ; hated in thy ser- vants, thyself and thy companions, for it is a bewitching and infectious vice ; and re- member my words, that it were better for a man to be subjected to any vice than to it ; for all other vanities and sins are recovered, but a drunkard will never shake off the delight of beastliness ; for the longer it possesseth a man the more he will delight in it, and the older he groweth, the more he will be subject to it, for it dulleth the spirits and destroyeth the body, as ivy doth the old tree, or as the worm that engende- reth in the kernel of the nut." SALT IN THE OCEAN.—Everybody knows that the waters of the ocean are very salty to the taste ; but how many of you have thought of the immense quanti- ties of salts of different kinds that must be in the Atlantic and Pacific to give a flavor to such enormous bodies of water ? Scien- tific men have thought about it ; and one of them (Captain Maury) has told us that if all the various salts of these oceans could be separated from the water and spread out equally over the northern half of this continent, they would form a covering one mile deep. So heavy would be this mass of salts that all the mechanical inventions of man, aided by all the steam and water power in the world, could not move it so much as one inch in even centuries of
the hands of Ignorant or unskillful PRE- DERS, who, by the use of that deadly Poi- Mercury, &c., destroy the constitution, and able of curing, keep the unhappy sufferer h after month taking their notious or le- ous compounds, and instead of being restored are when with runned Health to sigh over any of Life Vigor and Heypiness, in des- eare him with runned Health to sigh over any of therefore, Dr. Jours ros piedges him, preserve the most Inviolable Secrecy, and he extensive practice and observations in preserve the most Inviolable Secrecy, and he extensive practice and observations in preserve the most Inviolable Secrecy, and he extensive practice and observations in preserve the most Inviolable Secrecy, and he extensive practice and observations in preserve the most Inviolable Secrecy, and he extensive practice and observations in preserve the most Inviolable Secrecy. In Preserve the most Inviolable Secrecy, and the secret in the secret in the work on the corner. Fail not to observations in more. No letters received unless postpaid and intime corner. Fail not to observations inter. No letters received unless postpaid and interment describing symptoms. The secret is grant for the ropies for integement describing symptoms. No landortunately fail into their power, who unfortunately fail	<text></text>	THE SUNBURY AMERICAN IN THE BEST ADVERISING MEDIUM In the Central part of the State, In the Central part of the State, In the Central part of the State, IT CIRCULATES In one of the Most Thrifty, Intelligent and WEALTHY SECTIONS OF PENNSYLVANIA. Sample copy of paper sent to any address free of charge. Manhoed : How Lost, How Restored Just published, a new edition of Da. Cr.v.Exer.1.'s Creating and the radies and a physical in- capacity of the radies and physical in- capacity and the radies and physical in- capacity in the radies and physical in- capacity and the radies and physical in- capacity in pediments to marring, etc., also Contemp- tion, Epilepsy and the induced by edi-indulgence or estual criteriangance. If Preferented attempts of and in the states of the physical in- state and physical in- capacity in pediments to marring, etc., also Contemp- tion, Epilepsy and the induced by edi-indulgence or estual criteriangance. If Preferented attempt to marring, etc., also Contemp- tion, Epilepsy and the induced by edi-indulgence or estual criteriangance.	some that were laying there not intended for papa and mamma to read. I really don't know why Delia should not go,' said the unsuspicious, good-na- tured uncle. 'You will be sure to take care of her, Rolfe ?' 'I'll try to, sir.' 'So in less than half an hour from the time it was mentioned, I was gathering up the reins, and Brown Bess was tossing her head until the bells jingled merrily. 'It's royal traveling,' called out Uncle Dan, as we started. 'Don't be out too late, Rolfe, for there has been a severe smap in the weather lately, and—' 'The rest was lost in the crunching of the crusty snow, and the 'ding ding, ding, of the cup-shaped bells. 'This is an unexpected honor, Miss Cor- delia,' I began, as the sleigh went smoothly along. 'Susan and Almira voted me their min- ister plenipotentiary,' she responded coldly. I and Cordelia, who was no blood rela- tion of mine, had a falling out of a recent date which made it all the more surprising that she should have cared to go with me that day. She was one of those high- spirited girls who never strike their colors. It happened one evening about a week before. My aunt had a party—for there were-settlers enough in the vicinity to give us social evenings—and about a dozen peo- ple were present. You may fancy, per- tups, that we have no intelligent spirits on the prairies; but that is a mistake. 'Qordelia and I disputed about the rela- tive characteristics of men and women. The sweet attributes of patience, purity and consistency she claimed entirely for her sex. I gave genius, persistency and strength of character to mine. To vex her still further, I averred my opinion that women were a mass of sentimentality, im- promptu shrieks and vacillation. 'I had gone too far. She took it serious-	 us. On and on we went. I did not speak to the mare, nor with her; there was no need. She was trotting like a race horse, her tail streaming over the dash-board of the sleigh. Another hour passed. The light snow was mounting above the runners, and driving obliquely across our laps in blinding, smothering thickness, still we were getting on well; I hoped we were nearing home. 'Are you cold ?' I asked, drawing Cordelia close to me. 'Nothing to speak of,' she cheerfully replied. But I felt a strong shudder shake her from head to foot. 'Presently the sleigh pitched considerable, although I had a tight rein. 'Rolfe,' she began, and I though I again felt her frame tremble, although her voice was cool and steady, 'the wind does not strike us just as it did, neither did we pitch this morning as we do now. Have the lost road ?' 'By Heaven! you have spoken my thoughts, Cordelia,' I ejaculated, while a damp, icy coldness broke out from every pore in my skin. She shuddered again, but said nothing. 'I knotted the reins and threw them over the dash-board. This was why the mare had held so hardly—she knew better than I. I must trust to her instinct. In twenty minutes she had swung around so as to bring the wind on the old quarter with us. It was blowing heavy. I got my arm around my companion to hold the blankets in place. 'Just then a faint sound reached my startled car. A swift shudder shook me, and I came near crying aloud. Another melancholy cry. I would have drawn the iolankets about Cordelia's head. 'I hear it,' she softly whispered—and in my terror and agony I drew her closer in a covetous clasp. 	leisurely through the streets, dressed with care, as I usually am when walking out for pleasure, and as I intended making some trifling purchases by the way, I recollect I had the beautiful purse which was my Christmas present in my hand. Mrs. B was walking a few rods ahead of me, and I was wondering how she got every new fishion so soon, and whether she used her cast off things to pay her help with, or sold them to the china pedlers, or whether it could be really true that she gave them to the poor. Well, just as this foolish train of thought was passing through my mind all at once a woman advanced toward me, with no bonnet, and a miserable shawl drawn over her head. I thought she was going to beg, and was beginning to tell her that I had nothing to give, when she seized the strings of my hat, and with a resolute hand, and a look that almost petrified me, took it off and put it on her own head and walked away ! I looked after her with as- tonishment, but what could I dogo in at the first ? The people were strangers and what would they think ? There was no milliner shop at band, and I was quite a distance from home. As I could do noth- ing in my turn I drew my shawl over my head and tried to quicken my steps ; but my feet scemed paralyzed, and I made little progress. Just then I saw a woman in the distance, coming towards me. Oh ! if I could only walk as she does, thought I. The woman was very meagre, poorly dressed, and with nothing about her shoulders though the air was quite keen. The moment we met she stopped, looked me sternly in the face, and exclaimed in a voice as stern as the look, "Give me my shawl madam !" and without waiting for reply or resistance, stripped it from me, and wrapping it about her shoulders, went on. Scarcely had I began to cast about in my mind what to 'do next, when another of	I could not take him up—could not hush him on my bosom! Woman," she said, looking me in the face with a gaze I shall never forget, "I will take this linen now, for it is needed, and I have no money to buy more." I did not answer her. I had lost all power of utterance. There was a grim, despairing expression in her eyes that froze me. She fastened them on me a moment, and perceiving my shudder of horror at the idea of being utterly deprived of clothing, and left as a gazing stock in the public street, she drew back, saying, "No, sinful, condemned woman—no? I cannot take away thy covering. O, my child, my cherub, my cherub, my blessed angel of heaven! thou art innocent, but she is guilty. No, madam! I had thought to take it for a shroud, to lay out my dead baby, my murdered child—mur- dered by the crueity of a drunken father! There he lies, in his pillowless cradle, with the little soiled frock he has worn for weeks still on him ! I could not beg when I knew there was cloth of my own, so white, so fine, so suitable. But no, I will not take it from you ! If I am a mother I am a woman. Better that I should forbear— better that my innocent one should go to his grave uncovered ! He has never sinned ; let him lie in his pure nakedness. God's angels shall spread over him their spot- less wings. Keep thy ill-gotten clothing, It may shield thy form from the gaze of man, but it cannot shield thy soul from the curse of the childless mother—the Drunkard's Wife !" O, my husband, the sound of that voice is ringing in my ears this moment ! Per- haps I am weak and foolish ; but truly as I am alive and sitting here, I will never use one of those articles of dress again. I will put on mourning, eat bread and water; I will see no company—no, never will I	courses in pretty strong English on the vice of intemperance : "Take especial care that you delight not in wine, for there ne- ver was any man who came to honor or preferment that loved it, for it transform- eth a man into a beast, decayeth health, poiseneth the breath, destroyeth natural heat, bringeth a man's stomach to an arti- ficial burning, deformeth the face, rotteth the teach, and to conclude, maketh a man contemptable, soon old, and despised of all wise and worthy men ; hated in thy ser- vants, thyself and thy companions, for it is a bewitching and infectious vice ; and re- member my words, that it were better for a man to be subjected to any vice than to it ; for all other vanities and sins are recovered, but a drunkard will never shake off the delight of beastliness ; for the longer it possesseth a man the more he will delight in it, and the older he groweth, the more he will be subject to it, for it dulleth the spirits and destroyeth the body, as ivy doth the old tree, or as the worm that engende- reth in the kernel of the nut." SALT IN THE OCEAN.—Everybody knows that the waters of the ocean are very salty to the taste ; but how many of you have thought of the immense quanti- ties of salts of different kinds that must be in the Atlantic and Pacific to give a flavor to such enormous bodies of water ? Scien- tific men have thought about it ; and one of them (Captain Maury) has told us that if all the various salts of these oceans could be separated from the water and spread out equally over the northern half of this continent, they would form a covering one mile deep. So heavy would be this mass of salts that all the mechanical inventions of man, aided by all the steam and water power in the world, could not move it so much as one inch in even centuries of
