KHOM MR. WHITTER'S NEW VOLUME OF PORMS The summer warmth has left the sky, The summer songs have died away: And, withered in the footpaths lie The fallen leaves-but yesterday With reliv and with topaz gay. The grass is browning on the bills; No pale, belated flowers recall The astral fringes of the rills, And dreadly the dead vines fell, Front-bluckened, from the readside wall. Yet, through the gray and sunber wood, Against the dusk of fir and pine. Last of their floral sisterhood The hazel's yellow blessoms skine-The tawny gold of Afric's mine. Small beauty bath my unsung flower, For Spring to own or Summer hall; But in the senson's saddest bour, To skies that weep and winds that wall, Its glad surprisals never fail. O. days grown cold! O, life grown old! No rose of June may bloom again; But like the hazel's twisted gold ; Through early frost and later rain, Shall hints of summer time remain. And as within the hazel's bough A gift of mystic virtue dwells, That points in golden ores below, And in dry, desert places tells Where flow unseen the cool, sweet wells, So, in the wise diviner's hand, Be mine the hazel's grateful part To feel, beneath a thirsty land, The living waters thrill and start, The beating of the rivulets heart!
