WE do not object to boys going to the circus, but we desire to enter an earnest protest against holding the mail train at Mineral Point, until after 9 o'clock on Saturday night to accommodate them, keeping our citizens waiting 36 hours for their mail matter. It is hardly just that our business men should be thus inconvenienced in order that the boys might see a fleeting show.

BUTTER! BUTTER!

Farmers Read This.

Some of our friends are pursuing a wise course by sending their early and bright butter to market now, as fast as it is made, and thereby accomplish two very desirable objects. In the first place they get a good price for this butter as it is selling now for thirty-three to thirty-six cents, and in the second place they get rid of the early made butter, which, if kept over until next fall, has to be sold at grease price and often spoils the sale of the entire dairy. You will get more for your fresh butter now than at any other season of the year, and your dairy will be worth three to five cents per pound more next fall for having the white and early made butter sold out of it. Send along your fresh butter at once. You can get our shipping cards from any of the Express Agents, or write us and we will send them to you.

A NEBRASKA Journal lavishingly says: "Who says farmers cannot get rich in this State? Fifteen years ago a young man came to this State without a dollar in the world. Last week he went out of the State carrying with him the sum of one dollar and thirty-eight cents, the savings of fifteen years of frugal life. Come West, young man, come West."

THE twenty-fourth section of the fish law provides that no person shall catch or kill in any of the waters of the state, save only with a hook and line or scroll, and no person shall catch or expose for sale, or have in his or her possession, after the same has been killed, any black bass, pike or pickerel, between the first day of March and the first day of June, except alive for stocking other waters, in the penalty of twenty-five dollars for each offence.

He is a coal miner and was at his work in the mines, when a large quantity of slate from the roof of the mine fell, crushing him beneath it. It took five men some time to release him. It was believed that his back was broken. He has a wife and several children.—Johnstown Democrat.

Some of our readers who have lived fifty years may be glad to know what they have accomplished in that time. According to a French statistician, the average man has, at that age, slept 6,000 days, working 6,000 days, walking 800 days, amused himself 1,000 days, spent 1,500 days in eating, and been sick 500 days. He has eaten 17,000 pounds of bread, 16,000 pounds of meat, and 4,600 pounds of vegetables, fish, &c., drank 7,000 gallons of liquids. There are 18,250 days in a half century, and from the above statement it would seem that man slept just one-third of the time.

WE were in good deal amused the other evening at hearing a party of gents talking of a strawberry festival. Looking out of the window and observing that the ground was covered with two inches of snow, we suggested that they were a little premature, but were comforted by the assurance that the festival would not be held until the latter part of June. Of course they were Presbyterians and believed that it was foreordained that the strawberry crop would be a large one. On inquiry we were enabled to learn that it was the intention of the members of that denomination to hold a festival, in which undertaking we wish them abundant success.

NEW STORE AND EATING HOUSE.—I cordially invite my many friends throughout the county, to whom I tender my sincere thanks for their many favors in the past, to call and see me in my new store room opposite the Banking House of M. Among others, Mrs Hyacinthe-Loyson wife of the celebrated Pere has written a letter to the temperance crusade. She expresses the belief that in the United States "conscientious people become dyspeptics, and non-conscientious people become drunkers." Furthermore, that we take too much tea, coffee, pickle, mustard and spices, and eat hot bread and pastry, and use too much tobacco. All of which, according to Mme. Loyson, results in a depraved appetite and its natural consequence of drunkenness. Here is an opportunity for the present movement to ramify. Visitations to the tea stores, coffee-houses, grocery depots and bakers' shops seem to be in order.—Lebanon Standard.

DISPOSING SUICIDE.—Some time Sunday evening, Dr. Frederick Knepper in order to make way with himself took about six ounces of laudanum. He was not discovered until about 1 o'clock in the morning. Everything that could be done towards saving the unfortunate man's life was attended to immediately but it was too late for human aid to do him any good, he sank rapidly and died early Monday morning. Near him was found the empty laudanum bottle, and a note in which he assigned as a reason for the act that "his church and friends had all gone back on him, and that he was weary of life." Dr. Knepper has always heretofore borne a high character as a good and peaceful citizen, and was a consistant and esteemed member of the German Reformed Church. He leaves a wife and six children to mourn his untimely end, who have the sympathy of the entire community in their affliction.

TO ROAD SUPERVISORS.—Supervisors who really desire to become good officers may now inspect the highways of their districts and see where work is most needed. A man of judgment can save many dollars by putting work in the right place, cleaning gutters by a few strokes of the hoe and thus suffering the surface water to run off. Water standing on the side of the road keeps it soaked and soft and easily to be cut up by teams. Put a load of fine stones or cinder in very bad places which need raising, but put it in the middle of the track and let it spread and settle, that the water may run off. Only smooth the top so a wheel may pass over it safely.

A few bad places made good each spring, how soon the whole road may be improved. Look after your bridges and see that they are safe and the approaches easy.—Altoona Tribune.