the hands of ignorant or unskillful PRE- DERS, who, by the use of that deadly Pol- Mercury, &c., destroy the constitution, and able of curing, keep the unhappy sufferer h after month taking their noxious or le- us compounds, and instead of being restored enewal of Life Vigor and Happiness, in des- eare him with ruined Health to sigh over ulting disappointment. such, therefore, Dr. Johnstov pledges him- o preserve the most Inviolable Secrecy, and his extensive practice and observations in reat Hospitals of Europe, and the lifts in ountry, viz: England, France, Philadelphia isewhere, is caabled to offer the most cer- speedy and effectual remedy in the world diseases of imprudence. DR. JOHNSTON, ICE, NO. 7, S. FREDERICK STREET. Data Side going from Baltimarrestreed, a few from the corner. Failmot to observe name 	<text></text>	THE SUNBURY AMERICAN IN THE BEST ADVERISING MEDIUM In the Central part of the State. In the Central part of the State. IT CIRCULATES In one of the Most Thrifty, Intelligent and WEALTHY SECTIONS OF PENNSYLVANIA. Bample copy of paper sent to any address free of charge. Manhood : How Lost, Mow Restored Just published, a new edition of DR. CENTREWALL'S Charge copy of paper sent to any address free of charge. Manhood : How Lost, Mow Restored Just published, a new edition of DR. CENTREWALL'S Charge copy of paper sent to any address free of charge. Manhood : How Lost, Mow Restored Just published, a new edition of DR. CENTREWALL'S CERTREWARD AND AND AND AND AND AND AND AND AND AN	some that were laying there not intended for papa and mamma to read. "I really don't know why Delia should not go,' said the unsuspicious, good-na- tured uncle. 'You will be sure to take care of her, Rolfe ?' "I'll try to, sir." "So in less than half an hour from the time it was mentioned, I was gathering up the reins, and Brown Bess was tossing her head until the bells jingled merrily. "It's royal traveling,' called out Uncle Dan, as we started. 'Don't be out too late, Rolfe, for there has been a severe snap in the weather lately, and—' "The rest was lost in the crunching of the crusty snow, and the 'ding ding, ding, of the cup-shaped bells. "This is an unexpected honor, Miss Cor- delia,' I began, as the sleigh went smoothly along. "Susan and Almira voted me their min- ister plenipotentiary,' she responded coldly. "I and Cordelia, who was no blood rela- tion of mine, had a falling out of a recent date which made it all the more surprising that she should have cared to go with me that day. She was one of those high- spirited girls who never strike their colors. "It happened one evening about a week before. My aunt had a party—for there were-settlers enough in the vicinity to give us social evenings—and about a dozen peo- ple were present. You may fancy, per- taps, that we have no intelligent spirits on the prairies; but that is a mistake. "Cordelia and I disputed about the rela- tive characteristics of men and women. The sweet attributes of patience, purity and consistency she claimed entirely for her sex. I gave genius, persistency and strength of character to mine. To vex her attime there, I averred my opinion that women were a mass of sentimentality, im- promptu shrieks and vacillation. "I had gone too far. She took it serious- iv. With a flash of scorn from her bril-	 us. On and on we went. I did not speak to the mare, nor with her; there was no need. She was trotting like a race horse, her tail streaming over the dash-board of the sleigh. Another hour passed. The light snow was mounting above the runners, and driving obliquely across our laps in blinding, smothering thickness, still we were getting on well; I hoped we were nearing home. 'Are you cold?' I asked, drawing Cordelia close to me. 'Nothing to speak of,' she cheerfully replied. But I felt a strong shudder shake her from head to foot. 'Presently the sleigh pitched considerable, although I had a tight rein. 'Rolfe,' she began, and I thought I again felt her frame tremble, although her voice was cool and steady, 'the wind does not strike us just as it did, neither did we pitch this morning as we do now. Have the lost road ?' 'By Heaven! you have spoken my thoughts, Cordelia,' I ejaculated, while a damp, icy coldness broke out from every pore in my skin. She shuddered again, but said nothing. 'I knotted the reins and threw them over the dash-board. This was why the mare had held so hardly—she knew better than I. I must trust to her instinct. In twenty minutes she had swung around so as to bring the wind on the old quarter with us. It was blowing heavy. I got my arm around my companion to hold the blankets in place. 'Just then a faint sound reached my startled ear. A swift shudder shook me, and I came near crying aloud. Another melancholy cry. I would have drawn the blankets about Cordelia's head. 'I hear it,' she softly whispered—and in my terror and agony I drew her closer in a covetous clasp. 	leisurely through the streets, dressed with care, as I usually am when walking out for pleasure, and as I intended making some trifling purchases by the way, I recollect I had the beautiful purse which was my Christmas present in my hand. Mrs. B— was walking a few rods ahead of me, and I was wondering how she got every new fishion so soon, and whether she used her cast off things to pay her help with, or sold them to the china pedlers, or whether it could be really true that she gave them to the poor. Well, just as this foolish train of thought was passing through my mind all at once a woman advanced toward me, with no bonnet, and a miserable shawl drawn over her head. I thought she was going to beg, and was beginning to tell her that I had nothing to give, when she seized the strings of my hat, and with a resolute hand, and a look that almost petrified me, took it off and put it on her own head and walked away! I looked after her with as- tonishment, but what could I do—go in at the first? The people were strangers and what would they think? There was no milliner shop at hand, and I was quite a distance from home. As I could do noth- ing in my turn I drew my shawl over my head and tried to quicken my steps ; but my feet scemed paralyzed, and I made little progress. Just then I saw a woman in the distance, coming towards me. Oh! if I could only walk as she does, thought I. The woman was very meagre, poorly dressed, and with nothing about her shoulders though the air was quite keen. The moment we met she stopped, looked me sternly in the face, and exclaimed in a voice as stern as the look, "Give me my shawl madam !" and without waiting for reply or resistance, stripped it from me, and wrapping it about her shoulders, went on. Scarcely had I began to cast about in my mind what to do next, when another of these wretched beings came upon me. She	I could not take him up—could not hush him on my bosom ! Woman," she said, looking me in the face with a gaze I shall never forget, "I will take this linen now, for it is needed, and I have no money to buy more." I did not answer her. I had lost all power of utterance. There was a grim, despairing expression in her eyes that froze me. She fastened them on me a moment, and perceiving my shudder of horror at the idea of being utterly deprived of clothing, and left as a gazing stock in the public street, she drew back, saying, "No, sinful, condemned woman—no? I cannot take away thy covering. O, my child, my cherub, my cherub, my blessed angel of heaven ! thou art innocent, but she is guilty. No, madam ! I had thought to take it for a shroud, to lay out my dead baby, my nurdered child—mur- dered by the cruelty of a drunken father ! There he lics, in his pillowless cradle, with the little soled frock he has worn for weeks still on him ! I could not beg when I knew there was cloth of my own, so white, so fine, so suitable. But no, I will not take it from you ! If I am a mother I am a woman. Better that I should forbear— better that my innocent one should go to his grave uncovered ! He has never sinned ; let him lie in his pure nakedness. God's angels shall spread over him their spot- less wings. Keep thy ill-gotten clothing. It may shield thy form from the gaze of man, but it cannot shield thy soul from the eurse of the childless mother—the Drunkard's Wife !" O, my husband, the sound of that voice is ringing in my ears this moment ! Per- haps I am weak and foolish ; but truly as I am alive and sitting here, I will never use one of those articles of dress again. I will put on mourning, eat bread and water; I will see no company—no, never will I show my face to the world ; never will I	courses in pretty strong English on the vice of intemperance : "Take especial care that you delight not in wine, for there never was any man who came to honor or preferment that loved it, for it transforment that man into a beast, decayeth health, poiseneth the breath, destroyeth natural heat, bringeth a man's stomach to an artistical burning, deformeth the face, rotteth the teeth, and to conclude, maketh a man ontemptable, soon old, and despised of all wise and worthy men ; hated in thy servants, thyself and thy companions, for it is a bewitching and infectious vice ; and remember my words, that it were better for a man to be subjected to any vice than to it ; for all other vanities and sins are recovered, but a drunkard will never shake off the isosesseth a man the more he will delight in it, and the older he groweth, the more he will be subject to it, for it dulleth the spirits and destroyeth the body, as ivy doth the taste ; but how many of you have thought of the immense quantities of salts of different kinds that must be in the Atlantic and Pacific to give a flavor osuch enormous badies of water ? Scientific men have thought about it ; and one of them (Captain Maury) has told us that if all the various salts of these oceans could be separated from the water and spread out equally over the northern half of this isoninent, they would form a covering one will deep. So heavy would be this mass of alls that all the mechanical inventions of man, aided by all the steam and water power in the world, could not move it so much as one inch in even centuries of the more it so much as one inch in even centuries of the more in the world, could not move it so much as one inch in even centuries of the more in the world, could not move it so much as one inch in even centuries of the more in the world, could not move it so much as one inch in even centuries of the more in the world world.
