A DEAR HEIFER.—A couple of respectable but southern gentlemen, in Indiana County, went to attend the annual meeting of a fair. They had both attended a few years ago, and at which two heifers were sold, and each man had bought one out with their own money. They had purchased stock they both claimed the same.

THE HERALD.—I see you have no local news from this county. Will you please give us a few occasionally.

DEAR OLD BOSS.—As a token of our respect and esteem, and as a remembrance of our affection, we forward you the accompanying package. Hoping that your horse has been cast in pleasant places, and that you are still in good health.
