The Republican Primary Election will be held on Saturday June 27th, 1874.

There are two candidates to be nominated for the Legislature, but no voter shall be allowed to cast his two votes for any one candidate.

The following resolutions, adopted at the meeting held on May 4th, 1870, are still in force and are published for the instruction of those holding the elections, viz:

1st. That the polls be opened only at the usual places of holding elections fixed by law.

2d. That the Republican voters of each district shall elect their member of the County Committee and the two additional officers to hold the primary Election.

3d. That when they were not elected at the previous election, the committee-man for each borough and township, shall select the two other persons to assist in holding the primary election in their respective district, and the committee-man shall act as judge and make the return of election.

4th. That the committee-man be required to make a list of the Republican voters of the borough or township in which he lives, and have the same present at the election, and designate thereon ever person voting; and if any person not named thereon be judged entitled to a vote, his name be added to said list and the fact stated, and the said list be produced before the return judges when they meet.

5th. That all Republicans be required to vote in their proper districts.

6th. That no person be allowed to vote unless known to have voted with the Republican party, or who can produce satisfactory evidence of that fact.

The prospect of a bountiful crop of all kinds of fruit is yet very good, the frosts of spring not having injured the growing buds to any great extent. This is the testimony of many farmers with whom we have conversed.

Annas Getsinger, of Honesdale, Pa., writes the following. "After suffering for nearly two years from neuralgia in the breast, passing up into the throat, face and shoulders, I was entirely cured and restored to health by using Dr. L. Q. C. Wishart's Pine Tree Tar Cordial."

Our citizens visiting Pittsburgh should make it a point to call and see the splendid Photographs made by B. L. H. Dabbs, at Nos. 46 and 48 Sixth Street of that city. Mr. Dabbs' skill is truly wonderful, as he has the happy faculty of not only making a handsome picture, but a perfect likeness.

Some of our exchanges are warning the farmers against traveling grafters. These vagabonds cut grafts in one orchard, no matter what quality of fruit, and then go to the next and put them in as choice varieties, receive their pay, and then pass on, swindling everybody who employs them. Our farmers should keep a lookout for such characters

From winter into summer at one step, seems to have been the order of things this year; snows and frost a fortnight ago, today, a temperature equal to that of midsummer. The sudden change has brought about an almost unprecedentedly rapid growth of all kinds of vegitation, and enables our farmers to prosecute their labor of seeding uninterrupted and under favorable circumstances.

A man in Main has discovered the advantage of a large family. His new neighbors, however, offered to remove him free of expense, and so prevailed.

Farm Fences.—From the proceedings of the Legislature, we see that Mr. Ermentrout, of Berks, has reported a bill in the State Senate for the prevention of horses, cattle, sheep and swine running at large in the various townships of the Commonwealth. It is made the duty of the constables—and without special warrant or authority—to seize and secure all horses, cattle, sheep or swine that may be found running at large, and sell the same, in the manner now provided by law for selling strays—giving the owner at least five days' previous notice, who may recover such animals on payment of $2 fine for each, with costs.

A very singular circumstance occurred in Perry township, over in the little state of Greene, a short time ago, the pith of which is embodied in the following, taken from the Waynesburg Republican: The father of a family in that township took sick, and his friends and neighbors thought he would surely die. The patient, of course, was apprised of his final end, and among other arrangements to cast anchor, ordered his coffin to be made. A married daughter living in Ohio received information of his illness, and was soon at his bedside. A few days after, she was taken sick and was buried in the coffin prepared for her father, and the father rallied and is getting well.