the hands of Ignorant or unskillful PRE- DERS, who, by the use of that deadly Poi- Mercury, &c., destroy the constitution, and able of curing, keep the unhappy sufferer h after month taking their notious or le- ous compounds, and instead of being restored are when with runned Health to sigh over any of Life Vigor and Heypiness, in des- eare him with runned Health to sigh over any of therefore, Dr. Jours ros piedges him, preserve the most Inviolable Secrecy, and he extensive practice and observations in preserve the most Inviolable Secrecy, and he extensive practice and observations in preserve the most Inviolable Secrecy, and he extensive practice and observations in preserve the most Inviolable Secrecy, and he extensive practice and observations in preserve the most Inviolable Secrecy, and he extensive practice and observations in preserve the most Inviolable Secrecy. In Preserve the most Inviolable Secrecy, and the secret in the secret in the work on the corner. Fail not to observations in more. No letters received unless postpaid and intime corner. Fail not to observations inter. No letters received unless postpaid and interment describing symptoms. The secret is grant for the ropies for integement describing symptoms. No landortunately fail into their power, who unfortunately fail	<text><text><text><text><text><text><text></text></text></text></text></text></text></text>	THE SUNBURY AMERICAN IN THE BEST ADVERISING MEDIUM In the Central part of the Biate, In the Central part of the Biate, IT CIRCULATES In one of the Most Thrifty, Intelligent and WEALTHY SECTIONS OF PENNSYLVANIA. Bample copy of paper sent to any address free of charge. Manhood : How Lost, How Restored Just published, a new edition of Da. Crivesweit, S Criteria and Date an	some that were laying there not intended for papa and mamma to read. 'I really don't know why Delia should not go,' said the unsuspicious, good-na- tured uncle. 'You will be sure to take care of her, Rolfe ?' 'I'll try to, sir.' 'So in less than half an hour from the time it was mentioned, I was gathering up the reins, and Brown Bess was tossing her head until the bells jingled merrily. 'It's royal traveling,' called out Uncle Dan, as we started. 'Don't be out too late, Rolfe, for there has been a severe snap in the weather lately, and—' 'The rest was lost in the crunching of the crusty snow, and the 'ding ding, ding, of the cup-shaped bells. 'This is an unexpected honor, Miss Cor- delia,' I began, as the sleigh went smoothly along. 'Susan and Almira voted me their min- ister plenipotentiary,' she responded coldly. 'I and Cordelia, who was no blood rela- tion of mine, had a falling out of a recent date which made it all the more surprising that she should have cared to go with me that day. She was one of those high- spirited girls who never strike their colors. 'It happened one evening about a week before. My aunt had a party—for there were-settlers enough in the vicinity to give us social evenings—and about a dozen peo- ple were present. You may fancy, per- baps, that we have no intelligent spirits on the prairies; but that is a mistake. 'Cordelia and I disputed about the rela- tive characteristics of men and women. The sweet attributes of patience, purity and consistency she claimed entirely for her sex. I gave genius, persistency and strength of character to mine. To vex her atill further, I averred my opinion that women were a mass of sentimontality, im- promptu shrieks and vacillation. 'I had gone too far. She took it serious- iy. With a flash of scorn from her bril- ligant eves and a heichtened color she arose,	 us. On and on we went. I did not speak to the mare, nor with her; there was no need. She was trotting like a race horse, her tail streaming over the dash-board of the sleigh. Another hour passed. The light snow was mounting above the runners, and driving obliquely across our laps in blinding, smothering thickness, still we were getting on well; I hoped we were nearing home. 'Are you cold?' I asked, drawing Cordelia close to me. 'Nothing to speak of,' she cheerfully replied. But I feit a strong shudder shake her from head to foot. 'Presently the sleigh pitched considerable, although I had a tight rein. 'Rolfe,' she began, and I thought I again felt her frame tremble, although her voice was cool and steady, 'the wind does not strike us just as it did, neither did we pitch this morning as we do now. Have the lost road ?' 'By Heaven ! you have spoken my thoughts, Cordelia,' I ejaculated, while a damp, icy coldness broke out from every pore in my skin. She shuddered again, but said nothing. 'I knotted the reins and threw them over the dash-board. This was why the mare had held so hardly—she knew better than I. I must trust to her instinct. In twenty minutes she had swung around so as to bring the wind on the old quarter with us. It was blowing heavy. I got my arm around my companion to hold the blankets in place. 'Just then a faint sound reached my startled car. A swift shudder shook me, and I came near crying aloud. Another melancholy cry. I would have drawn the iolankets about Cordelia's head. 'I hear it,' she softly whispered—and in my terror and agony I drew her closer in a covetous clasp. 	leisurely through the streets, dressed with care, as I usually am when walking out for pleasure, and as I intended making some trifling purchases by the way, I recollect I had the beautiful purse which was my Christmas present in my hand. Mrs. B— was walking a few rods ahead of me, and I was wondering how she got every new fishion so soon, and whether she used her cast off things to pay her help with, or sold them to the china pedlers, or whether it could be really true that she gave them to the poor. Well, just as this foolish train of thought was passing through my mind all at once a woman advanced toward me, with no bonnet, and a miserable shawl drawn over her head. I thought she was going to beg, and was beginning to tell her that I had nothing to give, when she seized the strings of my hat, and with a resolute hand, and a look that almost petrified me, took it off and put it on her own head and walked away! I looked after her with as- tonishment, but what could I do—go in at the first ? The people were strangers and what would they think ? There was no milliner shop at hand, and I was quite a distance from home. As I could do noth- ing in my turn I drew my shawl over my head and tried to quicken my steps; but my feet scemed paralyzed, and I made little progress. Just then I saw a woman in the distance, coming towards me. Oh ! if I could only walk as she does, thought I. The woman was very meagre, poorly dressed, and with nothing about her shoulders though the air was quite keen. The moment we met she stopped, looked me sternly in the face, and exclaimed in a voice as stern as the look, "Give me my shawl madam !" and without waiting for reply or resistance, striped it from me, and wrapping it about her shoulders, went on. Scarcely had I began to cast about in my mind what to 'do next, when another of these wretched beings came upon me. She wore the tattered remains of an old cloak	I could not take him up—could not hush him on my bosom ! Woman," she said, looking me in the face with a gaze I shall never forget, "I will take this linen now, for it is needed, and I have no money to buy more." I did not answer her. I had lost all power of utterance. There was a grim, despairing expression in her eyes that froze me. She fastened them on me a moment, and perceiving my shudder of horror at the idea of being utterly deprived of clothing, and left as a gazing stock in the public street, she drew back, saying, "No, sinful, condemned woman—no? I cannot take away thy covering. O, my child, my cherub, my cherub, my blessed angel of heaven ! thou art innocent, but she is guilty. No, madam ! I had thought to take it for a shroud, to lay out my dead baby, my nurdered child—mur- dered by the cruelty of a drunken father ! There he lics, in his pillowless cradle, with the little soiled frock he has worn for weeks still on him ! I could not beg when I knew there was cloth of my own, so white, so fine, so suitable. But no, I will not take it from you ! If I am a mother I am a woman. Better that I should forbear— better that my innocent one should go to his grave uncovered ! He has never sinned ; let him lie in his pure nakedness. God's angels shall spread over him their spot- less wings. Keep thy ill-gotten clothing, It may shield thy form from the gaze of man, but it cannot shield thy soul from the curse of the childless mother—the Drunkard's Wife !" O, my husband, the sound of that voice is ringing in my ears this moment ! Per- haps I am weak and foolish ; but truly as I am alive and sitting here, I will never use one of those articles of dress again. I will put on mourning, est bread and water; I will see no company—no, never will I show my face to the world ; never will I show my face to the world ; never will I show my face to the world ; never will I show my face to the world ; never will I show my face to the world ; never will I show my face to the world ; never will I show my face to the world ; nev	courses in pretty strong English on the vice of intemperance : "Take especial care that you delight not in wine, for there ne- ver was any man who came to honor or preferment that loved it, for it transform- eth a man into a beast, decayeth health, points the breath, destroyeth natural heat, bringeth a man's stomach to an arti- ficial burning, deformeth the face, rotteth the teeth, and to conclude, maketh a man contemptable, soon old, and despised of all wise and worthy men ; hated in thy ser- vants, thyself and thy companions, for it is a bewitching and infectious vice ; and re- member my words, that it were better for a man to be subjected to any vice than to it ; for all other vanities and sins are recovered, but a drunkard will never shake off the delight of beastliness ; for the longer it possesseth a man the more he will delight it, and the older he groweth, the more he will be subject to it, for it dulleth the spirits and destroyeth the body, as ivy doth the drunk ard the older he groweth are negoti- ter in the kernel of the nut." SALY IN THE OCEAN.—Everybody from share thought of the immense quanti- ties of salts of different kinds that must be in the Atlantic and Pacific to give a flavor out have thought about it ; and one of them (Captain Maury) has told us that fall the various salts of these oceans could be separated from the water and spread ordinent, they would form a covering one will deep. So heavy would be this mass of shis that all the mechanical inventions of man, aided by all the steam and water owner in the world, could not move it so much as one inch in even centuries of shis hat all the mechanical inventions of man, aided by all the steam and water owner in the world, could not move it so much as one inch in even centuries of shis hat all the mechanical inventions of man aided by all the steam and water owner in the world, could not move it so much as one inch in even centuries of the mechanical inventions of
