I marked a lonely grave among The mansions of the dead...

The old man still sat at the table, his head resting on his hand...

He was a story-looking man, one eye swelled shut, one finger badly bitten...

There was something very mysterious in the young man's conduct, and he hardly knew what to make of it...

After long and fruitless wanderings I strayed into a sunnily place...

It was not a man, but a woman, whose shape hung huge masses of rocks...

I was tired and dog, and soon fell into a slumber, from which I was aroused by the sound of footsteps...

"A few days ago," said he, "I got separated from my companions at a chalet-house...

Beautiful even than Lisette. How she looked at me, without speaking a word...

At the further end of the apartment, on a bed, lay a young man. He had not observed my entrance...

There was something very mysterious in the young man's conduct, and he hardly knew what to make of it...