A Chicago inventor has in his brain a novel plan of railway travel. He does not describe it fully, deeming it inexpedient to do so, but from what he says it may be inferred that his system contemplates an elevated shaft or rail, from which light passenger cars are to be suspended, and over (or rather under) which they are to be propelled at the rate of over one hundred miles an hour. As the cars will be swung in the air, sufficiently high to avoid obstructions, no danger would be apprehended from accidents at crossings, collisions with country wagons, running over cattle and the like. There would be no delays from land slides, heavy snows, and other causes which now impede railway travel. In other words, the passengers would speed along perfectly indifferent as what might be below them, and with the assurance of entire safety from accident. The inventor thinks the plan entirely practicable, and in this age of progress and invention we may be prepared for almost anything, no matter how marvelous.

Two buxom young damsels were waiting for the Somerset train at Mineral Point, on Monday last, when the eastern bound train on the main stem came thundering along, into which the girls went well pleased with the hope that they would soon be in the charming town of Somerset; but a young townsman of ours happened to over hear their conversation and assured them that they were on the wrong rout, which considerably checked the hilarity of the ladies: The conductor was called in, the case stated, and he very generously gave them a free ride to Garrett, where they awaited the first train west wiser and sadder girls.—Valley Independant.

Gentlemen:—Please send me three bottles of Cannabis Indica: I have tried so much that I have lost all confidence in Patent Medicines, and would not have sent for your remedy, only I saw in your testimonials that of Robert Cox, in the case of Findley Barker, with whom I am personally acquainted, and know that Mr. Barker was cured of Consumption 7 years ago, and is now well and hearty; I am also acquainted with Robert Cox, and feel that Cannabis ought to do as much for me as it did for Barker.

Yours in faith,

Croquet.—This interesting game shows no sign of waning popularity; but quite the contrary. Without going into a discussion, we may remark that its sustaining power to please is chiefly due to two things: First, it is emphatically a game of skill, and successful playing demands the careful exercise of the mind, the eye, and the arm. Second, an almost unique merit of croquet is its equal adaptation to ladies and gentlemen. Almost all other games for exercise in the open air are monopolized by the male sex, for obvious reasons. Croquet has been welcomed as an admirable departure from this one-sidedness. Mr. Beecher has numerous sympathizers in the remark that "anybody that is too pious to play croquet ought to be done up in starch linen, put in a bag, and hung up like a suit of Sunday clothes, and not let out till meeting-time."

From the People.—There is no case of Dyspepsia that Greeen's August flower will not cure. Come to the Drug Store of Benford & Kimmel, Somerset and Hitzrot & Fleck, Confluence, and inquire about it. If you suffer from Costiveness, Sick Headache, Sour Stomach, Indigestion, Liver Complaint, or derangement of the system, try it. Two or three doses will relieve you.

Boschee's German Syrup is now sold in every town and city in the United States. G. G. Green, Woodbury, N. J.

Expansion and Contraction.—As an instance of the effect of heat and cold in expanding and contracting the iron of the dome of the National Capitol, it is stated that the colossal statue surmounting it inclines four and a half inches to the west in the forenoon, and the same distance to the east in the afternoon. This fact has been ascertained by fixing a plumb line to the statue and dropping it to the Rotunda below. As the morning sun upon the east side of the dome heated the iron and caused an expansion on the side of the statue it was thrown westward four and a-half inches. In the afternoon, when the sun upon the west side heated and expanded that part of the dome, the statue inclined to the east a similar distance.

Foul cellars are a prolific source of disease in town and country. Thousands of cases of levers, dysenteries, and other malarious diseases can be traced directly to unclean cellars. Decaying vegetable matter in neglected cellars may in a few weeks prostrate a whole family with typhoid fever, which will baffle the skill of the most experienced physician. All who value life and health should, at the beginning of warm weather particularly, see that the cellars of the dwelling houses are carefully and thoroughly cleansed and then disinfected by sprinkling lime or some other efficient disinfecting agent, and whitewashing. A little care of this kind exercised now before the hot weather comes on may save weeks of suffering, heavy doctor bills, and in many cases valuable lives. Let no one neglect this simple precaution.