the hands of ignorant or unskillful PRE- DERS, who, by the use of that deadly Pol- Mercury, dc., destroy the constitution, and able of curing, keep the unhappy sufferer h after month taking their noxious or le- us compounds, and instead of being restored enewal of Life Vigor and Happiness, in des- eare him with ruined Health to sigh over alling disappointment. such, therefore, Dr. JOHNSTON pledges him- o preserve the most Inviolable Secrecy, and has point and observations in reat Hospitals of Europe, and the first in ountry, viz: England, France, Philadelphia leswhere, is canbled to offer the most cr- spedy and effectual remedy in the world lisenses of imprudence. DR. JOHNSTON. ICE, NO. 7, S. FREDERK STREET. Dand side going from Baltimore street, a few from the corner. Fail not to observe name ining a stamp to be used on the reply. Per- orting abould state age, and seud a portion intisement describing symptoms. re are so many Paltry, Designing and desting strong symptoms. re are so many Paltry, Designing wid- ins office. ENDORSEMENT OF THE PRESS. Many thousands cured at this Establish- year after year, and the numerous lin- t is office. ENDORSEMENT OF THE PRESS. Many thousands cured at this Establish- year after year, and the numerous lin- t is foredentials or Diplomas always a his office. ENDORSEMENT OF THE PRESS. Many thousands cured at this Establish- year after year, and the numerous lin- t is the adding as a gentleman of character e. Shin disenses speedily cured. d to 1874-19 MINTER STORES , is lange bottler papers, notices of which papered again and again before the public, this standing as a gentleman of character e. Shin disenses speedily cured. d to 1874-19 MINTER STORES , is lange bottles, $11,00 a dozen. GOLD SEAL BRANDY, is lange bottlew, is cont WHISKY, CATAWBA WINE, OLD PORT WHISKY, HAMACA	<text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text><text></text></text></text></text></text></text></text></text></text></text></text></text></text></text></text></text>	THE SUNBURY AMERICAN IN THE BEST ADVERISING MEDIUM In the Central part of the State, In the Central part of the State, IT CIRCULATES In one of the Most Thrifty, Intelligent and WEALTHY SECTIONS OF PENNSYLVANIA. Sample copy of paper sent to any address free of charge. Munboed : How Lost, Mow Restored Just published, a new edition of Da, Certwardt, Citangarber and the function of the function of the functional base, importency, Mental and physical in- stry sentime base, on the radical cure (without medi- ful published, a new edition of Da, Certwardt A Citange on the radical cure (without medi- ful published, a new edition of Da, Certwardt A Citange, Mental and physical in- stry sentime base, on the radical cure (without medi- ful published, a new edition of Da, Certwardt A Citange, Mental and physical in- stry sentime base, induced by self-indulgence or 	some that were laying there not intended for papa and mamma to read. 'I really don't know why Delia should not go,' said the unsuspicious, good-na- tured uncle. 'You will be sure to take care of her, Rolfe ?' 'I'll try to, sir.' 'So in less than half an hour from the time it was mentioned, I was gathering up the reins, and Brown Bess was tossing her head until the bells jingled merrily. 'It's royal traveling,' called out Uncle Dan, as we started. 'Don't be out too late, Rolfe, for there has been a severe snap in the weather lately, and—' 'The rest was lost in the crunching of the crusty snow, and the 'ding ding, ding, of the cup-shaped bells. 'This is an unexpected honor, Miss Cor- delia,' I began, as the sleigh went smoothly along. 'Susan and Almira voted me their min- ister plenipotentiary,' she responded coldly. 'I and Cordelia, who was no blood rela- tion of mine, had a falling out of a recent date which made it all the more surprising that she should have cared to go with me that day. She was one of those high- spirited girls who never strike their colors. 'It happened one evening about a week before. My aunt had a party—for there were settlers enough in the vicinity to give us social evenings—and about a dozen peo- ple were present. You may fancy, per- baps, that we have no intelligent spirits on the prairies; but that is a mistake. 'Cordelia and I disputed about the rela- tive characteristics of men and women. The sweet attributes of patience, purity and consistency she claimed entirely for her sex. I gave genius, persistency and strength of character to mine. To vex her still further, I averred my opinion that women were a mass of sentimentality, im- promptu shrieks and vacillation. 'I had gone too far. She took it serious- ly. With a fash of scorn from her bril- liant eyes and a heightened color she arose, went to the other side of the room and	 us. On and on we went. I did not speak to the mare, nor with her; there was no need. She was trotting like a race horse, her tail streaming over the dash-board of the sleigh. Another hour passed. The light snow was mounting above the runners, and driving obliquely across our laps in blinding, smothering thickness, still we were getting on well; I hoped we were nearing home. 'Are you cold?' I asked, drawing Cordelia close to me. 'Nothing to speak of,' she cheerfully replied. But I feit a strong shudder shake her from head to foot. 'Presently the sleigh pitched considerable, although I had a tight rein. 'Rolfe,' she began, and I though I again felt her frame tremble, although her voice was cool and steady, 'the wind does not strike us just as it did, neither did we pitch this morning as we do now. Have the lost road?' 'By Heaven ! you have spoken my thoughts, Cordelia,' I ejaculated, while a damp, icy coldness broke out from every pore in my skin. She shuddered again, but said nothing. 'I knotted the reins and threw them over the dash-board. This was why the mare had held so hardly—shè knew better than I. I must trust to her instinct. In twenty minutes she had swung around so as to bring the wind on the old quarter with us. It was blowing heavy. I got my arm around my companion to hold the blankets in place. 'Just then a faint sound reached my startled ear. A swift shudder shook me, and I came near crying aloud. Another melancholy cry. I would have drawn the blankets about Cordelia's head. 'I hear it,' she softly whispered—and in my terror and agony I drew her closer in a covetous clasp. 	leisurely through the streets, dressed with care, as I usually am when walking out for pleasure, and as I intended making some trilling purchases by the way, I recollect I had the beautiful purse which was my Christmas present in my hand. Mrs. B— was walking a few rods ahead of me, and I was wondering how she got every new fishion so soon, and whether she used her cast off things to pay her help with, or sold them to the china pedlers, or whether it could be really true that she gave them to the poor. Well, just as this foolish train of thought was passing through my mind all at once a woman advanced toward me, with no bonnet, and a miserable shawl drawn over her head. I thought she was going to beg, and was beginning to tell her that I had nothing to give, when she seized the strings of my hat, and with a resolute hand, and a look that almost petrified me, took it off and put it on her own head and walked away! I looked after her with as tonishment, but what could I do—go in at the first? The people were strangers and what would they think? There was no milliner shop at band, and I was quite a distance from home. As I could do noth- ing in my turn I drew my shawl over my head and tried to quicken my steps; but my feet scemed paralyzed, and I made little progress. Just then I saw a woman in the distance, coming towards me. Oh ! if I could only walk as she does, thought I. The woman may a very mengre, poorly dressed, and with nothing about her shoulders though the air was quite keen. The moment we met she stopped, looked me sternly in the face, and exclaimed in a voice as stern as the look, "Give me my shawl madam !" and without waiting for reply or resistance, stripped it from me, and wrapping it about her shoulders, went on. Scarcely had I began to cast about in my mind what to do next, when another of these wretched beings came upon me. She wore the tattered remains of an old cloak about her ; but as she raised her arm I saw	I could not take him up—could not hush him on my bosom ! Woman," she said, looking me in the face with a gaze I shall never forget, "I will take this linen now, for it is needed, and I have no money to buy more." I did not answer her. I had lost all power of utterance. There was a grim, despairing expression in her eyes that froze me. She fastened them on me a moment, and perceiving my shudder of horror at the idea of being utterly deprived of clothing, and left as a gazing stock in the public street, she drew back, saying, "No, sinful, condemned woman—no.' I cannot take away thy covering. O, my child, my cherub, my cherub, my blessed angel of hoaven ! thou art innocent, but she is guilty. No, madam! I had thought to take it for a sbroud, to lay out my dead baby, my murdered child—mur- dered by the crueity of a drunken father ! There he lies, in his pillowless cradle, with the little soiled frock he has worn for weeks still on him ! I could not beg when I knew there was cloth of my own, so white, so fine, so suitable. But no, I will not take it from you ! If I am a mother I am a woman. Better that I should forbear— better that my innocent one should go to his grave uncovered ! He has never sinned ; let him lie in his pure nakedness. God's angels shall spread over him their spot- less wings. Keep thy ill-gotten clothing, It may shield thy form from the gaze of man, but it cannot shield thy soul from the curse of the childless mother—the Drunkard's Wife !" O, my husband, the sound of that voice is ringing in my ears this moment! Per- haps I am weak and foolish ; but truly as I am alive and sitting here, I will never use one of those articles of dress again. I will put on mourning, eat bread and water; I will see no company—no, never will I show my face to the world ; never will I show my face to the world ; never will I show my face to the world ; never will I show my face to the world ; never will I show my face to the world ; never will I show my face to the world ; never will I show my face to the world ; neve	courses in pretty strong English on the vice of intemperance : "Take especial care that you delight not in wine, for there never was any man who came to honor or preferment that loved it, for it transformeth a man into a beast, decayeth health, poiseneth the breath, destroyeth natural heat, bringeth a man's stomach to an artificial burning, deformeth the face, rotteth the teeth, and to conclude, maketh a man contemptable, soon old, and despised of all wise and worthy men ; hated in thy servants, thyself and thy companious, for it is a bewitching and infectious vice ; and remember my words, that it were better for a man to be subjected to any vice than to it ; for all other vanities and sins are recovered, but a drunkard will never shake off the delight of beastliness; for the longer it possesseth a man the more he will delight in it, and the older he groweth, the more he will be subject to it, for it dulleth the spirits and destroyeth the body, as ivy doth the did tree, or as the worm that engendereth in the kernel of the nut."