ABOUT 9 o'clock last night some villain who is a candidate for the gallows threw a stone weighing a pound and a half at a gentleman who was sitting in the alcove at the entrance of the Merchants' Hotel, and striking him on the forehead fractured his skull. It appears that on Tuesday evening last Mr. William Walton, the victim of this outrage, arrived in town for the purpose of securing a situation at the Iron Works here in the capacity of roller, having held a similar position in the Pennsylvania Steel Works at Harrisburg for some time past.

About a quarter past 9 o'clock a man came walking down street, and when just opposite to them he suddenly wheeled around and threw a stone at Mr Walton, which took effect on his forehead, cutting a fearful gash, and fracturing his skull.—Johnstown Tribune.

PITTSBURGH, April 27, 1874.

DEAR HERALD:—Thinking that perhaps some of the sights and scenes of our city for the past week might be of interest to your readers, I write this letter.

The funeral of Mayor Callow of Allegheny, took place on Tuesday afternoon, business was very generally suspended in Allegheny during the afternoon and an immense concourse of people turned out to pay the last sad rite to their honored dead. Guns were fired from Seminary hill at half hour intervals. The funeral procession marched in the following order: Pittsburgh and Allegheny police; Great Western Band; Duquesne Greys and several independent companies; Mayor and Mayor elect; Members of Secret Societies; Members 102nd Regiment, Hearse and pall bearers; City Councils; then came a large number of citizens. The procession was large and imposing, and was said to have been the largest funeral procession ever seen in Allegheny. Mayor Callow was a pressman by trade. At the time of his death he was serving his second term as Mayor of Allegheny.

The Supreme Lodge of the Knights of Pythias has been in session here all week. All the States in the Union, with three exceptions, were represented, the exceptions being California, South Carolina and Alabama. The Knights had a street parade Wednesday afternoon; there were from fifteen hundred to two thousand men in line. Some of the delegations, in all the splendor of their new uniforms, presented quite a handsome appearance. Each lodge apparently had its own uniform. Some were uniformed in blue and wore huge steel helmets, with plumes of all imaginable colors floating from them, while others displaced the helmets with a jaunty military cap, which gave them a nobby appearance. Nearly all the knights wore huge gauntlets, made of patent leather and mounted with the symbols of the organization, kid or thread gloves were made to meet these gauntlets so as to give them the appearance of being joined to them. As they marched up the street rank upon rank with bands playing, banners flying and their burnished swords gleaming in the noon-day sun, they presented a sight such as it has rarely been the good fortune of your correspondent to witness.

In speaking of processions I must not overlook the crusaders. Several times during the week I have seen them pass along the street. There are usually some ten or a dozen women followed by as hard a looking rabble as you could see in any city in the country. Every day the cry of "here comes the crusaders," rings out, and this dirty, filthy crowd, with a few ladies in the van carrying hymn books, bibles and tracts in their hands, comes swinging around the corner; business is immediately suspended, shopkeeper and customer rushing to the door to get a glimpse of that marvel of the nineteenth century, a crusader.

Quite a number of the glass and other manufactories are "shut down" and trade is depressed in proportion. A great many idle men are to be seen on the streets. Micawber like, "waiting for something to turn up," quite an unusual sight in busy Pittsburgh.

The President's veto of the Senate Finance bill created a great deal of surprise and was the source of a vast amount of discussion here, the general feeling, however, among business men appears to be that Gen. Grant has done the best thing for the good and prosperity of the country.

Respectfully,
NED.

THE Spring session of the Somerset Academy has opened with fair prospects and an increased number of students. The number in attendance at present is larger than at any time since the commencement of the school in September last, and new recruits are coming in daily. Mrs. Burt has resigned, and consequently the entire management of the school now devolves upon Prof. Burt. He needs assistance, and to secure proper classification and sufficient time to hear recitations, the school must be divided. But we feel confident that the Board of Trustees will put forth every effort to secure the services of a competent assistant teacher as soon as possible. The Board of Trustees in common with Prof. Burt and the patrons of the school have great reason to feel encouraged and gratified at the success with which their educational enterprise is meeting. Every educational or business enterprise requires time and labor to establish its success. This is particulary true with regard to the establishment of educational institutions. Ignorance and superstition are ever arraigned against all movements which have for their object the promotion of truth and knowledge. The public, even in this enlightened country, and in this enlightened age of the world do not lend their aid and influence to enterprises of this character, but turn a cold shoulder and deaf ear. All institutions of learning from the days when Plato held his school in the grove of Academus in the suburbs of ancient Athens, down to the present, have been and are founded and sustained by a few noble minded and philanthropic individuals who consider it better to give than to receive. The early history of all institutions of learning is a history of struggles from existence. They need the fostering care, aid and influence of those who live not for themselves only but for the interests and advantages of society and posterity. As already intimated, the friends of the Somerset Academy are not left without hope. The work is in progress, instruction thorough, and the attendance good. We expect in a few years, to see the names of several hundred young men and ladies in the catalogue of this Academy, and a building erected that will reflect credit on the cause of education and be an ornament to the town. By contributing liberally to the support of this enterprise you will be casting your bread upon the waters but you will find it after many days. In no way can a man better perpetuate his memory and influence. It is a monument more enduring than granite or marble. He being dead will still live, and his memory will be cherished by a greatful posterity. To the young persons of the county who desire to secure the inestimable advantages of a thorough education, we say come to Somerset and attend the Academy. Patronize your own institution of learning in its infancy, and when it has grown strong in numbers and influence, you will feel proud that your name is enrolled among the students of the first year. The social, moral, religious and intellectual advantages of this place and of this school are not surpassed anywhere. So come along without delay, enjoy these advantages and secure the benefits of a thorough education.

