FATAL ACCIDENT.—About eleven o'clock yesterday morning, Henry, son of Mr. John Tauber, about sixteen yeary of age, was killed at the residence of his father, about two miles from this city on the Bed- ford pike, by the accidental discharge of a gun which he was carrying at the time. It appears that the young man had been out in a field some distance from the house husking corn, and had taken his gun along for the purpose of shooting rats as the shocks were torn apart. He was returning to the house at the time of the accident which occurred just as he was in the act of	combination of overskirt and scab, with a spirit of contempt. I am pained that there should be such an uncalled for coldness between Miss Display and myself, as well as other young ladies who do not makens flashy in appearance when in company. Her sickly immagination, which we sup- pose is caused by the weak condition of her mental faculties, induces her to mak un- lady-like remarks concerning her plainly dressed friends; she seems to think me quite a rara acis in view of my plain way of dressing.