the hands of ignorant or unskillful PRE- DERS, who, by the use of that deadly Pol- Mercury, dc., destroy the constitution, and able of curing, keep the unhappy sufferer h after month taking their noxious or lo- us compounds, and instead of being restored enewal of Life Vigor and Happiness, in des- eare him with ruined Health to sigh over alling disappointment. such, therefore, Dr. Jonnston pledges him- o preserve the most inviolable Secreev, and his extensive practice and observations in reat Hospitals of Europe, and the first in ountry, viz: England, France, Philadelphia isewhere, is caabled to offer the most cr- speedy and effectual remedy in the world likenses of imprudence. DR. JOHNSTON. 7. K. NO. 7, S. FREDERICK STREET. Datations, M. D. and side going from Baltimorestreed, a few from the corner. Failmot to observe name. "No letters received unless postpaid and infinement describing symptoms." re are so many Paltry, Designing and itess imposters advertising themselves as into the corner. Infilm the power, v. Johnston deems it necessary to say es- ty to those unacqualinted with his reputa- tat his Credentials or Diplomas always in his office. ENDORSEMENT OF THE PRESS. Many thousands cured at this Establish- vest the incredentials or Diplomas always in his office. ENDORSEMENT OF THE PRESS. Many thousands cured at this Istablish- vie those unacqualinted with his reputa- tat his Credentials or Diplomas always in his office. ENDORSEMENT OF THE PRESS. Many thousands cured at this Establish- vie after year, and the numerous in i Surgical Operations performed by Dr. on, witnessed by the representatives of the und many other papers, notices of wight peared again and again before the puble, i his standing as a gentleman of character of the standing as a gentleman of character solutibility, is a sufficient guarantee to the a. Shin disenses speedily cured. I a, 1874.—19 MALLOW SEAL BRANDT, ABADE ABRANDT, ABADE ABRANDT, ABADE ABRANDT, ABADE ABRANDT, ABADE ABRANDT, ABADE ABRANDT, ABADE ABRANDT, ABADE ABRANDT, ABADE ABRAN	<text><text><text><text><text><text><text></text></text></text></text></text></text></text>	THE SUNBURY AMERICAN IB THE BESTADVERISING MEDIUM In the Central part of the Biste, In the Central part of the Biste, IT CIRCULATES In one of the Most Thrifty, Intelligent and WEALTHY SECTIONS OF PENNSYLVANIA. Sumple copy of paper sent to any address free of charge. Munbood : How Lost, Mow Restored Strenger, Mental and physical in spacety, impediance to marry address free of charge. Munbood : How Lost, Mow Restored Strenger, Mental and physical in spacety and fits, induced by self-indulgence or secual extravagance. The celebrated subtor, in this self can be prediced by self-indulgence or secual extravagance. The celebrated subtor, in this self can be prediced by self-indulgence or secual extravagance. The celebrated subtor, in this self can be prediced by self-indulgence or secual extravagance. The celebrated subtor, in this self can be prediced by self-indulgence or secual extravagance. The celebrated subtor, in this self can be defined on the self- induced in the self self self self self self self sel	some that were laying there not intended for papa and mamma to read. 'I really don't know why Delia should not go,' said the unsuspicious, good-na- tured uncle. 'You will be sure to take care of her, Rolfe ?' 'I'll try to, sir.' 'So in less than half an hour from the time it was mentioned, I was gathering up the reins, and Brown Bess was tossing her head until the bells jingled merrily. 'It's royal traveling,' called out Uncle Dan, as we started. 'Don't be out too late, Rolfe, for there has been a severe snap in the weather lately, and—' 'The rest was lost in the crunching of the crusty snow, and the 'ding ding, ding, of the cup-shaped bells. 'This is an unexpected honor, Miss Cor- della,' I began, as the sleigh went smoothly along. 'Susan and Almira voted me their min- ister plenipotentiary,' she responded coldly. 'I and Cordelia, who was no blood rela- tion of mine, had a falling out of a recent date which made it all the more surprising that she should have cared to go with me that day. She was one of those high- spirited girls who never strike their colors. 'I thappened one evening about a week before. My annt had a party—for there were-settlers enough in the vicinity to give us social evenings—and about a dozen peo- ple were present. You may fancy, per- baps, that we have no intelligent spirits on the prairies; but that is a mistake. 'Qordelia and I disputed about the rela- tive characteristics of men and women. The sweet attributes of patience, purity and consistency she claimed entirely for her sex. I gave genius, persistency and strength of character to mine. To vex her still further, I averred my opinion that women were a mass of sentimentality, im- promptu shrieks and vacillation. 'I had gone too far. She took it serious- ly. With a flash of scorn from her bril- liant eyes and a heightened color she arose, went to the other side of the room and busied herself with some oil ladies.	 us. On and on we went. I did not speak to the mare, nor with her; there was no need. She was trotting like a race horse, her tail streaming over the dash-board of the sleigh. Another hour passed. The light snow was mounting above the runners, and driving obliquely across our laps in blinding, smothering thickness, still we were getting on well; I hoped we were nearing home. 'Are you cold?' I asked, drawing Cordelia close to me. 'Nothing to speak of,' she cheerfully replied. But I felt a strong shudder shake her from head to foot. 'Presently the sleigh pitched considerable, although I had a tight rein. 'Rolfe,' she began, and I thought I again felt her frame tremble, although her voice was cool and steady, 'the wind does not strike us just as it did, neither did we pitch this morning as we do now. Have the lost road?' 'By Heaven ! you have spoken my thoughts, Cordelia,' I ejaculated, while a damp, icy coldness broke out from every pore in my skin. She shuddered again, but said nothing. 'I knotted the reins and threw them over the dash-board. This was why the mare had held so hardly—she knew better than I. I must trust to her instinct. In twenty minutes she had swung around so as to bring the wind on the old quarter with us. It was blowing heavy. I got my arm around my companion to hold the blankets in place. 'Just then a faint sound reached my startled ear. A swift shudder shook me, and I came near crying aloud. Another melancholy cry. I would have drawn the iolankets about Cordelia's head. 'I hear it,' she softly whispered—and in my terror and agony I drew her closer in a covetous clasp. 	leisurely through the streets, dressed with care, as I usually am when walking out for pleasure, and as I intended making some trilling purchases by the way, I recollect I had the beautiful purse which was my Christmas present in my hand. Mrs. B— was walking a few rods ahead of me, and I was wondering how she got every new fishion so soon, and whether she used her cast off things to pay her help with, or sold them to the china pedlers, or whether it could be really true that she gave them to the poor. Well, just as this foolish train of thought was passing through my mind all at once a woman advanced toward me, with no bonnet, and a miserable shawl drawn over her head. I thought she was going to beg, and was beginning to tell her that I had nothing to give, when she seized the strings of my hat, and with a resolute hand, and a look that almost petrified me, took it off and put it on her own head and walked away ! I looked after her with as- tonishment, but what could I do—go in at the first ? The people were strangers and what would they think ? There was no milliner shop at band, and I was quite a distance from home. As I could do noth- ing in my turn I drew my shawl over my head and tried to quicken my steps ; but my feet seemed paralyzed, and I made little progress. Just then I saw a woman in the distance, coming towards me. Oh ! if I could only walk as she does, thought I. The woman was very meagre, poorly dressed, and with nothing about her shoulders though the air was quite keen. The moment we met she stopped, looked me sternly in the face, and exclaimed in a voice as stern as the look, "Give me my shawl madam !" and without waiting for reply or resistance, stripped it from me, and wrapping it about her shoulders, went on. Scarcely had I began to cast about in my mind what to 'do next, when another of these wretched beings came upon me. She wore the tattered remains of an old cloak about her ; but as she raised her arm I saw that she had no dress beneath it, or rather	I could not take him up—could not hush him on my bosom ! Woman," she said, looking me in the face with a gaze I shall never forget, "I will take this linen now, for it is needed, and I have no money to buy more." I did not answer her. I had lost all power of utterance. There was a grim, despairing expression in her eyes that froze me. She fastened them on me a moment, and perceiving my shudder of horror at the idea of being utterly deprived of clothing, and left as a gazing stock in the public street, she drew back, saying, "No, sinful, condemned woman—no.' I cannot take away thy covering. O, my child, my cherub, my cherub, my blessed angel of heaven ! thou art innocent, but she is guilty. No, madam! I had thought to take it for a shroud, to lay out my dead baby, my murdered child—mur- dered by the crueity of a drunken father ! There he lies, in his pillowless cradle, with the little soiled