AMATUER.

MADE A RICH HAUL.—The three card monte game was successfully played on the Southern express train over the Pennsylvanian Railroad, which arrived in this city yesterday morning. A sharp looking individual giving the name William Sheldon, and claimed to be from New York, was in company with a genial little Irishman named Mathew Murry; at least they fell in with each other on the train. In the same car with them were three other men who commenced throwing the trio of cards. Sheldon was induced to bet $500 on being able to turn the ace, and lost. He knew he had a sure thing so wanted to bet $100 more, but the players wouldn't bet so little; nothing less than $150 would they risk. Murray was induced to add $50 to Sheldon's bet and the whole sume was lost. The part of the story is that Sheldon came to the police headquarters and made information on the part of Murray and himself against the three strangers, who had left the train at the stockyards. The detectives are looking for the three men who are $650 ahead of the game.—PITTSBURGH DISPATCH, of Friday last.

A Wrong Custom Corrected.

It is quite generally the custom to take strong liver stimulants for the cure of liver complaints, and both the mineral and vegetable kingdoms have been diligently searched to procure the most drastic and poisonous purgatives, in order to produce a powerful effect upon the liver, and arouse the lagging and enfeebled organ. This system of treatment is on the same principle as that of giving a weak and debilitated man large portions of brandy to enable him to do a certain amount of work. When the stimulant is withheld, the organ like the system, gradually relapses into a more torpid or sluggish and weakened condition than before. What then is wanted? Medicines, that, while they cause the bile to flow freely from the liver, as that organ is toned into action, will not overwork and thus debilitate it, but will when their use is discontinued, leave the liver strengthened and healthy.

WORK'S WONDERS.

BERGEN, Genesee Co., N. Y., March 26, 1871.

DR. R. V. PIERCE:

Dear Sir—Your treatment in my case has been quite successful and satisfactory, and for which I desire to express my gratitude. I have been troubled with a disordered Liver and Catarrh and general weakness for a good many years, and was failing slowly all the time, and last August I called on you and got some of your Golden Medical Discovery and Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy, and one of your Nasal Injectors, and since that time I have been improving and am now better than I have been in years, not having had the sick headache in months, which I used to have on average once a week. The Golden Medical Discovery being the principal medicine used. It has worked wonders in my case, and I recommend it to those similarly afflicted. Let me express gratitude to you for such invaluable services.

Truly and gratefully yours,
WM. F. CRITTENDEN.

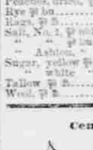
Centaur Liniment.



There is no pain which the Centaur Liniment will not relieve, no swelling they will not subdue, and no lameness which they will not cure. This is strong language, but it is true. They have proved more cures of rheumatism, neuralgia, lockjaw palsy, sprains, swellings, caked breasts, scalds, burns, salt-rheum, earache, &c., upon the human frame, and of strains, spavin, galls, &c., upon animals in one year than have all other pretended remedies since the world began. They are counter-irritant, an all healing pain reliever. Cripples throw away their crutches, the lame walk, poltroon cures are rendered harmless, and the wounded are healed without a scar. It is no humbug. The recipe is published around each bottle. They sell as no article ever before sold, and they will because it is just what they pretend to do. Those who now suffer from rheumatism, pain or swelling deserve to suffer if they will not use Centaur Liniment. More than 1,000 certificates of remarkable cures, including frozen limbs, chronic rheumatism, gout, running tumors, &c., have been received. We will send a circular containing certificates, the recipe, &c., gratis, to any one requesting it. One bottle of the yellow wrapper Centaur Liniment is worth one hundred dollars for spavined or sweenied horses and mules, or for screw worm in sheep.—Stock owners—these liniments are worth your attention. No family should be without them. "White wrapper for family use;" Yellow wrapper for animals. Sold by all Druggists. 70c per bottle; large bottles $1 00. J. B. ROSE & CO., 35 Broadway, New York.

It contains neither minerals, morphine or alcohol, and is pleasant to take. Children need not cry and mothers may rest. aprl12
