What is more fearful than a breaking down of the nervous system. To be excitable or nervous in a small degree is most divressing for where can a remedy be found? There is one :—drink but little wine, heer, or spirits, or far better, none; take to coffee,—we ik tea being preferable; get all the fresh air you can; take three or four Pills every night; eat plenty of solids, avoiding the use of slops; and if these golden rules are followed, you will be happy in mind and strong in body, and for get you have any nerves.

Mothers and Daughters. If there is one thing more than another for which these Pilis are so famous, it is there purifying properties, especially their power of cleaning the tood from all imparities, and removing dangerous and suspended secretions. Universally adopted as the one grand remody for female complaints, they never tail, never weaken the system, and always bring about what is required.

Sick Headaches and Want of Appetite. These feelings which so sadden us, frequently to be seen, printed instructions, will quickly restore a healthy action to both liver and stomach, whence follow, as a naural consequence, a good appetite and a clear head. REST

Too little rest, too little sleep, Too many hours to sow and reap-At last disease and pain ! Weak grows the never-loosened hand; The strongest rope parts, strand by strant, Beneath a ceaseless strain.

Let him who burns his midnight oil In the lenely and unwholesome toll Think, when he trues his lamp, That thus he trims his life as well, And hastens towards his last low cell-Its darkness and its damp.

He would travel for and long. And keep a stately stride and strong, Must rest beside the way. A cearcless pace at tirst may win, But he who halts at wayside inn At last shall win the day. Towerry feet all streams are deep.

On hour of rest is a precious been To him who tells through heats of most With painful steps and slow. Then, ye who hope to make your mark Ere your last fall, cold and dark. And stand above the throng