frock he has worn for weeks still on him ! I could not beg when I knew there was cloth of my own, so white, so fine, so suitable. But no, I will not take it from you? If I am a mother I am a woman. Better that I should forbear— better that my innocent one should go to his grave uncovered ! He has never sinned ; let him lie in his pure nakedness. Goa's angels shall spread over him their spot- less wings. Keep thy ill-gotten clothing, It may shield thy form from the gaze of man, but it cannot shield thy soul from the curse of the childless mother—the Drunkard's Wife !" O, my husband, the sound of that voice is ringing in my ears this moment ! Per- haps I am weak and foolish ; but truly as I am alive and sitting here, I will never use one of those articles of dress again. I will put on mourning, eat bread and water; I will see no company—no, never will I show my face to the world ; never will I show my face to the world ; never will I show my face to the world ; never will I show my face to the world ; never will I show my face to the world ; never will I show my face to the world ; never will I show my face to the world ; neve	courses in pretty strong English on the vice of intemperance : "Take especial care that you delight not in wine, for there never was any man who came to honor or preferment that loved it, for it transforment ha man into a beast, decayeth health, poiseneth the breath, destroyeth natural heat, bringeth a man's stomach to an artificial burning, deformeth the face, rotteth the teeth, and to conclude, maketh a man contemptable, soon old, and despised of all wise and worthy men ; hated in thy servants, thyself and thy companions, for it is a bewitching and infectious vice ; and remember my words, that it were better for a man to be subjected to any vice than to it ; for all other vanities and sins are recovered, but a drunkard will never shake off the delight of beastliness ; for the longer it possesseth a man the more he will delight in it, and the older he groweth, the more hey will be subject to it, for it dulleth the spirits and destroyeth the body, as ivy doth the id tree, or as the worm that engendereth in the kernel of the nut."
the hands of Ignorant or unskillful PRE- DERS, who, by the use of that deadly Pol- Mercury, dc., destroy the constitution, and able of curing, keep the unhappy sufferer h after month taking their noxious or bo- us compounds, and instead of being restored enewal of Life Vigor and Happiness, in des- eare him with ruined Health to sigh over alling disappointment. such, therefore, Dr. Joursstos pledges him- o preserve the most Inviolable Secreey, and his extensive practice and observations in reat Hospitals of Europe, and the first in ountry, viz: England, France, Philadelphin isewhere, is caabled to offer the most cor- speedy and effectual remedy in the world likenses of imprudence. DR. JOHNSTON, ICE, NO. 7, S. FREDERICK STREFT. Destrivenes, M. D. and side going from Baltimurestreed, a few from the corner. Fail not to observe name index. No letters received unless postpaid and intimement describing symptoms. re are so many Paltry, Designing and dess Imposters advertising themselves as inst, trifling with and ruining the Leath who unfortunately fail into their power, v. Johnston decems it necessary to say es- ty to those unaequainted with his reputa- ta bis Credentails or Diplomas always n his office. ENDORSEMENT OF THE PRESS. many thousands cured at this Establish- res after year, and the numerous lin- t Surgical Operations performed by Dr. on, witnessed by the representatives of the und many other papers, notices of which ppeared again and again before the publer, is Surgical Operations performed by Dr. on, witnessed by the representatives of the und many other papers, notices of which ppeared again and again before the publer, is Surgical Operations, erfort de publer, is Surgical Decase, speedily cured. I 5, 1874.—19 MAINTER STORE, SEGARS, &C. H. & A. C. Van Beil, The Surgens, Europe, Did Polet Winke, OLD Polet Winke, OLD Polet Winke, CHAMPAGNES, SEGARS, &C. H. & A. C. Van Beil, Thiadelp	<text><text><text><text><text><text><text></text></text></text></text></text></text></text>	THE SUNBURY AMERICAN Is THE BEST ADVERISING MEDIUM In the Central part of the Siste, In the Central part of the Siste, IT CIRCULATES In one of the Most Thrifty, Intelligent and WEALTHY SECTIONS OF PENNSYLVANIA. Bample copy of paper sent to any address free of charge. Munbool : How Lost, Mow Restored Statustistic and the state of the state of the state of the sent state of the sta	some that were laying there not intended for papa and mamma to read. 'I really don't know why Delia should not go,' said the unsuspicious, good-na- tured uncle. 'You will be sure to take care of her, Rolfe ?' 'I'll try to, sir.' 'So in less than half an hour from the time it was mentioned, I was gathering up the reins, and Brown Bess was tossing her head until the bells jingled merrily. 'It's royal traveling,' called out Uncle Dan, as we started. 'Don't be out too late, Rolfe, for there has been a severe snap in the weather lately, and—' 'The reft was lost in the crunching of the crusty snow, and the 'ding ding, ding, of the cup-shaped bells. 'This is an unexpected honor, Miss Cor- delia,' I began, as the sleigh went smoothly along. 'Susan and Almira voted me their min- ister plenipotentiary,' she responded coldly. 'I and Cordelia, who was no blood rela- tion of mine, had a falling out of a recent date which made it all the more surprising that she should have cared to go with me that day. She was one of those high- spirited girls who never strike their colors. 'It happened one evening about a week before. My aunt had a party—for there were settlers enough in the vicinity to give us social evenings—and about a dozen peo- ple were present. You may fancy, per- baps, that we have no intelligent spirits on the prairies ; but that is a mistake. 'Cordelia and I disputed about the rela- tive characteristics of men and women. The sweet attributes of patience, purity and consistency she claimed entirely for her sex. I gave genius, persistency and strength of character to mine. To vex her atill further, I averred my opinion that women were a mass of sentimentality, im- promptu shrieks and vacillation. 'I had gone too far. She took it serious- ly. With a flash of scorn from her bril- liant eyes and a heightened color she arose, went to the other side of the room and busied herself with some old ladies. 'The strem had and thown over. Cor-	 us. On and on we went. I did not speak to the mare, nor with her; there was no need. She was trotting like a race horse, her tail streaming over the dash-board of the sleigh. Another hour passed. The light snow was mounting above the runners, and driving obliquely across our laps in blinding, smothering thickness, still we were getting on well; I hoped we were nearing home. 'Are you cold?' I asked, drawing Cordelia close to me. 'Nothing to speak of,' she cheerfully replied. But I felt a strong shudder shake her from head to foot. 'Presently the sleigh pitched considerable, although I had a tight rein. 'Roffe,' she began, and I thought I again felt her frame tremble, although her voice was cool and steady, 'the wind does not strike us just as it did, neither did we pitch this morning as we do now. Have the lost road?' 'By Heaven ! you have spoken my thoughts, Cordelia,' I ejaculated, while a damp, icy coldness broke out from every pore in my skin. She shuddered again, but said nothing. 'I knotted the reins and threw them over the dash-board. This was why the mare had held so hardly—she knew better than I. I must trust to her instinct. In twenty minutes she had swung around so as to bring the wind on the old quarter with us. It was blowing heavy. I got my arm around my companion to hold the blankets in place. 'Just then a faint sound reached my startled ear. A swift shudder shook me, and I came near crying aloud. Another melancholy cry. I would have drawn the blankets about Cordelia's head. 'I hear it,' she softly whispered—and in my terror and agony I drew her closer in a covetous clasp. 	leisurely through the streets, dressed with care, as I usually am when walking out for pleasure, and as I intended making some trifling purchases by the way, I recollect I had the beautiful purse which was my Christmas present in my hand. Mrs. B— was walking a few rods ahead of me, and I was wondering how she got every new fashion so soon, and whether she used her cast off things to pay her help with, or sold them to the china pedlers, or whether it could be really true that she gave them to the poor. Well, just as this foolish train of thought was passing through my mind all at once a woman advanced toward me, with no bonnet, and a miserable shawl drawn over her head. I thought she was going to beg, and was beginning to tell her that I had nothing to give, when she seized the strings of my hat, and with a resolute hand, and a look that almost petrified me, took it off and put it on her own head and walked away ! I looked after her with as- tonishment, but what could I do—go in at the first ? The people were strangers and what would they think ? There was no milliner shop at hand, and I was quite a distance from home. As I could do noth- ing in my turn I drew my shawl over my head and tried to quicken my steps ; but my feet seemed paralyzed, and I made little progress. Just then I saw a woman in the distance, coming towards me. Oh ! if I could only walk as she does, thought I. The woman was very meagre, poorly dressed, and with nothing about her shoulders though the air was quite keen. The moment we met she stopped, looked me sternly in the face, and exclaimed in a voice as stern as the look, "Give me my shawl madam !" and without waiting for reply or resistance, stripped it from me, and wrapping it about her shoulders, went on. Scarcely had I began to cast about in my mind what to 'do next, when another of these wretched beings came upon me. She wore the tattered remains of an old cloak about her ; but as she raised her arm I saw that she had no dress beneath it, or rather but the remnant of one.	