TO THE FARMERS!

Ship your Butter to

W. S. TEMPLE & CO.

They got best prices last season for every farmer who shipped to them, and if you wish high prices this season you will do well to ship to them.

On the third day of the fair a riding tournament will be indulged in by the young men. All Knights entering must be dressed in costume. This tournament we know will be an interesting feature and give you all a chance to hold your sides and laugh until you are tired. Don't fail to be on hand.

The man who gives circulation to a lie when he has every reason to know it is a lie, is as debased a wretch as he who first originated it.—Bedford Gazette.

Exactly! Then why do you try to circulate among your readers such a preposterous falsehood as the fact that there were large Democratic gains in Vermont and Maine.

On Tuesday night Sept. 12th, a thief or thieves broke into the house of John J. Bittner of Brothersvalley Tp., and stole from his desk several pocket books containing promisory notes and checks amounting to near three thousand dollars, besides a large number of valuable receipts and papers. They also secured a twenty dollar note.

Odd Fellows Excursion—The train on the Somerset & Mineral Point Railroad on Monday morning was crowded with excursionists. Some twanty-five on the Sunday night train and we understand that over two hundred this (Tuesday) morning. The excursionists were a jolly set and will doubtless have a good time. Bon voyage.

Teachers Attention—There will be a meeting of the School Directors of Somerset twp., on Saturday Sep. 30th 1876, at the Hill House, for the purpose of selecting teachers for the ensuing winter.

At the same time sealed proposals will be received for furnishing the different school houses of the township with coal during the winter.

Wellersburg.—Our friend S. Gaumer, who was born near this place, is now here from the west, and he is certainly one of the best Phrenologists in the country. He is prepared to examine heads, and give charts in the form of a little book. I would say to all, have your heads examined by all means.

Somerset, Sep. 19, 1876.

My store room is finished. I am about to begin business again. In doing so I am compelled to commence on the cash system. I will buy for cash and sell for cash. The low prices at which I will offer goods will convince customers that the cash store is the place for bargains. I expect my new goods by Monday the 25th inst.

The Dutch have a way of punishing idlers which might, if applied in this country, rid the seats in our public parks of a host of loafers. They put the lazy loafer into a cistern and let on a stream of water which runs in on one side just as fast as the victim, by diligence, can pump it out on the other. It is either pump or drown. The result is he pumps that day and goes to work the next.

Those who shipped their Butter last season to the well known Butter House of Kennard & Oudesluys, Baltimore, were so well pleased with the prices they got, that many have written that they would ship their dairies to them again this fall. It is to be hoped that many others will send their butter to this well known house this season. They have a large trade and can make quick sale of all the butter that is shipped to them.

Mr. Oudesluys, of the firm of Kennard & Oudesluys, Butter Commission Merchants, of Baltimore, Md., has been paying a brief visit to their many friends among the dairyman and farmers of this vicinity. This firm is deservedly popular as they have always attended promptly to making sales at good prices for the large consignments of butter shipped them. The indications are that they will receive a very large share of this years crop.

The Cleveland Colored Paints are mixed and thinned ready for use; This is the best paint made for house painting; Will wear longer than any other. Call at Blymyer's Hardware Store and see the beautiful shades; 30 different colors. The finest houses in Somerset are painted with this paint. Everybody is using it on account of its durability and cheapness. Use no paint until you have had a talk with Blymyer, who will give you the proof of the assertions made above.

Murder Will Out.

