

We find the assertion frequently made in Democratic journals...

The Beaver Radical says that the three Republican Delegates in the Constitutional Convention...

Hon. John M. Read Chief Justice of our Supreme Court until the first day of this month...

As the Supreme Court has decided that when the people in 1872 elected their delegates to the Convention...

It does not look just now as if there was a speedy prospect of settling our difficulties with Spain...

It does not look just now as if there was a speedy prospect of settling our difficulties with Spain...

Customs assembled on Monday, the 1st inst., and the House reorganized by the re-election of James G. Blaine...

By dividing the population of the State, 3,231,791, by 200, the number of representatives in the House...

But this is not all. Counties sending less than five members to the House are entitled to an additional member...

Why should Forest, with its bare 4,000 of population, have a member, while 15,678 of a population in Allegheny is unrepresented?

These fourteen counties are to elect fourteen Representatives, and a population of 48,583 in seven of them elect as many as 164,201 in the other seven!

and those in the second election two-thirds of the whole...

Thus seven counties with a population of 164,201 get but seven Representatives, while seven other counties, with only 15,921 get fourteen.

Was there ever a government equal to this inequality?

But let us follow up this same iniquitous system into the Senate.

There are other discrepancies in this basis, equally glaring.

to allow ourselves to entertain so full an opinion of the masses of the people as this, and are quite willing to continue to trust them with the reins...

11. Because it increases the number of the Legislature to double its present size, thus largely increasing the cost of legislation to the State...

12. Because it throws so many difficulties in the way of general legislation that the people will never know what their laws really are...

13. Because it stifles itself by paying the salaries of each member "shall judge of the election and qualification of its members."

14. Because it creates different terms for State officers—Governor, Secretary of Internal Affairs, Auditor General, State Treasurer...

15. Because it renders necessary the imposition of local taxes on classes of property that have always been exempt...

16. Because it authorizes the exemption of churches and cemeteries from taxation, and prohibits the taxation of school houses, seminaries, and colleges...

17. Because it prohibits the appropriation of money to aid charitable institutions not absolutely controlled by the State.

18. Because it introduces the vice of cumulative voting into private corporations, thus placing it in the power of a minority to obtain control of such corporations.

19. Because it empowers railroad companies to build railroads between any two points within the State, thus giving them power to pass through any of the streets of any municipality...

20. Because it empowers a petty and contemptible business of prohibiting railroads from issuing free passes.

21. Because it entails upon the people an enormous additional cost to the people; and because, also, the entire Judiciary article is obnoxious to the best legal men in the State.

THE PROPOSED CONSTITUTION

Philadelphia Commissioners Restrained by the Supreme Court.

Philadelphia, December 15.—The Court of the Supreme Court, in this city, Chief Justice Agnew delivered the unanimous opinion of the Supreme Court...

Unanimous Opinion that the Convention Attempted Usurpation of Power.
