articularly adapted to their wants, and with roper co-operation the supply of shad may be im-nearwardly increased; and i trust, therefore, that ur sister State will combine with our commission s in replenishing the river. The success of the fish-way at the Colum

The success of the fish way at the Columbia data does not correspond with the public expecta-tion, and some farse are entertained that the dam may prove an insuperable barrier to the ascent of the shad. Alterations in the fish way have been made with very little additional cost that will prove an effectual test of the process now on trial; and if it is discovered that the shad will not or cannot make the transit, some other, channel will have to be opened to enable the fish to ascend, for now that it is demonstrated that these fish can be propagated artificially to an a treat that will make them a constant and unfailing source of cheap and excellent food, every some of experiment should be exhausted before the enterprise is aban-doned.