We clip the following receipt for destroying rats, from an exchange. It is worth double the price for a year's subscription to any farmer or housekeeper in the country. It will banish every rat:

"Catching rats is sometimes difficult, as old rats are proverbially cunning.—Laying around poison is dangerous not alone, but also objectionable, for the reason that rats may die at inaccessible spots and contaminate the atmosphere with their well known detestable odor. A better plan has been adopted by one of our correspondents, by which he takes advantage of the cunning habits of rats. He covers the floor near the hole with a thin layer of moist caustic potash: when the rats walk on this it makes their feet sore; these they lick with their tongues; it makes their mouth sore, and the result is they shun the locality, not alone, but appear to tell all the neighbor rats about it, and eventually the house is abandoned by them, notwithstanding the neighborhood may be teeming with rats."

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

is very strongly recommended by the Medical Faculty and is largely prescribed among their female patients, it is worthy of all confidence as may be seen from the following testimonial:

Atlanta, Ill., July 14th, 1873.

Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.,

Dear Sir.—I have not words to express my gratitude to you for your advice and assistance in my case. There is not one who has used your medicines since they have been brought here but that can say with me they have been greatly benefited. Since I have been so helped by its use six or seven around me left off all doctors and other medicine, and use it in their families after being cured of the same disease as mine. You do not know what a wonder it created in our city, by its restoring my sister I wrote you about, for she has been under the care of three of our best doctors but could not sit up but for a few minutes at one time. I begged of her to try your medicine, and before she had used half of the bottles she could go all around the yard, and has now just come home from a visit five miles away.

Yours with respect.
Mrs. Thos. McFarland.

To the Citizens of Somerset County:—Last year a pressing demand was felt for the revival of the Somerset County Agricultural Society, which had been dormant during the years of and after the war, and for the holding of a fair under its auspices. The Society was accordingly put upon its feet again, and late in the summer it was determined that a fair should be held. This action was taken too late to enable the officers and managers to so arrange every department, as to render full satisfaction to all exhibitors and visitors, yet the exhibition was successful beyond our highest expectations, and satisfactory, we believe, to most who attended it.

This fall, at a time yet to be agreed upon, we will hold another fair, and no effort will be spared to make it attractive and profitable to all who may attend. Our experience, and greater length of time for preparation, will enable us to make many changes in the premium list, and in facilities for displaying articles entered. We will not yet be able to offer as high premiums as we would like to do, and as can hereafter be done, for the reason that there yet rests upon the society considerable indebtedness, incurred in building the houses, and the covered stalls for horses, cattle and sheep, and in the general repairs to the grounds. By your hearty co-operation, being equally interested with ourselves, this debt can this year be paid off, after which, as the services of the officers are rendered without fee or reward, all receipts excepts so much as is necessary for further repairs of the grounds, can be applied to the payment of premiums.

We give this notice at this early day, that farmers, mechanics and others, may begin to get ready their specialties, believing that it will require great merit to carry off the prize in any department. Give us your assistance heartily, and the fair shall be more than creditable.

David Husband,
Pres. Agr. Society.

Potato Bugs.—This terrible pest, which is to be made happy by our potato and tomato crops, is being spaded out of the ground by the thousands, and ere long will be the all-absorbing topic. We suppose that most of our readers have seen a few specimens of this bug-er beetle, as it is called, so will not trouble then with a discription. Speaking of this insect, the Scientific American, through a correspondend, says:

"It is believed to effect all its transformations in fity days, so that a single pair would, it unmolested, produce sixty millions of progeny in a single season. Various modes of preventing its ravages have been suggested. Brushing or shaking the larvae, or young bugs from the plant into a vessel is sometimes tried, but this is a laborious and dangerous operation. Dusting the leaves with white hellebore powder is an effective remedy when it is well done; the powder must, however be freshly ground as it losses its efficacy when kept too long. Paris green is also recommended but both powders are irritating to those applying them, while the latter is extremely poisonous. Birds, it is said, will not destroy the bugs, as the emanations from their crushed bodies are noxious even to human beings, and, it is said, have caused several deaths. The symptoms resemble those caused by the bite of a rattlesnake. The beetle has several insect enemies, especially some varieties of ladybug which prey upon its eggs and larvæ.