I could not take him up—could not hush him on my bosom ! Woman," she said, looking me in the face with a gaze I shall never forget, "I will take this linen now, for it is needed, and I have no money to buy more." I did not answer her. I had lost all power of utterance. There was a grim, despairing expression in her eyes that froze me. She fastened them on me a moment, and perceiving my shudder of horror at the idea of being utterly deprived of clothing, and left as a gazing stock in the public street, she drew back, saying, "No, sinful, condemned woman—no? I cannot take away thy covering. O, my child, my cherub, my cherub, my blessed angel of heaven ! thou art innocent, but she is guilty. No, madam! I had thought to take it for a shroud, to lay out my dead baby, my murdered child—mur- dered by the cruelty of a drunken father! There he lies, in his pillowless cradle, with the little soiled frock he has worn for weeks still on him ! I could not beg when I knew there was cloth of my own, so white, so fine, so suitable. But no, I will not take it from you ! If I am a mother I am a woman. Better that I should forbear— better that my innocent one should go to his grave uncovered ! He has never sinned ; let him lie in his pure nakedness. God's angels shall spread over him their spot- less wings. Keep thy ill-gotten clothing, It may shield thy form from the gaze of man, but it cannot shield thy soul from the curse of the childless mother—the Drunkard's Wife !" O, my husband, the sound of that voice is ringing in my ears this moment! Per- haps I am weak and foolish ; but truly as I am alive and sitting here, I will never use one of those articles of dress again. I will put on mourning, eat bread and water; I will see no company—no, never will I show my face to the world ; never will I show my face to the world ; never will I show my face to the world ; never will I show my face to the world ; never will I show my face to the world ; never will I show my face to the world ; never will I show my face to the world ; never	courses in pretty strong English on the vice of intemperance : "Take especial care that you delight not in wine, for there never was any man who came to honor or preferment that loved it, for it transformeth a man into a beast, decayeth health, poiseneth the breath, destroyeth natural heat, bringeth a man's stomach to an artificial burning, deformeth the face, rotteth the teeth, and to conclude, maketh a man contemptable, soon old, and despised of all wise and worthy men ; hated in thy servants, thyself and thy companious, for it is a bewitching and infectious vice ; and remember my words, that it were better for a man to be subjected to any vice than to it ; for all other vanities and sins are recovered, but a drunkard will never shake off the delight of beastliness; for the longer it possesseth a man the more he will delight in it, and the older he groweth, the more he will be subject to it, for it dulleth the spirits and destroyeth the body, as ivy doth the did tree, or as the worm that engendereth in the kernel of the nut."
the hands of ignorant or unskillful PRE- DERS, who, by the use of that deadly Pol- Mercury, dc., destroy the constitution, and able of curing, keep the unhappy sufferer h after month taking their noxious or bo- us compounds, and instead of being restored enewal of Life Vigor and Heppiness, in des- eave him with ruined Health to sigh over alling disappointment. such, therefore, Dr. Joursstow piedges him- o preserve the most Inviolable Secreey, and his exitensive practice and observations in cat Hospitals of Europe, and the first in contry, viz: England, France, Philadelphin isewhere, is caabled to offer the most cor- speedy and effectual remedy in the world diseases of imprudence. DR. JOHNSTON, ICE, NO. 7, 8. FREDERICK STREET. Datamons, M. D. and side going from Baltimorestreet, a few from the corner. Failnot to observe name innber. No letters received unless postpaid and hig stamp to be used on the reply. Per- riting should state age, and send a portion intisement describing symptoms. re are so many Paltry, Designing and iess Impreters advertising themselves as intis credentials or Diplomas always a his office. ENDORSEMENT OF THE PRESS. may thousands cured at this Establish- year after year, and the numerous in- to witnessed by the representatives of the und many other papers, notices of which ppeared again and again before the puble, i bis disenses speedily cured. d. Shin disense speedily cured. d. J. 187419 MINCLOW SEAL SHERNY, is lange bottles, $11,00 a dozen. YELLOW SEAL SHERNY, is lange bottles, $100 a dozen. GOLD SEAL BRANDY, is lange bottles, $11,00 a dozen. MPLE JACK, JAMAICA REM, SCOTCH WHISKY, CATAWBA WINE, OLD PORT WINE, CATAWBA WINE, OLD PORT WINE, CHAMPAGNES, SEGARS, &C: H. C. A. C. Van Beil, Thy Wirk MacTausty, isito Chestonu Street, isito Chestonu Street,	County, Pa., at the Station of the N. C. R. W. Choice wines and cigars at the bar. The table is supplied with the best the market affords. Good stabiling and attentive ostiers. HUMMEL'S RESTAURANT. LOUIS KUMMEL, Proprietor, Commerce St., SEAMOKIN, PENN'A. Having just refitted the above Saloon for the accomodation of the public, is now prepared to perve his friends with the best refreshments, and fresh Lager Beer, Ale, Parter, and all other mail to serve his friends with the best refreshments, and fresh Lager Beer, Ale, Parter, and all other mail to serve his friends with the best refreshments, and fresh Lager Beer, Ale, Parter, and all other mail to serve his friends with the best refreshments, and fresh Lager Beer, Ale, Parter, and all other mail to serve his friends with the best refreshments, and fresh Lager Beer, Ale, Parter, and all other mail to serve his friends with the best refreshments, and fresh Lager Beer, Ale, Parter, and all other mail to serve his friends with the best refreshments, and fresh lager Beer, Ale, Parter, and all other mail to serve his friends with the best refreshments, and fresh lager Beer, Ale, Parter, SUNBURY, PENN'A. Orders left at Scassolitz & Bro's, office Market treet, will receive prompt attention. Country using respectfully solicited. Feb. 4, 1971tt. Mukinds of Grain taken in exchange for Coal. Orders left all dealer in every variety of ANTHRACITE COAL. UP FER WHARF, SUNBURY, PENN'A. Mi kinds of Grain taken in exchange for Coal. Orders left all dealer in every variety of ANTHRACITE COAL. UP FER WHARF, SUNBURY, PENN'A. Mi kinds of Grain taken in exchange for Coal. Orders left all dealer in every variety of ANTHRACITE COAL. UP FER WHARF, SUNBURY, PENN'A. Mi kinds of Grain taken in exchange for Coal. Mi kinds of Grain taken in exchange for Coal. Mi kinds of an taken in exchange for Coal. Mi kinds of an taken in exchange for Coal. Mi kinds of all kinds de sorts pertaining to bentistry. He keege constantly on hand anarcial, from	THE SUNBURY AMERICAN IB THE BESTADVERISING MEDIUM In the Central part of the Biste, In the Central part of the Biste, IT CIRCULATES In one of the Most Thrifty, Intelligent and WEALTHY SECTIONS OF PENNSYLVANIA. Sumple copy of paper sent to any address free of charge. Munbood : How Lost, Mow Restored Stresswarth Essar on the radical cure (without medi- fuely of paper sent to any address free of charge. Munbood : How Lost, Mow Restored Stresswarth Essar on the radical cure (without medi- fuely of paper sent to any address free of charge. Munbood : How Lost, Mow Restored Stresswarth Essar on the radical cure (without medi- fuely of Spermatorhase, or seminal weakness, in rolat- ray seminal losses, impotency, Mental and physical in- querty, impediments to marriage, etc., also Consump- tory seminal bases, impotency, Mental and physical in- guerty in prediments to marriage, etc., also Consump- tory and the induced by self-indulgence or seminal testing in the seminal weakness, in rolat- inguerty, impediments to marriage, etc., also Consump- tory and the induced by self-indulgence or seminal testing in thirty year's encourse of the seminal sector of the application of the kinfe; pointing out mode of cure at one simple, certain, and effectuals to mode of cure at one simple, certain, and effectuals to mode of cure at one simple, certain, and effectuals to mode of cure at one simple, certain, and effectuals to mode of cure at one simple, certain, and effectuals to mode of cure at one simple, certain, and effectuals to mode of cure at one simple, certain, and effectuals to mode of cure at one simple, certain, and effectuals to mode of cure at one simple, certain, and effectuals to mode of cure at one simple, certain, and effectuals to mode of cure at one simple, certain, and effectuals to mode of cure at one simple, certain, and effectuals to mode of cure at one simple, certain, and effectuals to mode of cure at one simple. Certain the ato- tion the seminatement of the kind the coments of the seminatement to at one semin	some that were laying there not intended for papa and mamma to read. 