

HARPER'S Weekly mentions, as a significant indication, that among the new Democratic appointees to office in New York City, on the 1st inst., are two who during the rebellion occupied conspicuous positions in the Confederate service.

A CONCURRENT resolution has been adopted by our State Legislature to adjourn on the 15th day of March, and meet again on the first Tuesday of January, 1876.

ANTICIPATION to the election for U. S. Senator, there was absolutely nothing done during the session for the purpose of legislation, owing to the fact that without committees in the House, business could not be properly prepared, and since that event, although the committees have since been announced, the same spirit of idleness and disregard of public interest has prevailed.

The election of ex-President Andy Johnson to the U. S. Senate from Tennessee, should give great comfort to Democrats like Judge Beck of this State, who are in a constant agony of terror regarding the fate of the national constitution.

Speaking of the malignant and infamous howl against President Grant set up by the Tribune and other stock gambling journals of New York, concerning the Louisiana troubles, the Chicago Tribune, after advertising to the fact that these great metropolitan and cosmopolitan organs deliberately closed their eyes to the truth, and tried to excite popular passion and mislead the people, thus recalls the conduct of that copperhead city at one stage of the late war, and shows why it is yet so steeped in political debauchery.

We have heretofore alluded to the fact that the next Congress will have on its rolls eighty-two Confederate officers and soldiers, and only twenty-six officers and soldiers of the Union army. Just now, when the Democracy are howling over the despotism of the government, and the oppression of the conquered South, a fact like this is worthy of more than a passing notice.

doubted, judging from the clamor now being raised against Grant, Sheridan and other Union soldiers, that official rewards would be bestowed upon the Confederate soldiers, while those who battled for the Union would be proscribed and driven from official positions.

During the Louisiana debate in the Senate last week Mr. Conkling, of New York, made a speech which attracted vast crowds to the floor and galleries of the Senate chamber. From it we extract the following arraignment of the Democratic party for its sins of omission and commission.

Mr. Conkling said in the presence of all the turbulence, disorder and din which ruled the hour in the Louisiana Legislature January 4, Senators said that everything was peace, and that the Government would be maintained in its present position.

Mr. Conkling read from the memoirs of the honorable Senator from Maryland (Hamilton). He said they were hirelings, and withered them by saying they were only eight dollars a month. But for these hirelings it is certain we would not be permitted to breathe the air of a free republic.