A few years ago "August Flower" was discovered to be a certain cure for Dyspepsia and Liver complaint, a few thin Dyspeptics made known to their friends how easily and quickly they had been cured by its use. The great merits of Green's August Flower became better added through the country by one sufferer to another, until without advertising, its sale has become immense. Druggists in EVERY TOWN in the United States are selling it. No person suffering from Sour Stomach, Sick Headache, Costiveness, palpitation of the Heart, indigestion, low pitation of the Heart, indigestion, low pitation or with more partisan interest for sake of party, but for the purpose of finding out what our actual political condition is, and to what it is likely to tend—whether we are making progress, retrograding, or stationary; and whether the principles contended for through a four year's war, are still to be maintained and defended in their national relation to the individual man, and in the interest of the nation itself; or whether they shall be surrendered to those opposed to the government, and they be allowed to quietly take possession, with their blood stained hands, of the vital centre of our political life. Our reflections on the matter involve thoughts of this nature, turn away from them as you will, and each citizen is responsible to his own conscience for the disposition he makes of them in a political sense. It is no trifling thing if individual life means anything at all in the way of public responsibility. That it does is too palpably plain to need mention. We urge, therefore, sober reflection on the part of every voter, and feel satisfied no mistake will be made if the effect is understood—a required intelligence neglect will not excuse.

Sunday School Celebration in Milford Township.

Messrs. Editors :—

The Sabbath School picnic held at Middlecreek Meeting-house grove in Milford Tp., on Saturday the 9th inst , was an enjoyable affair. Three different schools participated, to wit—Middlecreek, Barron's Church, and New Lexington. The morning of the day was overcast with portentious clouds indicating rain, but by 10 o'clock a. m., the threatening mists had disappeared, and a large assembly of persons were on the grounds. A stand and seats had been erected, together with a long table on which to spread the bountiful collation in the grove.

At 11 o'clock the audience was called to order by Major A. S. Will, and the choir from Barron's school, under the leadership of Jacob G. Miller, rendered some elegant music, after which the Rev. William Spangler delivered an effective and eloquent address to the Sunday Schools; this effort is worthy of more than a passing notice; it demonstrated the efficiency of Sunday School organization as applied to the moral purposes of the rising generations, and the more sacred observance of the Christian Sabbath: it told the story of the origin and establishment of the system by the devoted lives of good men and women, aided by almost every branch of the Christian Church in their operations for success, and embodied pungent argumentation for the care and continuence of this system of religious instruction in our midst. The entire address, spoken in an earnest and becoming manner, was highly approved and applauded by the large and appreciative audience.

Col. H. B. Barnes then took the stand and for more than half an hour entertained the people in his usual happy and felicitous style; adverting to the Centennial Exposition, the Col. advised all who could spare the time and means, to visit, not only the exhibition, but the great Metropolis of Pennsylvania, which has the largest public park and the most beautiful streets of any city in the world, with extensive zoological gardens and many scientific and benevolent institutions; stating also, that through the agency of a special committee in Somerset, an arrangement had been made with the railroad company, by which the fare from Mineral Point to Philadelphia and return, would be only seven dollars, for any citizen of our county desiring to go.

After music by the choir, Wm. Barron, Esq., announced that dinner was now ready, and extended a general and cordial invitation to all present to participate; whereupon an immediate uprising ensued, and the splendid collation provided by the generosity of the neighborhood was eagerly partaken of.

The inner man having been thoroughly satisfied, the youngsters rose up to play "Ring," "Hindmost of Three," "Wild Irishman, &c., and the elders to talk of politics, of the crops, of the coming county fair, until a happy day of much speaking, feasting and greetings had nearly passed away, when Mr. Hiram W. Heckler took the stand and gave us a farewell speech, full of pathos and good humor, and the people dispersed quietly and peaceably to their homes, sweet homes,

A Few Thoughts on Dancing.—Editor Herald.—As the subject of dancing has been somewhat agitated by the readers of your worthy and valuable paper, allow me a small space to record my sentiments upon this important theme.

It is an observation worthy of regard, that pleasure of whatever nature, when sought for its own sake either disappoints or destroys its votaries.

When the object of any pursuit is merely the gratification of sensual desires, there is no moral tendency, or elevating influence exerted upon the individual engaged in such pursuits; and dancing, as practised in modern days, is not only devoid of a moral tone, and destitute of any refining virtues, but is detrimental to the happiness of its votaries, and deleterious in its effects upon society.