The following short article taken from the New York Sun, of the 15th of April, on the "potatoe bug," as it is generally known among our people, was handed to us by one of the prominent farmers of this township, who thinks we are likely to be greatly afflicted by this destructive enemy of the potatoe crop.

"This great pest of the potato has at last reached the Atlantic States, and our farmers must begin the work of destruction or give up the cultivation of the potato. The beetles appear to remain permanently in any locality where they find potatoes cultivated, increasing from year to year in proportion to the amount of food furnished them. We would advise farmers in all localities where this beetle has already appeared or is likely to appear the present season, to lay in a good supply of Paris green in time, in order to have it ready when wanted for use. Paris green mixed with twenty parts of flour, or the same of plaster, scattered over the leaves of the infested vines, will destroy the larva of this insect. A small tin box with the bottom punched full of holes, like a common pepper box, attached to the end of a short stick, will answer for dusting poison over the vines. An application should be made upon the first appearance of the small yellow larva upon the vines and repeated as often as necessary to keep the pest in check. Neighbors should unite in this war upon the beetle, and if they will do this there need be no failure of the potato crop. Paris green can be purchased at the druggists, but if neighbors will club together and send to wholesale dealers in our cities a great saving can be effected in cost.

The Centennial Gazetteer. The Centennial Gazetteer of the United States, by General A Von. Steinwehr, published by Ziegler & McCurdy. The Centennial Gazetteer is one of those rare volumns which from their very nature cannot appear oftener than once in a century. It is well named the "Centennial Gazetteer," for it is the book which gathers up and presents all the material results of the first hundred years of our great Republic. It is a perfect treasury of facts and information relating to the country at large, to each of the States, to all the counties, to the cities, towns and townships, to the principal mountains and rivers, to geography, topography, climate, soil and resources. The arrangement of subjects is alphabetical, so that reference to them is easy. The articles are all new and concisely and clearly written. There is scarcely anything one can desire to know respecting the material standing of the country that may not be found in this Gazetteer. It is the book for everybody to have, because it brings to every possessor the very information he or she can least afford to be without, and brings it, too, in the best possible shape. It is a monument of over three years patient labor on the part of the author, aided by a large corps of assistants, and represents whole libraries of the very latest statistical, geographic, scientific and descriptive works. Both Author and Publishers have placed the people, without reference to creed, station or business under a lasting debt of gratitude by the timely presentation of so magnificent a national standard volume. It exceeds 1000 pages in extent, is beautifully printed and durably bound in leather, Philadelphia Library style. Sold only by subscription. We hope each and all of our readers will make sure of securing a copy form our friend, Mr. J. D. Baer, who is now engaged in introducing the work.

Mr. Baer is agent for Somerset, Jenner and Quemahoning township.

The following is a copy of the presentments made by the Grand jury at the last term of court:

The Commonwealth of Penn'a. }
Somerset County ss. }

The Grand Inquest of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania now inquiring in and for the County of Somerset, this sixth day of May, A. D. 1874, respectfully do present that the sinks belonging to the jail of said County (both inside and outside of the jail building) are defective in their construction, can not be readily cleaned, and are nuisances; and the court is respectfully requested to order the County Commissioners to abate the said nuisances, and to so reconstruct and remodel the said sinks, that further nuisance may be prevented.

And the Grand Jurors further present that several of the cells of said jail, are insufficient for the safe keeping of prisoners; and recommend that they be lined with iron or other material so as to render them safe; that some additional locks be purchased for the better fastening of the cell doors, and that plastering and other repairs be done to the jail building; that a path or walk of stone or brick be laid from the front door of the jail building to the pavement in front of the grounds. And the Grand Jurors aforesaid do further present that the stable attached to the jail, on the public lots, is wholly unfit for use as a stable, and recommend that the County Commissioners be ordered to build a new one forthwith; and further recommend that the County Commissioners be ordered to have the iron fence painted, in front and along the sides of the public grounds.