'I really don't know why Delia should not go,' said the unsuspicious, good-na- tured uncle. 'You will be sure to take care of her, Rolfe ?' 'I'll try to, sir.' 'So in less than half an hour from the time it was mentioned, I was gathering up the reins, and Brown Bess was tossing her head until the bells jingled merrily. 'It's royal traveling,' called out Uncle Dan, as we started. 'Don't be out too late, Rolfe, for there has been a severe snap in the weather lately, and—' 'The reft was lost in the crunching of the crusty snow, and the 'ding ding, ding, of the cup-shaped bells. 'This is an unexpected honor, Miss Cor- delia,' I began, as the sleigh went smoothly along. 'Susan and Almira voted me their min- ister plenipotentiary,' she responded coldly. 'I and Cordelia, who was no blood rela- tion of mine, had a falling out of a recent date which made it all the more surprising that she should have cared to go with me that day. She was one of those high- spirited girls who never strike their colors. 'It happened one evening about a week before. My aunt had a party—for there were settlers enough in the vicinity to give us social evenings—and about a dozen peo- ple were present. You may fancy, per- baps, that we have no intelligent spirits on the prairies ; but that is a mistake. 'Cordelia and I disputed about the rela- tive characteristics of men and women. The sweet attributes of patience, purity and consistency she claimed entirely for her sex. I gave genius, persistency and strength of character to mine. To vex her atill further, I averred my opinion that women were a mass of sentimentality, im- promptu shrieks and vacillation. 'I had gone too far. She took it serious- ly. With a flash of scorn from her bril- liant eyes and a heightened color she arose, went to the other side of the room and busied herself with some old ladies. 'The strem had and thown over. Cor-	 us. On and on we went. I did not speak to the mare, nor with her; there was no need. She was trotting like a race horse, her tail streaming over the dash-board of the sleigh. Another hour passed. The light snow was mounting above the runners, and driving obliquely across our laps in blinding, smothering thickness, still we were getting on well; I hoped we were nearing home. 'Are you cold?' I asked, drawing Cordelia close to me. 'Nothing to speak of,' she cheerfully replied. But I felt a strong shudder shake her from head to foot. 'Presently the sleigh pitched considerable, although I had a tight rein. 'Rolfe,' she began, and I thought I again felt her frame tremble, although her voice was cool and steady, 'the wind does not strike us just as it did, neither did we pitch this morning as we do now. Have the lost road?' 'By Heaven ! you have spoken my thoughts, Cordelia,' I ejaculated, while a damp, icy coldness broke out from every pore in my skin. She shuddered again, but said nothing. 'I knotted the reins and threw them over the dash-board. This was why the mare had held so hardly—she knew better than I. I must trust to her instinct. In twenty minutes she had swung around so as to bring the wind on the old quarter with us. It was blowing heavy. I got my arm around my companion to hold the blankets in place. 'Just then a faint sound reached my startled ear. A swift shudder shook me, and I came near crying aloud. Another melancholy cry. I would have drawn the iolankets about Cordelia's head. 'I hear it,' she softly whispered—and in my terror and agony I drew her closer in a covetous clasp. 	leisurely through the streets, dressed with care, as I usually am when walking out for pleasure, and as I intended making some trifling purchases by the way, I recollect I had the beautiful purse which was my Christmas present in my hand. Mrs. B— was walking a few rods ahead of me, and I was wondering how she got every new fashion so soon, and whether she used her cast off things to pay her help with, or sold them to the china pedlers, or whether it could be really true that she gave them to the poor. Well, just as this foolish train of thought was passing through my mind all at once a woman advanced toward me, with no bonnet, and a miserable shawl drawn over her head. I thought she was going to beg, and was beginning to tell her that I had nothing to give, when she seized the strings of my hat, and with a resolute hand, and a look that almost petrified me, took it off and put it on her own head and walked away ! I looked after her with as- tonishment, but what could I do—go in at the first ? The people were strangers and what would they think ? There was no milliner shop at hand, and I was quite a distance from home. As I could do noth- ing in my turn I drew my shawl over my head and tried to quicken my steps ; but my feet seemed paralyzed, and I made little progress. Just then I saw a woman in the distance, coming towards me. Oh ! if I could only walk as she does, thought I. The woman was very meagre, poorly dressed, and with nothing about her shoulders though the air was quite keen. The moment we met she stopped, looked me sternly in the face, and exclaimed in a voice as stern as the look, "Give me my shawl madam !" and without waiting for reply or resistance, stripped it from me, and wrapping it about her shoulders, went on. Scarcely had I began to cast about in my mind what to 'do next, when another of these wretched beings came upon me. She wore the tattered remains of an old cloak about her ; but as she raised her arm I saw that she had no dress beneath it, or rather but the remnant of one.	I could not take him up—could not hush him on my bosom ! Woman," she said, looking me in the face with a gaze I shall never forget, "I will take this linen now, for it is needed, and I have no money to buy more." I did not answer her. I had lost all power of utterance. There was a grim, despairing expression in her eyes that froze me. She fastened them on me a moment, and perceiving my shudder of horror at the idea of being utterly deprived of clothing, and left as a gazing stock in the public street, she drew back, saying, "No, sinful, condemned woman—no? I cannot take away thy covering. O, my child, my cherub, my cherub, my blessed angel of heaven ! thou art innocent, but she is guilty. No, madam! I had thought to take it for a shroud, to lay out my dead baby, my murdered child—mur- dered by the cruelty of a drunken father! There he lies, in his pillowless cradle, with the little soiled frock he has worn for weeks still on him ! I could not beg when I knew there was cloth of my own, so white, so fine, so suitable. But no, I will not take it from you ! If I am a mother I am a woman. Better that I should forbear— better that my innocent one should go to his grave uncovered ! He has never sinned ; let him lie in his pure nakedness. God's angels shall spread over him their spot- less wings. Keep thy ill-gotten clothing, It may shield thy form from the gaze of man, but it cannot shield thy soul from the curse of the childless mother—the Drunkard's Wife !" O, my husband, the sound of that voice is ringing in my ears this moment! Per- haps I am weak and foolish ; but truly as I am alive and sitting here, I will never use one of those articles of dress again. I will put on mourning, eat bread and water; I will see no company—no, never will I show my face to the world ; never will I show my face to the world ; never will I show my face to the world ; never will I show my face to the world ; never will I show my face to the world ; never will I show my face to the world ; never will I show my face to the world ; never	courses in pretty strong English on the vice of intemperance : "Take especial care that you delight not in wine, for there ne- ver was any man who came to honor or preferment that loved it, for it transform- eth a man into a beast, decayeth health, poiseneth the breath, destroyeth natural heat, bringeth a man's stomach to an arti- ficial burning, deformeth the face, rotteth the teeth, and to conclude, maketh a man contemptable, soon ol4, and despised of all wise and worthy men; hated in thy ser- vants, thyself and thy companious, for it is a bewitching and infectious vice; and re- member my words, that it were better for a man to be subjected to any vice than to it ; for all other vanities and sins are recovered, but a drunkard will never shake off the posseseth a man the more he will delight in it, and the older he groweth, the more he will be subject to it, for it dulleth the spirits and destroyeth the body, as ivy doth the did tree, or as the worm that engende- ter. The NTHE OCEAN.—Everybody from shat the waters of the ocean are work shat the waters of the ocean are of salts of different kinds that must be in the Atlantic and Pacific to give a flavor to such enormous bodies of water ? Scien- tife men have thought about it ; and one of them (Captain Maury) has told us that fall the various salts of these oceans could be separated from the water and spread out equally over the northern half of this sontient, they would form a covering one will deep. So heavy would be this mass of salts that all the mechanical inventions of man, aided by all the steam and water power in the world, could not move it so much as one inch in even centuries of salts that all the mechanical inventions of man, aided by all the steam and water power in the world, could not move it so much as one inch in even centuries of salts that all the mechanical inventions of man, aided by all the steam and water power in the world, could not move it so much as one inch in even centuries of salts that all the mechanical inventions of man, aided by