The origin of dancing can be traced back to a remote age, and was anciently practised in divine worship, being strictly a religious cerimony. Now, if the pleasure dances of our own day are to be justified by the dances of old, it ss necessary that there be some resemblance between them. But a ill our modern dancers pretend that their performances are an imitation of the pious rejoicings of the religious ceremonies of ancient worship? The nature, design and method are entirely dissimilar, and in perfect antithesis, and the religious dances performed by holy men of old are, in every feature, the direct reverse of those of our own times which would fain wrest from Scripture, by false import, an air of respectability.

A very objectional feature of the pleasure dance is that of the discreditable circumstances in which it is invariably performed. The moral atmosphere, malarious in its nature, which pervades the ball-room, and inhaled by those engaged in such pursuits, and the dilleterious influences emenating therefrom mighty and vast in its effects, and great and ponderous in its results for evil, is sufficient evidence for condemnation, and should bring forth the disapprobation of the wise and virtuous, and be an admonitory warning to the prudent, to keep aloof from this vortex of ruin. The chambers of mirth, and the song of the dance are productive of much evil; its tendency is to create a frivolous, light-hearted and pleasure-loving habit ot mind; and it unfits an individual to engage in the sober enjoyments of his vocation, and perform the stern duties of life. We object to the dance also from the fact that it leads to an unnecessary expenditure, and it certainly has a detrimental influence upon the health. Cicero spoke the words of truth and soberness when he said: "No man in his senses will dance." The judgment of every unbiased mind will readily concur that whatever amusement does not benefit the individual engaged therein is wrong. We contend that dancing is of no benefit to an individual, either in a physical, social, intelectual, or moral point of view. Therefore we have the conclusion from the above premiss that dancing is wrong. Now the burden of proof lies in the second proposition, and the truthfulness of the assertion can be established beyond a successful contradiction. Let me ask the pleasure seeker whether he has derived any benefit whatever from the practice of dancing. Is it the exercise that Physiologists recommend for the benefit of health? Does it tend to the improvement of the mind? Does it produce a moral development, or elevate the character of any individual? Can these voteries of pleasure ask the blessing of God upon their amusements? Is it abstaining from all appearance of evil? Is it free from any contaminating influence? Do the Scriptures sanction it? Is it the voice of public sentiment, and do the wise and good uphold it? If there questions can not be answered in the affirmative, we have the question.

Young man! Young lady! if you value your character; if you have a worthy sense of honor; and if you are seeking refinement and culture, listen not to the syren voice of pleasure that is trying to lure you on to the gates of death. The fascinating charms of the ball room, with its noise of mirth and voice of revelry is endeavoring to allure its victims on in the pathway that leads to destruction. We hope that this abominable practice which is sending forth the foulest streams of moral pollution, may sink into oblivion, and something that is elevating in its character may take its place, that shall be the means of exerting a renovating influence upon society, and lifting humanity to a more elevating sphere of manhood. Since we are not ashamed of the position we occupy in this discussion, we will not withhold our name.

During the campmeeting a committee consisting of J. A. Grimm, J. L. W. Seibert, T. Elsenhower, D. Rhodes, Eli Bowman, Jefferson Rhodes and F. P. Saylor, met and transacted the following business:

Resolved, That the committee at their earliest possible convenance, lease a portion of ground, suitable to the purpose, from Bro. D. Rhodes for a campmeeting location.

Resolved, That the committee thoroughly examine the grounds, and if in their opinion it will not answer the purpose, that they secure a location elsewhere, and that they examine the grounds this day, (Sept. 13th 1879.)

Resolved, That we request the Quarterly Conferences of Somerset Mission, and Somerset circuit to form themselves into a campmeeting association; and that they give permission to ministers and members of adjoining fields of labor to become members of the association.

Resolved, That the Presiding Elder of Somerset District be requested to confer, at his own discretion, with persons and parties in reference to enclosing the ground, erecting a preacher's stand, and arranging the seats on the ground, to the best advantage of the association.

Resolved, The committee respectfully request the campmeetsng association—when such association is formed—to lease the grounds for not less than ten years, including the present.

Resolved, That the proceedings of this meeting be published in both otr county papers. Adjourned with prayer by J. L. W. Seibert.