Daniel S. Miller,
Foreman.

The Grand Inquest of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, now inquiring in and for the body of the County of Somerset, this sixth day of May, A. D. 1874, respectfully do represent that the sink in the rear of the Court House, on the grounds of and belonging to the County of Somerset, is unfit in every particular for the purpose for which it was and is intended, and is a nuisance. We, therefore, recommend the Court to direct the Commissioners of the County to build a new one, on such plan as will secure cleanliness, and prevent further nuisance.

Daniel S. Miller,
Foreman.

The Court ordered that the County Commissioners abate the several nuisances, and that the recommendations of the Grand Jury be generally carried into effect.

Tribute of Respect.

At a regular meeting of Berlin Lodge No. 461, I. O. of O. F. held May 16th 1874, the following preambles and resolutions were adopted.

Whereas, The hand of death has entered the family of our worthy brother, renewing the oft told lesson, that neither youth in its summer time, life in its meridian, nor the winter of old age, can exempt us from the common destiny of man, and teaching us that whatso'er is mortal shall put on immortality, and

Whereas, Death has triumphhed in removing from our worthy brother, Charles H. Wineoff, his affectionate companion and well beloved wife, whose spirit has been born to another and better world, therefore,

Resolved, That we bow with humility before him in whose hands is our destiny, who has so suddenly entered the family of our worthy brother.

Resolved, That we as members of Berlin Lodge No 461, hereby express our heartfelt sorrow, on account of this sudden bereavement, and truly sympathize with our heart-stricken brother, which to him is loss, but to her, eternal gain.

Resolved, That we deeply sympathize with those upon whom this sad bereavement has fallen most heavily. May he who doth all things well, turn their heaviness into joy, and their mourning into praise, by leading them by the still waters and into green pastures, where there shall be no partings, no tears, may they speedily discern through their uplifted tear washed eyes, the face of him above, the God of love.

Resolved, That a copy of these preambles and resolutions be transmitted to brother Charles H. Wineoff, and that the same be published in the county papers.

Centaur Liniment.

There is no pain which the Centaur Liniments will not relieve, no swelling they will not subdue, and no lameness which they will not cure. This is strong language, but it is true. They have produced more cures of rheumatism, neuralgia, lockjaw palsy, sprains, swellings, caked breasts, scalds, burns, salt-rheum, ear-ache, &c., upon the human frame, and of strains, spavin, galls, &c., upon animals in one year than have all other pretended remedies since the world began. They are counter-irritant, an all healing pain reliever. Cripples throw away their crutches, the lame walk, poisonous bites are rendered harmless, and the wounded are healed without a scar. It is no humbug. The recipe is published around each bottle. They sell as no article ever before sold, and they sell because it does just what they pretend to do. Those who now suffer from rheumatism, pain or swelling deserve to suffer if they will not use Centaur Liniment. More than 1,000 certificates of remarkable cures, including frozen limbs, chronic rheumatism, gout, running tumors, &c., have been received. We will send a circular containing certificates, the recipe, &c., gratis, to any one requesting it. One bottle of the yellow wrapper Centaur Liniment is worth one hundred dollars for spavined or sweenied horses and mules, or for screw worm in sheep.—Stock owners—these liniments are worth your attention.—No family should be without them. "White wrapper for family use;" Yellow wrapper for animals. Sold by all Druggists. 50c per bottle; large bottles $1 00. J. B. ROSE & CO., 83 Broadway, New York.

Castoria is more than a substitute for Castor Oil. It is the only safe article in existence which is certain to assimilate the food, regulate the bowels, cure wind-colic and produce natural sleep. It contains neither minerals, morphine or alcohol, and is pleasant to take. Children need not cry and mothers may rest. april2.