The Somerset M. Campmeeting commenced on Friday September 8th and is still in progress; and not withstanding the unfavorable condition of the weather, for it was wet nearly all the time, the meeting is resulting in more good than could be expected. Praise God for his goodness.

Frank Saylor.

By Request.—The following are the rules of Everette Graded School:

1. Every pupil must be furnished at private expense, with the necessary books and utensils required by his grade.

2. Irregular attendance and tardiness rob the public treasury, disarrange classes, and injure the school and pupil himself. Hence any pupil who shall be absent, or tardy, or both, five times, without a proper excuse, during one month, shall be reported to the Board of Education, at once. Leaving School without permission shall be considered the same as tardiness.

3. No excuse for absence or tardiness shall be accepted, unless made by the Parent or Guardian, in writing or in person.

4. Pupils absent or tardy, without an excuse, must make up for lost time and lessons.

5. Every pupil who shall any where, on or around the school premises, use or write any profane or unchaste language, or draw any obscene pictures, or in anywise cut, mar or deface any school furniture or building, inside or out, or any property pertaining thereunto, shall be suspended, and liable to an action of civil law.

6. A record of each scholar's attendance, recitation and department, shall be sent home every month; and the Parent or Guardian is requested to examine, sign, and return it to the teacher.

7. Pupils will be required to pursue the regular studies of the department or grade to which they belong.

8. Every scholar shall bring to school all the books containing the lessons for the day; but novels, newspapers, and other printed matter, are strictly prohibited.

9. Pupils who wilfully absent themselves from the public exercises of the school, shall be suspended, and reported to the board of Education, at once.

10. Pupils who are insolent or saucy, or who refuse to comply with the regulations of the school, or any reasonable request of a Teacher, shall be immediately expelled.

11. If pupils be wronged, or unjustly dealt with, their case will be impartially considered by the Board of Education.

12. School opens at 9 a. m., and at 1 p. m., and all scholars are required to be present at the opening exercises in the morning.

13. Parents are requested to allow their children to arrive at the school house before the bell rings the first time.

14. The Scholars are strictly enjoined to come to and retire from their several departments quietly, and promptly; to abstain from all noise and play annoying to neighbors; from snow-balling, and such other disorders as cause a Public School to be a source of inconvenience and discomfort to those living near it.

15. Whenever a scholar neglects his study, or is inattentive to Teacher's instruction that scholar shall be reduced to a lower grade.

16. Every Scholar who shall be perfect in attendance, lessons and deportment, during the term, shall receive a Certificate, publicly presented by the board, under their Official Signature and Seal. By order of the Board.

H. F. Gump,
President.

Secretary.

An Important Decision.—An important decision, of interest to all who reside in cities, towns or villiages, was recently made in the Lebanon county court by Judge Henderson. A man was indicted for assault and battery on a neighbor because he claimed the fruit on the limbs of the tree overspreading prosecutor's lot. Judge Henderson said that the owner of the land is the owner of it from his line upwards as far as he desires to make claim of it. This being the law the prosecutor had the right to the fruit on the branches extending over his lot. He might even have sawed them off. The decision is important at this particular time and is generally misunderstood by the people.

Shade, Sept. 13 1876.

Dear Sir: Mr Levi Koontz, while helping to load a large log on a sled was badly hurt, by the log rolling over his body. The log was 14 feet in length and 19½ inches in diameter The sled was placed on the lower side of a hill, and Mr. Koontz was working on the lower side of it with a handspike. The log started to roll and he dropped his handspike and undertook to hold it with his hands. As the log had been peeled it slipped from the sled bearing down the unfortunate man in its course rolling the entire length of his person. Fortunately at the place his legs fell there was a stone projecting some four or five inches out of the ground which saved useful portion of his frame from being crushed; as it was he left an impression of his head in the ground. He was taken to the house in an unconscious state in which condition he remained for nearly 36 hours. He is recovering slowly and it is hoped is out of danger.

Mr. Koontz is a citizen of Shade township and is respected by all who knew him. His friends all sympathize with him in his sufferings
